But statistics aside, there have been few times this season when he resembled the Doug Harvey of yore—the player who by some special magic could suddenly take charge of a game and give spectators the feeling he belonged in a league reserved for men a shade faster, smarter and stronger than one common run of NHL stars.

With Harvey's decline—and it can only be called a decline because he has shown abilities so far above the average — Montreal's Tom Johnson has suddenly come into his own as a playmaking defenceman.

With no other club he would probably have been one of the most talked about rearguards in the league but it was the 30-year-old Baldur, Man. native's misfortune to come into the Montreal camp just when Harvey's star was in its ascendancy.

So Johnson played through eight unspectacular seasons, making the second all-star team once and never doing much to shout about in a scoring way.

PLAYMAKER

But this season he has frequently reminded Harvey as Canadiens' defenceman on their power play and with this assignment as the man who starts the passing from the red line and keeps the puck in the opposing end he's come a flock of assists.

Already, as well as scoring four goals, he has collected 15 assists in 31 games. Previously, over a 70-game season, the best he had done was 19 assists.

In all it looks as if this could be Johnson's season in the sun.

Robinson Dares NBA to Take Away Title

NEW YORK (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson dares the National Boxing Association to take away his world middleweight crown. His advisor warned the NBA's individual members to beware if a legal counter-punch if they did.

The 38-year - old champion blasted an NBA ultimatum that he announce his title plans by Jan. 31 or face drastic action as "a nasty thing" and "unfair."

Arch Hindman, NBA executive secretary, issued the edict on Saturday. Rules of the NBA, which governs boxing in 41 states except New York and Massachusetts, require a champion to defend his title at least once every six months.

Robinson regained the middleweight title in Chicago last March 25, nine months ago, by dethroning Carmen Basilio in their return fight.

He said: "em take the title away now if they want," said Robinson smugly. "The way the tax situation is I can't fight again this year and realize anything."

"All I want is equal treatment. If they want to take action against me, why didn't they do it to Floyd Patterson, Archie Moore and Alphonse Halimi.

"I'm going to talk things over with Truman Gibson (president of the International Boxing Club) after the holidays. Then we'll see what the situation is."

"Let 'em have the title," echoed Robinson's advisor, George Gainford. "I dare 'em to. We'll sure every member of the NBA individually."

Patterson, the heavyweight champion, went nearly a year without defending his crown. He knocked out Pete Rademacher on Aug. 22, 1957 and it wasn't until Aug. 18, 1958 that he met and stopped Roy Harris.

Moore knocked out Tony Anthony Sept. 20, 1957 and then kayoed Yvon Durelle in a thriller two weeks ago.

Halimi, the bantamweight king from Paris, has gone 13 months without putting his title on the line. He defeated Mexico's Raul (Raton) Macias on Nov. 6, 1957.

Wood Basilio got the next shot or did Robinson plan to accept Moore's challenge for a light heavyweight title clash?

"I'll have nothing to say until I talk with Gibson," said Robinson. "I'm considering a Moore fight along with other offers. There is nothing settled now."

Comiskey May Prove Snag For Bill Veeck

CHICAGO (AP) — Bill Veeck is negotiating to buy into Chicago White Sox but if he has hopes of gaining complete control of the club for the syndicate he heads he had better take another look.

Veeck is dealing with Dorothy Comiskey Rigney for her 3,235 shares of stock.

Another 2,715 shares of stock are controlled by Mrs. Rigney's 32-year-old brother, Charles Comiskey, who says that under no circumstances will he allow the team to leave the family.

Comiskey has been dickering to buy out his sister but his chances appear slim since Veeck entered the scene. Comiskey now holds 1,129½ shares of stock but will have his full 2,715 shares by the time he is 35.

The baseball club is the vocation that I want and intend to follow," Comiskey said Tuesday night. He revealed that the club, founded by his grandfather, had been Comiskey property for 58 years.

There is nothing Comiskey can do if his sister decides to sell to Veeck. However, it would be interesting to see how Veeck and Comiskey, both used to having their own way, would get along.

Shoemaker First Four-Time Jockey Winner

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP)—Willie Shoemaker has become the first jockey to win the United States' riding championship four times.

Wee Willie has ridden 29 winners this year. No other jockey can catch him. Starting Friday, he will jaiten the total when the Santa Anita season opens.

Shoemaker is proud of his four-time record. Until 1956 he had been tied with grandpa Johnny Longden, who grew up in Tabor, Alta., and Bill Hartack as a three-time world champion.

Shoemaker started his great years in 1950 when he and Joe Culmone shared the title with 388 wins apiece. In 1953 Shoemaker had 485 winners for an all-time U.S. record for one year. He won in 1954 with 380.

His total could have been higher this year but Shoemaker actually has been loafing the last few weeks—hunting, golfing and fishing into his rich oil properties in Texas.

Akins Gets Return Bout With Jordan

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Virgil Akins, who lost the welterweight boxing crown to Don Jordan in his first title defence, will get a chance to regain the title in a rematch with Jordan March 6 in the St. Louis Arena, Akins' comanager announced Tuesday night.

Eddie Yawitz, co-manager of Akins, said the contract for the Dec. 5 Akins-Jordan fight which had a rematch clause—also ruled that there should be no intervening fights. Yawitz said this clause has been lifted to allow each fighter one bout before the rematch.

Jordan, 24-year-old Los Angeles native, and Akins, 30, of St. Louis, will split 60 per cent of the proceeds of their second bout, Yawitz said.

The fight will be promoted by the International Boxing Club and televised.

EASY WIN

Jordan won a lopsided decision over Akins in the first bout and speared the master all the way. Akins apparently had been expecting Jordan would box a retreating fight. Instead, Jordan swarmed all over him, and Akins appeared at a loss to know what to do.

Jordan signed Tuesday to meet Alvaro Gutierrez of Mexico in a 10-round non-title scrap in Los Angeles Jan. 22.

Yawitz said "we are considering a fight for Akins but have come to no decision as yet."

Akins was impressive in winning the title in St. Louis June 6 with a four - round TKO over Vince Martinez. He battered his way to prominence by stopping ex-champion Tony Demarco twice and Isaac Logari once.

But Akins has looked bad since winning the crown and another loss to Jordan might drop him back into obscurity. He had a last-minute desperation TKO over Tombstone Smith, then dropped a decision to Del Flanagan, both non-title fights.

ASK MOORE FIGHT

DALLAS (AP) — Promoter Ralph Smith says he has offered light heavyweight champion Archie Moore a $7,500 purse to fight a 10-round main event here Jan. 26. Moore's opponent would be the winner of the 10-round bout between Art Swiden of Pittsburgh and Bert Whitehurst of New York scheduled here for next Monday. Smith looked Moore as saying he was interested but would not make a decision now.

Aussie Quiz, Who Plays U.S. Singles?

BRISBANE (AP)—Who's going to play singles for the United States in the Davis Cup challenge round against Australia next Monday?

This was the giant guessing game going on in this Queensland capital today even though Barry MacKay, of Dayton, Ohio, came down with a stomach disorder and was placed under a physician's care. The ailment is regarded as minor, and MacKay was expected to be all right Thursday.

HOPMAN GIVES OPINION

Even Harry Hopman, the Aussies' little captain, got into the guessing game.

Hopman, who has been known to use his opinions in sly psychological warfare, has said America should use Ham Richardson and MacKay, benching Alex Olmedo except for the doubles.

Jack Kramer, the professional promoter who has been acting as unofficial adviser to Perry Jones, the U.S. captain, believes otherwise. He thinks it should be MacKay and Olmedo with Richardson only in the doubles.

Jones maintains a discreet silence.

One thing is certain; whoever is chosen someone will be bitterly disappointed.

Richardson, the U.S. No. 2 player and senior member of the team, let it be known without question that he expects to exercise whatever prerogative he has.

SAYS HE'S BEST

"I did not leave my job, make personal sacrifices and come all the way over here to be a spectator," Richardson said grimly. "I am the best player. I am at the top of my game. I expect to play."

MacKay, the star of last year's challenge round, thinks he has earned another shot at the Aussies although he was advised to stay in bed today.

"I believe I can win," he said.

The Ethiopian Olmedo was blowing so horns, but it was obvious he also feels he has a stake in American tennis sweepstakes. It would be a blow to him to be pulled out after his fine showing against the Italians. He was the most impressive of the U.S. players in their 5-0 sweep of the intersone final.

Year's Top Athlete-

Mile Marvel Herb Elliott Would Be Marathon Champ

By WILL GRIMSLEY

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP)—Australia's Herb Elliott, mile marvel of the age, has one driving ambition—to be the best marathon runner in the world.

"Speed is a gift," the phenomenal 20-year-old running machine said today. "Endurance is an achievement.

"I received some satisfaction from my mile performances of course—just from the knowledge that I had done my best—but nothing like the thrill I would get for instance from running and winning an Olympic marathon."

The sinewy, sharp - featured track wizard discussed his athletic philosophy in soft casual tones after being selected he had been named The Associated Press male athlete of the year.

He is the first athlete outside the United States to win the honor which is voted by sports-can sports writer and broadcasters since Gunder Haegg of Sweden, another great runner, topped the voting in 1943.

ROOM MARGIN

Elliott won by a solid margin over Jimmy Brown, the rushing star of the pro football Cleveland Browns, and Bob Turley, the pitching star of the New York Yankees who won world series here.

Elliott, who during the last year ran 10 miles under four minutes and set a world mile record of 3:54.5 and a two-miles record of 3:36, said he was astounded to learn that American sports writers had chosen him as the year's outstanding performer.

"I never dreamed I had a chance to win this title in America," he said. "Imagine me picking up such honors as baseball or football player or fighter.

"I am delighted. I think it is one of the finest things which has happened to me in an already full life."

The Australian comet said he was looking forward to visiting the United States in February when he goes aboard from the Order of the Eagles at Milwaukee Feb. 9.

"I plan to leave here sometime in early February but I am sorry I can remain in America any long enough to accept the award. I must get back to the university."

The educational commitments he will make in science on a scholarship—will present a track appearance in the United States, in 1959.

"There is a faint chance I may which I did not give everything slip away in June during the heli-1 had."

Peters' Pair Takes Over Junior Scoring

TORONTO (CP) — Linemates Wayne Connelly and Bill Mahoney of Peterborough Petes counted four goals and five assists against Toronto Marlboros Monday night and took over the lead in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A scoring department.

Connelly now has 53 points on 21 goals and 32 assists for first place while Mahoney's 26 goals tops the leaders with 30 assists give him second spot with 52.

St. Catharines Teddy Stan Mikita was pushed into third place and statistics including Monday night's game show he has 51 points for 29 goals and 31 assists.

Peterborough Chloe Makl is next in line with 43 points, while Pete's Larry Babcock on the same line with Connelly and Mahoney, holds down fifth position with 36.

Jacques Caron of Peterborough remained the leading goalkeeper this week with a 2.82 goals-per-game average allowing 49 goals in 17 games. Dennis Dejordy of St. Kitts is second with 2.92.

Leafs Thumb Willie Marshall, Get Ehman

TORONTO (CP) — Willie Marshall was thumbed out of the National Hockey League Tuesday by Toronto Maple Leafs and his release was final. It is the best thing that's happened to me all year."

The 27-year-old centreman, who has produced one assist in nine games, was sent back to Hershey Bears of the American Hockey League in a deal which will bring winger Gerry Ehman of Bears to Leafs.

Two other players, one from each team, are also involved in the deal, to be identified at the end of the season when their records takes effect.

Marshall, a Kirkland Lake native, helped Bears win the AHL championship last season, lead the league in scoring with 40 goals and 54 assists and was chosen as all-star centre. Leafs got him in 1952 after two players and cash and used him in Rochester Red Wings' AHL championship season.

"I've been trying to get back to Hershey ever since I realized I didn't figure in Leafs' plans," Marshall said. He hopes to regain his high-scoring form with Bears.

Ehman, who played eight games with Detroit Red Wings of the NHL this season and picked up one assist, will play for Toronto at Detroit Christmas night.

HONOR CANADA

MONTREAL (CP) — Canadian skiers have been invited to take part in Canadian Ski Week Jan. 18-24 at Mount Burke Ski Area in Vermont, General Manager Dick Coney, formerly of Sun Valley, has said a number of events have been specially planned for Canadian visitors. St. Lawrence University, Canton, N.Y., has also issued a special invitation to Canadians to participate in their giant slalom Jan. 21 at White-face Mountain, Wilmington, N.Y.

Hurst Goalie Proves Big Factor In Kingston's Win Over Juniors

KINGSTON (Special) — Kingston Johnnies Monday evened a 9-3 drubbing received from the Belleville Lumberjacks Monday night by thumping the revamped Belles 9-5 last night at the Kingston Community Memorial Centre in an OHA Junior "B" contest.

However, the revenge was not all sweet. The visitors outshot the local boys 39-30 and only held a territorial edge in every period. Only an accident to goaltender Hill kept early in the game allowed the winners to score so easily.

Moxam was hurt when he fell heavily against the goal post ten early in the game and was knocked unconscious. The mishap originated when Reg Mulholland broke loose to score his second goal of the period and after making the counter goal the defenceman who was checking him fell into Moxam in the to beat Moxam cleanly. It was a wild scoring spree for the winners who tallied five times to three for the Belleville team. net. The plucky young netminder was carried from the ice and though not seriously injured it was thought best to replace him with a midget goalie tender from Belleville, Whitey Hull. Hull performed as well as could be expected considering the advanced style of hockey plus the fact that he had little good with makeshift equipment.

The picture play of the game occurred, however, when Moxam was still in action. Kingston's Gary Offord was off in the first period serving a cross-checking penalty. By the time he got back on the ice Mulholland had scored two beautiful counters almost single-handed. Twice within 24 seconds he slipped through the Belleville team

Doug Senior combined with Buddy Aylesworth to tally twice and assist his linemate on another.

Lloyd Faulkner and John Tuttle tallied for the winners.

At one point Kingston scored three goals in 32 seconds.

In the final frame the visitors poured over the locals only to have Wayne Nicholls in the Kingston nets foil them on 12 occasions after he had appeared shaky in the first two periods. Fred Curran tallied the only goal of the final session.

Gary Rowbotham opened the scoring in the game on a neat play with the set-penalized Jerry Mann. Jack Elliott picked up the other first period counter for the losers. Elliott, who played a standout game for the visitors, picked up his second counter of the game in the second period. Dennis Kerrulish and Bill Foster were the other goal scorers.

The line-ups:

Belleville — Goal, Moxam; Hull; defence, Thierson, Mavity; forwards, Ethier, Kerrulish, Elliott; alternates, R. Hull, Rowbotham, Foster, Sheridan, Plane, Fuller, Goyer, Mann.

Kingston — Goal, Nichols; defence, Carey, Decker; forwards, Senior, Mulholland, Aylesworth, alternates, L. Faulkner, Curran, Senior, Offord, Jarvis, Dunlop, Tuttle, Connell.

Eastern Senior A League Scoring Statistics

Bobby Attersley, well on his way to another OHA Eastern Senior A scoring championship, has opened up a 12-point lead over team-mate Bill Smith, according to statistics released today.

The Whitby centre-ice star has completed 34 points in 27 games and also tops the loop in goals with 20 and in assists with 14. Smith has 22 points on 10 goals and 12 assists. Attersley is the lone 20-goal man. Kingston's Moe Savard has taken over third spot with 27 points, dropping Belleville's Ike Hildebrand into fourth place with 26, the same spot as Bus Gagnon of Kingston. Jim Maxwell, also of Kingston, follows with 24 and Paul Payette of Belleville is tied with newcomer Pete Babando at Whitby with 23 each. Wayne Brown, Lou Smrke and Johnny McLellan, all of Belleville, bring up the rear with 22 points apiece.

John Henderson of Whitby has the best goals-against average, 2.85 in 27 games, while the McFarlands' Gordie Bell is second with 3.41 and a couple of shutouts.

League badman is defenceman Vigor Gendron of Kingston with 67 minutes, while Cornwall's Marcel Goyette has served 66 minutes.

Giants' Coach Thinks Colts Tougher Club Than Browns

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP)—The Baltimore Colts were made 3½-point favorite to defeat New York for the National Football League championship Sunday and Giant coach Jim Lee Howell thinks the odds should be higher.

"The Colts are the best team in the league," Howell said. "They certainly are better than Cleveland and I expect a much tougher battle from the Colts than we got in any of the games with the Browns."

Howell may have been talking for effect. Big Jim's biggest worry is the fear of a letdown on the part of his squad which battled through five "must" games in succession en route to the eastern conference title.

TREMENDOUS LINE

"The Colts have a lot of power," Howell said, "and they have a tremendous line. Against the Browns we could get through their line. You can't do the things against them that you can do against the Browns. You can't concentrate on any one player like you can against Cleveland.

"We learned that if you can stop Jimmy Brown and Ray Renfro, you can pretty well bottle up the Browns' attack. But the Colts have a bunch of great backs like Lenny Moore, Johnny Unitas, Alan Ameche and L. G. Dupre. Ameche may not be a Brown but he can get you that first down and he is a good blocker and pass receiver. And then that Moore and Dupre can run. Unitas, besides being a great passer, is a good runner.

"And then there's that gang of 300 pounders blocking and punching holes for the boys. You can be sure that such guys as (Gene) Lipscomb (290), (Art) Donovan (270), (Ray) Krause (275), (Glen) Marchetti (240) and (Jim) Parker (275) aren't going to be fooled by any new tricks. They know them all."

GOT CLOSE VICTORY

In their only hand-to-hand combat this year the Giants managed to eke out a 24-21 victory. That was clouded by absence of Unitas, nursing a couple of cracked ribs. The Louisville albatross is not expected to start this one.

Giants are in good shape, too, with the exception of Rory Grier. The huge defensive tackle suffered an arm and knee injury last week and missed Tuesday's workout, along with guard Dick Mischak, and Kyle Rote and halfback Alex Webster. Grier is the only doubtful starter Sunday. Mischak has a bad toe, Rote's

Right knee is swollen and Webster has a charley horse in his right calf and a sprained left knee.

Guard Buzz Guy, who suffered a slight bone chip in an ankle, worked out Tuesday.

"The boys are ready," said Howell. "They're eager and confident. We'll have no excuses if we lose. Only I can't see where the Colts are rated only a 3½ point favorite. I thought the odds would have been more than that."

Dogs Whip Slipping Maroons While Hounds Trim Trappers

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

What has happened to Chatham Maroons?

A week ago they were running away with the OHA-NOHA Senior A, looked like good Memphis to dominate the circuit for the rest of the season.

But in the last few days they've dropped three games in a row including a 7-2 whipping administered Tuesday night by the Sudbury Windsor Bulldogs. And they're in danger of being ousted from first place for the first time this season.

In the other OHA-NOHA game the third-place Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds chilled North Bay Trappers 5-3 before 2,294 disappointed North Bay fans who have been hoping their club will start a drive to vacate the league cellar.

PLENTY TO SHOUT ABOUT

The 1,475 fans at Windsor had plenty to shout about as Bulldogs whiled Chatham in every period and their redshifted forward lines staged the best performance of the season.

Maroon goalie Don Head had a tough night as his defence backs lad under the Windsor pressure. Several times he wandered far from his nets to grab stray pucks, once even going to the side boards. He also talked himself into a 10-minute misconduct penalty in the third period.

Windsor got off to a 3-2 lead in the first period and kept it growing. Bob Brown paced the winners with two goals while Joe Klukay, Gino Speck, Lou Reedo and Frank Bathgate shared the rest.

Jim Connelly and Fred Pletsch scored for Chatham.

North Bay went down fighting to the bitter end. Coach Pete Palangio pulled goalie Marv Edwards in the closing minutes of the game with Greyhounds leading 4-3. Six Trapper attackers ganged up on the Soo net but Bill Gamble and Jim outstanding goaltending job all night, turned them back.

With two seconds to go Jim Farell fired into the vacant North Bay goal.

Other Soo scorers were John Gregory, with two, and Bucko Dimma. The North Bay goals went to Ken Gribbons, with a pair, and Chet Koneczny.

2nd GUARDS LOSE

THE HAGUE (AP)—A Dutch hockey team defeated the 2nd Canadian Guards army team of Soest, West Germany 6-4 Tuesday. Canadian scorers were Fred MacLean with two goals and Jack Holden and Frank Major with one each.

Christmas Day

Aries (March 21 to April 19) — The morning is fine for communications and discussions of all kinds that send your own appreciation for today's spirit to all with whom you have social contact. Then tonight excellent for home and family pleasures. Show you love them. Be happy.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) — You can be quite practical in the morning by looking at the practical manner in which you can express the Christmas Spirit. Remember, "Faith without works is dead." The P.M. is fine for communicating with all others. Visit and enjoy congenials.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) — You can be just as personal as you like this morning in stating your affection and appreciation for others as well as letting them know what'll make you happiest in days to come. Then P.M. enjoy longtime pleasures of a practical nature.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 21) — Personal joys can be most satisfying and illuminating this morning, especially if you take a little spare time to meditate and reflect upon them. Then, P.M. finds you able to get out to be social to put your best foot forward with all.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) — Joyous good will between you and friends can exist this morning, especially if you share your magnetic warmth and your enthusiastic spirit which can bring added magnetism to all. Then later you can wisely reflect upon all the good things of yours.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) — Much comes into the open this morning that is a real opportunity for you to show others that you value their good will and that you realize being a good Christian means being a better citizen. Then P.M. enjoy friends in social concord.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) — The morning is made much better if you will attend the worship services, studies of your choice. New slants bring greater understanding of the message of the Prince of Peace. Then late P.M. fine for seeing how you can be better citizen. Think.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — You have deep-seated happiness and intuition how to be much more close to righteousness and living in the Way during the daytime. Act thus in alliance with all associates. Then P.M. fine for getting improved thoughts for raising yourself, now.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — The morning finds you able to construct bonds that are worthwhile with partners much more closely. Show public your consideration for those less fortunate, also. Tonight, see if you can't put message of devotion across to deep attachment.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — This is your day to think how you can be of service and many helpfulness to all with whom you come in contact. Laying down your life, as a pattern, is real opportunity now. So, have a merry-heroic, "I-Serve," to show brothers your lofty ideas.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — This can be one of your happiest days. Make sure you early get together with those who bring you the greatest feeling of well-being and unite in joyful sentiments with them. P.M. fine for doing for those less fortunate than yourself. Be benign.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) — "Home is where the heart is," one often hears it said. And this is especially true of wherever your home is this wonderful, inspiring day. Let others see how much you appreciate it. P.M. unusually fine for happiness at pleasures you prefer.

If your child is born today—Today's child is one of those very attractive and ingenious children who is able to delight and please others far beyond the average youngster. For there is a combination of mental brilliance with a sturdy desire to get everything arranged on a practical and down-to-earth basis which makes others realize that if suggestions are made to this child, something will be done about them. Give your child as comprehensive an education as possible. Then your child really does places to great success.

Friday, December 26

Aries (March 21 to April 19) — A day to do your utmost to bring greater harmony and happiness within the home. Follow the good ideas that enter your mind and you will insure domestic tranquility for many years ahead. P.M. fine fun at your own fireside. Be kind.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) — Fine aspects for getting support and a boost from persons who realize and appreciate your talents. Personal calls are the best, and do not neglect those fine relatives who are truly with you in spirit. Seek data. Shop for nec. outlines, too.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) — While you live mostly in a world of ideas and inspiration, it is imperative you get down to practical expressions today. Waste not a moment of this precious day and you make real strides toward great success in your chosen field.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 21) — Be as friendly as possible today and think of own desires and needs. Express yourself freely with right persons and you will get support and cooperation. Work jointly toward some worthwhile venture. P.M. is excellent for social life.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) — There are political or civic matters to attend to, or you have a fine idea you want to place before an influential person. This is the ideal day to do so. P.M. have a secret conference with a big executive or financier.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) — You have only to step out of routine which may have sunk and seek the company of successful and enlightened persons to get the right ideas for increasing success and personal happiness. P.M. have fine time with congenial companions.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) — A wonderful idea is yours today about how to increase your income appreciably, and have a good reserve very quickly. P.M. give loved one tangible proof of your affection.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — Be sure to ask for the advice or information you need. Others are only too glad to help you today. But also give good reasns for everything. P.M. go to some charming spot to discuss matters of importance with associate or mate.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) —Partners and officials are concerned and cognizant of your specific needs. If you go to them, they will extend the support you need and so begin an upsurge in your affairs that you richly deserve. P.M. splendid days ahead.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — A day when there will be much seemingly unimportant talk with many people, but much of it is relevant. Later, seek out associates and have along conference, too. P.M. fine for dancing, singing, being fun with comrades.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — A day to impress others with your efficiency regarding work at hand and also religious devotion to obligations. Make "I serve" your keyphrase now. P.M. fine for invite guests to your home. Have fun.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) — A fine day for enjoyment with congenial friends. Rise early and do whatever requires you feel in the pink. Go along with the tide of friends, whether at sports, card games for fun, driving, shooting game, or what you will.

If your child is born today . . . The sweet child born today will be highly evolved emotionally, but also have the intestinal fortitude to go after what is desired with perseverance. And while your youngster is having such a difficult time adjusting himself or herself to life's little battles, you must teach the importance of objectivity. Five chart for the artist, the salesman, the designer. Anything creative.

Shannonville

SHANNONVILLE — The first Shannonville Brownie Pack held their enrolment recently, at the school. The Commissioner, Mrs. Hunt of Deseronto, enrolled the following Brownies: Carolyn Howard, Rhonda Hollands, Patsy Lynch, Donna Fuller, Sylvia Fritz, Evelyn Brant, Mary Wilson and Vickie Sero.

After enrolment the Brownies served lunch to their mothers and visitors, with the help of Brown Owl Mrs. B. Conroy and Tawny Owl Mrs. N. Sero.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER

Saturday, December 27, 1958

Aries (March 21 to April 19) Get an early start on all the repairs, rearranging of furniture, etc., that are necessary to make your home more comfortable and beautiful to see. Make close ties happy. P.M. either rest or invite guest in for a bit of chitchat.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) A good day for shopping or cleaning after the big holiday. Also, a good day to take a little trip to see persons vital to your success or loved ones. Be sure to write those important letters in P.M.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) Give a good, analytical look at your house and see where and how you can increase its value and beauty with a minimum of outlay. Fine for setting up budget that really works effectively for you. Cut down on luxuries and charities.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 21) A day for relaxing in terms of self, especially about your appearance and health. Look into the mirror and know how to make the best of natural endowments. Don't rely too much on artificialities. P.M. is fine for social pleasure.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) All those private and secret affairs that need attention should be handled quickly today and so put behind you. Then be sure you do whatever is needed to tone up your system, be better groomed and more attractive to others.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Any friends you have neglected lately who truly mean something to you should be called or visited today to assure them of your devotion. Be interested in their dreams and ambitions, too. Be very sociable and kind.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) A.M. hours should be spent in important personal, civic or political affairs. Also be sure your credit is better than it has been for some time. P.M. have fun and increase popularity.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) An excellent day to step out of monotonous life and into the world of fascinating successful persons impossible for others you to know before. Good day for a little trip, too, and for starting interesting new ventures.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) By simply talking less and concentrating more, the gift of intuition which is yours will become manifest and you get the correct answers to many of your problems. Then, get bills paid and be devoted to one who loves you.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) A fine Saturday to know exactly how you stand with other persons and how to get the essentials of those fine individuals you would like to make your friends or business colleagues. P.M. go to a nice place for dinner and fun.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) A splendid day to take stock of all jobs that need to be done around the home, the garden, etc. and to pitch in and put as many of these chores behind you as possible. Be efficiently occupied. And don't forget to send your petal!

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) A day for enjoyment and pleasure. Dress in the best of taste, then get in touch with pals you like best. Take in the sports or affairs you all like above everything else. Activity is the keystone today.

If your child is born today, the fine-looking child born today is the type who will achieve greatest fame and financial recompense from labors that deal with the general public. The TV or theatre actor or actress is in this class, or the pugilist. Take one in P.M. be devoted to one who loves you.

If your child is born today, extraordinary and criticism will result in extreme introversion. Show pride and give love to your youngster.

Coast Ferries Sail, Dispute Is Settled

VANCOUVER (CP) — The ships of Black Ball Ferries Limited were back in operation today following settlement of a 10-day strike that started when a crew member refused a job transfer from newspaper to sailing hall. The walkout involved 180 men.

Agreement between Black Ball and the Seafarers' International Union (CLC) was announced Tuesday night by Labor Minister Lyle Wicks of British Columbia.

The strike started last Thursday night when an unlicensed steward was ordered from his newsstand into the sailing hall. Five fellow crew members refused to work. They were fired. All Black Ball workers then walked out and demanded wage increases they had tried to get in a strike earlier this year.

It was not immediately known what the new steward has under the contract. The union had argued he had a heart condition and should be left on the newsstand.

Terms of the contract stipulate that seamen will receive wage rates established in the current dispute between the SIU and Canadian Pacific Coast Steamship Service.

The SIU had asked Black Ball for a 25-per-cent increase on the present basic rate of $238 a month. The company earlier offered eight per cent and reportedly increased its offer to 10.

It was agreed "that all hands are to be reinstated "without prejudice" and the ferries will remain operating continuously until a new fullscale agreement is signed.

Science Now Shrinks Piles Without Pain Or Discomfort

Finds Healing Substance That Relieves Pain And Itching As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain and itching. Sufferers have been relieved with this inexpensive substance right in the privacy of their own home without any discomfort or inconvenience.

In case hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and confirmed by doctors' observations

Pain was promptly relieved. And while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough as to exceed the most optimistic hopes.

Most of Cabinet Will Remain In Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP) — It will be an on-the-job Christmas season for nearly half the federal cabinet this year, thanks to a last-minute rush of preparations for the approaching session of Parliament.

Ten of the 23 cabinet ministers plan to remain in the capital for the holiday. Another eight will be within a few hours travelling time at their homes in Ontario and Quebec.

Governor-General Massey also has decided to remain at Government House here, instead of making his customary holiday trip to his home at Port Hope.

But the three party leaders in the Commons are taking brief holidays away from Ottawa before Parliament gets back to work Jan. 15.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker was to arrive in Saskatoon by train this morning to spend Christmas with his mother and brother, but is due back in Ottawa for three days of cabinet meetings at the start of next week. It will be his first rest since his return Dec. 5 from a 35,000-mile world tour that was cut short by the illness of his invalid mother, 86-year-old Mrs. William T. Diefenbaker.

Liberal Leader Lester B. Pearson has been in Florida visiting friends for the last eight days and will return shortly after New Year's Day.

Hazen Argue, CCF House leader, has been travelling in Saskatchewan and will spend Christmas at Regina with his mother. He plans to return to Ottawa Jan. 6.

In Mr. Diefenbaker's absence, Finance Minister Fleming is acting prime minister.

The 10-member strength of the Christmas cabinet is unusually high, compared with recent years when the usual number of ministers here at Christmas was around three or four. Most of the 10 have homes more far from Ottawa, and the call-back to cabinet meetings on Monday and next Monday left them little time for travel.

RAWDON

Wellman's P.S. Pupils Hold Successful Yule Concert

RAWDON — On December 17 a large number of folk from the area attended the Christmas concert in Wellman's public school, S.S. No. 5, Rawdon township.

The concert was in the form of a carols-enlifted "Pardon Me, Santa," which gave the audience 90 minutes of entertainment. The whole program followed in sequence and the teacher, Mrs. Robert Hulin received many words of praise on the fine presentation. The music supervisor, Mrs. Lorne Watson, officiated at the piano.

The synopsis of the dialogue centred on Grandmother Goodheart who lived with her daughter, Ellen, and son-in-law, "Uncle John." They were expecting to entertain at Christmas three grandchildren, Sallie, Johnnie and Timmy, also a large group of children from Ellen's class at the Mission school.

Plans were made for a delightful Christmas but "Uncle John," was loaded with various duties as Ellen domineered him and piled on heaps of work.

IMPERSONATES SANTA

Ellen also invelgled "Uncle John" into playing Santa Claus and this was greatly against his wishes. To make matters worse, the children recognized him and later the real Santa appeared, and he gave "Uncle John" a good lecture for his impersonation. However, as the story unfolded everything had a happy ending.

The cast follows: Grandmother, Janet Heagle; Ellen, Linda Preston; Uncle John, Don Mayhew; three grandchildren, Sallie, Bonnie Lee Fry; Johnnie, Teddy Russell; Timmy, Jimmy Thain; Santa Claus, Harold Thain. All the other children represented the class from the Mission school. The speaker for this class was Jim Thompson.

The musical numbers in the cantata consisted of five choruses by all the pupils of the school. They were: "Bells of Christmas," "At Grandmother's for Christmas," "Santa Claus is Coming," "Go to Bed Early," and "Merry Christmas."

The vocal selections were: "All I Hear is No," by Don Mayhew; "When I Was Young," by Janet Heagle; "Hear the Bells on Santa's Sleigh," by Gordon Morton; "Silent Night," by Carolsenne Flynn; "Once in Royal David's City," by Donna Mayhew. Anne Watson sang "Hush My Baby," while Linda Flynn, Gail Mayhew, Fanny Larsby and Catherine Seeley rocked their dollies to sleep. Five girls, Sharon Flynn, Barbara Russell, Carol Seeley, Beverley Flynn and Delia Larsby sang "Away in a Manger."

Vocal duets were as follows: "Days That Used to Be," by Linda Preston and Don Mayhew; "There's Only One Santa," by Harold Thain and Don Mayhew.

Five girls — Freda Graham, Beverley Watson, Alice Flynn, Barbara Thompson and Alice Larsby—sang "O Little Town of Bethlehem." Recitations interspersed the carols and were as follows: "Peta," by Larry Walker; "Misunderstanding," by Larry Preston, and "The Christmas Tree," by Don Larsby. Lois Morton contributed a piano solo, "Dear Little Stranger."

Linda Preston read "The Story of Christmas," as found in Luke 2nd. chapter, verses 1 to 20.

The real Santa Claus arrived and distributed gifts and treats to the children, thus closing a successful concert.

Scoharie

SCOHARIE — There was a large congregation at Bloomfield United Church Sunday morning to enjoy the Christmas service. There was also a special candlelight service in the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. McWilliam and Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Wannamaker were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Foster, Darlene and Carol.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Bantet and Jean spent Thursday with her mother, Mrs. Walter Scott and Douglas, Foxboro.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Jandrew and Brenda were Sunday supper guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Stone.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Peterson and Donald and Mrs. Ross Buchanan and two children plan to spend Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Peterson near Napanee.

Mr. Clarence Calnan was a Sunday dinner guest of Mr. and Mrs. William Fraser following church service.

Bloomfield Sunday School concert was held in the church on Friday evening.

2nd THURLOW

Pupils Stage Enjoyable Yule Concert

2ND THURLOW — Miss Joan Campbell and pupils of S.S No. 4, Thurlow, held their Christmas concert on Wednesday night with a large attendance.

Mr. Bruce Askey, former pupil, acted as chairman for the evening's program, consisting of chorusel, dialogues, drill, recitations, tableaux, which were well presented and received. Miss Mumby, music supervisor, presided at the piano for the various songs. Miss Campbell thanked all who helped with the evening's entertainment and all those who attended. Miss Munday spoke briefly. Teacher and pupils are to be commended for the fine program.

Santa arrived to the tune of "Jingle Bells" and many gifts were distributed to old and young.

Rich and Poor Mingled During English Yule

During the 1400s and 1500s before the Puritans got the upper hand, the golden age of English hospitality reigned. At Christmas time castles and manor houses were filled with guests by the score and the hundred.

Kinsmen and neighbors were there and on certain days the tradesmen and tenants, for all were equal at this season. The tortier could dance with the mistress if he had the nerve to ask her. And he usually had — after the wassail.

The great halls were a din of conviviality. There was light — almost enough to pierce the wood smoke. And there were the savory aromas: roasting beef, roasting mutton, fowl and brawn (the flesh of the wild pig, which had been caught and fed good grain to the point of arousing his suspicions; too late, of course).

The dark ale flowed and added its voices — by proxy — to heighten the noise. At the peak of all this there was brought in the Yule log — a relic, incidentally, of the Scandinavians' pagan worship of Thor. With a brand from last year's log the new one was fired.

The light from these roaring flames would shine out through

Indestructible Mistletoe

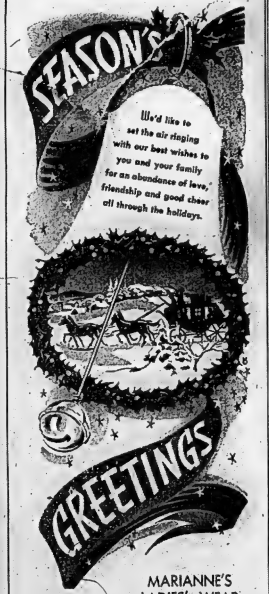
The flame-thrower and atomic energy—lethal instruments borrowed from modern warfare—are out to kill that ancient symbol of peacemaking and love, the Christmas mistletoe.

The unusual battle front is Australia where too many valuable trees each year have been receiving the kiss of death from the harmless looking shrub. Despite mistletoe's popular reputation as the Yuletide promoter of romance, it is a public-enemy parasite in the woodlands, killing off the trees that play it host.

Australian foresters have finally resorted to the flame-thrower as a quick executioner for the plant and are using radio-active tracers, furnished by the U.S. atomic energy commission to study how the mistletoe sags the water and mineral salts from the trees, starving them to death.

What roast turkey is to Christmas dinner today, the boar's head was to the Yuletide feasting of Medieval England.

Preparation for the feasting began during September or October when the boar's flesh was at its best. Hunters tracked the animal down with well-trained packs of boar-hounds and it was dangerous sport, attacking the ferocious beast with spears or surrounding him and driving him into a net.



His ear was his most vulnerable spot, but before the dogs could get a grip on it and pin him down, his sharp teeth often wounded — sometimes even killed — the hunter and his dogs.

Nevertheless, the pluckier the boar, the louder his praises were sung, the merrier the feasting, when his head was borne to the Christmas table.

May your holiday season be filled with merry days and may joy and good will fill your heart.

France Again Preparing To Devalue Franc

Hear Britain to Widen Sterling Convertibility

PARIS (Reuters) — French stock exchanges were closed today and foreign currency transactions suspended as the government moved toward an expected devaluation of the franc.

The cabinet ended a six-hour meeting on the country's financial situation early this morning and scheduled another session later in the day. Meanwhile, Premier de Gaulle prepared to broadcast to the nation tomorrow night on the new economic measures.

10 TO 20 PER CENT CUT

French newspapers forecast a devaluation of between 10 and 20 per cent for the franc, now officially pegged at 420 to the dollar.

The French cabinet met amid growing reports that Britain planned to make its pound convertible for people living outside the sterling area.

In Norway and Denmark, meanwhile, all foreign exchange quotations were suspended for the day to await the new currency moves.

France's ban on foreign currency transactions Friday night made it certain the government planned to introduce new financial measures as part of a general economic overhaul. Only tourists who could prove they were leaving the country by midday were exempt from the ban.

NEW "HEAVY" FRANC

Well-informed financial quarters expected the reforms to involve the creation of a "heavy" franc, worth 100 present francs; an adjusted rate for the heavy franc in other currencies with a certain convertibility; and a common monetary policy for the six nations of the new European common market—France, Italy, West Germany, the Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg. The common market begins operations next Thursday.

The franc toppled sharply in dealings this week. It was changing hands outside the Paris bourse at 480 to the U.S. dollar, 60 francs above the official rate. The price of an old gold sou soared by 30,000 francs in a week in deal ings between banks.

The franc has been devalued six times since it was set at 49.625 to the dollar Nov. 2, 1944. The last change was in August, 1957, and boosted the rate to 420 to the dollar from 350.

FRENCH CURRENCY

MONTREAL (CP) — Financial authorities here have expressed concern that any move by France to devalue the franc might result in a chain reaction of currency devaluations in other European countries.

Such a development could disturb the balance of currencies throughout Europe and "set back the work of the International Monetary Fund at least a decade," said one authority on foreign exchange.

As a result of IMF efforts, most European currencies have been fairly stable in recent years.

But authorities said there is no

PROBE SHOOTING

ORILLIA (CP) — Provincial police said Friday they still are investigating a shooting which resulted in the death Thursday night of 41-year - old Ryerson Snache of Rama Indian reserve. Police were told Snache was accidently shot when a .22-calibre rifle was fired during a discussion in a Fawn Bay home about whether a dog was gun shy.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO — Synopsis: Low temperatures last night over Ontario were in the 20s from Toronto to James Bay. Warmer was warmest with 30 degrees. London coldest with four. This warm weather will be temporarily interrupted as a low pressure area over the Superior moves east bringing cooler air behind it. A second storm is expected to roll below a temperary warming in southern sections of Ontario later Sunday.

LONDON (Reuters) — Indications in various European centres are that an announcement on the convertibility of sterling, and other European currencies is imminent.

No advance confirmation was obtainable from any British official quarter. But experts in London and in continental centres had little doubt that this long-awaited currency change would be announced soon, probably on Sunday.

Convertibility of sterling would be confined to non - residents, people living outside Britain and the other parts of the sterling area. It would not in itself make any difference to Britons and the other residents.

TWO STERLING TYPES

Technically, the change would be to unify the present two types of non-resident sterling. In Britain, the type called American account sterling, held by residents of the dollar area, always has been convertible.

Since February, 1955, the other type, which is called transferable sterling and is held by all countries outside the dollar and sterling areas, has been informally convertible.

Recently the difference between the two rates has narrowed to a small fraction. The British authorities always converted transferable sterling into dollars whenever its rate came under undue pressure.

After the expected announcement, transferable sterling would be merged in the fully convertible variety at a single exchange rate. Informal convertibility, which has prevailed since 1955, would become formal.

Meanwhile France awaited official word of a decision to devalue the franc.

France's expected currency reform is regarded here as a means to curb inflation before the six - nation common market comes into force Jan. 1.

French goods will be subjected to much more competition in the Common Market and French prices will have to come down to meet this competition. Within the common Market countries — West Germany, Italy, Holland, Belgium and Luxembourg.

France's uncompetitively high prices are one reason why she has refused to accept still-wider competition from a British-proposed European free trade area of 17 countries.

When a currency is devalued, gold and foreign currency prices rise automatically. When the franc was devalued by one-sixth in August 1957, the franc price of gold rose by one-sixth automatically rose by 20 per cent.

The effect of a 20 per cent devaluation quickly wore off. That operation was necessitated by the 1956 overvaluation of the franc, which promptly developed a new overvaluation.

As a result, France's trade and dollar reserves have been under constant strain. They increased a little after Gen. Charles de Gaulle came to power last June but it has intensified recently and France has been steadily losing money, particularly to Germany.

Bartender Gets Reward of 70 Cents For Finding Queen's Talk in Gutter

KING'S LYNN, England (AP) — Only Queen Elizabeth, bartender Harvey Day agreed, but others knew what the Queen was going to talk about in her Christmas broadcast. Day spotted the words.

Harvey gave five hours before the radio-television broadcast because he picked a copy of the speech out of a gutter.

Harvey, 23, spotted a full leather briefcase lying in the gutter filled out a sheet of papers, and started reading:

"The Queen's speech . . ."

He told police who rushed it by hand car to Sandringham, the country home 11 miles distant where the Queen and the Royal Family were spending Christmas.

The Queen was to make her broadcast from there. The notes Harvey found were the television script. BBC producer Anthony Cranton had lost them.

On the script Cranton had made notes of camera angles and sound cues. Without the script, Cranton said, there would have had to be more rehearsals.

Harvey, credited with having saved the broadcast from confusion, was offered a reward of five shillings (70 cents).

Said Harvey: "It's not worth collecting."

Dense columns of smoke towering hundreds of feet into the air engulf Belleville's city hall at the height of Friday morning's fire which caused more than $400,000 damage to the city's downtown area.

MURDER CHARGE PREFERRED AFTER SHOOTING OF FIVE

Police Constable, Four Others Slain

EAR FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Tom Young, 24, was charged Friday with murder in the Christmas Day shooting of a woman and four men, one of them his father.

Young, who was flushed out of a cabin by police using tear gas, was charged in Kenora court specifically with the murder of James Gordon, 26. Young was remanded one week without plea.

Other victims were provincial police constable Calvin Russell of Fulford, 28; Gordon's 17-year-old wife, Clara; Albert Young, 47, father of the accused, and George Williams, 47.

Police said all but the constable were believed to be halfbreeds who formerly lived on the Lac Seul Indian reserve. Constable Russell, his wife and three children came here from Sioux Lookout, Ont.

Ear Falls is a remote bush community in Northwestern Ontario about 75 miles north of Kenora.

Two Escapees at Joyceville Quickly Arrested Near Prison

KINGSTON (CP) — Two convicts walked away from the Joyceville prison farm 12 miles northeast of here Friday.

They got a lift back courtesy of the provincial police and the hectic character of their seven hours at large probably made them wonder if it was worth the trouble.

Harold K. Gordon, 26, and Ronald Turpin, 25, both of the Ottawa district, disappeared from the prison farm skating rink around 3.15 p.m. There were no work details Boxing Day and most of the convicts at the minimum-security institution spent the day in recreation.

At 4 p.m., after a search of the grounds failed to turn up the two men, they were declared on the loose. Gogdon had a year to go on a five-year stretch for robbery and Turpin had finished half a two-year sentence for theft.

Next word of the fugitives was from the Gananoque police who radio-ed stolen car belonging to Reg Sloane of Sunbury village and gave chase. They pursued it westward along Highway 2 after notifying the Kingston detachment of the provincial police which dispatched a car to head off the flight.

The Sloane car wheeled off Highway 2 onto a sideroad which runs northwest and joins Highway 15. It also leads almost straight back to Joyceville.

Part way along, the Sloane vehicle failed to make a turn and hit the ditch.

Up raced the police, who didn't know the Joyceville fugitives were in the stolen car. The pursuit surrendered meekly and were returned to the prison—only six miles away.

Then Mr. Sloane got his car back.

It was all over by 11 p.m.

Report Transatlantic Balloon Landed Still Unconfirmed

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Aerial searchers tried today to pin down unconfirmed reports from ham radio operators that the British balloon Small World had landed in eastern Venezuela near Indian reserve.

The air search began Friday over the jungle area of the Orinoco River delta.

The amateur radio operators reported the balloon and its four passengers had landed near Pedernales, a Venezuelan [illegible] the Atlantic at the northern edge of the wide delta. The town is just 12 miles west of the tip of Trinidad in the British West Indies.

The report gained strength when Communications Minister Oscar Machado Zuloaga was quoted in Caracas newspapers as saying the balloon had landed in Venezuela.

The Civil Aeronautics Authority said, however, that it had nothing to confirm the report. It said it was surveying the search by a commercial air ministry DC3. After searching for an hour or two, the plane was forced by

Next week: Diana Grill, James Texts And Sprague Blocks Swept By Flames Friday Morning

Loss Estimated at Near $400,000; Virgil James Plans to Rebuild

Loss estimated at close to $400,000 resulted here early Friday morning when fire, breaking out in the basement of the Diana Grill, swept through three business blocks in the downtown area before it was brought under control.

Lost in the blaze, which was fought for six hours before being brought under control, were the Diana Grill, James Texts Ltd., and the former Bank of Nova Scotia building on the corner of Front and MacAnnany Streets, which was badly damaged in the blaze.

The regional office of the Salvation Army, situated above the Diana Grill, was also a complete loss.

Today at noon firemen were still pouring water into the debris from three lines of hose, the ice-covered ruins attesting to the difficult job the Belleville firefighters had in controlling the blaze.

It was the second major fire in the city in the past month with the Bill Deline Ltd. premises on Coleman Street and Arthur Bill and Son Ltd. being destroyed on November 29.

FAMILIES BURNED OUT

Two families living in third floor apartments in the Alan Sprague building at the corner of Front and McAnnany Streets were forced to flee their homes as firemen were unable to halt the advance of flames.

Another family, Mrs. H. B. Marshall, Mrs. Elizabeth Mc-Ferrer, and Mrs. Ferrer's daughter, were absent at the time of the fire, spending Christmas with relatives in Western Ontario.

Tenants also fled the flames were Mr. and Mrs. William Ploeg and son and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Barr. The Barrs are no strangers to the horrors of fire. They experienced a major disaster a few years ago when Mr. Barr lost his mother and a ten-year-old daughter, Irma, in a blaze which swept their farm home at Mountain View, near Tweed. His brother and the remaining members of the family huddled in the safety of the barn. Mr. Barr tramped three-quarters of a mile in socked feet, through the near-zero weather to get assistance. As a result he has not fully recovered from the severe frostbite incurred during this ordeal.

Fortunately Mr. and Mrs. Barr's possessions were covered fairly adequately by insurance.

Situated on the ground floor of the Sprague building are the Diana Grill, James Texts and Sprague, and the W. R. Bartlett Agency grading station. On the second floor was the Canada Life insurance office and the Federal Department of Agriculture Division office. They suffered heavy smoke damage.

DISCOVERED AT 4.30 A.M.

The blaze was discovered about 4.30 a.m. and within five minutes Belleville firemen were on the scene and a general alarm was turned in calling out the fire equipment in the city.

Firemen from Trenton, Deseronto and Point Anne were also called in under the mutual aid fire fighting agreement.

At first it appeared that firemen would be able to confine

Plans No Probe

TORONTO (CP) — Two fires within a month at Belleville, the most recent of which occurred Friday, will not be investigated, Ontario Fire Marshall W. J. Scott said Friday.

Mr. Scott said he knew of no circumstances in either fire, each of which caused $500,000 damage, to warrant an investigation.

He said he had no criticism of Belleville's fire department or its fire-fighting methods, and described it as a good, well-equipped brigade. He noted many of Belleville's buildings were 100 or more years old and said once a fire starts in such buildings it is hard to control.

Cuban Govt. Plans Drive Against Rebels

HAVANA, Cuba (AP) — Civilians were warned today to keep clear of rebel positions as the government launched an all-out drive to wipe out the insurgents.

Army planes are reported already to have bombed the outskirts of Placetas on the main highway east of Santa Clara, where the rebels are tightening a ring around the capital of Las Villas province.

The two-year rebellion faced its bloodiest turn as government forces struck at heavily populated concentrated districts which until now have been bases for a wide range of gunfire.

The third military district command in Las Villas said that henceforth army planes and troops would attack rebels wherever they were hiding out. Civilians staying in house-to-house fighting were warned they would be regarded as belligerents.

A shortage of weapons and ammunition was reported by the government of President Fulgencio Batista in countering attacks by the rebel forces of Fidel Castro.

New Stamp in February to Show Likeness of Arrow Interceptor

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada may not proceed with the Arrow interceptor but a reasonable likeness of the controversial aircraft will be reproduced on a postage stamp on a new postal stamp to be issued shortly.

The stamp goes on sale Feb. 23 to mark the 50th anniversary of powered flight in Canada. On this day in 1909 near Baddeck, N.S., J. A. D. McCurdy piloted the frail Silver Dart aloft on a half-mile flight, first in Canada or the Commonwealth.

The new stamp is a five-cent issue in blue. Three identical delta - winged aircraft looking much like the CF-105 Arrow are pictured in the background in a position of sharp climb.

Post office officials said any resemblance between the CF-105 and the three delta-wing jets is purely coincidental. They said the delta-wing craft look much alike and the Arrow had not been singled out specifically, but Canada has no other delta - wing planes.

The Arrow comes up for final Commons debate in the open of the picture of the frail silver dart biplane.

The wings, which curved toward each other at their tips, will spanned 49 feet and the total all-up weight with pilot was only 900 pounds. The power came from the world's first successful water-cooled air engine. Mr. McCurdy later served as Nova Scotia lieutenant-governor.

FEDERAL GOVT. ALREADY IN RED BY $174,000,000

Revenues Down, Spending up Cause

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government is well on its way to chalking up its fourth post-war deficit.

On operations in the current fiscal year ending March 31, the government already has gone into the red by $174,000,000, Finance Minister Fleming has budgeted for a record peacetime deficit of $700,000,000 and this figure may be exceeded.

The business recession of this year plus government pump-priming to counteract growing unemployment brought declining revenues and greater expenditures, the government's treasury statement showed Friday night.

In November, the government operated in the red by $70,300,000 and in the first eight months of the fiscal year the deficit totalled $174,000,000. This compared with a deficit of $1,900,000 on the month's operations a year earlier and a seven-month surplus of $259,100,000.

However, the March 31 deficit this year—third since the Second World War—was $38,622,000.

INCOME RECEIPTS DOWN

As corporation income tax receipts slipped to $76,900,000 in November and $624,000,000 in the eight-month period, total revenues declined to $366,400,000 in the month and $2,946,000,000 in the cumulative period.

These figures compared with corporation tax collections of $80,000,000 in November, 1957, and $853,300,000 in the eight-month period last year. Total revenues in those periods were $395,800,000 and $3,304,800,000 respectively.

Indian Woman Sent for Trial On Murder Count

BRANTFORD (CP) — Mrs. Alice Vivian Hill, charged with the brutal axe slaying of her husband Norman Nole, one of six children in their Six Nations Indian reserve home last June 17 was committed to trial Friday by Magistrate John T. Shillington.

Mrs. Hill is charged with slaying another daughter, three-year-old Rosalie Nole, one of the faced only one charge Friday.

The two youngsters were found battered to death in their downstairs bedroom. Nola was lying in bed, partly on the floor and partly in a pool of blood.

Seven witnesses were called including Dr. Frank Clark, Brant county coroner; Dr. Lois Jentz, pathologist attached to the Brantford General Hospital; Elijah Hill, a neighbour and the accused's 14-year - old daughter Christine.

France Again Preparing To Devalue Franc

Hear Britain to Widen Sterling Convertibility

PARIS (Reuters) — French stock exchanges were closed today and foreign currency transactions suspended as the government moved toward an expected devaluation of the franc.

The cabinet ended a six-hour meeting on the country's financial situation early this morning and scheduled another session later in the day. Meanwhile, Premier de Gaulle prepared to broadcast to the nation tonight on his new economic measures.

16 TO 20 PER CENT CUT

French newspapers forecast a devaluation of between 10 and 20 per cent for the franc, now officially pegged at 420 to the dollar.

The French cabinet met amid growing reports that Britain planned to make its pound convertible for people living outside the sterling area.

In Norway and Denmark, meanwhile, all foreign exchange quotations were suspended for the day to await the new currency moves.

France's ban on foreign currency transactions Friday night made it clear that the government-manipulated to introduce new fiscal measures as part of a general economic overhaul. Only tourists who could prove they were leaving the country by Saturday were exempt from the ban.

NEW "HEAVY" FRANC

Well-informed financial quarters expected the reforms to involve the creation of a "heavy" franc, worth 50 present francs, and an adjusted rate for the heavy franc to other currencies with a certain convertibility; and a common monetary policy for the six nations of the new European common market—France, Italy, West Germany, the Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg. The common market begins operations next Thursday.

The franc toppled sharply in dealings this week. It was changing hands outside the Paris bourse at 480 to the U.S. dollar, 69 francs above the official rate. The price of the gold ingot soared by 30,000 francs in a week in dealings between banks.

The franc has been devalued six times since it was set at 49.625 to the dollar Nov. 8, 1945. The last change was in August, 1957, and boosted the rate to 420 to the dollar from 350.

FRENCH CURRENCY

MONTREAL (CP) — Financial authorities here have expressed concern that any move by France to devalue the franc might result in a chain reaction of currency devaluations in other European countries.

Such a development could disturb the balance of currencies throughout Europe and "set back the work of the International Monetary Fund at least a decade," said one authority on foreign exchange.

As a result of IMF efforts, most European currencies have been fairly stable in recent years.

But authorities said there is no

PROBE SHOOTING

ORILLIA (CP) — Provincial police said Friday they still are investigating a shooting which resulted in the death Thursday night of 47-year - old Ryerson Smoke of Rama Indian reserve. Police were told Smoke was accidently shot when a 22-calibre rifle was fired during a discussion in a Fawn Bay home about whether a dog was gun shy.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO — Synopsis: Low temperatures last night over Ontario were in the 20s from Toronto to Jamby Bay. While River was warmest with 30 degrees, London coldest with four. This warm weather will be temporarily interrupted as a low pressure area over Lake Superior moves east bringing snow and a brief cold wave. A second storm in Saskatchewan will bring a temporary warming in southern sections of Ontario late Sunday.

LONDON (Reuters) — Indications in various European centres are that an assessment on the convertibility of sterling and other European currencies is imminent.

No advance confirmation was obtainable from any British official quarter. But experts in London and in continental centres had little doubt that this awaited currency change would be announced soon, probably today.

Convertibility of sterling would be confined to non - residents, people living outside Britain and the other parts of the sterling area. It would not in itself make any difference to Britons and the other residents.

TWO STERLING TYPES

Technically, the change would be to unify the present two types of non-resident sterling. In Britain, the type called Americas account sterling, held by residents of the dollar area, always has been convertible.

Since February, 1953, the other type, which is called transferable sterling and is held by all countries outside the dollar-sterling areas, has been informally convertible.

Recently the difference between the two rates has narrowed to a small fraction. The British authorities always converted transferable sterling into dollars whenever the rate came under undue pressure.

After the expected announcement, transferable sterling would be merged in the fully convertible variety at a single exchange rate. Informal convertibility, which has prevailed since 1955, would become formal.

Meanwhile, nobody awaited official word of a decision to devalue the franc.

France's expected currency reform is regarded here as a means to curb inflation before the six - nation common market begins operation Jan. 1.

Each country will be subjected to much more competition in the common market. Those countries that have in come down to meet this competition from the other five countries — West Germany, Italy, Holland, Belgium and Luxembourg.

France's uncompetitively high prices are one reason why she has refused to accept still-wider competition from a British-proposed European free trade area of 17 countries.

When a currency is devalued, gold and foreign currency prices rise automatically. When the franc was devalued by one-sixth in August 1957, the franc price of gold was fixed during a discussion in a Fawn Bay home about whether a dog was gun shy.

Dense columns of smoke towering hundreds of feet into the air engulf Belleville's city hall at the height of Friday morning's fire which caused $400,000 damage in the city's downtown area.

Diana Grill, James Texts And Sprague Blocks Swept By Flames Friday Morning

Loss Estimated at Near $400,000; Virgil James Plans to Rebuild

Loss estimated at close to $400,000 resulted here early Friday morning when fire, breaking out in the basement of the Diana Grill, swept through three business blocks in the downtown area before it was brought under control.

Lost in the blaze, which was fought for six hours before being brought under control, were the Diana Grill, James Texts Ltd., and the former Bank of Nova Scotia building on the corner of Front and MacAnnany Streets, which was badly damaged in the blaze.

The regional office of the Salvation Army, situated above the Diana Grill, was also a complete loss.

Today at noon firemen were still pouring water into the debris from three lines of hose, the ice-covered ruins attesting to the difficult fight which firefighters had in controlling the blaze.

It was the second major fire in the city in the past month with the Bill Delline Ltd. premises on Coleman Street and Arthur Sills and Son Ltd., being destroyed on November 29.

FLAMILES BURNED OUT

Two families living in third floor apartments in the James-Sprague building at the corner of Front and McAnnany Streets were forced to flee their homes as firemen were unable to halt the advance of flames.

Another family, Mrs. H. B. Bramhall, her daughter, Mrs. Ferrer, and Mrs. Ferrer's daughter, were absent at the time of the fire, spending Christmas with relatives in Western Ontario.

Tenants who fled the flames were Mr. and Mrs. William Peed and son and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Earp. The Barrs are no strangers to the horrors of fire. They experienced a worse disaster a few years ago when Mr. Barr lost his mother and a ten-year-old grandchild in a blaze which swept their farm home at Mountain Grove, Ont. While his brother and the remaining members of the family huddled in the safety of the barn, Mr. Barr tramped three-quarters of a mile in socked feet, through the near-zero weather to get assistance. As a result he has permanently lost the ground floor of the Sprague building are the legal offices of Mr. Bramhall and Sprague, and the W. R. Bazlett egg grading station. On the second floor is the office of the insurance office and the Federal Government Dairy Products Division office. They suffered heavy water damage.

Firemen were called at 4.30 a.m. and within a few minutes Belleville firemen were on the scene and a general alarm was turned in calling out all fire equipment in the city.

Firemen from Trenton, Deseronto and Point Anne were also called in under the mutual aid plan Friday morning.

At first it appeared that firemen would be able to confine

MURDER CHARGE PREFERRED AFTER SHOOTING OF FIVE

Police Constable, Four Others Slain

EAR FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Tom Young, 24, was charged Friday with murder in the Christmas Day shooting of a woman and four men, one of them his father.

Young, who was flushed out of a cabin by police using tear gas, was charged in Kenora court specifically with the murder of James Gordon, 26. Young was remanded one week without plea.

Other victims were provincial police constable Calvin Russell Pulford, 28; Gordon's 17-year-old wife, Clara; Albert Young, 47, father of the accused, and George Williams, 47.

Police said but the constable were believed to be husbands who formerly lived on the Lac Seul Indian reserve. Const. Pulford, his wife and three children came here from Ear Falls.

Ear Falls is a remote bush community in Northwestern Ontario about 75 miles north of Kenora.

Police said the shooting oc-

Two Escapees at Joyceville Quickly Arrested Near Prison

KINGSTON (CP) — Two convicts walked away from the Joyceville prison farm 12 miles northeast of here Friday.

They got a lift back courtesy of the provincial police and the hectic character of their seven hours at large probably made them wonder if it was worth the trouble.

Harold K. Gordon, 26, and Ronald Turpin, 25, both of the Ottawa district, disappeared from the prison farm skating rink around 3.15 p.m. There were no work details Boxing Day and most of the convicts at the minimum-security institution spent the day in recreation.

At 4 p'm', after a search of the grounds failed to turn up the two men, they were declared on the loose. Gordon had a year to go on a five-year stretch for robbery and Turpin had finished half a two-year sentence for theft.

Next word of the fugitives was from the Gananoque police on miles southeast of Joyceville. They reported a stolen car belonging to Rez Sloane of Sunbury village and gave chase. They pursued it westward along Highway 2 after notifying the Kingston detachment of the provincial police which despatched a cruiser to head off the flight.

The Sloane car wheeled off Highway 2 onto a sideroad which runs northwest and joins Highway 15. It also leads almost straight back to Joyceville.

Part way along, the Sloane vehicle failed to make a turn and hit the ditch.

Up piped the police, who didn't know the Joyceville fugitives were in the stolen car. The pair surrendered meekly and were returned to the prison—only six miles away.

Then Mr. Sloane got his car back.

It was all over by 11 p.m.

Report Transatlantic Balloon Landed Still Unconfirmed

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Aerial searchers tried today to pin down unconfirmed reports from ham radio operators that the British balloon Small World had landed in eastern Venezuela after a transatlantic flight.

The air search began Friday over the jungle area of the Orinoco River delta.

The amateur radio operators reported the balloon and its four passengers parachuted near Pedernales, a Venezuelan port on the Atlantic at the northern entrance of the wide delta. The town is just 20 miles west of the island of Trinidad in the British West Indies.

The report gained strength when Communications Minister Oscar Machado Zuloaga quoted in Caracas newspapers as saying the balloon had landed in Venezuela.

The Civil Aeronautics Authority said, however, that it had nothing to confirm the report. It was supervising the search by a commercial air ministry DC3. See also last 170 cents).

darkness to land.

The Small World east of Dec. 12 from Santa Cruz de Tenerife in the Canary Islands, 65 miles off the coast of Morocco. The goal was to drift with the winds to Barbados, some 3,000 miles away, in the British West Indies.

Pedernales is about 3,450 miles from the takeoff point and 300 miles southeast of Barbados. If the balloon followed a straight course from the Canaries to Pedernales, it would have passed about 140 miles southeast of Barbados.

The three men and the wife of one of them rode in a gondola below the balloon. They had estimated that the trip would take 12 days. They had food for three months in the 15½-by-7½-by-15-foot gondola, which was built in double as a lifeboat if necessary.

They was the first attempt of a free balloon to flight across the Atlantic. The gondola was to ride weather conditions and wind currents. Prince Philip was the patron.

Bartender Gets Reward of 70 Cents For Finding Queen's Talk in Gutter

KING'S LYNN, England (AP) Only Queen Elizabeth, bartender John Harvey and a handful of others knew what the Queen was going to talk about in her Christmas Day speech to the Commonwealth.

Harvey knew five hours before the radio-television broadcast because he picked a copy of the speech out of a gutter.

Harvey, 23, a spoiled a fat leather briefcase, looked inside, filled out a sheaf of papers, and started reading.

"The Queen's speech . . ."

He told police who rushed it by patrol car to Sandringham, the country home 11 miles distant where the Queen and the Royal Family were spending Christmas.

The Queen was to make her broadcast from there. The notes Harvey found were the television script. BBC producer Anthony Craxton had lost them.

On the script Craxton had made notes of camera angles and sound cues. Without the script, Craxton said, there would have had to be more rehearsals.

Harvey, credited with having saved the broadcast from confusion, was offered a reward of

Plans No Probe

TORONTO (CP) — Two fires within a month at Belleville, the most recent of which occurred Friday, will not be investigated, Ontario Fire Marshall W. J. Scott said Friday.

Mr. Scott said he knew of no circumstances in either fire each of which caused $500,000 damage, to warrant an investigation.

He said he had no criticism of Belleville's fire department or its fire-fighting methods, and described it as a good, well-equipped brigade. He noted many of Belleville's buildings were 100 or more years old and said once a fire starts in such buildings it is hard to control.

Cuban Govt. Plans Drive Against Rebels

HAVANA, Cuba (AP) — Civilians were warned today to keep clear of rebel positions as the government proclaimed an all-out drive to wipe out the insurgents.

New Stamp in February to Show Likeness of Arrow Interceptor

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada may not proceed with the arrow jet interceptor but Postmaster-General Nesbitt's likeness of the controversial aircraft has been recorded for posterity in a commemorative postal stamp to be issued shortly.

The stamp goes on sale Feb. 23 to mark the 50th anniversary of powered flight in Canada on Feb. day in 1909 near Baddeck, N.S. J. A. D. McCurdy piloted the Hall silver Dart aloft on its half-mile flight, first in Canada so far undetermined.

The new stamp, is a five-cent issue in blue. Three identical delta - shaped aircraft looking much like the CF-105 Arrow are pictured in the background in a position of sharp climb.

Post office officials said any resemblance between the CF-105 and the three delta-wing jets is purely coincidental. They said all delta-wing craft look much alike and the Arrow had not been singled out specifically, but Canada has no other delta - wing planes.

The Arrow comes up for final government decision March 31 but Conservative Party officials are sharply pared, production will be stepped up.

Meanwhile, since the government postponed this final decision for six months the Arrow has become one of hottest political questions in the country.

The flight stamp was designed by artists of the Canadian Bank Note Company and the whole has declined to say whether the Arrow was a model for the stamp.

The wings, which curved upward each other at their tips, spanned 49 feet and the total all-up weight with pilot was only 960 pounds. The power came from the world's first successful water-cooled air engine. Mr. McCurdy later served as Nova Scotia lieutenant-governor.

BROTHERS SPEND CHRISTMAS TOGETHER FIRST IN 45 YEARS

Although their birthdays fall on Christmas day, but ten years apart, Thursday was the first time in 45 years that William McKenna, 166 Burnham Street, and his brother, Lionel McKenna of Meaford, spent the day together. Mr. Lionel McKenna has been recently retired from the Canadian Army Medical Corps, 4 until he had served in 5 Corporal for 25 years. He saw service overseas in the Second World War. He was on his way to Ottawa and stopped over for the Christmas holiday and to spend his birthday with his brother, who was born on the same day. Incidentally, William McKenna saw service overseas in the First World War.

His brother, at the time of his retirement, was Ward Master at the Meaford Hospital, while Mr. McKenna in civil life is a master plasterer and has been in business here for many years. But as he is familiarly known in veterans' circles, he takes an active part for many years in the Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans' Association. Mr. McKenna stated today they had a wonderful time talking over family ties. It was a fine reunion, said Mr. William McKenna.

500 Seamen On 19 Ships Still Trapped

MONTREAL (CP)—The prospect of celebrating New Year's in Montreal faces about 500 seamen trapped in 19 ocean vessels trapped in the harbor by a jubilant array of ice.

Two government icebreakers, the N.B. McLean and the Ernest Lapointe, today continued their way at the blockade while a third, the D'Iberville, was reported working along the St. Lawrence River toward Montreal from Lake St. Peter, 30 miles downstream.

Agents for the trapped ships were also hoping that two more icebreakers, the Montcalm and the Labrador, would soon join the effort to clear a path for the overseas freighters to the St. Lawrence gulf and the comparatively smooth-sailing Atlantic.

THE LABRADOR

The Labrador was sent to Anticosti Island Friday to pick up a lighthouse keeper and his assistant. Their lighthouse on the island 260 miles downstream from Quebec City was destroyed by fire Christmas Eve.

Keeper Evarist Ferguson and his unidentified assistant took refuge in a shed. The keeper's family was not on the island at the time of the fire.

At last report, the Labrador had picked up the two men and was heading for Quebec City with them.

The Montcalm, meanwhile, relieved of her duties to keep ice free of the Quebec bridge, was to head for Montreal today. It was hoped by the agents that she would be joined by the Labrador.

TRANSONTARIO FREED

The D'Iberville spent the night berthed at Trois-Rivieres, Que., 90 miles downstream from Montreal, after smashing a narrow corridor through 12 miles of ice. St. Pete to the southwest to allow passage of the German freighter Transatlantic.

The freighter continued down-river unescorted.

At Montreal, many of the 13 freighters also been trapped for more than three weeks.

PORT ARTHUR (CP) — Dimitry Korolewicz, 72, who lived near Port Arthur, died after Christmas Day from burns suffered in a fire at a friend's home.

He was alone in the home at the time.

When Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bills returned after being at a neighbor's for 30 minutes they found the chesterfield burning and Mr. Korolewicz lying on the floor. He died in hospital.

Fox Bites Dog, Suspect Rabies

Possibility that rabies is slowly spreading to animals close to the Belleville district is seen in two incidents which occurred over the Christmas holiday.

Peter Wallbridge in Sidney township, a fox attacked and bit a dog owned by a Mr. Hicks. The dog made good its escape but due to the possibility of the animal having been rabid, Mr. Hicks took the dog in a precautionary measure.

In the city yesterday City Dog Catcher Charles Thorn shot a groundhog which was seen cowering against the foundation of a neighbor's house.

A search for the latter had made its way into the city was shot in a shed at the rear of a Front Street store.

Pass Half Way Mark, Already 33 Fatalities

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

The 4th-day Christmas holiday period passed the halfway mark yesterday and a continuing Provincial survey showed 33 persons had met accidental deaths since 6 p.m. local time before Christmas.

The fatalities listing winds up at midnight Sdday.

Twenty-three of the victims perished in fire or died in traffic mishaps. There were three deaths in boating accidents and six fatalities not classified by category. One of the six was in the crash of a light plane in Labrador.

Ontario led with 13 deaths, six of them in highway accidents. The other provinces (with traffic deaths in brackets): British Columbia 6 (4), Alberta 2 (1), Manitoba 6 (6), Quebec 4 (3), New Brunswick 1 (1), Nova Scotia 2 (2) and Newfoundland (Labrador) 1(0).

The tragic score mounted against the background of a Canadian Highway Safety Conference forecast of 80 traffic deaths alone in the period from Dec. 24 to Jan. 1.

Bullet Fired At Father Misses And Kills Child

AMOS, Que. (CP)—A 21-year-old boy was shot to death Christmas Day when a bullet fired from a .22 calibre rifle that was aimed at his father, provincial police reported Friday night.

The victim was Marc Caron, son of Alfred Caron Caron, a surveyor in this Abitibi district community 25 miles northwest of Ottawa.

A 20-year-old youth was arrested as a material witness. He was expected to be taken to Montreal provincial police headquarters by Sgt. Gaston Archambeault who was sent here from Montreal.

Sgt. Romeo Labelle of the Amos provincial police squad gave this version of the shooting and events leading up to it:

A man visited the Caron home Christmas Eve and an argument developed. The man stormed out of the house and returned a short time later with a rifle. The argument resumed and the man aimed the weapon at Mr. Caron and pulled the trigger. The bullet missed Mr. Caron and struck the child.

Mr. Guy Cardinal of Amos announced young Marc dead a short time later.

MRS. GEORGE H. ALLEN
Trenton-Stirling

TORONTO (AP)—A daughter of one of Canada's pioneer United Empire Loyalist families, Mrs. Helen Allen, 100, died here Tuesday.

In 1949 the wife of the late George Herbert Allen who was co-founder of the Canadian Underwriters' Association and the Montreal Life Insurance Company.

Mrs. Allen was born March 31, 1852, at Stirling, near Trenton, the daughter of Ur-lah and Maria Knox, pioneers in the area.

JAN WILLEM FEK

In ill health for the past six months, Jan Willem Fek, 54, Holland-born Stirling resident, died at his home on Thursday evening. He was born in Amsterdam, Holland, 44 years ago, being the son of Mrs. Willem Fek and the late Willem Abel Gad Fek; this country about one year, coming direct to this city from Holland. Since coming to the city he had been employed with the Eastern Canada Stove Company.

He was a member of Christian Reform Church in this city and is survived by his wife, the former Lise Van Den Berg, two sons, Richard Jan and Peter, one daughter, Anke, all at home and two brothers and one sister in Holland.

Resting at Thomas C. Thompson Funeral Home on Everett St. funeral announcement appears elsewhere in this edition.

JOHN A. McGILLIVRAY

The funeral of John Ambrose McGillivray was held from the late John R. Bush Funeral Home on Wednesday afternoon. The service in the chapel was conducted by Archdeacon H. R. Gripper who also said the committal rites at Belleville cemetery.

The bearers were: Jerry Batcheler, Clifford Carmichael, Wilmans Hanna, Thomas Hollenbach, Hitchon and Archie Davidson.

HARRY CUNNINGHAM

The funeral of Harry Cunningham was held from the John R. Bush Funeral Home on Friday afternoon. The service in the chapel and the committal rites at Albury cemetery were conducted by Rev. F. T. Towersend and Rev. H. R. Gippen.

Pall bearers were: Lou Harvey, Herbert Townsend, Nelson VanChief, Gordon Roblin, Leon Ward and Clifford Ward.

Mrs. F. F. Townsend sang a solo, "Goodnight and Goodmorning."

MISS. VIOLET MAY PEARLY BURWASH

On her way to visit her daughter in London, Ont. Mrs. Violet May Burwash, 63, of the 3/4 Bridge Street East in Belleville, was instantly killed in Wednesday evening's 7-car accident. It is understood Mrs. Burwash, driving a 1949 Chevrolet, struck a piece of ice, the vehicle going out of control on the slippery road and crossing the centre line struck a car headon going in the opposite direction. The occupants of this car were taken to Victoria hospital in London for treatment.

Mrs. Burwash was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. H. Bray and was born and lived for some years she lived in Marmora and Cobourg and came to this city when 15 years ago when she was appointed Field Superintendent in the Department of Health and Welfare for the Province. In this position she acquired a wide circle of friends, who will sincerely regret her death.

She took an active part in the social and community life of this city, being a valued member of the Business and Professional Women's Association and fraternally with the Eastern Star. She was a member of Bridge Street United Church and was active in the work of the congregation. Surviving are one daughter, Mrs. J. Kilery (Audrey, Stubbs of London, Ont.) and one brother, Roy Bray of Coldgrying. Also surviving are three grandchildren, Donald, Jim and Terry Stubbs of London. Her husband, Herbert Arthur Burwash, died some years ago.

Resting at the A. J. Millard (George Funeral Home, 139 Wartley Street, London, Ont. The funeral notice appears elsewhere in this edition

Six Homeless After House Fire Near Wiarton

WIARTON (CP) — Six persons were left homeless Friday when fire destroyed the interior of their farm home, two miles east of Wiarton, between Hepworth and Wiarton.

Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Craig and four young children, ranging in age from two to eight years were given temporary shelter by relatives who rallied to their aid. They managed to save most of the furniture and all their Christmas gifts.

The upper section of the house was destroyed.

All six made a hasty retreat from the house and no one was injured.

Mother, Eight Children Die In House Fire

AUBURN Wash. (AP)—Flames raced through a big farmhouse Friday, killing a mother and eight children.

"The house just seemed to blow up. There was nothing I could do," said Ole Hollenbach, one of three persons who escaped the fire that nearly wiped out his family.

Those who died in the early-morning blaze were Mrs. Ole Hollenbach, 48, and Hollenbach children: Gale, 18; Donald, 17; Garry, 15; Sharon, 15; Patricia, 13; Mary Ellen, 10; Carl, 6, and Leroy Belle, 4.

The father, 52, suffered slight burns. The two other survivors are Wanda Hollenbach, 8, and Ray Phoebe Hightower, 80, mother of Mrs. Hollenbach.

FLAMES SHOOT CHIMNEY

Hollenbach said the fire probably started from a short circuit in an electric clock on a shelf in the living room.

"I was number my wife say: 'The clock is on fire,'" said the father. "I ran right past that door on my way out onto the porch to get a fire extinguisher. My wife went up the steps to get the kids out . . ."

Hollenbach never saw her again.

All the children and Mrs. Hightower were sleeping on the second floor of the unfinished frame house.

Only Two Minor Mishaps on Trenton Streets

TRENTON (Special) — Yesterday was quiet day for Trenton police with only two minor accidents on the town's streets. The first occurred at 1:25 in the afternoon when Kenneth Sharp, 25 North Charles Street, Trenton, who had been proceeding east on Dundas Street near the Quinte Hotel attempted to make a right hand turn onto Bay Street. At this point the driver of the second vehicle, Kenneth Lloyd Yarrow of Gilwell, Ontario, who had been proceeding west on Dundas Street near the corner of Bay Street

Fire had raced through the Diana Grill and was engulfing James Texts Ltd. when above picture was taken at eight o'clock. Firemen are seen on ladders at windows, while water from two aerial ladders is pouring into burning building.

Shattered wreck of the 1948 model sedan in which two local youths, William Foster and Arthur Culloden, both 20, died Christmas Eve. The vehicle went out of control on Highway 37 at Honeywell's Corners going off the highway and wrapping itself around a tree. Left inset is William Foster with Art Culloden on the right.

Art Culloden, Bill Foster, Well Known in Sport Circles Killed in Crash Near Plainfield

Tragedy struck at two Belleville homes Christmas Eve as what is believed may have been a blown tire sent an auto careening out of control on No. 37 Highway north of the city slamming it into a tree at Honeywell's Corners.

Fatally injured in the crash was William Alex Foster, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs Don S. Foster, 50 Emily Street, and Arthur "Sonny" Culloden, 20, son of Mrs. A. Culloden, 30 Mikel Ave.

The Foster youth died at the scene of the crash a mile north of Corbyville, while "Sonny" Culloden died five hours later in Belleville General Hospital. Both suffered severe head and other injuries.

The car, a 1948 model coach, was a complete wreck, its right side stove in as the vehicle wrapped itself around the tree. The accident occurred about nine thirty Christmas Eve.

Details of the accident which snuffed out the lives of the two well known athletes, were lacking, but it is believed the boys were either going to Plainfield or were on the return trip from that centre when the car went out of control.

APPARENTLY SOUTHBOUND

Police said the car apparently had been southbound when it went out of control across the highway to slam into the tree on the east side of the road.

The boys had had their supper at the Foster home when the Foster boy told his father he intended to go to Plainfield.

Both youths were sports minded, William Foster starring at both softball and at hockey. This winter he tried out for a Western Ontario Junior team and later played for the Trenton Intermediates. Art Culloden was well known in softball circles starring on the mounds for local teams.

Art was a former employee of the Ontario Intelligencer and recently had been working at the Courier Advocate in Trenton.

William "Bill" Foster was born and lived his entire life in this city. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald S. Foster, 80 Emily Street and was in his 20th year.

The young man was keenly interested in sport being proficient in baseball and hockey. He had a most active career in hockey being a member of the Lambert-Rollins Junior "B" entry and for a time this season was with the Trenton Intermediate Flyers. He also saw some service with the Guelph Biltmores, a Junior "A" Club. He was also a member of the Juvenile Orange Lodge No. 231 in this city and is a Past Chairman of that fraternal organization.

He was a member of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church.

Arthur Beverley "Sonny" Culloden was also born in this city, 20 years ago being the son of Mrs. Velma Culloden and the late Arthur Culloden. He resided with his mother at 30 Mikel Avenue.

"Sonny" was also interested in sport from his earliest years and was active in softball, baseball and hockey. He played junior hockey and softball in the Commercial League and also found time to coach a midget team in the Minor Hockey Association.

Mr. Culloden was a printer by trade and worked for some time with the Ontario Intelligencer and at the time of his death was employed with the Trenton Courier Advocate. He was a member of Christ Church and is survived by his mother, Mrs. Velma Culloden, one brother, Ronald Culloden at home, and three sisters, Mrs. Edward (Evelyn) Warwick of Foxboro, Miss Shirley Culloden and Miss Annis Culloden also at home.

Defeat in firemen's fight to save the Sprague building at the corner of Front and MacAnnany Streets is signalled in above picture as smoke billows from beneath eaves. It was the second time in recent years that the law offices of Cameron and Sprague have been fire damaged. When the Toronto-Dominion Bank burned at the corner of Front and Bridge Streets the second story law office was lost.

Standing in six inches of freezing water, public works employees clear storm sewer grating to allow water to run away. Ice-coated buildings and firefighting equipment are seen in rear.

Fire Chief Gerald Vance (in white coat) directs ice-coated firemen in fighting the fire in zero weather.

Smoke pours from every window of the James Texts building and firemen stop aerial ladders have swung hoses to the Alan Sprague building in an effort to check the spread of flames. Army, Navy and Airforce Veterans' building immediately to the north of the Diana Grill escaped damage. It is shown between the two aerial ladders.

MORE TO SHARE SAME AMOUNT

The dollar value of Canada's gross national product this year will be two per cent higher than it was last year.

But there will be no more goods to be divided up amongst Canadians.

The comparatively small rise in the dollar value of the gross national product will be entirely the result of increased prices.

Since there are more Canadians this year than there were last, this means that the same amount of goods will have to be divided amongst a larger number of people.

Obviously this means that some people will get less. If the gross national product was divided evenly, everybody would get a little less. But some will get just as much as they did last year, or even more. So some others will get considerably less.

This fact may be disguised from us temporarily by a variety of devices, but eventually if the trend were to continue one simple fact would be brought home to all of us -- that the dollar value of what we produce is not the important figure and that, if every year there are more Canadians to share in the gross national product, then the only way to avoid a falling standard of living is to increase actual production every year.

There is no reason to doubt that it is physically possible to achieve this increased production. That, though, does not make the task simple in our complex society. Of one thing, however, we can be certain -- it will not result from strikes, layoffs or wage increases not linked with increased production.

CHEESE IT; THIS SOUNDS FISHY

Kunlji Kitabayashi has made cheese out of fish. This is not guaranteed to win him a "man of the year" award from dairy farmers, but may well have been worth a raise of pay where he works, at the Hokkaido Fishing Examination Institute in Japan.

Here in the Quinte district, we do not know whether to view this development with alarm or to arise and cheer.

The reasonable man, if any man can remain reasonable when confronted with cheese made out of fish, will suggest that the first step in reaching any judgment is to taste the fish-cheese. This, however, may not help much. "This Week" of Tokyo informs us that "the taste is not different from conventionally made cheese." Whether one regards this as a notable achievement, or as evidence of complete failure, depends on whether one prefers the taste of cheese to the taste of fish, or vice versa. There also arises the question as to what "conventionally made cheese" tastes like in Japan. Does it taste like cheddar, or Danish blue, or Oka or limburger or Edam? Another bit of information we need is what fish Kunlji used in his conjuring. Would tuna cheese taste the same as pike cheese? And how about the aroma? There could be confusion here. "What smelt in your sandwich?" "That wasn't smelt, it was the best salmon cheese."

This whole thing opens up interesting horizons. "What do you want in your lunch pail, dear, when you go fishing with Ed?" "Just a few crackers; we'll make our own cheese."

Could it be that at some future date, when we speak of Belleville as the home of good cheese, we shall have to explain whether we are talking about Hastings cheddar or Moira muskie or Trent River pickerel?

And when some Bay of Quinte skipper suggests that it is time to get under way, will somebody aboard produce a bucket of fish juice left after processing the day's catch?

JUST WHAT THE DOCTOR ORDERED

Are you one of the fortunate ones -- one of those who had to return to work today?

Yes, fortunate.

What with that Christmassy spirit on Wednesday, with nobody really feeling like working, and then Christmas, followed by the relaxation of Boxing Day, it would be a strong man who could face a two-day weekend and still expect to be in shape for New Year's Eve merry-making three days after.

A man needs a little breather and that is just what is provided for those fortunate ones who have had to go to work today.

The ideal system of course, is to take work gradually, just a half-dose please.

Just like we have had at The Ontario Intelligencer, this morning.

And so-home to bed.

THE TROUBLED SMILERS
By EDGAR A. GUEST

Just because a fellow's smilin' An' goes singin' on his way,
Don't think he's free from trouble,
For he has his bills to pay.

An' he has his share of heartaches,
An' of worry, you can bet,
An' he has his bit of sadness
But he is too brave to fret.

If only care-free brothers
Kept the sunshine of a smile,
The world would not be gloomy

Sunday Snoopers

By Harold Weir in the Vancouver Sun.

Some cruiser will suspect, perhaps not, that the anxiety of the Vancouver Real Estate Board to end the Sunday movies for three sale items loss hurts piety than from the undoubted fact that most Sunday shoppers are not buyers but shoppers.

Anyone who has ever offered a house for sale in this community, or any city for that matter, knows that the matter, must be aware that at least 90 per cent of the persons who troop around for a Sunday peek are nosily interested in acquiring a hunch then in acquiring a critical view of the vendor's slipcovers.

Persons who have placed houses on the market are just as conscious as realtors are that Sunday house prowling is one of the great weekend games and almost shadowed unpeopled characters in Vancouver.

So if the real estate people want to stop the practice, let them go to it. They'd probably be lauded for crippling it on economic grounds. But why go to the Lord's Day Act, mistakenly, to stop it under the authority of the Lord's Day Act, as far as one was the law and not the real estate business that suffers from free-loading?

It has already been pointed out that it's impossible to sell a house on Sunday because document-signing is a legal holiday and cheques written on a legal holiday are not valid. So as far as the Lord's Day Act is concerned, the offence, if there is an offence, is not in selling a piece of property on Sunday which happens to be for sale.

If authority takes the view that showing a saleable article on Sunday is a commercial enterprise the precedent thus established is fairly far-reaching. Every shop window, for instance, would have to be tightly curtailed. If madam so much as catches a glimpse of a bargain-priced hat or coat as she is in this blind, the shopkeeper is wrong to be for it. For what's the special difference between showing a sale hat in a window and permitting the public to peer into your bathroom?

Followed to its logical conclusion, this potential ukase against showing anything for sale on Sunday is going to make every business street look like Hogmanay.

Anything that anyone might want at any price is going to be scrupulously hidden from sight on the Lord's day. Mothers of marriageable daughters will have to keep them veiled from Saturday midnight to Monday dawn.

One of the anomalous facts about the Lord's Day Act and its enforcement is that the Lord so seldom seems to have anything to do with it. It's a useful act. But if it's going to be used to pull economic chestnuts out of the fire for Mary, Tom, Dick and Harry, it's bound, sooner or later, to go the way of all legislation that's abused.

It seems to be an inordinately futile and inappropriate weapon to whack on the heads of shopkeepers who, in order to give their Sabbath pleasure from buying and selling, are merely providing a handy, large and inappropriate weapon to be employed by the real estate firms which squirm with anger and envy when they drive past and find not work both on Sunday so that they can afford to stay closed on the commandments and prescriptions on Sunday.

In its origin the Lord's Day Act was rapidly being molded into an instrument of business competition when it was saved by Confederation. It was taken from its original purposes. And when stores remain closed merely to keep employed, they are simply flouting its basic intent. It is high time that the police did not want to show houses on Sunday as they don't want merchants to show houses on Sundays, let them seek secular legislation but not under the guise of trying to drag the Lord into their business squabbles.

Keeps Germs Out of Carpet

Cleveland Plain Dealer

There are 1,362,000,000 germs in one pound of rug dirt. The sweeper in Aunt Sarah's absorbs about three pounds of dirt a year. Figure it out based on the average of once every three years, nine times 1,362,000,000 equals awful lot of germs!

So says the Chicago Tribune and we're sure it knows. And this is the reason that Edward Pinckney, M.D., assistant editor of the Tribune's medical association has a sign on his door which reads:

We like to sit
On the rugs and the floor
In humor to-day.

Leave your shoes by the door,
Or the janitor will complain," the Tribune, if you want to enter Dr. Pinckey's house you have to take off your shoes!

We shall admit that when we come in from after shoveling the garden we remove our shoes in the garage. We do it, not that we fear bringing in germs, but because we would get our ears pinched back by the missus if we tracked up her carpet.

Yes, you're right to judge Dr. Pinckney's unusual procedure! After all, he provides soft slippers for visitors' feet while "they might have had holes in their socks."

His reason for the rules he makes are none of our business.

We have every right, however, to suggest a much simpler and to accept the germs in the carpet, provided we don't bother them as they come, to reach an understanding with them -- a "you scratch my back and I'll scratch your back" rapport. There are so many things in this world which one may worry about, that we scarcely have time for the germs in the carpet.

And so, unsanitary as it may seem, we won't make our guests take off their shoes and leave them at the door. We'll receive them, germs and all; and the old familiar footing: boot-clad footing, that is! !

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

In a lumber camp last winter, I was staggered to see oil burner space heaters warming the offices, bunkhouses and mess hall, as they called it for the large dining room where the woodsmen employed. It was cheaper and more efficient, the manager of the camp told me, to haul in fuel oil than to employ men to cut wood in the area for necessary buildings. His cooks, he said, didn't bother to cook on wood fires. He supplied them with propane gas stoves.

The invasion of the bush by modern devices should not confuse the fact, however, that in hundreds of thousands of Canadian homes, many of them in communities within easy reach of modern fuels, wood is still the familiar and unbeatable heat producer. On tens of thousands of farms, the woodlot provides the family fuel. Not only in Ontario and Quebec hamlets, but in farm areas that are big enough to contain a village store, cord wood sticks, over 20 per cent of the total volume of wood cut in Canada is consumed as fuelwood.

A newsletter from the Ontario's foresters is my authority for that fact; and it adds that a standard cord of wood (4 feet) produces 200 to 300 pounds of ash. It takes one and a quarter cords of hardwood to equal one ton of anthracite in heat production.

Besides, those who burn wood have peace of mind. They do not live in fear of strikes, breakdowns or wars that might cut off their fuel.

They are cozy in mind.

Strength for The Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

GET THAT RIGHT PATHWAY

We have often heard the story about Mark Twain who, upon being asked if he was not dreadfully disturbed by his study in the Bible he could not understand, replied that the things in the Bible which he believed him were not the things he could not understand but the things he could. There is a simplicity about the Christian gospel which is at one and the same time inspiring and disconcerting. The teachings and language of the New Testament are very plainness puts upon us an awesome responsibility. If we fail to live up to the gospel, we cannot say that it is because we did not know what our duty really was. Anybody can find out what it is. The Bible, of course, will not pick out his particular situation for us. It "lives in the solution." But it will turn our face in the right direction. It will give us a hint. It will whisper something in our ear. It will hand us the gospel and then say, "Try this."

The plainness of the Christian gospel -- inspiring and yet disconcerting. Inspiring if we obey, disconcerting if we do not. There is the path; walk ye therein.

It is hard to know at times just where we stand. But the fault is not with the gospel. It might be the good life so disconcertingly inspiring. We have no real excuse for missing the right pathway.

Conditional Relief

It is a common sight, indeed, to see transit buses during the rush hour so crammed with passengers that the onlooker can only feel a sense of relief that he or she is not in the vehicle -- unless he is waiting to board that particular bus.

To Your Good Health

By Joseph G. Molner, M.D.

YOU'LL LIVE LONGER IF YOU CROSS THE STREET PROPERLY

Since it is say doctor's first responsibility to prevent death and pain if he can, I'll tell you one way to live longer.

This is particularly true at this time of the year, and through the rest of the winter. It will be even true in the fall for one of our, older citizens, especially in your late 60's or more.

It will also be most specifically true if you never have driven a car.

How do you live longer? You do it by learning how to cross the street properly.

A good friend of mine in a traffic safety association sent me some eye-opening figures on what kind of people are killed by cars.

We aren't talking about accidents. We're talking of lives another.

This is about the pedestrian who is killed by a car.

The typical victim is a man (the majority of pedestrians killed in traffic are men) who was born about 1893 and never has driven an automobile.

As a child he didn't learn to watch out for automobiles. In his day, if you wanted to cross the street, you just did so.

He takes it for granted that a car can stop on a dime. He doesn't realize that it takes many minutes an hour can't stop in less than 80 feet even if the weather is ideal and the brakes are perfect.

Neither does he realize that his eyes aren't as sharp as they used to be, and that perhaps his ears, either. Nor is he as physically alert. Perhaps his nerves and shoulders aren't what they at 30.

He takes it for granted that he can see to look.

And perhaps he thinks that since he has lived this long without being killed by a car, he won't ever be.

It most likely can happen at dusk or in the early evening in late fall or winter, October and November are the worst months. November and February are next. October and February are dangerous, too.

Fall and winter, about dusk. And another thing: He most likely can die, not at a street intersection, but in the middle of a block. Perhaps he might walk between parked cars. The driver will have no chance of warning, and be unable to act.

Or even if there are no parked cars to hide him, he may be all but invisible in the shadows. Remember, he has been driven by a car, and doesn't realize how hard it is for the driver of a car a pedestrian until he is right in the headlights. And then it is too late.

Children are, to be sure, run over more often -- but not many are killed. Up to age 14, only one child in 58 of those hit will be killed.

From 15 to 24, only one in 83. But from age 45 to 64, it is one in every 17 who will die.

From 65 on, one of every nine hit will die.

Remember these facts. Statistics -- yes. But these statistics represent human lives.

If you are nearing 60, or past, be aware of the risk you run simply by being that age. If you are younger, and drive, remember. Of the people over 65 who die in the year by a car, one in nine will be killed.

Note to A.F.E.: A golfer or enlarged thyroid gland need not be at the "toxic" stage for it to have a great deal of nervousness and tenseness. Doesn't that answer your question? You've had, by your own letter, three tests showing that your thyroid is overactive.

Note to H.P.S.: When the auditory nerve is defective, there is previous little chance of doing anything about your hearing.

U.S. Firm Buys Russian Fuel

Detroit Free Press

All the signs of impending controversy appear in the first shipments of gasoline to the Dow Chemical Company's purchase of $15½ million worth of synthetic rubber from the Soviet government.

The price Dow will pay for the Russian benzene is well below the current price in the United States. Domestic oil companies called the domestic supply highly adequate, and at times seriously inadequate. Industry sources claimed there now is a tremendous overupply in the United States benzene industry.

Such factors will produce heated discussion.

That others will be critical of Dow's courage in entering the big trade allocation with Russia was indicated when a Standard Oil Co. spokesman said, "This is a little bit new, to have Iron Curtain material imported into this country, and I should think it would be a matter with which the American Government might be concerned."

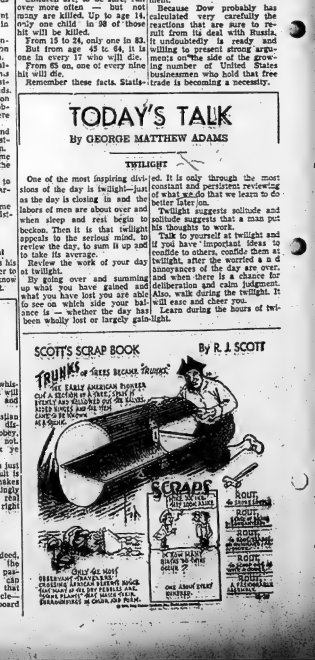
It may well be that the Federal Government will inject itself into the controversy. Statements of the strong arguments on the side of the government of United States businessmen who hold that free trade is becoming a necessity.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

TWILIGHT

One of the most inspiring incidents of the day is twilight--just as the day is closing in and the labors of men are about over and when sleep and rest are beckon. Then it is that twilight appeals to the serious mind, to review the day, to sum it up and to take its average.



Before the work of your day at twilight.

By going over and summing up what you have planned and what you have lost you are able to see on which side your balance is -- whether the day has been wholly lost or largely gain-ed. It is only through the most constant and persistent reviewing of what we do that we learn to do better and better.

Twilight suggests solitude and solitude suggests a man puts his thoughts to work.

Talk to yourself at twilight and if you have important ideas to confide to others, confide them at twilight, when there is a lull in the annoyances of the day are over, and when there is a chance for deliberation and calm judgment. Also, walk during the twilight. It will ease and cheer you.

Learn during the hours of twilight.

A Lift for Living

For Success in the New Year

By DR. RALPH W. SOCKMAN

If I were to ask how many of you desire to make a success of the New Year, you would think what a silly and stupid question. Of course, we all want to succeed. The urge to amount to something is born in us. The child without ambition is like a watch with a broken spring. If players were not eager to win, there would be no zest in our games. But what is it to succeed? What is "good success," as the Bible uses the term?

Certainly we can say, first of all, that good success must be inspired by a good motive. Ambition, which as we have said is essential to zestful living, can be devilish as well as godly. And when the desire to succeed is only the urge to self-advancement, it does play the devil. Self-assertiveness to be healthy must lose itself in the welfare of larger groups.

When a boy goes to school, he enters into the life and interests of the school. If he trains for the football team, it makes a great difference whether he is out to be a star performer attracting glory to himself or whether he is a team player. The fellow that replays to the grandstand, however brilliant, does not become popular with those who know. The chief value of school and college athletics, in fact of all school loyalties, is to expand the success patterns of youth to include interests beyond themselves.

STRIVES FOR SUCCESS

When a person flu ishes his formal schooling, he sets out to get a job. In his he desires to succeed. He says, "I want to do something of myself." Surely that seems a worthy motive, but is it quite an adequate one? Some years ago a middle-aged Boston surgeon said to Dean Sperry of Harvard: "It has taken me half my life to find out that my task in life is not to make something of myself but to find a job that is worth doing and then to lose myself in it."

The surgeon's statement recalls a conversation reported between Herbert Spencer and Thomas Huxley, two of the nineteenth century's most eminent leaders of [illegible] said, "I suppose that all one can do with one's life is to make one's mark and die." Huxley replied: "It is not necessary to make one's mark; all one needs do is to give a push." The person who is so interested in something good that he wants to give it a push forward whether he makes his mark or not is manifesting a very godly motive. Perhaps we should be realistic and admit that very few of us even in the pulpit are completely unselfish in our ambitions but something inside us responds to such a high motive.

The decisive question, we see, in our desire to win is: for whose sake? Do we wish to succeed for the sake of ourselves? That is bad. Or do we wish to succeed for the sake of our family, our school, our work, our nation? That is good, so far as it goes. But do all these loyalties lead to the royal line and had no hereditary right to the throne. He held it only because he had the pestilence of Rome behind him. When wise men from the east came looking for one who was "born king of the Jews," Herod saw in their search a real threat to his position. St. Matthew in his second chapter tells how the frightened monarch first asked the wise men to return and identify the child for him. Then, when they saw through this trap and returned home without reporting to him, he lashed out in his panic and killed all male children in Bethlehem under two years of age.

Without minimizing the horror of this crime, it is necessary to say that there have been some terribly exaggerated estimates of how many children were involved. One idea for example has been that the 144,000 persons mentioned in Revelation, chapter 14, verses 1 to 5 were the Holy Innocents. Actually, Bethlehem was a tiny village. There couldn't have been more than 20 or 25 boys under two at any given time. More likely there would be less than ten.

The Feast of the Holy Innocents (Holy Children in the eastern church) has been kept since the fifth century. The children, however many they were, are venerated as martyrs who died not only for Christ but instead of Him. The day is called Childermas in England.

Today is considered an unlucky day. Superstitious people believe that any undertaking begun today is doomed to failure.

NEW YEAR

Thursday, Jan. 1 — It is hard to say just when one year ends and another begins. Is it in the fall, when vacations are over, children are back in school, and families settle once more into their normal routine? Is it now, when the sun has started back our way and the days begin to lengthen out? The fact is that we have many New Year's Days. Jan. 1 is only the formal one. The others are much more real, because they are beginnings that we actually feel in our lives.

It is also hard to say why some people surround their new starts with parties and jollification and others do it with prayer and fasting. Our New Year's merrymaking is undoubtedly the result of its having been placed so close to the Roman Saturnalia, the widest of all the old Roman festivals.

For a long time Christians resisted this pagan attitude toward the beginning of the year, even to the extent of moving New Year's to March 25 to get it away from the objectionable associations. It was not until the 16th century that the church in general woke up and went back to the Jan. 1 date. England took two more centuries to make the change, adopting the Gregorian calendar in 1752. The American Colonies were, of course, well established by that time, which means that the English custom prevailed here, too. It is surprising to think that right here in America New Year's Day was once March 25.

In China and Japan New Year's is everybody's birthday. In this country it is the birthday of all horses.

Days and Customs of All Faiths

Honoring the Holy Innocents

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

Sunday, Dec. 28 — Today commemorates the victims of one of the most shocking atrocities in all history: the innocent babies who were slaughtered by order of King Herod. Herod was not of the royal line and had no hereditary right to the throne. He held it only because he had the pestilence of Rome behind him. When wise men from the east came looking for one who was "born king of the Jews," Herod saw in their search a real threat to his position. St. Matthew in his second chapter tells how the frightened monarch first asked the wise men to return and identify the child for him. Then, when they saw through this trap and returned home without reporting to him, he lashed out in his panic and killed all male children in Bethlehem under two years of age.

W.W.I. Enjoys Supper and Yule Meeting

WELLINGTON — The December meeting of W. I. always seems to be one of the nicest of the year. Members and friends meet over good food, a pleasant time is sure to be had. The hall was decorated in a fitting place possible with Christmas decorations, cedar boughs, and a lighted Christmas tree.

About 32 sat down to a well laden potluck supper recently.

The president, Mrs. Sam Tripp heartily welcomed the members and visitors.

The roll call was answered by gifts or money for the secretary and the treasurer.

The minutes. Reminder January 31st is the date set for the card party, details to be completed at the next meeting. The ballots were distributed which included a quilt bought, tuning, drivers of car, etc. Hillier W.I. All moved to be paid. Correspondence was read from Mrs. Ross Bryant, Mrs. Bryant and Leonard Bryant, Children's Aid Society, Hospital Aids, and contest....Anyone interested contact her. Remember Belleville Children's Aid and Hospital for Sick Children. Annual treat for the crippled kids. Also the Home for the Aged for Christmas.

Mrs. Bryant's Christmas Day, held last week in Picton.

More details will be given at the next meeting.

The annual Christmas cheer boxes will be sent to the shut-ins. Mrs. Ogilvy kindly offered to order them. A shut-in is one who is ill, Mrs. Thomas Smith in honor of their 60th wedding anniversary. An offering was received and the birthday box received donations from Mrs. Ross Bryant, Mrs. William Baverstock, who celebrated a birthday in December.

Mrs. A. Ogilvy and Mrs. C. Bovay presented the following program: Carol, "Deck the Halls"; Mrs. V. Foster, piano concert; carol, "O Come All Ye Faithful"; Mrs. Ogilvy, reading; carol, "Joy to the World."

Mrs. Ogilvy read the poem of the month, "Christmas Bells" by departed member, H. B. Anderson. The singing of "A Little Town of Bethlehem" brought to a close another fine Christmas meeting. Mrs. Ogilvy thanked all who helped, seconded by Mrs. Tripp.

After the singing of the National Anthem the prettily wrapped gifts were distributed. Surprising in this day of high cost of living what one can still buy for 25 cents. The gifts were lovely. A box of chocolates was distributed to each of the miss Colleen Yandt in appreciation for the use of the W.W.I. piano each dancing class.

Mrs. Frank Foster, Mrs. A. Foster, Group 3, have the January meeting. Members were requested to bring some handkerchief of their grandmothers.

Wedding

SEXSMITH — WALDIE

An archway of swords formed by a guard of honor for the bride and bridegroom, and the dress uniform of the bridegroom gave a military air to a recent wedding in Newburgh United Church, when Miss Karyl Jean Waldie became the bride of Lieutenant David Sexsmith, of the Royal Canadian Ordnance Corps, Shilo, Manitoba, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ross L. Sexsmith, Deseronto.

Miss Waldie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Waldie of Newburgh.

The Rev. H. Batstone officiated at the ceremony.

The wedding music was played by Mrs. Robin Flood, and Mrs. F. J. Sexsmith was soloist for the church ceremony. At the reception later, Miss Marie Barker was soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride took her vows in a floor-length gown of white lace and net over satin, the skirt styled in tiers, and the chapel lace bodice featuring a cascade of red roses and stephanotis.

The bride had four attendants: Miss Merle Barker of Deseronto as matron of honor, and Miss Maureen Wager of Newburgh; Mrs. J. F. Hawley Gilleville and Miss Carol Wager, Newburgh, as bridesmaids. They wore gowns of floor-length red velvet, with rounded necklines, three-quarter sleeves, fitted bodices and full skirts with back streamers; two in brown velvet and two in gold velvet.

The bridegroom was attended by Mr. Joseph Corey of Shawinigan Falls, Que., and the ushers were: Mr. D. P. Sexsmith of Deseronto, Mr. R. Waldie of Shawinigan Falls, and Mr. P. G. Sexsmith of Deseronto.

The reception was held in Dawson's Motel, Deseronto. Mrs. Dawson received in a floral dress with matching cummerbund and carried a bouquet of green cashmere.

The groom and bridegroom left for Wainwright, Alberta, where they will reside. For travelling the going-away costume was chemise style suit of emerald green with corsage of lawny gold roses, beige hat and gloves to select accessories.

Guests attending the wedding were from Syracuse, Toronto, Shawinigan Falls, Cannanoque, Kingston, Grimsby, Joyceville, Picton, Bath, Peterborough, Deseronto, Burlington and Newburgh.

500 Folk Songs Collected by Toronto Girl

By EDNA USHER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario has more than one song in its heart, says Miss Edith Fowke of Toronto.

She has collected about 500 folk songs in the province in two years, has made long - playing records of them and published books about them.

Mrs. Fowke is a pioneer in the folk-song field in Ontario. Her interest began when she bought a record player 10 years ago. She and her engineer husband Frank

Spring in the Heart

By Alma Mason

The beginning of a poem by Robert Browning—"Grow old along with me! The best is yet to be - - -" reminds one that the years of later life can be interesting and productive. No one is too old to change his mode of living. No one is too old to attempt projects new and different. Those who live with a perennial spirit of adventure and who nurture constant bubbling enthusiasm have found the secret of beauty of the young in heart.

Youth is merely a time of preparation for the fuller life which should follow. The young years carry a heady, effervescent enjoyment—a savoring of life without powerrealization of what rich it can be when redolent of years of experience. I recently read an amusing sentence "The bouncing spirits of youth is a wonderful thing but it is just too bad it is wasted on kids." It need not be wasted on those who are on the first step of the ladder of life. There is a free buoyancy and expectancy usually linked in thought with those of tender years can prevail through middle life and old age. It can acquire vigor and proper direction and balance without shedding its attributes of happy anticipation of expansive years ahead.

We all count among our treasured friends many who will always be "young in heart." Such people make any gathering, small or large, a festive occasion. They have a flair for savoring each drop in the flagon of living to the utmost and for helping others to do the same. Every small experience for them becomes a thrilling adventure. Color, texture, fragrance and food are a source of keen enjoyment. Music holds for them a deep fascination. They are receptive to nature, delighted with books. For them the world is enshrined in a never ending promise of the fulfillment of their own dreams. They line the dreams of those who love them with belief and support.

Kathleen possesses the secret of eternal youth. For twenty years or more she has patiently lain on her hospital bed unable to move. Instead of isolation she has gathered a group of loving friends who have enthroned her among "the young in heart." No one knows or cares about Kathleen's physical age. No one thinks of her in terms of years. She is a brilliant conversationalist with a keen mind. Her lovely dark eyes sparkle with enthusiasm as she talks to visitors. She is keenly interested in the busy lives of those who are constantly drawn to her. She never forgets their birthdays, the momentous occasions in their lives. She sparkles. She radiates vigor and energy. She inspires. Surely all who trudge that hospital corridor and stand by her charming little person must emerge confident and exhilarated. They return again and again as they would to all existing fountains of youth. God bless her! God bless all the "young in heart" whether they be nine or ninety!

How do I know you'll never grow old?
I know by your smile of amber and gold;
I know by the way you treasure each minute
And rest all your hope and happiness in it.

How do I know you'll always be young?
Because every joy unsaid and unsung
Brims up from your soul thru your eyes to Impart
The blessing of spring which abides in your heart.

Corby's Honors Retiring Employee

A turkey dinner with all the trimmings was held in the ladies cafeteria of H. Corby Distillery Ltd. Corbyville on the occasion of the superannuation of one of their employees.

Miss Iva Lambert who has faithfully served the company since September 1, 1930.

The tables, in form of a "U" were centered with bouquets decorated Christmas trees, bowls of poinsettias, arranged by May Fenner, Hope Larkin, Dorothy Mains and Mrs. Andrews.

During the luncheon, Mr. Fred Stone entertained with Christmas selections rendered on his violin.

Colored pictures were taken by Pearl Wilson and Mrs. Lena Copeland.

Mr. Bill Johns, superintendent of the bottling room, presented Iva with a beautiful blonde telephone. Mr. Johns spoke of her fellow workers, who, although they will miss her, wish her all the best as she begins her earned retirement. Miss Lambert expressed her thanks and wished all a very merry Christmas and a happy and prosperous New Year.

The singing of "For She's a Jolly Good Fellow" was then given and a tiger closed the doings.

collected records of American folk songs, then acquired Newfoundland folk songs, Ontario folk songs, and when they discovered a dearth of Ontario ballads, published a book of recorder and filled in the gap.

PETERBOROUGH STAGE

Peterborough was to Peterborough: many people of Irish descent, living there, and the Irish seem to invent and retain songs better than other races.'

"I'm not Irish myself but I'm Irish myself."

In Peterborough she learned about the The Poor Little Girls of Ontario from Mrs. Harley Armstrong of Lakefield. She learned about 1900 when she lived as a schoolgirl in Lakefield, 1912-14. A similar song was sung by Jane Armstrong of Lakefield in 1900. It tells of the girls left behind when the boys were lured away by the Klondike gold rush.

Guests attending the wedding were from Syracuse, Toronto, Shawinigan Falls, Cannanoque, Kingston, Grimsby, Joyceville, Picton, Bath, Peterborough, Deseronto, Burlington and Newburgh.

This - - - and That

By HARRIET STEVENS

Since this column begins between Christmas and the New Year, Mr. In-Between, sits on the siding of time waiting for the engine to pull the caboose down the line. The romantic old steam engine huffs and puffs at the siding while we ponder this poor Tom Dooley. It has hung from the cranes of the scrap iron yard when its final journey is through. It rests, no doubt, with the manner in which Providence has treated us throughout the past year whether we are a nostalgic and contemplative Mr. In-Between or a fatalistic Tom Dooley.

When T & T comes your way next, the 1959 diesel will be roaring down the main line regardless of the trainmen will be waiting to throw the switch to let 1958's steam engine grit its last few tow hours of travel. The hopes and prayers of good fellows for 1959 will be stored in the baggage car which has been the repair stations of time are passed into history.

We'll pick our newspaper and we see that so and so has been appointed to No. 10. Atheist or the past; that Miss Athelet is queen of all the beauties in the area and that one is Mr. or Miss Something or other for 1959, having received the vote of his or her peers; that this story was the news story of the year; that this, that and the other is the outstanding in its field for 1959 so it must be much there has been which, like Tom Dooley, will part and be heard of no more. Then there is so much for so many that the short wait on the siding of time is simply a Mr. In-Between with Providence deciding what for better or worse shall be our lot as individuals, as a society, and in an age of space discoverers, as universalists.

It seems that a mixture of sadness and promise is a composite of delicate and fine texture, natural as well as appropriate for the season. As we sit on the siding of finite time, the signals herald the promise of the New Born Child with infinite unknowns ahead, and in retrospect the brevity of 1958 behind. There could not have been a diesel ahead of us, if, behind, there had been no voyageurs, no trapper and nonchemen, no pioneer Canadian men and women, no horse and wagon, no steam engines. And so as we wait on the inescapable siding of time, it may be well to recall that from out of the past are created the foundations and bulwarks of the great unknown future and the hope of the world. And so, as we wait, we can be thankful for the signals to give us all clear for 1959. T & T will be with us on the riding prayers that our readers will decide that 1959 has been after all the best and its promise a year. a Mr. and Mrs Year of foundation building.

Mr., Mrs. Arthur Jones Mark 55th Wedding Anniversary

Last Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Jones celebrated their fifty-fifth wedding anniversary at their home in Tweed with their family and friends. Daughters, Mrs. Frank Murray, (Hester), and Mr. Murray of Wellington, Mrs. Arthur Creary, (Marion) and Mr. McCreary, of Belleville, Mrs. Ernest Henderson, (Emma), of Madoc; and two sons, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Jones, Picton, Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Airplanes Like These Could Make Las Vegas a Ghost Town

By SHIRLEY and BOB SLOANE

News Item — Cubana Airlines announces that it will conduct bingo games for passengers on its flights between Havana and New York and Havana and Miami via City. No cash prizes will be offered but gifts will be donated by the Cuban Institute of Tourism.

The year is 1960. The scene is a meeting of the board of directors of another Latin American airline which has since adopted the bingo innovation also.

Chairman of the board: "Senores, our bluff has been called and we must by our costs on the table. How could I have known one of our competitors would parlay the bingo idea into roulette and chemin de fer games on their planes? Caramba, first it was free meals, then liquor, now gambling. . . We must do how to recover our losses."

First director, excitedly: "I know! We could install dice tables!"

Chairman: "There is no room on our planes. Perhaps when the jet arrives. . . ."

Second director: "We can rip out the seats and lavatories, put in tables and chairs and seat them."

Chairman: "But there may be children on some flights."

First director: "We'll keep it on a split plane, so to speak. Sort of 'friendly, family-type gambling.'"

FLYING CASINOS

Chairman: "What if the house can't cover the plane — loses money?"

The tourist commission allegedly is complaining about the Peronistic practice of giving away such bingo prizes as bananas plantations and a thing or two from the government casino."

Their director: "Nonsense! Last month alone our competitor cleared 3,099,500 pesos just at roulette. I understand that considering flying the planes to the casino will be a simple matter landing. We already have flying spokesmiles, why not flying casinos? We could even have stewardesses, perhaps even offer free passage to known high rollers."

Fourth director: "With that kind of money flying around we would surely be sitting patos for Castro's agents!" He is immediately arrested for mentioning a rebel leader. Intestinal!

Chairman: "What will happen if we go into turbulence? The plane will rock and the dice won't come rolling!"

First director: "We'll have the pilot judge whether it should be so dice. We'll give all our dice tains a month's indoctrination at government expense before the president would co-operate.

This month's president, anyway."

Second director: "And we'll put seat belts on the stools and dice tables so the passengers won't have to return to their seats."

Third director: "What seats? I thought we're ripping them out to make room for the tables."

Chairman: "But what will the other operators in the capital say? What if the passengers lose all their money before they ever get to the capital? That reminds me, we must sell only round trip tickets.) Should we cut the operators in on our winnings?"

WINNERS AND LOSERS

Third director: "Why not fix the games so everybody wins? Then they'll head straight for the casinos with their winnings and then those there. To make up for our losses, we'll have the casino operators cut us in instead of losers."

Second director: "And if Castro thinks we are not making money he'll leave us alone." (He is arrested.)

Chairman: "Senores, I am dea, afraid things have come to a pretty pass —"

First director: "Please, this is no time to say that."

Chairman: "I must lay it on the line to you — "

Third director: "That one's even worse."

Chairman: "We must put the question to a vote."

First director: "No, no. Let's not dice to decide."

Chairman: "An excellent idea." (He removes scratch pads, ash trays, blackjack deck and cloth portions sections of green felt from directors' table, revealing dice table layout. Putting on apron and eyeshade and taking his place in the slot, he rings for his secretary.)

Chairman: "Senorita Alvarez that reminds me, we ought to look into the possibility of dealing stewardesses. Good you bring up some dice and a round of daiquiris, please! We are having a ballot.

"Senores, place your votes!"... Police raid by to arrest first director who craps out.)

Stories of Famous Hymn

by HORACE B. POWELL

"WHAT CHILD IS THIS?"

What Child is this, who, laid to rest,
On Mary's lap is sleeping?
Whom angels greet with anthems sweet,
While shepherds watch are keeping?
This, this is Christ the King,
Whom shepherds guard and angels sing,
Haste, haste to bring Him laud,
The Babe, the Son of Mary.

So bring Him incense, gold, and myrrh;
Come, peasant, king, to own Him;
The King of kings salvation brings,
Let loving hearts enthrone Him.
This, this is Christ the King,
Whom shepherds guard and angels sing,
Haste, haste to bring Him laud,
The Babe, the Son of Mary.

The world's treasury of Christmas hymns and carols is a priceless collection which includes contributions from Christian writers and musicians of many lands.

An English bard and man of letters, William Chatterton Dix, wrote this beautiful song nearly 100 years ago. After many Christmases, it seems to be growing in favor. Its music — an old English madrigal known as Greensleeves — is responsible for much of its popularity.

Mr. Dix was born at Bristol, England on June 14, 1837. He wrote enough religious music to make several song collections, but he published several of these between 1860 and 1880. As a result, some entitled "Dix, with Gladness Men Of Old", was one of his earliest creations. He was only 23 years old when he finished it, in 1860, while recovering from a critical illness.

Managing a marine insurance business in Glasgow, Scotland called for a good bit of Mr. Dix's time but he found leisure hours for writing and turned out 20 or 30 hymns before his death in 1898. Some of these, like "Come As Unto Me, Ye Weary" and "Hallelujah! Sing To Jesus!", proved to be real favorites when he published them in his collections of "Hymns Of Love And Joy" and "Altar Songs". They are still popular in many twentieth century song books of church and Sunday school.

Rita deserves and can get a better offer. She would do far better to invest her energies in seeking one.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each week it is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Evelyn R. — She should turn down this proposition.

Rita K. — My standards are changing.

Evelyn R. — I am a married woman and I have a very good friend of my own age who has remained single these years.

Recently I introduced her to a man my husband had met in business. We believed he was a widower because we knew that he was living alone and had two children in boarding school. But soon learned differently. He and Rita were very much attracted to one another and he soon told her he could not marry now because his wife was in a mental institution.

He asked Rita to have an illicit relationship and she has appreciated me by considering it. I feel that even at this late age she deserves a better offer.

Rita K. — Evelyn makes things sound worse than they really are. This man is very far from an ordinary wolf. He didn't make a crude pass at me or anything like that.

He really made this suggestion as part of a marriage proposal. He said that the doctors hold out little hope for his wife and that he should be able to get a divorce in about two years. He says that he loves me and that it is a long time to wait when one is middle-aged and in love.

When I was younger I would have turned him down flat, but now my standards are changing and I don't see why I shouldn't enjoy what I can of a man's companionship while I am still young enough. We harm no one.

The Council: Things are not as simple as Rita makes out and we are sure that underneath she is aware of this.

An obvious consideration must be the man's honesty. Is he telling the truth about his wife — the whole truth? Does he really love Rita? How can she be sure as long as he cannot consult himself to her?

These doubts must be there, but let's assume she can answer them all to her satisfaction. What then?

Well, there is probably l e s s change in Rita's standards than she thinks. What she really means is that the fear of doing wrong would have been a big factor in restraining her years ago. This fear has been replaced by an equally strong desire for an emotional link with a man. But Rita fools herself if she believes that the accepted values, the values that were instilled in her early in life, have disappeared. She would probably experience a strong sense of humiliation if she did engage in this relationship — even though a b e might try to fight this feeling.

Apart from the more obvious moral aspects of the problem is an underlying one that would leave a bitter taste with any person of finer feelings. Rita would be in the position of hoping for and desiring misfortune for the woman whose place she has usurped.

Nobody can predict the future. But experience has taught that love and loyalty have helped to bring back apparently hopeless cases. If this a man's attention were not going elsewhere, it is possible that he would make a stronger effort to help his wife. Rita would have to share his burden of guilt if he were disloyal.

Socially Rita also has much to lose by such an entanglement. Not only would she be exposed to embarrassment, but she would lose the opportunity to make better, more fulfilling ties with men.

Evelyn is right. At any age Rita deserves better love than this.

Second Glance

By Viva Graham

Dr. Henry met and fell in love and married one of Dr. Geddes' daughters, named Leah. Two other sisters married clergymen: Rene to Rev. Wm. Macaulay of Picton, and one to Rev. John Grier, of Carmichael Place, where the rectory was thronged with thirteen Grier children (of whom one named Rose would one day, become the "great builder of Bishop Strachan College"). Miss Williams died in 1854. Dr. Henry often visited in Picton and the rectory at Carrying Place.

Later, Reverend John Grier became the rector of St. Thomas Church in Belleville.

Perhaps family ties were such that Dr. Henry's family were induced to live in Belleville but this would be some years later, for he lived not only in Picton, but in Quebec and Halifax. Then in 1852 he was appointed Inspector-General of Hospitals in Canada from which he retired, relates Dr. Canniff, in 1856, and dying at Belleville, June 27, 1860, where he had carried out his intention of "settling under the British flag."

Dr. Canniff wrote that Dr. Henry had at least one son and two daughters, whom he had the pleasure of knowing while practising in Belleville, 1856-59. The eldest son, Walter James, was also practising medicine also in Belleville, in partnership with Dr. Lister.

WED BELLEVILLE MAN

We also learn that one of his daughters married a young civil engineer and architect of Belleville, whose interest became so great in entomology that the Revs. Evans' collection became the finest in all Canada.

Yes, the flesh sparkle, about Dr. Walter Henry. How the 66th Regiment of the army, received him at the age of twenty with his M.R.C.S., and then as hospital assistant surgeon in 1811 and watched him rise through the various grades of the services until he was appointed principal-surgeon in 1839 and deputy inspector-general of hospitals in 1845.

How the same corps furnished him with "Scenes and small adventures, after a service extending years of military service in the Peninsular War and invasion of France, 1814, and further campaign in Nepal, his residence in St. Helena and the detention there and until the death of Napoleon and the Upper and Lower Canada" about which he wrote a book entitled "Trifles in my Portfolio" while in Quebec, 1841, and was published in 1839, in two volumes.A second edition called "Henry's Military Life" was published in 1843 in London. 2 vols., 300-384 pp.

"The style of the work," said the Montreal Herald, "is generally correct and classical and such as to reflect honor on the author as an accomplished scholar.

Under such pen-names as "Picator", "Scrutator" and "Trifles" other writing was published in the Canada Herald about 1842, on such matters as "The Rebellion in Canada in 1837-38 (Dr. Henry was in that, too.); politics of Nova Scotia; "Observations on Indian Fishing in Canada" and "Observations on the Habits of the Beaver Family." These were spoken of as "those admirable letters."

Dr. Henry was a great man of the world — but a man of many worlds — the world of action, of thought, of writing, of human relations, of nature, of family, of wit and humor, of medicine His "avocational, specialties" and "vocational specialization."

Since imagination, midst such a realm of "raw-material" facts, makes them real and exciting, it is not difficult to see that Dr. Henry might walk possibly with a friend, were brushed with a touch of gold of an important world event, to hear him speak of days spent in St. Helena. How he'd frequently meet the Emperor, who seemed to take such a keen interest in hiscry. surgical learning and skill. How once he performed the first operation ever attempted for tracheotomy upon a namesake of Napoleon's; Marshal Bertrand's son. How Napoleon was so highly pleased over the operation's success that he proffered the young doctor a handsome present — only to withdraw it when he learned he must have the consent of its acceptance first by his father, Sir Hudson Lowe.

Thank you, Mills Masson. You have revealed for us an interesting Belleville period-piece in which Time has not diminished — and we hope, never will.

GOOD MANNERS

IMPORTANT POST-CHRISTMAS SUGGESTION

Have you forgotten to send a Christmas card, or perhaps several? Alas, I am one of them, and I know many of us are. Our Christmas mail we receive cards from some friends whom we really should have sent cards, but somehow don't. We're embarrassed because we were not so thoughtful as these thoughtful friends were. What to do — what to do? When there has been such a particularly kind remembering, surely it seems particularly ungracious not to make some gesture to thank for it. Some people rush to dash off a "return" card, but the chances are it will arrive too late for Christmas. A shabby giveaway!

The most graceful gesture to make to these thoughtful friends is to write each a brief, but note. Written on personal notepaper, or on plain sensible informals, or on attractive New Year's cards, a sentence or two of high-hearted words will keep your friendship on the friendliest pathway, nicely flourishing. For example:

Dear Jenny,

Your charming Christmas card with your friendly greetings made me so happy. Thank you for your dear message — it was so cheerful to receive your.

Happy days and happy ways for your New Year, dear friend. And let's have a date soon, to talk of "old days and new."

Lovingly,
Mary

PROPER TO VERIFY RESTAURANT CHECK

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My fiancee insists that when I took over the dinner check in a restaurant and I assure you I always try to do this most inconspicuously) I ask as if I were either suspicious or "penny-counting." Isn't it proper for me to look over the items and charges and even the addition on the check?

It certainly is proper, sir, f o r you to verify the charges on the restaurant check. Tell your fiancee she should have "proper respect" for your businesslike procedure since, as you say, y o u make the procedure inconspicuous.

Answer: Yes, there are many recipes available without sugar due to our diabetic friends. Here is

HONEY MARSHMALLOWS

One tablespoon plain gelatine, unflavored, 4 tablespoons cold water, 1 cup light honey, warmed, 1 egg white, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, ¼th. unsweetened desiccated cocoanut. Soak gelatine in cold water, then dissolve over hot water and combine with honey while both are warmed. Beat egg white until stiff, then add gelatine-honey mixture and lemon juice, continuing to beat until the mixture peaks. (10 to 15 minutes). Pour mixture into shallow pan that has been oiled, then sprinkled with cocoanut. Let stand in a cool place until stiff, then cut into squares with sharp knife. Roll squares in cocoanut and store in tightly-covered box.

Variations: Add 1 cup of a mixture of chopped dates and raisins when whipping is completed, just before you pour into the pan to set. Add a few drops of food coloring to make pale-colored marshmallows, i.e. red, green, etc.

SUGARLESS

TUTTI-FRUTTI CANDY

One pound each figs and raisins, ½ lb. prunes, ¼ lb. walnuts and 1 lb. dates, stoned. Put all fruits through food-chopper. On a board mix fruits well blended. Add a small amount of unsweetened cocoa. finely shredded to board and top of fruit mixture and roll with rolling pin to ¼-inch thickness. Cut in desired shape, and store in wax paper-lined box, tightly covered, with wax paper between layers.

SUGARLESS

TURKISH DELIGHT

One tablespoon plain gelatine, ¼ cup each of cold and hot water, ½ cup of lemon or lime or grape or any other unsweetened fruit juice, ½ teaspoon salt, 20 grains of saccharin or 20 ½-grain tablets of sucaryl and a few drops of rose water for flavoring (optional). Soak gelatine in cold water, then add hot water to dissolve along with saccharin or sucaryl. Make sure all are dissolved. Heat fruit juice then add to gelatine mixture. Add rose water (optional). Put into shallow pan that has been very lightly oiled and let set. Cut into squares and dip into very fine unsweetened desiccated cocoanut.

LAST RESORT

The Bible Today

"A Merry Christmas to you" will be repeated thousands of times this week. Of old time the Christians greeted each other with the hope "the mirth of Christ" might be the daily portion of all who walked in the way of Christ.

What if there were no more Christmas? What if you had never heard of Christmas? Well, there are people in our world who speak about 1200 different languages and dialects who have never heard the Christmas story.

The Bible Society is earnestly trying to overcome the problem of translating, printing and distributing the Scriptures in ever increasing numbers of languages.

A Merry Christmas to you! Thank God! Carry on!

Suggested reading for next week: Sunday, December 28th., John 4:1-26; Monday, December 29th., John 4:27-42; Tuesday, December 30th., Heb. 11:1-19; Wednesday, December 31st., Heb. 11:17-40; Thursday, January 1st., John 14:1-14; Friday, January 2nd., John 14:15-31; Saturday, January 3rd., John 15:1-17.

THE GOLDEN YEARS

Chances Are You Will Not Enjoy Retirement in the Old Home Town

By THOMAS COLLINS

(The retirement generation in America's cities in these 1950's is composed largely of country boys who took off their overalls, took a train, and made good where the tall buildings grow. This is for them.)

To most of you past age 55, the coming of the new year means not the toasts and the bells and the TV shots of Times Square. It means the coming-on-year of retirement. The what you will do. The where you will go.

Many of you who live in the city are thinking of moving back to your old home town.

This may be a good idea. But what follows here will suggest that you hesitate.

If you have lived in the city for as long as ten years you know, of course, that the old home town has changed. If it was a village, or a farmers' market place a few miles farther out, it's no use to see holes in chain stores and commuters by now. To go back would be going back to the same cost of living and the same impersonal and transient neighbors you have now in the city.

The country town, outside the orbit of any city, has changed, too, as you know. It has lost its highway to a surveyor who wanted to straighten it out four miles away. This has done more than turn the local cafe into a hamburger joint.

Yet the country town, if it is your home town, does have something to offer you, where the town in the shadow of a city cannot. That is a lower cost of living. You can, for instance, rent a house on the best street in town for $25 a month or so. In the city where you live, to do the same would cost you $300 or so a month. It's lower living perhaps. But relatively as good or better than you have it in the city. Many people who have been second class in the city for 20 years can go back to their home town with a good pension and be first class for the first-time in their lives.

Sentiment still sits in the country town. The fish pond is smaller than you remember. And how old people you used to know have grown. But there's remembrance. And comfort — no pressures, not even a shirt and tie.

If you sell your house, or some bonds, in the city and walk into the old home town with a bundle of cash you can buy yourself a gold-plated top hat. A man retired to his home town this fall with $12,000 from the sale of his house, all of it deposited in his city bank. The first week he deposited $1,000 in the home town bank. Two weeks later he wrote a check for $1,500 and deposited it two weeks later $2,000; two weeks later $2,500; two weeks later $3,000. By then he belonged to every worthwhile club in town and word was out that Old Jim was loaded. Whereupon he withdrew it all but $1,000 and invested it in blue chip stocks to settle down as a squire.

These pleasant aspects to the contrary, there are three serious dangers in moving back home:

1. Retirement, to be any good, must be the beginning of something and not the ending. Moving back is a little like the elephants that go off to die. Psychologically, it provides no climate to initiate new things. Nor does it have the business and cultural establishments, the excitement, the opportunities. Men have gone back home and started little businesses after retirement, but you have seldom heard of them again.

2. It will be difficult for you to take the home town seriously. The kids will be running things, you know. The people you went to school with will be idle, or vanished, or absorbed in things that don't interest you. Except perhaps for a few cousins you will have to start over with friends, and in the main small towns are not socially pinched for older people.

3. Finally, if you have followed a business career in the city for even ten years you have been overtrained with it for good. Even if you hate it, you have taken on its ways. And these ways are not better to you than the small town ways. Nicer, too. Maybe they aren't. But they seem that way. You will find yourself comparing. You will find yourself waiting for something to happen, tho. And it won't. You can be lonesome in a city. But in a small town you can be bored absolutely to death. And Sunday afternoon can be three weeks long.

Sublease your city housing for six months, move into the old home town, make a big bank deposit, and see what happens. They may make you meager, and make you love it. But the experience of others is that they won't do anything of the kind . . . and in six months you'll be moving on, maybe to a stifled small town where you'll start fresh.

Battery Leads A Rugged Life During Winter

By EUGENE MILMOE

When the battery requires frequent recharging, don't automatically blame it on cold weather . . . chances are something is wrong.

Perhaps the battery itself is to blame. Plates may be exhausted, a cell might be leaking, or maybe the water level has been neglected.

Battery strength can be damaged by starting troubles, too . . . e.g., faulty ignition, carburetion or starting motor — tight pistons — heavy engine oil — clogged exhaust, etc.

And, in winter, accessories must be used with good judgment. The demister, the heater, defroster, wipers, radio, etc., can quickly weaken the best battery.

Inadequate current flow is another cause of battery trouble. There are several possibilities here: loose, corroded connections, faulty generator, defective regulator or incorrect setting, slipping fan belt, or low idle speed.

From E. T.: "When my engine idles in neutral it makes often a low growling sound which seems to be coming from the rear axle? How can you diagnose this?"

(A) This is a transmission noise, and it's probably due to chipped or worn transmission gears.

H. N. writes: "My engine is using too much oil, but I'm sure it isn't burning it up excessively. The only floor shows no sign of oil leakage. Could it be leaking only while the car is in operation?"

(A) It could. Your next check for such leakage by spreading newspapers under the car, then running it, the engine at the equivalent of approximately 25 mph for about 15 minutes.

R. L. asks: "My '52 sedan has developed a clicking engine noise which, I have been told, is from the valves. What causes such valve noise to develop?"

(A) Excessive valve clearance, dirty or gummy oil, defective valve springs can be classified as the most common causes.

From W. M.: "If the engine suddenly dies out while the car is moving at a fast speed, is it due to an ignition or fuel defect?"

(A) Usually fuel starvation . . . and the likely causes are a restricted fuel line or carburetor, water in the fuel, inadequate pump pressure or a low float level.

PRINTER ACTIVE AT 87

OTTERVILLE, Ont., (CP)—J. Wesley Fisher, one of Canadas oldest active printers, celebrates his 97th birthday today. Gored with retirement when he tried it a few years ago, Mr. Fisher came back to the business he has operated more than 70 years in this village 15 miles south of Woodstock.

C. of C. Elects Officers for Year 1959

MADOC — At the December dinner meeting held in Blue's dining room the executive for the Chamber of Commerce was elected for the year 1959.

The officers are as follows: — president, James Keller; vice - president, Barney Sheffield; secretary, Tom Rose; treasurer, Frank Downey; and directors, C. I. Ross, Robert McCoy, Vers. McMurray, Clem. Trevorien, Harry Roscoe, Carmen Mullett, Joe Nicoll and Jack Stewart.

BELL SIGNALS CLOSING OF SCHOOL

Citizens of Madoc heard a long and pronounced toll from the bell in the tower at the old public school on Friday afternoon. It marked the closing of the building as a public school which has served the people of this community for the past 89 years.

The new school built on the grounds nearby is now ready and when school opens, pupils will attend classes in the new building.

It is the intention of the Board to preserve the bell and all of the memorabilia connected with the new school. A kindergarten department is added to the new public school and Mrs. Ray Downey will be the teacher. Mrs. Downey Bronson will be filling the vacancy in grade II owing to the resignation of Mrs. Downey.

Johnstown

JOHNSTOWN — Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Brunt and girls, Belleville, visited with his parents over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Clapp and family were guests for dinner and supper at the Clarence Hale home at Madoc on Sunday.

WHITE GIFT SUNDAY

Sunday School and church were combined on White Gift Sunday at Johnstown Church.

Quiet music was played by Thelma Sickle followed by the Doxology with the small children's choir taking its place.

"A Call To Worship" was given by the superintendent; "The First Noel" was sung and a prayer was read in unison. The Scripture lesson, found in St. Luke 1 1-20 was read by Mrs. Alva Meyers. A carol was sung by the children's choir joined in singing "Silent Night."

The offering was collected by Paul Lohnes and Wayne Moore. This money goes to help in the many calls of the missionary and maintenance fund of the United Church of Canada.

Rev. G. A. Puttenham, in his remarks, told how "we could understand God better because He sent Jesus into the world as a little Babe, and in His living with the people, for He is the Holy Spirit of God. In Christ's coming is the assurance that God fulfills his promises."

With all joining in singing "Joy to the World" and prayer, the service closed with the benediction. Candy and an orange was given to each child.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Harry spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Harry.

S. Harry, with Jim and Evelyn accompanying them to Brockville for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bush spent Saturday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Mallory.

Mr. and Mrs. George Wickens of Trenton were callers of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Sickle Saturday evening.

Richard Boone Plans to Open Play on Broadway in Feb.

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Please lay down that gun and go back to being a nice, clean-shaven Dr. Sivago."

This message, screwed on a Christmas card by a fan, is one reaction accorded TV star Richard Boone. He gets all kinds thanks to the three or four professional lives he leads.

For two seasons, he starred as the dedicated doctor on the ambitious Medic show. Now he's finishing up his second year of films in the popular Have Gun, Will Travel series.

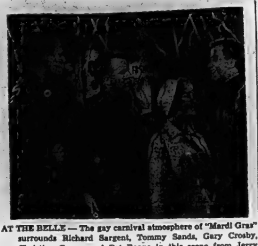
He also has done some distinguished work in movies and live TV. And next Feb. 12 he plans to open on Broadway as Abe Lincoln in a play about the Lincoln-Douglas debates, The Rivalry.

FANS CONFUSED

"Right now, there is real confusion among the fans because Medic is getting a big play in syndication," Boone remarked. "In fact, it is getting better ratings in nearly all locations than it did when it was on NBC. Some folks think I should give up the gun find go back to the scalpel."

Although he was host on all the shows, he acted in only a handful of them, and anthology shows are notable losers. The theme of curing illness scared some viewers away.

The actor has three years to go under contract with Have Gun, judging from the popularity of the show, he'll go the full term. That doesn't upset him.



"I've done two years as Paladin and I haven't tired of him yet," he said. "He's a delightful character to play, and the very nature of the show allows us to move around so we don't get stale. This year we did a fourth of the shows on location—at Lone Pine, Big Bear, Squaw Valley in California and in Glacier, N. M.

"Next year, we plan to go to Hawaii and Cuernavaca. We're also hoping to go to Europe. We could logically do that and still be in the period."

SCOTTISH NEW YEAR

The New Year's Day in Scotland was changed from March 25 to Jan. 1 in 1600.

AT THE BELLE — The gay carnival atmosphere of "Mardi Gras" surrounds Richard Sargent, Tommy Sands, Gary Crosby, Christine Carere and Pat Boone in this scene from Jerry Wald's Color by De Luxe, CinemaScope Production in 4-track 21-Ft Stereophonic Sound, continuing its record engagement at the Belle Theatre.

AT THE McCARTHY — Gary Cooper reassures Julie London when they come upon a gang of cut-throats in the exciting outdoor drama, "Man of the West", Filmed in CinemaScope and Color closing tonight at the Odeon McCarthy Theatre.

AT THE PARK — Something's Missing, Missing — I'll never be jealous again! Carol Haney is promised by Eddie Foy, Jr., pictured in something less than his usual attire. The delightful moment occurs in Warner Bros.' WarnerColor filmization of "The Pyjama Game", direct from its two-and-a-half year Broadway stage-smash. Doris Day and John Raitt star in the George Abbott - Stanley Donen production opening Monday at the Park Theatre. On the same program, the big sea drama "The Enemy Below", in CinemaScope and Technicolor starring Robert Mitchum and Curt Jergens. Matinee daily all next week starting at 2.00 p.m.

TIPS

by JOHN WETTLAUFER

You may not realize it, but your television set may be giving only a fraction of its original performance. Through prolonged use, tubes, condensers resistors, etc., gradually weaken — which means that the quality of reception slowly falls off. This process is so gradual that most of us don't realize it . . . until eventually a complete overhaul is required.

CIRCLE TV SERVICE, 306 Coleman St., are experts at rejuvenating tired television sets. No matter how old your set — or what make or model — they can bring back the original performance. In fact, you'll think that you have a brand new set!

Don't put up with poor TV performance any longer. Phone WO 8-8791 (in Trenton phone EX 2-7669) and see for yourself the tremendous difference an overhaul can make.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

In a battle of champions, the McFarlands softer it Whitby tonight and hope to shake the jinx that has ridden herd on them practically every time they have tackled the Dunlops in their packbasing bandbox.

It could be claustrophobia, but the fact remains the best the likemen have done to the Blairians on their home glace is a 4-4 tie. The rest of the verdicts in games played there this season have been victory plumes in the Dunnies' bonnets.

In fact in all the games played this semester the Hilsdenbanders have emerged victorious but once, that being on November 21 when they handed the world champ pions a fancy hockey lesson to the tune of 5-3 in one of the best senior hamlins seen in Walt Gerow's puck igloo since the top amateur bracket was inaugurated.

The Dunnies' fabulous third-period reserve has been responsible for not a few of their victories this year. On more occasions than one they have come into the final chukker on the short end of the score, and apparently ready for the cleaners, but whatever vitamins, vernal or otherwise, Maestro Blair feeds them in their box stall between the second and third chapters appear to have the desired effect.

They come out like a bevy of blood-hungry tigers on the prod—and presto—before you realize it, the light behind the opposition net is going off and on like a firefly's rear appendage.

It has got to the point where some of the circuit clubs are considering requesting the OHA to make all future games in Whitby two-period affairs. Either that or play the third period in the afternoon.

The Dunlops, while setting up a more or less remarkable record as leaders of the Eastern Junior senior loop, have had their share of the breaks, too. Old Lady Luck has not turned a dismal countenance on them all season.

During their last game in Cornwall, which they salvaged 4-3, the Dunlops were hard-pressed to hold the slim margin. A harassed Long John Henderson never welcomed a final whistle with more relief than in that tussle. And at least, so the story went, five or six Cornwall pucks beat him only to hit a post and carom off harmlessly during that fighting third period.

The game tonight is the meat-in-the-sandwich of a tough weekend for the Allan Cuppers. Tomorrow with two consecutive night games under their belts they head down high way where they tackle on the Hull-Ottawa Canadiens in a league tussle.

And they could be in for some fireworks if the Bytown officials are not on their toes.

It appears the hometown referees down Ottawa way are as popular as one of the well-known striped kitties at a strawberry social.

Last Sunday during the Kingston-Hull game, fans littered the ice with debris in protest of the official award of a Kingston goal. The Hull-Ottawa coach took his team off for a period of thirty minutes in protest of the decision.

Mr. Michael J. Rodden, Kingston sports editor, points out that the rules call for drastic punishment for a coach if he pulls his team off the ice and keeps them off for longer than two minutes. The OHA could take such action for a year's suspension for the coach that commits such an act, but as Mr. Rodden says, it is doubtful if anything is done about it.

Near-Capacity Crowd Waits For Baltimore-Giants Game

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP)—The Unified States professional football season reaches its climax Sunday when Baltimore Colts get their wild west offence against New York Giants' defensive specialists for the National Football League crown.

The Colts, well rested after clinching the western conference title four weeks ago, are 3½-point favorites over the Giants, who head to town Cleveland Browns three times to win the eastern conference championship.

With the help of the weather-man's friendly forecast of "partly cloudy and mild," a near-capacity crowd of 70,000 will storm Yankee Stadium. This will be a happy night for the players, as well as the owners, as the hired help get 36 per cent of the loot—including $200,000 for television rights.

Each winning share will be worth about $4,600 and each loser about $3,000 if there is a sellout. Each would be a record, breaking last year's marks of $4,295 and $2,750 for Detroit Lions and Cleveland.

Kickoff time is 2 p.m. EST. The engagement will be televised by NBC and carried in Canada over the CBC's Dominion network.

Baltimore's high-scoring team, built around quarterback Johnny Unitas, halfback Lenny Moore and fullback Alan Ameche, planned a light workout today.

In addition to the prestige of a first league title and the riches to be shared by the winners, the Colts are anxious to get even with the Giants, who handed them their first defeat — 24-21 Nov. 9. Although Unitas was out of action with three cracked ribs and halfback L. G. Dupre also injured, the Colts put up a tremendous game. The Giants finally pulled it out on a late 28-yard field goal.

The Baltimore coaching staff has watched the Giants' defence against Cleveland last Sunday and have studied their notes and movies all week, probing for any weakness in "the toughest pro." They promise to come up with a few new wrinkles.

It has been the same story in the Giant camp. Films involving the Colts have been studied to the last tricky offence and the habits of the big defensive tackle, Ted Marchetti at left end.

In case of a tie at the end of regulation play, the teams will continue until one team scores on a sudden-death basis.

Ron Murphy Has Been Pleasant Surprise For Hawks

Solidly-Built Left-Winger Chicago Man'n Scoring Gun Has 10 Goals, 18 Assists

By MARVEN MOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The National Hockey League season to date has produced little of the unexpected.

Montreal Canadiens have a 12-point cushion atop the standings. Chicago Black Hawks and Toronto Maple Leafs lie outside the playoff circle.

But one of the pleasant surprise, fo. the Black Hawks at least, has been the performance of Ron Murphy, a solidly-built left-winger from Hamilton.

SERIOUS INJURY

Murphy, 25, returned to the NHL from an operating table a ..r seasons back and this year has established himself as one of main scoring guns with the Hawks.

In Chicago's 22 games, the 185-pounder has counted 10 goals and 18 assists for 28 points, a total that gives him 10th spot in the scoring race and equals his last season output.

Four seasons ago he was shelved with an injury that almost ended his career. He was struck on the head by Bernie Geoffrion's stick and was taken to hospital as an emergency case. The Montreal player was suspended for five games.

UP AND DOWN

After his recovery Murphy was sent to Saskatoon of the Western Hockey League and the following year he returned to New York for a so-so season of 14 goals and 16 assists.

A junior starter with Guelph Biltmores of the Ontario Hockey Association, Murphy moved to professional career with Cincinnati of the American Hockey League in 1955.

The next year he played 15 games with the NHL Rangers. But he was not impressive and returned to Saskatoon for more seasoning. The Geoffrion incident occurred when Ron went back to New York a year later.

An exchange for centre Hank Ciesla, now with Toronto, brought Murphy to the Hawks two years ago.

Yankees Not Interested In Star Cricketer

BRISBANE, Australia (AP)—Bill Talbert, former United States Davis Cup captain turned internal baseball scout, said today New York Yankees have not made a firm offer to Norman O'Neill, Australia's crack left cricketer.

Talbert met O'Neill in Melbourne this week.

"This has been ballooned so far beyond its proper proportions," Talbert said. "The Yankees merely are interested in finding out some things about this young man. I am not an expert but only a fan."

News that the world baseball champion Yankees are interested in O'Neill, a national hero, struck this country like a bombshell.

The story was splashed across the front pages and Australians began hitting again at American professional subsidizing star athletes. Australians have been disgusted for years at exodus of swimming stars to U.S. universities with scholarships and more recently the snatching of promising young tennis players for professional careers.

TOPPING'S FRIEND

Talbert is a close friend of Australian Davis Cup captain and general manager George Weiss of the Yankees. Talbert was the hero of Australia's triumph over England in the first visit match recently at Brisbane.

O'Neill plays baseball in the off season to earn extra cash for Australian leagues. He hit .400 last year and played shortstop.

Weiss has denied tales of fabulous baseball salaries in the U.S. is interested in any New York proposition. The cricket season ends in February.

Five Major Football Games Played Today

NEW YORK (AP)—The Talor Bowl, first of the five major post season football bowl games, topped the first big college offering of holiday fridiron cheer today.

The Tangerine Bowl at Orlando, Fla., was the only other bowl game pitting two/college teams. For those who like variety, the North-South game at Miami tonight rounded out Florida's contribution, while the Blue - Grey game at Montgomery, Ala., and the East-West Shrine game at San Francisco brought together more of 1958's top talent.

A national television (CBS) audience watched twice-beaten Mississippi put its one touchdown favorite role against thrice-beaten Florida in the Gator classic at Jacksonville before 42,000.

Ole Miss, with quarterback Bobby Franklin and halfbacks Kent Lovelace and Cowboy Woodruff leading the way, pitted themselves against a Florida ground defence that was seventh in the nation. Ole Miss was 11th in the southeastern conference, Florida 12th.

East Texas State went cut to keep its Tangerine Bowl title it won last year, while Mississippi Southern last Jan. 1, against a potent single wing attack from Northern Valley College.

BIG ALL-STAR GAME

The biggest of the all - star games, the East-West classic at San Francisco, pitted the vounted running and defensive abilities of a massive East team against the passing of Fred Quarterback Tom Greasup from Utah.

The weatherman predicted ugly day for nationally televised (NBC) game beginning 5 p.m. EST.

Michigan State's Dave Daugherty, the East coach, banked on the running of Ohio State's Don Clark and Notre Dame's Nick Pietrosante, to give the East its 104th victory before 60,000.

Another televised all-star affair, the Blue-Grey game, was played on a hard under a drizzly sky. The game was televised by CBS to the U.S. and CBC.

Tonight, the North and South go at it in Miami's Orange Bowl before 35,000, with Army's Pete Dawkins, the Heisman and Maxwell Trophy winner, leading the North against quarterback Buddy Humphrey of Baylor's unbeaten.

South coach Darrell Royal of Texas has made no bones of the fact he is to match North coach Ara Parseghian's running game.

Coach May Not Return To Dutchmen

KITCHENER (CP) — Coach Bill Sutherland of Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen may not return to the Ontario Rugby Football Union next year.

John Hunter, president of the club, said Friday no decision has been made on who will coach the team next season.

"We will be meeting next week," he said, "and I imagine the matter will be one of the first items of business."

Sutherland, who coached Dutchmen to third place in his first season last year, is understood to have left his home town of Little Rock, Ark.

Dutchmen host in the final Garnis Golden Bears.

Russ Hockey Invasion of U.S. Expected To Be Successful

By Joe MacSween
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK (CP) — Russia is expected to be successful in its hockey invasion of the United States, beginning New Year's Day at Madison Square Garden.

While little advance information is available, American hockey officials and today they expect the Russian all-star team will be basically the same team that visited Canada last year, winning five games, losing two and tying one.

The Russians — who feature speed and passing plays — will play a total of eight games in the U.S., three of them against the Kingston, Ont., Intermediate A hockey team which will later compete in the world championships in Prague in March.

It will be the first appearance of a Soviet team in the U.S. when the Russians and the nationals meet at Madison Square Garden. The two teams will tangle again in Minneapolis Jan. 3 and at Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 4.

BETTER THAN FROG

Lyn Patrick, Boston Bruins' general manager who saw the Russian finals second to Canada in the world tournament at Oslo last year, describes Soviet passing as "better than frog but not even our own professionals achieve."

Patrick, noting that the series will be played under international rules and not the modified fifth at Oslo, added:

"The Russians are a beautiful team to watch. We can't be rough by international rules, and we're careful about penalties. But they move up the ice in brilliant patterns and they should defeat the U.S. team."

The U.S. National team, drawn from college hockey, has shown seven straight exhibition contests and convinced coach Murray Armstrong of Toronto's going "to run over anybody."

AMERICANS ONLY

Armstrong's squad is training in Minneapolis for more than a month, is strictly limited to Americans—as Canadians—and is being whittled down to playing strength.

Some Canadians may be involved later, however, when the Americans take on teams as Colorado University, Harvard Ramblers of the Eastern League.

Injuries plagued the U.S. team in the world tournament. Armstrong star players who took part in the championships and are back again for this series are forwards Roger Christian, Paul Johnson, Dick Meredith and Wellon Olson. Jack McCarten, two-time all-American goalie from the University of Minnesota, has been outstanding in exhibitions.

American officials said Col. Pavel Korovkin, secretary-manager and president of the Russian team, appeared cautious about giving out a definite lineup in advance because he felt opponents would study his players' styles and thus gain in advantage.

A number of names—familiar from Canadian and world competition—are mentioned prominently in speculation. These include:

Vladimar Grebbenkow, high-scoring centre; Veniamin Bystrow, rugged schoolteacher; Nikolai Sologubov, speedy wing; Nikolai Khyslov, playmaker wing; Alexei Gurabzev, a superb stickhandler and good checker; Veniamin Alexandrov, a defenceman who is described as the Russians' best prospect, Yurij Krylow, a veteran playmaker, and Yurii Pantyukov, a slick-skating right-winger.

There are the high-scoring defenceman Constantin Loktev, the slap-shooting specialist Genrich Sidorenkov and the powerful Ivan Tregubov.

Sugar Hart Verdicts Dupas

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Sugar Ray Hart of Philadelphia won a split decision over Ralph Dupas of New Orleans in a slam-bang professional battle at the Miami Beach auditorium Friday night.

Hart weighed 144½ pounds and Dupas 143½. There were no knockdowns.

It was a stalking, deadly contest in the college fashion, ... zagging perpetual - motion machine reminiscent of Willie Pep in his heyday, and it was the stouter punching of Hart that brought him the victory.

Hart invariably came out best in the exchanges, except for the second when Dupas kept on top of him throughout.

The 25-year-old Dupas, veteran of 90 fights, showed a concrete chin in weathering wicked rights and left hooks.

McFarlands Stretch Unbeaten String To Seven

Score Four in Ten Minutes Then Have to Go All Out To Nip Kingston Merchants

By GEORGE H. CARVER
Sports Editor

What started off like a rout ended in a frenzy-fought battle here last night when the McFarland Merchants' hockey team stretched its unbeaten string to seven with a post-Christmas 6-4 victory.

The Maes struck suddenly, swiftly for two goals in less than two minutes in the opening period and added two more by the time the clock reached the halfway mark. The Merchants avoided a period shutout with minutes to go.

The Gagnon-coached crew roared back into contention with the only two goals of the second period to come within striking distance and again looked dangerous in the third chapter when the teams split a pair of markers before the Maes rammed home the clincher.

The Smrke-Fayette-Menard trio was the best line on the ice —their neat passing plays clicking for a goal and two assists for each of the threesome. Bart Bradley was tops with two goals with Moe Benoit getting the other. Hildebrand had two assists with Jean-Paul Lamirande getting one.

Moe Savard stood out for the Merchants, the clever centre having twice. He was closely followed by Ray Goldolfo who set up two markers with Don Bellringer and—Kenny Lissenman scoring the other Kingston goals.

The game, while bitterly fought, was conducted in a clean manner for a Kingston - Belleville battle. Referee Jack Shropshire handled matters capably and only seven to the Maes and one a miscount by Lissenman. Two of the Kingston penalties were costly while the Merchants' one came late in the second when the Maes were a man short.

The McFarlands got the winner in their second in each period with an overall edge of 30-26. Both goalies displayed real toughies with Gordie Bell checking in the clear Merchants three times.

The Allan Cup champions looked like Eastern sticker level at seven. They have won 13 of their last 16 starts, one game being a tie.

The customers' seats were scarcely warm when Bart Bradley took the Hildebrand's pass to open the scoring at 1:40 seconds of the first period. Less than a minute later Lamirande duplicated the same pair away with Bradley again scoring from the coach's tip.

The Maes were riding high and Lou Smrke ripped home their third goal on a neat passing play with Minnie Menard and Paul Payette. The trio struck again a minute later, outmaneuvering another three-way drive with Menard doing the honors.

MacDonald and Maxwell followed each other to the penalty box and two minutes after the latter exit, MacDonald drew another sentence. The opposition Kingston side started to untrack and Savard broke the Merchants' ice on a gangling attack with Guidolin and Gagnon helping.

The Merchants maintained their offensive in the second period and although outshot 14-9 had a margin of play. Five minutes had gone when Don Bellringer worked in close and took Olsen's pass to make the count 4-2.

Bellringer and Marineau picked up minor penalties with no decision as to who drew the Merchants' stock surged when Kenny Lissenman battled in a loose puck to cut the margin to 4-3.

The third period opened with a swift pace but the Merchants failed to take advantage of Goegan's minor and misdirect penalties. Then Bellringer was chased and the Maes took over, Moe Benoit beating Davis in the shootout point with a blistering slapshot to open the gap to 5-3.

Benoit was hurt at this point and had to be assisted from the ice. Hildebrand was chased for high-sticking and the Merchants' power play paid off with Savard scoring his second goal of the night after Guidolin set him up beautifully.

A minute later Bep broke into the clear with not a Mac within gunshot but Gordie Bell went down to smother his shot on a neat effort.

The clock read less than three minutes when Smrke, Payette and Menard again teamed on a fine passing play with Jean Paul scooping home a pass to put the Macs in the clear.

The McFarlands trek to Whitby tonight to take on the world champion Dunlops, and it is expected their new goalie Claude Dufour will be in the nets. To borrow they go to Hull, to clash with the Ottawa Canadiens in an afternoon game. ...

The terse:

Kingston—Davis, Olsen, Topazzini, Ragion, Partridge, Colvin, Guidolin, Chiarelli, Savard, Maxwell, Bellringer, Gagnon, Lissenman, Clarke.

Belleville — Bell, Lamirande, Benoit, Crawford, Bolley, Goegan, Hildebrand, Brown, Bradley, Menard, Marineau, MacDonald, Jones, Payette, Secretan.

Referee—Jack Shropshire. Linesmen—Goyer, Ted Hurst.

Irish Shade Biltmores 4-3 Cubs Beaten

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Jack Costello's third - period goal saved Toronto St. Michael's Majors from a loss and a drop to third place in the OHA Junior A standings last night.

It gave Majors a 4-3 decision over Guelph Biltmores and kept them one point up on the consuming Peterborough Petes who edged the tail-end Hamilton Cubs 5-2 for the second time in as many nights.

Larry Keenan, Gord Epp and Darryl Sly got the St. Michael's goals in a first-period outburst. Guelph screens were Leon Hochebert, with two, and Rod Gilbert.

It was the second time this season that Biltmores had been defeated at home.

Peterborough had a comparable night, twice posting the third win in a week. A crowd of 3,018watched Petes take a 3-1 lead in the opening period, then coast to victory.

Bill Mahoney paced the winners with two goals, Garry Darling, Larry Hillier and Wayne Boddy got the rest. Hamilton scorers were Don Wilcox and Larry Jeffrey.

'Guillotine Gang' Notre Dame Alumni Blasted For Firing of Terry Brennan

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Flyers in the annals of college football has the firing of a coach touched off the amount of excitement in United States newspapers as has Notre Dame's dismissal of Terry Brennan.

From one end of the country to the other sports columnists and newspaper editorial writers took a dim view of the University of Notre Dame's action last Monday.

Some called the move "a disgrace" and others criticized what was termed Notre Dame's "victory-at-all-cost" policy.

None of the comment was complimentary to the university. A few of those writers who took a middle-of-the-road stand condemned the dismissal of a father of four children four days before Christmas.

Some comment:

Frank Birmingham, New Haven (Conn.) Journal Courier: "It was a disgrace to the school. In one move like this, Notre Dame has lost the respect and admiration of hundreds, possibly thousands, and gained even millions."

MAY BE SORRY

John Crosley, Daily Oklahoman: "Notre Dame will continue to lose a ball game here and there and the day may come when the Irish will be wishing Terry were back. A wave has developed in the direction of Notre Dame."

Bill Egger, Indianapolis Star: "Brennan was obviously a victim of hate-to-lose alumni."

Mack Stirton, Houston American: "Notre Dame for 35 years has been dedicated to football ideals in sportsmanship . . . now things have changed. It would have been cast over Notre Dame's golden dome by the distasteful firing of Terry Brennan."

Lou Smith, Cincinnati Enquirer: "Brennan helped make Notre Dame football worthy when he was quoted as saying: 'If they want mercenaries can do a better job as head football coach they can put him in.'"

Hull-Ottawa Beats Chevies Bulldogs Blast Dutchmen 6-1

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The holiday season has been doing wonders for Windsor Bulldogs, fast winning them the title of "spoilers" in the OHA-NOHA Senior A circuit.

Windsor blasted Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen 6-1 Friday afternoon to give the Bulldogs a lock for first place.

In other league action Sudbury Wolves edged North Bay Trappers 4-3 to move into third place a point ahead of the idle Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds.

In the Eastern OHA Senior loop Belleville McFarlands won 6-4 over Kingston Canadiens and the visiting Cornwall Chevies 6-2.

FAST OPENER

More than 4,100 Kitchener fans saw Bulldogs score three unanswered goals in the first period then settled back to play it cozy.

Frank Bathgate of Windsor with a pair of goals while Bob Brown, Giffin Moffat, Lou Bendo and Tom Lockett collected the others. Don Rope got the lone Kitchener marker.

At Sudbury the last-place Trappers held a 3-2 lead going into the final period but Wolves bounced back neatly on late goals by Bobby Forhan and Joe Zorica.

North Bay scorers were Bos Mavrell, Rene Peoin and George Gosselin. The earlier 'Sudbury goals were by Forhan and Leon Lemieux.

TOUGH BATTLE

Belleville had a tough time handling the visiting Kingston club.

Trailing 4-0 after 10 minutes of play, Mercharts pulled to within a goal of Belleville in the second period, but they couldn't keep the pace up.

Bart Bradley scored twice for Belleville and other goals came off the sticks of Paul Payette, Lou Smrke, Minnie Menard and Moe Benoit. Kingston scorers were Moe Savard, with two, Don Bellringer and Ken Linesman.

Hull - Ottawa's win at home hinged mainly on the performance of Bobby Boucher who fired three goals. Michael Legace, Guy Rack and John Gauthier paced up the others. Cornwall scorers were Reg Grigg and Ron Quesnelle.

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP) — The King Ranch's Golden Notes ushered in the 1959 thoroughbred season at Santa Anita Friday afternoon before 30,000 fans.

The four-year-old Beau Mac colt got a great assist from Eddie Arcaro and withstood a serious challenge in the final strides by Seaneen to win by half a length.

The Searcher was third in the field of eight. The second betting choice, English-bred Tempest II, ran out of the money.

The time for the six furlongs was 1:09 3-5.

DURBAN, South Africa (AP)—Rioting fans hurled bottles, sticks and stones at horses, jockeys and policemen Friday during the Christmas Day race meeting at Clairwood Race Track.

Five jockeys were injured, none seriously.

Lady Love, one of three horses brought down during the riot, finished first in the race. Fans claimed their track officials did not make an announcement, the fans poured through barriers and the barrage began.

Peg Blue Bombers Dominate Sports Editors, Casters Vote

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—Dame Fortune, the Winnipeg Blue Bombers have it.

That's the consensus of the country's sports editors and broadcasters who put the Bombers and their hair-raising Wally Gray Crop triumph over Hamilton Tiger-Cats at the top of the list in four categories of the 10-question Canadian Press year-end poll. The Bombers, in the Grey Cup final, dominated the 34th annual survey.

Bombers were voted the outstanding team and comeback team of 1958. But it's not all roses. The western champions provided the majority of voters with their greatest sports thrill and surprise of the year when they spotted the Eastern champions a 20-0 first half lead and then outplayed and outfought them for a 35-7 victory.

DISAPPOINTING GROUP

The dubious honor of winning the "disappointment" tag of the year for teams or individuals belonged to the 96-athlete British Empire Games team that was expected in Wales last summer.

Not insulting in this category were the University of British Columbia eight-oared crew. The Thunderbirds were given a great chance at the Games and some observers predicted them the outstanding team honors.

The Big Four rugby-dodged out the Stanley Cup champion Montreal Canadiens as the outstanding team and "the year of disappointigms" fiercely-competitive Maurice Richard for the comeback of 1958, team or individual.

There was little opposition offered Bombers in the surprise and thrill building although the Canadiens had a big edge. Wally Gray Durelle in his light-heavyweight title bout against world champion Gaspar Ortiz Monsy was prominently mentioned.

COMPILED BY 200 POINTS

The voters were asked by CP to name the three outstanding Canadian teams, any sport, professional or amateur, in order, and Bombers won out by about the width of a football. Compiled on a basis of three points for a first-place choice, two for second and one for third, Bombers compiled 200 points against 120 for the colorful Canadiens.

Whitby Dunlops, world amateur hockey champions who retained the title for Canada with a 6-4 victory over Russia in the final game of the round-robin tournament at Oslo, were third with 122 points. Hamilton Tiger-Cats were a lonesome fourth with only 16 points, followed by Saskatoon Hilltops, Canadian junior football champions, eight eight.

Votes in the other categories were limited to one choice and the comeback balloting was a repeat performance.

Lake Reconditioning Program

Time was when we had enough nation at last shows signs of having very definite meaning. Thus, how could take his fishing gear, go to his favorite lake or stream and fish to his heart's content without being disturbed or crowded by other fishermen. That day, regrettably, has passed.

Where we had one fisherman when I was a boy, today we have a hundred. Somewhere, I'll wager, Small wonder that our lakes and streams are crowded and overfished. Now the problem which confronts the conservation conscientious not only is to see to it that our public waters hold more fish; also, they must, if it is possible, increase the acreage of the fishing waters themselves. This latter job is one of no mean proportions. After all, our countryside holds only so much water. There is fall on our watersheds, just as they have always done. Now it is our job to prevent fast run-off (see an early talk with our dwindled hills) before that rainfall in artificial lakes and dams (where such storage does not defeat its own purpose) and to make sure that it percolates into the water table which carries rainfall back to the sea, run pure and clear and so that it can support life.

Failure to control of run-off of rainfall is not an easy thing to do. Almost everywhere our hills have been denuded by the axe of the lumberman. Stripped of their original shades of trees and forests, they lose their rainfall quickly. Thus, we have periods nowadays of floods and of people dying.

LARGE DAMS NOT ANSWER

To save this valuable rainfall for future use, the building of large dams over valleys are not the answer. These structures block navigation, block migrations of fish, and store water all in one large lump. Furthermore, the level where gravity can aid in its use in the upper waterways.

For quite some years now the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests has been studying and developing a most practical watershed management. Contrasting with the large-dam program of the past, they advocate multiple s m a l l dams of the proper size to conserve rainfall runoff at its source.

Small dams in the upper reaches of the tributaries do not block navigation nor fish migration. They do not flood valuable farm and forest land. They store a relatively small fraction of the price of large-dam construction. Moreover, their store rainfall where it can be used easily when needed. These dams, combined with contour plowing and adequate reforestation, have done and are doing a marvelous job in the water conservation, in addition to increasing the overall water scavage of the Nation.

Water pollution gradually is falling more and more into public disrepute. Legislation is becoming increasingly severe and the penalties so severe that the clean-streams program of the Sunday School Lesson

Jesus, Man of Mystery

By ROY L. SMITH

It was much more than the fact that Jesus' birth was heralded by angels, and that wise men from the East came to His manger and left their tribute, which pitched the key of mystery for His entire life. There was something so majestic about His appearance among men, and something so eternal about the things He said, that it was inevitable that finite minds would never be able to comprehend the significance of it all.

GOD TOO BIG FOR MINDS

A college senior, much confused, said to his pastor, "I cannot accept the Christian religion. It is so full of mystery, and leaves so much unexplained. What he meant was, without admitting it, "There is so much in the faith that is beyond my power to comprehend."

And that is one of the first of our problems, when we begin dealing with the problem of God. If the Eternal could be comprehended by the mind of man, then man would be as big as God Himself. It is the vast areas of the nature of God which lie out beyond human comprehension which make Him God, and it is a part of the mystery with which Jesus is surrounded that so much of His significance lies outside the capacity of man to explain.

ALWAYS A MYSTERY

From the time that the shepherds stood, wondering, beside His manger, until the little company of disciples watched Him ascend into heaven, He was a mystery. It seldom happened that He ever preached a sermon or performed a miracle, that He did not leave people wondering.

The Uniform Sunday School lesson for December 28: "Jesus Acknowledged as the Christ." Mark 8: 27 through 9: 1.

He was something like an iceberg in at least one respect. There was so much more of Him that was out of sight than there was in plain view. The common people felt it when they said, "He speaks with an authority other rabbis do not have," and when they asked, "When came this man's learning?" They knew He was learned—intuitively they knew it. But they could not explain it.

CONFORMED TO NO TYPE

In spite of the fact that He was "tempted in all points like as we are," He conformed to no type known to the race. Poles removed from Pilate and Herod, He was equally different from Annas and Caiaphas, the religious leaders of the nation. Even Mary, Martha, Lazarus, the women who went for Him en route to Golgotha, and great hearts like Peter and John they never came any nearer to the heart of Him than the outlying districts of His soul. He was too vast.

ESCAPED EXPLANATIONS

From the very first time that the disciples announced to the world that He was risen, it became necessary to explain Him, and the explanations have become our theologies. But when we have mastered all their intricacies, we have the feeling that He is so much more magnificent than any explanation, and so much greater than all the systems of theology and philosophy that have grown up about Him.

"Whom do men say that I am?" No man has ever yet put it into better words than Thomas did when he cried out, "My Lord and my God."

MURDER CHARGE

curred shortly after midnight Thursday when the Copping car ran to Albert Young's two-room cabin home to get more records for a party. They were accompanied by David Williams, 18, son of George W. (Jim) and John Young, 17-year-old brother of the host.

Const. Fulford, transferred to Ear Falls late in month, was also when he investigated the break.

Provincial police corporal Dick Bender of Ear Lake said that when the Gordons and the two youths arrived at Young's cabin one of them yelled: "He's standing with a gun cocked."

David ran around the side of the building, John ran around the other side. As they rejoined each other they heard a shot and a scream, then three more shots.

Police said the gun ran to Williams' home nearby and George went for the police.

Williams and Const. Fulford had advanced to within 60 feet of the cabin when they were fired at by a 30-30 rifle. The policeman was fatally wounded but Williams ran on to the cabin.

YOUTH CARRIES HOME

Mrs. Fulford said by an Indian youth that her husband had been shot at, carried home by Williams at Ear Lake. Cpl. Bender and a second officer arrived at the scene and found Const. Fulford in the snow. His revolver was missing.

Reinforcements were sent from Dryden and Kenora and at dawn Sunday Bender entered the Young cabin.

The body of James Gordon lay outside the cabin door in the snow. Albert Young was dead on the floor in front of the larger room and on the floor immediately in front of a couch in the room came Young's wife, Agnes. The body of Mrs. Gordon was on the couch. Police said it appeared she had been dragged into the shack from outside.

In Kenora, provincial police laboratory officer Gerald said there were indications the woman had been raped. He said her clothing was torn and she was bruised.

FIVE MILES AWAY

The officers were conferring on the possible whereabouts of Tom Young when John Bannantyne, a neighbor, arrived at Ear Lake. He told them he had seen him at his grandparents' home five miles away.

They located Young at the Bannantyne home while three of the policemen set out front on the car another headed south on the main road and tossed two tear gas bombs. Cpl. Bender said Young came out unarmed before him his blind grandfather. His grandmother followed.

Young gave himself up without a struggle. Const. Fulford's revolver was carrying Const. Fulford's revolver in his back pocket.

Young was taken to be charged with murder. He will be the first they described as moody and unpredictable, but who had lived in the area a number of years. They said he was upset when she married Gordon.

DIANA GRILL

the blaze to the Diana Grill, the three-storey brick that was the first started, and the Salvation Army officer on the second floor, but despite runs of water poured into the blaze from fire hoses and garden hoses, the fire broke through into the adjoining James Twist premises.

The blaze then lit way through the James Twist building and eventually sent flames through the fire wall and caught the roof of the Alan Storage building to the south.

The firewall between the restaurant and the Army, Navy and Airforce Veterans' hall held and prevented flames from spreading to the north.

Smoke and steam towered hundreds of feet into the air and with the wind swinging from northwest to southwest, smoke drifted across the entire city.

Fighting the blaze in near-zero weather, firemen were soon ice-coated and rivers of water were turned into ice. Fire hose nozzles employed fitted around in almost knee-deep water opening and closing valves to allow the water to escape.

Traffic in the entire downtown area was diverted as hose lines covered the streets in all directions.

Fire Chief Gerald Vance gave credit to the arch-like department mutual assistance plan for greatly expediting the fighting of the six-alarm fire. Over 20 men and four extra pieces of equipment were added to Belleville's fifty-thirty-three men and nine fire vehicles. Trenton, Deseronto and Picton were fire departments came to the assistance of the Belleville force after receiving a call whereby the departments of each community assists one another in case of a general alarm.

Chief Vance also expressed the thanks of his men for the excellent service rendered them by Water Commissioner Salvation Army crew, who served hot food, coffee and sandwiches to the firefighters, starting at five o'clock in the morning. At the height of the fire over sixty men and fifteen lines of hose were used fighting the fire from three sides. Three lines were in use all through the night sending down the buildings as a few flash fires started up from the ruins of the buildings.

PLANS TO REBUILD

In spite of all this, Ontario high school children will still be able to get copies of what appears to be a Belleville high school course outlines, translation, examination papers and answers. Although the James Texts Limited premises on the north side burned to the ground after yesterday's fire, Virgil Hall is of the opinion that by that a new building "bigger and better" than the old one, will be built on the site within a year.

The firm, established in 1919 by George M. Jones, was formerly a publishing concern. During the course of the 1939-45 war, however, the development of examination, stationary supplies, office equipment and books was added to the store's wares. It was reported that the firm also publishes that the James firm had the finest selection of books in any store in Ontario outside its retail store.

Virgil Jones estimated the damage to the Front Street building at about $200,000, although the exact figure it proved difficult to arrive at. As soon as the smoke had cleared away and the shell of the old building levelled off, work will start on the new building.

The Diana Grill premises, owned by Mrs. Diana Grill, was a total loss. The owner estimates the damage to the building at $25,000. Although the building was covered by insurance, Mr. Wills has not yet determined whether he will rebuild.

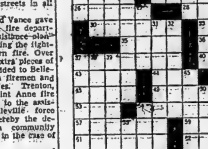
Astrological Forecast

BY CARROLL RIGHTER
Monday, December 29, 1958

Aries (March 21 to April 19) Morning may bring with it an argument between some higher up and yourself or with one you love that could be unfortunate for you. Wear a smile and be calm and all will be well. But see your eye-to-eye extravagant with your money.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) You and a close tie do not see eye to eye on almost everything. In general, don't endeavor to force your ideas on him or her. Just keep working away at your own ambitions and beliefs and you will come through the victor. Be aware.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) A private party could be out to get you from going out into the world of affairs where your talents duties await you, if you permit. Rise above this situation and be on to the top. Don't let appointments see your friends. Make this a pleasant day.



Moon Children (June 22 to July 21) Endeavoring to get your money for pleasure this A.M. and this would be a big thanks for big, poor bills. P.M. you find that you can have a wonderful time and you can thank thanks to fine friends and relatives.

Adriatic (Jan. 20 to Feb. 19) A close tie or demanding situation at home keeps you from dashing off to the meeting spot with associate for a good bet you have in mind. Don't! Take care of vital home matters first and then you can saunter off gleefully.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) Attend important outside matters at once today instead of fooling around with furnishings and spending unnecessary time or money on extravagances for the home. Be practical and get to do. Use a more modern approach in affairs.

If your child is born today — The interesting child born today is the type who thinks that the best way to get what he or she wants it to pout and roll up a dreadful scene. Instead, instead that good manners and kindness bring even the spoiled out of misers. Egotism is also a marked trait of your youngster. Don't you think you'll give the best education possible in order to bring up the great potential in

By CARROLL RICHTER

Sunday, December 28, 1958.

Aries (March 21 to April 19)

A day to step into some lecture hall where some enlightened spiritual advisor is speaking and will soon open your consciousness to a more abundant way of life, closer to your Maker, and be on the road to real success.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20)

Listen to a chance remark by a close tie that will show you the way to real success and the full expression of your fine talents. Live the Golden Rule and you'll hit upon the ideal plan for increasing income considerably and finding fame.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21)

Spend some time today reading some great philosophical work, or go to hear a man or woman of wisdom. This will open up a whole new vista of understanding for you, and your work becomes lighter as you find the true road to real success.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 21)

If you return to the standards under which you were reared, you can easily solve any current problems that worry you so. Also, do whatever is necessary to build up your strength and make your outward appearance beautiful.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21)

Think of yourself first today when deciding what your plans for the future will be. Then success will come and your dreams materialize. Good day to meet worthwhile individuals and to discuss your goals with true friends of the past.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)

Be receptive to the highest principles and dogma; in order that you may have peace of mind and attain to the greatest heights you can visualize. Seek wisdom first. Be helpful to others, particularly those in direst need.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)

It is important today you seek the company of one you know has lived an exemplary life and begin to emulate his or her philosophy. A wonderful new life will be open to you. P. M. fine for sociability.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)

Many fascinating affairs come up today to indicate the direction in which to bend your efforts in the future. Latter part of day is excellent for seeing important individuals and making the most of your abilities.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)

A day for being with that marvelous person of wisdom who can lead you straight in on current problematical affairs. Live in the highest mental realm and you will soon make great strides forward with minimum effort.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Your intuitions are fine and you should follow them, not only for own advancement and edification, but also to help your pals. Be sure to go into seclusion for awhile to permit them to come through. Then full speed ahead.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Experienced and broad-visioned associates today give you invaluable advice which you would do well to follow for increasing success. Be sure you understand every detail. Today is fine for any political or civic interests.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20)

A rare day for truly understanding those who do so much for you unselfishly and to appreciate them. Figure out the best way to show gratitude and bring real peace and happiness in your environment. This augurs well for the future.

If your child is born today ... The child fortunate enough to be born today is the kind who will rise to the heights emotionally one moment and sink to the depths the next. But since you who are his or her parents are highly intelligent, will realize the great potentiality in this chart and know how to guide your youngster properly, much can be expected of your progeny in adult life. Fine chart for the great actor or ecclesiastic.

Currency Moves May Reopen Canadian Markets

European Nations Swing To Freer Trade Areas

OTTAWA (CP) — Britain, France and other West European countries have made dramatic currency moves which eventually may make it easier for Canada to sell goods in those markets.

As Britain swung closer to full convertibility of the pound sterling with dollars, other West European nations followed with similar steps in the hope of the most competitive spirit seen in Europe in post-war years.

France made the most drama- tic weekend moves, devaluing the franc, slashing import curbs and launching a new home austerity program designed to save her from economic ruin and make her a tougher rival in world trade.

The moves, as far as Canadian officials can see, seem to be erup- ting into a pattern that will set up a free trade area among at least six countries and perhaps more if frictions and disagreements be- tween Britain and France can be smoothed.

BENEFIT CANADA

Whatever the causes, the moves were hailed in Canada as benefi- cial for Canadian trade. Finance Minister Fleming said in a state- ment Saturday that the move can look forward to a more rapid expansion of the trade discrimina- tion against our exports in the United Kingdom.

Trade Minister Diefenbaker, in a brief stop at Winnipeg on his way to Ottawa, said that "every- body knows we have always fa- voured freer trade ways and Can- ada's action was a "major step forward."

Hon. George Drew, Canada's high commissioner to London, hailed the new European agreement as the most important thing that has happened since the end of the war. He said: "It is the biggest step since the end of the war. Now vaca- tioning at Guelph, he will open a week of official talks there today before returning to London.

The first major trade clash caught the Canadian government's eye was Britain's decision to merge two rates of exchange for sterl- ing—the official rate and the so- called transferable rate—into one at the official rate of about $2.78 or $2.80 (U.S.) to the pound.

ELIMINATES DISCRIMINATORY

This move, by itself, has little direct effect on Canadian trade

Traffic Toll In U.S. Nears 600 Mark

CHICAGO (AP)—Traffic deaths in the U.S. during the long Christ- mas weekend may fall below the pre-holiday estimate of 600.

However, belated reports of ac- cidents which occurred up to mid- night Sunday could boost the to- tal to the second highest holiday toll on record.

Safety experts had expressed alarm at the slaughter on the highways early in the 102-day holiday period starting at 6 p.m. Christmas Eve. They feared that if the pace continued, nearly seven killed an hour, the holiday would surpass the record of 706 traffic deaths set in the four-day 1956 Christmas weekend. But the toll dropped off later in the pe- riod.

The National Safety Council was hopeful that the toll would not exceed its pre-holiday esti- mate of 620. There appeared a fur- ther slackening of deaths on Sunday night, as the homeward rush reached the peak, increas- ing the possibility the total deaths would be under 620.

The deaths counted at 4 a.m. were: 581 in traffic accidents; 91 in fires and 91 in miscellaneous accidents for a total of 763.

The second worst holiday for traffic deaths since the record Christmas period in 1955 when 629 persons were killed. It was the worst U.S. record, on an hourly basis, with a death every eight minutes.

California, with more than 60 deaths on the highways, had by far the biggest state total and about one-tenth of the national total.

There were several multiple death accidents. Eight died in two crashes Sunday, including four young Milwaukee men in a smashup near Racine, Wis., and four persons in a collision on icy pavement in morning fog near Greenup, Ill.

Cook Aboard British Vessel Slain at Sea

FALL RIVER, Mass. (AP)— The British tanker Labrosa sailed today for the Netherlands Antilles leaving behind unsolved international problems of dis- cipline from the slaying of its chief cook at sea.

Police plan to seek a warrant, charging second cook William Messer, of Cardiff, Wales, with being a fugitive from jus- tice. Police Chief James D. Leon- ard said Messer has admitted the stabbing.

The killing occurred in inter- national waters off Delaware on Christmas Day. Since then the victim, Evan Powell, 34, of Mid- dlebrough, England, and Mes- ser are both subjects and the crime occurred at sea, police consider the British laws in juris- diction.

Maxwell Plowman, British vice- consul at Boston, said the deci- sion on where Messer will be tried is up to the British Ministry of transport. He expected a de- cision from London in two to three days.

"According to our regulations, the minister of transport has the trial in the United Kingdom or in the British Commonwealth coun- try," Plowman explained. "Mes- ser, therefore, could be tried in Canada, New York or England."

Fall River police took Messer into custody at the consulate's request.

Swank Night Spots to Cost Up to $100 Couple for Party

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

There are two new year's eve alternatives for Canada's big-time spenders: Throw your own party or pay the cost of the country.

A Canadian Press survey of nightclubs from coast to coast indicates the cost of ringing in 1959 — corsage, cover charge, drinks and food — will top hun- dreds from $20 to $50 a couple. In the swank night spots of Mont- real, a man would have to work hard to get rid of more than $100. Prices at the top hotels range to $25 a couple for dinner, dancing and entertainment.

There is little more offered even in Montreal, a city with more nightlife and restaurants per capita than any North Ameri- can centre. Quebec law forbids selling liquor after 10 p.m. New Year's Eve and private clubs planned special programs.

Men with bankrolls in many cases were buying champagne, hiring servants and engaging en- tertainers for their own parties. Others were looking across the border.

In Toronto a Buffalo hotel ad- vertised: "Run away with your wife." The cost for 24 hours of relaxation — not including trans- portation, liquor or tips—is $42 a couple.

In Montreal, the Bellevue Casino club offered entertainment through dawn despite the blue law. Buses will take patrons from the city club to the town hall in Burling- ton, 30 miles away, making a return trip into the afternoon of New Year's Day for a couple's drinks and tips extra.

Bookings are reported medium to heavy across the country. Pri- vate parties appeared as popular as ever in Toronto, Ottawa and Montreal.

In Alberta a night on the town appeared more attractive under the new liquor law permitting the sale of liquor by the drink.

For the man with little money to spend and no invitation to a pa rty, unlicensed community halls and dance halls across the country offer music and sand- wiches for as low as $6 a couple. Many celebrants probably will smuggle in their liquor.

And there is always the mid- night movie, offering a night out with hand - squeezing for 32 a couple.

PERSONAL WOES LED TO SHOOTING RAMPAGE, 4 DEAD

Man Kills Three, Takes Own Life

GUELPH (CP)—Police say bil- lowing over family conflicts and the deaths of loved ones sent a 37-year-old former lumberman on a shooting rampage Saturday night that killed four people in- cluding himself.

Constable Roy Roberts of the provincial police said Sunday night that Harold Reynolds shot and killed his adoptive sister, Mrs. Maude Gritsch, 66, with a 38-calibre pistol, then climbed into his landlord's car and drove the 25 miles from his Greensville home to Guelph where he shot and killed Alexander Murdock, 51, and the latter's wife, Mary, 53, in their home. Mrs. McQuinn was Reynolds' cousin.

A short time later, policemen including Reynolds' ex - friend at Hamilton a half-hour later, spotted and gave chase to the shooter. They stopped, got out and approached his vehicle with drawn guns.

FATALLY WOUNDED

Reynolds was slumped in the front seat, blood oozing from a bullet wound under his right ear. He died in St. Joseph's Hospital at Hamilton a half-hour later, without ever having regained con- sciousness.

Reynold's wife, Susan, 50, and their 16-year-old foster daughter, Dawn, were sleeping in the Greensville home when the Green- ville house owned by Mrs. Ida Wintemute, 73, Reynolds' aunt by marriage, Mrs. Wintemute and Jim Nelles, 60, a roomer, were killed by fire at the same time of the shooting.

Police said tragedy through the episode and Reynolds had given his wife sleeping pills earlier in the evening. Guelph police also tried to grab the gun from her husband when he picked it up but her arms wouldn't move.

Mr. Nelles was forced to flee the house at gunpoint when he tried to stop Reynolds going into Mrs. Gritsch's room.

Const. Burkett said Reynolds had been distressed since the death of his son in a lumber ac- cident a few years ago and that his wife died later in a car mishap two years ago.

Reynolds left four notes in the house at Greensville 25 miles south of here. They recounted, in part, Reynolds' bitterness. One addressed to police said: "This is the end. I hope the rope I used was for there most certainly is none under God's heaven and earth called democracy with the phoney Bible- packing hypocrites.

Another, addressed to his wife, said: "I'm going to settle this once and for all."

Mrs. Grisch was felled by bul- lets in the chest and head.

A hairdresser in Guelph, Mr. and Mrs. McQuinn were en- tertaining two friends, Mrs. Caroline Addition of Hamilton and Lorne Gibson of Alberton.

McQuinn left the room to an- swer a knock at the kitchen door. Reynolds then said to his wife: "Harold Reynolds is here."

HEARD SEVERAL SHOTS

Mrs. McQuinn, who answered to the kitchen, Moments later, the guests told police, there were several shots.

Frosted Canals Give Dramatic Flourish to Shipping Finale

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A fast freeze and clogged can- als gave a dramatic flourish to the 1958 finale for shipping along the 1,000-mile St. Lawrence River route.

Ice struck the old Lachine and Soulanges canals late in Novem- ber, tightened its grip in Decem- ber and almost caught 34 foreign freighters in a wintery prison.

Then the ice threat shifted to the St. Lawrence River itself, jamming the deep-sea shipping channel. It occurs every year but ships were still trapped in Mont- real harbor, waiting for ice-crack- ers to cut a path through the ice jams.

A bright spot was next year's opening of the streamlined St. Lawrence Seaway, a $475,000,000 system of seven locks and four canals that will replace the old shallow canals.

Montreal port manager Guy Beaudet said the seaway will al- ways remain a main shipping terminal, even if the seaway does re- ceive foreign traffic directly into the Great Lakes.

Maritime harbors got an extra bit of business when some ships cancelled plans to sail into the St. Lawrence because of the ice danger. Vancouver, noting an im- proved market for charter ships, saw a brighter outlook ahead.

Montreal, one of the world's greatest inland ports, reported an eight-per-cent increase in total cargo tonnage—16,490,000 tons in 1958 from 15,242,000 tons in 1957. Almost 6,000 ships—2,616 of them ocean-going — called during the shipping season from March 30 to Dec. 8, an increase of 10 per cent over the 1957 figure.

Grain shipments increased 42 per cent, largely due to greater movement of United States grain. Passenger traffic dropped, fall- ing 220,840 persons to 1957's 219,784 in 1958.

Mr. Beaudet reported that coal shipments, car imports and steel imports increased in 1958. But oil, pulpwood, scrap iron and pig- iron fell off.

As 1958 drew to a close, Mont- real looked with some disquiet and some eagerness to the open- ing of the seaway.

"Shippers will soon find that the St. Lawrence Seaway is a

New Call Goes Out to Watch For Missing British Balloon

LONDON (AP) — A new call has gone out for South Atlantic ships to watch for signs of the fate of the British balloon trying to span the Atlantic. Anxiety mounted Sunday night that a report that it had come down in the sea could soon be on the way.

The London Daily Mail, sponsor of the 2,000-mile trip, requested Lloyd's to put out the radio mes- sage after the word from Car- casse.

Lloyd's broadcast a similar message a week ago but early Sat- noon, trying to float from the Ca- nary Islands to Barbados, in the West Indies, was not sighted. It was last heard from Dec. 17.

The 46-foot balloon, named the Small World, is carrying three men and a small British, British Small World, is carrying three men and a small gondola-boat suspend- ed beneath.

An unexpected landing on the At- lantic coast of Venezuela was re- ported Sunday by the chief of a radio amateur, Venezuelan offici- als labelled it a hoax after a jungle two-day search of the jungle swampland at the mouth of the Orinoco River failed to find the Small World was reported down by Venezuelan began a search for the hoaxer.

Although the lack of radio mes- sages has raised fears for the safety of the Small World's crew, Mrs. Vera Simone, wife of pilot Commander Malenkov, said she is not overly concerned.

It left the Canary Islands, off Morocco, Dec. 12. The trip was expected to take from two to three weeks, but the quartet car- ried food for three months.

Weather experts, however, be- lieve a storm may have forced the Small World down in the At- lantic.

Peter Eistob, a co-director of the project, said in New York the balloon's boat-gondola was sea- worthy, and that it and the crew had undergone tough sea tests.

"They're down. I'm not sor- ried," Elstob said, adding he thinks boat and crew will show up in some West Indies port.

The crew is headed by Pilot A. B. Elliott, Slovak-ed London business man. His son Timothy, 21, is radio operator, Colin Modie, 22, is navigator, and Alan Wil- son Rosemary, 30, is co-pilot.

Think Malenkov May Face Trial

LONDON (AP) — Diplomatic observers suggested today that Soviet Premier Khrushchev feels that Soviet ex-premier Georgi Malenkov will be put on trial for treason.

A call for action against him, they said, may be issued at next month's congress of the Soviet Communist party.

Malenkov has been the target of increasingly bitter attacks as a member of the anti-party group of Communists banished from their posts by Communist chief- tain Nikita Khrushchev.

CLIMAX IN CUBA'S CIVIL CONFLICT APPEARS NEAR

Castro's Rebels Hit At Important Posts

HAVANA (AP)—A climax in Cuba's civil war today appeared to be drawing near. Fidel Cas- tro's rebels smashed at govern- ment forces in eastern Cuba and President Batista's army waged a fierce offensive against insur- gents in the central part of the Island.

In Oriente province, at the eastern end of the island, the rebel radio said four of Castro's columns were converging on Oriente's capital, Santiago de Cuba, after hitting army forces elsewhere with their heaviest blows.

The rebels said their goal was to set up an insurgent govern- ment in Oriente shortly.

REMAINS SANTA CLARA

In the central province of Las Villas, Batista's forces apparently had started a large-scale offen- sive to counter a string of rebel victories which threatened the provincial capital at Santa Clara.

The government G-2 said the heavy artillery, tanks and troop- ers again Castro forces in Las Villas.

The rebels reported govern- ment planes bombed Santa Clara and the rebel-held town of Jubino- nico, in Camaguey province near Las Villas. Rebel broadcasts be- lieves Las Villas and Ori- ente.

Other reports said Batista's planes and artillery heavily bombed areas in the mountain con- centrations around Santa Clara. One said the government's big offensive appeared to be to remove a rebel threat to the main road and railway between Las Villas and Oriente.

Despite rebel attempts to have populated places declared open cities, the government warned that it would make all - out counter-attacks on towns held or covered by the rebels.

CITIES BOMBED, STRAFED

(A rebel exile organization in Miami said the planes bombed and strafed cities although the rebels have never declared them captured outside the cities.)

In New York another group of exiles announced a broad- cast an accusation that the Dom- inican Republic is "preparing an attack on Cuba" and 30 warplanes with Cuban markings are "ready to fly in order to begin a general invasion of the island."

The exiles said the purpose of the attack is to "provoke the inter- vention of the Organization of American States or some inter-

Says Revolt In Red China Is Spreading

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—The official Nationalist Chinese news agency reports an anti-Communist revolt which broke out in the Tibetan province of Kweichow is spreading over a wide area.

The Peiping regime, super- sated by the judicial Yuan (coun- cil), claimed the report was part of the fraud Hitler used to set off the Reichstag fire.

The Yuan said the revolt broke out about two weeks ago. It said the uprising started when Communist officials and that Communist mil- itiamen and civilians had banded together to fight Communist troops.

Strong Demand Develops For British Bonds

Pound Stands up Well After Currencies Freed

LONDON (AP) — A strong world-wide demand for British government securities developed today after weekend announce- ments by 11 West European coun- tries that foreigners holding their currencies may convert them into any kind of money.

Government leaders generally predicted that the liberalizing of foreign exchange restrictions will encourage wider trade.

Investors grasped their first op- portunity, on the opening of the London Stock Exchange, to demo- nstrate confidence in the state's securities. The freer pound, now convertible into dollars at official rates by all foreigners, stood up well to other currencies.

It sagged a little in the first hours of trading, but rallied and reported strongly at home and started going forward.

One spectacular feature of early deals was the lively demand for government securities, which in a matter of minutes were hoisted by as much as eight shillings, sixpence (£1.2).

Freer convertibility of the ma- jor European currencies seemed to be off to a promising start, but the effect on prices of French products abroad but raising them and the prices of imports for the French.

Partial convertibility of the franc, allowing foreigners to dip into France's small stock of gold and dollar exchange without con- vertible liberalization of the for- mers wanting to buy, travel or in- vest in France.

A budget of nearly $15,000,000,- 000 francs, more than $2,000,000,000 from last year.

A variety of tax increases and cuts in subsidies the government has been paying to producers to keep prices of many things down. The government estimates this will keep the budget deficit to about $1,100,000,000, some $200,- 000,000 less than it was last year. But the loss of subsidies will send prices on those items up.

Costly New York Paper Strike Is Settled

NEW YORK (AP)—The costli- est newspaper strike in New York City's history is over.

Deliverers went back to work early today with a new two-year contract. It gave them a $5.30-a- week wage increase and benefits. They ratified it Sunday by a 4-to-1 margin to end the 20-day walkout. The strike cost newspapers an estimated at $50,000,000.

All but one of the newspapers published. Editions began blitzing the streets of this news-starved city as soon as the contract was signed.

The first issue, the first since Dec. 11, when the nine major daily newspapers shut down, appeared.

The five afternoon papers re- sumed normal schedules.

SELL 400 THOUSAND DAILY

Hundreds of news stand dealers stacked up piles of papers for the 8,000,000 New Yorkers who usu- ally purchase 5,500,000 copies daily.

The deliverers voted 2,691 to 507 to accept the new contract. It gives them $5.30-a-week wage increase and benefits.

The contract gave the deliver- ers a 55 per cent boost in their pay hour and $1.75 the second. Bene- fits included Columbus Day off as a ninth paid holiday and three days of sick leave annually, to start in 1960. Unused sick leave will be paid in wages at the new scale.

The deliverers also won a re- duction to 50 from 53 pounds in the weight of bundles they handle.

The basic pre-strike wage was $103.82 a week.

French People Face Hard Task Cleaning House

By HARVEY HUDSON

PARIS (AP) — France today started cutting away a house-cleaning of her economy.

It was bad news for most French people, but Premier de Gaulle said it was the only way to get out of a dangerous situa- tion.

In a nationwide radio and tele- vision address Sunday night de Gaulle presented only the melan- choly picture. The details of the new austerity will be in the official Journal, which prints all government regulations, in the next few days.

HOUSE CLEANING GO UP

These were the major hardship measures announced by the pre- mier:

Devaluation of the franc by 17.5 per cent, cutting prices of French products abroad but raising them and the prices of imports for the French.

Partial convertibility of the franc, allowing foreigners to dip into France's small stock of gold and dollar exchange without con- vertible liberalization of the for- mers wanting to buy, travel or in- vest in France.

A budget of nearly $15,000,000,- 000 francs, more than $2,000,000,000 from last year.

A variety of tax increases and cuts in subsidies the government has been paying to producers to keep prices of many things down. The government estimates this will keep the budget deficit to about $1,100,000,000, some $200,- 000,000 less than it was last year. But the loss of subsidies will send prices on those items up.

Cost of Living Index Rises

OTTAWA (CP) — The cost of living index rose 0.2 per cent to 123.9 between Nov. 1 and Dec. 1, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported today.

Increases in the food, clothing and household operation indexes were responsible for the rise.

Food prices were up 0.4 per cent to 118.9 from 118.5 in the month. Clothing was up 0.3 per cent to 110.2 from 109.9 and household operation was up 0.2 per cent to 123.2 from 122.9.

Shelter was unchanged at 140.2 and other commodities and services remained at 126.2.

Compared with a year ago, the index was down 0.2 per cent from 124.1.

Yale Pathologist Discovers Drug Which Reverses Pregnancy in Dogs

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—A Successful use of a simple drug which reverses pregnancy in dogs was reported today by a Yale pathologist.

The drug, known as Maliuclidin, does not cause abortion," said Dr. Leon Whitney, head of the uni- versity's medical school staff.

Which injected, the drug causes the unfertilized egg to shrink or shrob, or incorporate, the embryo into her blood stream, explained Dr. Whitney.

He described the results of his studies in the current issue of Veterinary Medicine Magazine.

He said the drug was used on many bitches between the 20th and 42nd day of pregnancy "and was pregnant in all cases." The gestation period of a bitch is 61 days.

In an interview, Dr. Whitney said "from a practical stand- point, when the drug is injectible and which is made available to the veterinary profession, it should be a boon in the elimination of unwanted puppies.

"Beyond that," he said, "based on Dr. Leon Leon's work in our knowledge, I should not want to go."

Dr. Whitney said that the drug caused a drop in blood pressure which lasted several hours. He said:

"Research and advice from medical pathologists developed the fact that by giving a small dose initially, followed in five minutes by the full dose, the bitch showed no signs of illness or loss of appetite."

He said "How Maliuclidin ac- complishes its result, and how the embryo is absorbed into the blood stream, is still more or less a mystery."

PET CAT FOUND IN CLOTHES CLOSET, WENT THROUGH FIRE

Reported missing following Friday morning's fire which swept through the Alar Sprague building at the corner of Front and Bay Sts., Mr. and Mrs. McAdamsy Street, is the pet cat owned by Mr. and Mrs. Karl Starr, third floor apartment dwellers, has turned up with all of its nine lives intact.

The cat was found in a clothes closet in the fire ruined Starr apartment as searchers penetrated clearing out the damaged building. The pet was a bit dopey from smoke but otherwise seemed okay.

DRIVER REWARDED FOR HONESTY

The honesty of a taxi driver has been attested to by a local resident today. A woman, who does not wish her name used, called the Central Taxi and after being delivered to her destination, discovered that she had thought was a $2 bill for a fare of $1.70. A short time later she discovered that instead of a $2 bill she had given the driver a $50 bill and all was well as a short later when the money was returned. The driver was rewarded.

AIRMAN DELIVERS SON AT HOME

As it is the annual custom of the R.C.A.F. Women's Auxiliary to present a silver mug to the baby born on or after Christmas or New Year's day in Trenton or Belleville to an R.C.A.F. member, the honor this year went to baby Jr. Jackson, who arrived at 1 Highland at 4:45 A.M. Christmas day. LAC Jackson, who is an orderly at the R.C.A.F. station hospital, delivered his son, baby and mother were then taken to Belleville Hospital where both mother and son are doing well. Ian is the second child.

Two Breakins Net Only $35 For Burglars

Two breakins were reported by city police over the weekend, one in which intruders got nothing for their trouble and the other where about $35 was taken from the safe.

At Dunrek Bros. Ltd. on Station Street, entry was gained by smashing a window. The office safe was then attacked with sledges and forced open. Only petty cash and stamps were in the safe, the thieves taking only the bills and leaving the silver and stamps.

The General Electric warehouse on Harriet Street was the scene of the other breakin. Here entry was also achieved by breaking a window but police said nothing was missing.

Ambulance Hits Woman Breaking Leg and Hip

Struck by an ambulance speeding responding to an auto accident to the hospital, Mrs. Rita Cowan, 1 Forin Street, suffered a double fracture of the right leg and hip while walking across Victoria Ave. at William Street Saturday evening.

Mrs. Cowan was crossing the street from the north side when she was struck by the Thompson ambulance driven by David Bruce Thompson which, while taking victims of a head-on collision at Rossi Corners, north of the city, to the hospital.

Witnesses were reported as saying Mrs. Cowan was knocked 30 feet by the impact.

The accident is still under investigation by Police Inspector J. Clair Hayes.

Recent Witness In Investigation Killed in Home

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—A recent witness in a California gambling investigation was murdered in his apartment Sunday by a husky gunman accompanied by a knife-wielding blonde, detectives reported.

The body of Tony (Papa Tony) Mirabile, 64, was found slumped in a chair in his bedroom. He had been shot three times — once through the heart at a range so close that powder burns were left on his bathrobe.

Last October the wealthy former nightclub owner was accused before a state Senate rackets subcommittee of being a kingpin in local underworld activities.

The Royal Canadian Air Force passed on the threshold of a new era today to review a year highlighted by the introduction of new weapons (proposed and in service) to the air defence system which guards the North American continent. Pictures here provide a glimpse of the equipment in action. At lower right, an "unknown" is "picked off" on a scope at the SAGE control centre. Within minutes, hundreds of miles away (lower left), CF-100 interceptors reach for the sky over the radar domes which will control their flight to the target. Fires Continue To Plague City Over Weekend

Fires continued to plague the city, over the weekend with city firemen being called out on two alms since Friday morning when a $400,000 blaze struck in the downtown area.

Saturday evening the reels were called to the apartment of John Kingsman over Black's Wholesale where a chesterfield was burned and the floor of the living room damaged.

No one was in the home when the fire was spotted shortly before 7 o'clock.

This morning the reels were called to Hillcrest where the small frame house of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Scribner on University Ave. caught fire in the attic from a defective chimney. Damage to the house from the attic fire and from smoke and water was estimated by Fire Chief Gerald Vance to be in the neighborhood of $600.

Water is still being poured into the ruins of the Lamp Text Ltd. building on Front Street where fire in the debris still remains from Friday morning's blaze which destroyed the Diana Grill, James Cafe and badly damaged the Alan Sprague building at the corner of Front and McAnnany Streets.

Reports are that at three owners will re-build. Workmen today commenced clearing operations on the Alan Sprague building. Although the owner is still undecided about building, Virgil James, owner of James Texts, and Peter Wills, owner of the Diana Restaurant, are reported to be planning rebuilding as soon as possible.

Political Rally In Mexico Broken Up, 45 Injured

TIJUANA, Mexico (AP)—More than 1,000 crowded for 2½ hours in this border city Saturday when authorities broke up a political rally.

At least 45 persons were injured by gunfire from the 231 H. Alvarez, defeated presidential candidate in Mexico's last election, inhaled tear gas but did not require hospital treatment.

The rioting started after 500 persons gathered in front of the office of the National Action party, to hear a talk by Alvarez, in defiance of Mayor Manuel Quiroz Martinez that political meetings had been banned.

Police and troops fought to break up the meeting with tear gas, fire hoses and pistol shots fired into the air. The crowd threw stones and sticks in a barricade that raged along a four-block area.

Authorities arrested 16 persons.

Trade Minister Churchill Expects Greater Consumer Spending to Help Economy

OTTAWA (CP)—Trade Minister Churchill predicts moderately good times for Canadians with the expectation that greater consumer spending will deliver the biggest "punch" for marketing of more goods.

He indicated in his year-end statement Sunday that recovery likely will be slow and steady rather than "of boom proportions." New investment in the capital expansion of the country is estimated to decline for the second consecutive year.

Looking over world fronts, Mr. Churchill said he saw "many signs of a renewed economic growth in the free world" after a two-year recession in which the most pronounced decline showed up in the United States, Canada's best market.

"As a major supplier to the U.S. and other manufacturing countries, Canada could not escape the adverse effects of this world - wide decline in production."

STRONG ECONOMY

But Mr. Churchill was surprised at the extent of Canadian economic strength, considering the "severity" of the recession's impact.

"Despite Canada's sensitivity to world market influences, the extent of contraction in the Canadian economy was of much smaller dimensions than that in the U.S."

The gross national product-value of all goods and services produced—was estimated to exceed $32,000,000,000 for 1958, up two per cent from 1957. The rise was entirely in prices; volume of production was unchanged.

Employment "held up well." While the number of jobless also increased, the percentage rise was "narrowly limited," he examine.

At home, the pace of economic expansion eased slightly with total capital investment estimated to have dropped slightly below the record $8,700,000,000 of 1957. Nevertheless there were some dramatic achievements, such as construction dates on new homes totalling almost 160,000, a rise of 30 per cent from 1957.

Mortgage rates remained fairly steady while lower taxes and a big government payment, such as increased old age pensions, boosted total income in the hands of consumers.

"While spending more, Canadians have also been saving more," Mr. Churchill said. "Personal savings increased from seven per cent in 1957 to about nine per cent in the current year, one of the highest ratios on record for a peace-time year."

RECOVERY NOTED

Summing up, he found most industries that had suffered the greatest decline had improved by the year-end. The rise was moderate but there was "strong indication of a further expansion in consumer demand."

In the months ahead "this underlying improvement will be aided by the customary winter slowdown in outside operations, accompanied by a relatively small level of unemployment."

The strength of the Canadian economy would depend on world conditions, particularly in the U.S. It was "unlikely" there would be a recurrence of the recession of the past year.

Cyrus Eaton Accuses Dulles Of Bungling Foreign Policy

SEIGNIORY CLUB, Que. (CP) — United States industrial czar Cyrus Eaton received him Sunday with greetings from Russia's Nikita Khrushchev and warned against "dangerous" world tensions.

The Canadian-born head of a $2,000,000,000 industrial empire observed his birthday Saturday by launching a new plea for western tolerance and understanding of Russia in the interests of world peace.

And he blamed his adopted United States—more specifically its politicians—for most of the animosity existing between Russia and West.

The veteran crusader for world peace—in a birthday talk with reporters, had blame for Canada, too, for not doing its "duty" by giving diplomatic recognition to Red China.

He said Canada should recognize Red China "instantly," a move which he suggested could force the United States to follow suit. He criticized the leadership of U. S. Secretary of State Dulles, whom he has frequently accused of bungling U.S. foreign policy and endangering peace.

GIFT TO WORLD

Mr. Eaton's birthday would be "the greatest New Year present that could come to the world" if he said the outspoken Mr. Eaton, who left his native Pugwash, N.S., as a penniless boy at 17, is an old war and isn foe of peace. Fortunes estimated up to $200,000,000.

"Dulles is so opposed to Communism that he is willing to risk the whole fate of civilization in all-out war," he said. "Khrushchev has been described as the only literally American defender of Russia and as the suspect list of the FBI.

Mr. Eaton, who visited Russia in September—and met its powerful Premier Khrushchev—said the Russian government can be trusted and he believes Khrushchev when he says he does not want war.

He said he explored the idea of Khrushchev visiting the United States and Canada on a goodwill trip—but would like to do so but would need invitations from President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

Mr. Eaton received birthday greetings was a cable from Khrushchev wishing "success in your activities for the benefit of peace and friendship between our countries."

Mr. Eaton talked with Canadian and U.S. reporters after morning ski run over the rolling hills of this Quebec province resort from Ottawa.

Discussing Canada's future, Mr. Eaton said its great resources will make it more investment capital and "I don't care where it comes from."

Did he have any fear of U.S. capital dominating the Canadian economy?

"Not the slightest," replied Mr. Eaton, whose own enterprises in Canada include heavy investments in Sleep Rock and in the Ungava development of northern Quebec.

For the future, he believed Canada's greatest opportunities lay in the "trade."

"Canada," he said "has got to push its area away into the North. There's no use staying on the American fringe."

55 Persons Die From Accidents During Holiday

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

At least 55 persons died during the four-day Christmas holiday as of them in traffic accidents, a Canadian Press survey showed today.

The survey began at noon, local time, Wednesday and extended to midnight Sunday. Late-arriving reports may boost the death toll higher.

Fifty-three Canadians perished in various ways during the 1957 Christmas period, shorter than this year.

In addition to the 39 traffic fatalities this year, there were three deaths by drowning—two of them young brothers in Ontario; five in fires and eight due to unclassified causes, including that of a man in the crash of a light plane in Labrador.

This was the picture by provinces: Ontario 20 (20); Quebec 11 (7); British Columbia 9(6). Alberta 3 (2), Saskatchewan 1 (1), Manitoba 7 (7), Ontario 20 (10), Quebec 10 (8), New Brunswick 1 (3), Nova Scotia 3 (3), Newfoundland 1 (0).

40 PREDICTED

The Canadian Highway Safety Council had predicted 40 highway deaths from 4 p.m. Wednesday until midnight Tuesday, one more than the last available figure.

Of the 1957 total, 38 met death in traffic accidents.

Fatalities included:

Raymond Morris, 42, of Toronto, killed Wednesday when a car he was driving careened earlier in the day when he fell three storey from a apartment building window.

Michael Riel, 34, of Doulin, Manitoba, killed Wednesday when his car in a fire which destroyed his home, 20 miles north of Sault Ste. Marie.

Mrs. Violet May Burwash, 52, of Belleville was killed in a two-car collision near London Wednesday night.

William Alex Foster, 20, and Arthur Culloden, 20, both Belleville, drowned Thursday after their car smashed into a tree on Highway 37 near Belleville.

BURNED TO DEATH

Mrs. Bella Randisi of Fort Erie was burned to death in an apartment fire Wednesday.

Steve Demark, 50, of Toronto died Thursday after falling from a ladder as he hung curtains in a rooming house Christmas Eve.

James Clayton, 20, of Westport, 30 miles south of Smith Falls, died Christmas Day in a two-car collision Christmas Eve on Highway 15 near Westport.

Mrs. Margaret Griffin, 25, of Oshawa was killed, Thursday when her car overturned in the side of a CPR daylinor near Oshawa.

Kimberly Xorolewicz, 72, of Port Arthur died early Christmas Day in a fire which destroyed a home of friends home.

Louis Pelo, 27, of Toronto was killed Friday night in an auto collision near Odessa, about 10 miles west of Kingston.

Harry MacLachlan, 32, of Hamilton died Thursday night in a two-car collision in an auto accident there Wednesday.

George D. Beck, 45, of Burlington was killed Saturday when his car plunged into a ditch on Highway 25.

GIRL KILLED

Carol Stevens, 18, of Tupperville was killed Saturday night in a two-car collision near Dresden. Five other persons were injured, two were in serious condition. Russell London, 19, of Dresden in fair condition and Gerald Davis, 5, with head injuries, was in serious injured in the two-car second car, containing Mr. and Mrs. George Davis and family.

The body of the unidentified elderly man was found Sunday in Lake Ontario opposite the Canadian National Exhibition grandstand in Toronto. Police said death was due to drowning.

Ryerson Seache, 47, of Rama Indian Reserve died in hospital Thursday night after he was accidentally shot Wednesday in a Fawn Bay home.

Lee Lakin, 16, of Burlington died in hospital Sunday of a head wound suffered Saturday when a hunting companion's rifle discharged accidentally. Police said Lakin and his brother Dean, 14, were crawling through a fence on a farm when their companion, Robert Nobes, 18, tripped as he walked behind them. The .22 rifle in Nobes's hand discharged, sending a bullet into the left side of Lakin's head.

Mrs. Ann Kowalsky, 9, and his 11-year-old brother James drowned Sunday in Lake Erie about three miles west of Cedar Springs.

Donald Murray, 33, of Galt died Saturday of injuries received in a two-car collision near Brantford Christmas Eve.

Monetary Shackles Freed By New Convertibility

By FORBES REUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Canadians have given the word "convertibility" such a wide meaning in recent years that it has come confusion to the understanding week - end developments in British and European.

As used in representations from Canadian trade circles—particularly to Britain — the word had had both a monetary and a trade meaning. In finance, the word "convertibility of currencies and removal of trade restrictions" which discriminate against goods from the dollar area."

And removal of trade restrictions" was the principal part of the plan.

The convertibility announced Saturday is a monetary one. Year by year it can convert one currency into another to the extent that the reciprocal allows.

It has little to do with trade restrictions, except that the greater ease and increased hope for relaxation of discrimination that it should bring.

Britain's announcement is of most immediate interest to Canada.

NO ACTUAL CHANGE

Actually, however, so far as Canada is concerned, pounds earned in selling to Britain have been convertible for years.

But restrictions on the import of Canadian goods and the limited amount of pounds that could be earned. One wasn't balanced by the other and neither Britain figured she could afford to convert into dollars.

Britain's action doesn't change this situation. But it follows the program of Western European countries announced at Montreal in September and announced September 29 to proceed with further relaxations as they become possible.

The current development indicates that Britain considers its economic strength — first asserted with confidence at Montreal—continues to grow.

Outside the trade area, the announcement means that holders of Canadians may get an immediate if somewhat restricted benefit.

These are Canadians who have acquired sterling in some manner other than through earnings—such as by bequest.

For the past post-war years a considerable sum of such unconvertible sterling accumulated in Canada.

Later, as Britain relaxed her restrictions, it became possible to transfer such sums to Europe and convert them into dollars at a slight discount from the official sterling rate.

Presumably, such sterling may be converted more quickly and at the official rate.

TRADE-PART DIVISION

Britain, before Saturday's announcement, divided the world into three sterling divisions.

One was the sterling area. Here are Britain and its colonies. Here are were and continue to be subject to British restrictions in regard to sending their money outside the area. The new convertibility does not apply to them.

Another part was the "transferable" area. This consisted of countries outside the sterling and dollar areas. These could convert their sterling into another's currencies, but not into dollars. Trade between them was limited.

The third division was in the dollar area. It earned with approved exports, was convertible into dollars. This situation remains substantially unchanged.

To say what Saturday's announcement don't do is not to underestimate what they do.

ENTHUSIASTIC REACTION

Western world reaction is almost unanimously enthusiastic and is expressed in the words of Per Jacobsen, managing director of the International Monetary Fund.

"It is an outward and visible sign of the homeback of Europe world affairs."

Or, as a Canadian banker commented:

"It restores sterling to its basic

Drop in River Level Reduces Property Menace

MONTREAL (CP) — As mild temperatures persisted, the St. Lawrence River level along the harbor front dropped about five feet during the night to lessen the threat of flooding to low-lying commercial areas on the south mainland opposite Montreal Island.

Two ice jams, one stretching 20 miles downstream from the eastern tip of Montreal Island, had caused the water level to rise by as much as five feet overnight by noon Sunday.

The river began dropping steadily about 8 a.m. Sunday and receded to a level of 32 feet, six inches above the harbor datum. Harbor officials hoped it would continue to recede as long as the mild weather—about 30 degrees above zero—continued. Normal level is 27 feet.

Meanwhile 13 ocean ships trapped in the harbor by the two jams—the other blockade is at Laronaie, Que., miles downstream—awaited patiently for icebreakers to break a path for them.

It appears that most if not all will still be here for New Year's, plain and rising temperatures Saturday put a sudden end to hopes that there was a way of getting the ships out of port before then.

The icebreakers N.B. Mclean and Ernest Lapointe, after cutting a channel upstream, were nearing Montreal East when the first jam broke and dispersed.

Heavy ice broke from the sides of their channel and navigation authorities sent the breakers back to clean up the corridor.

Both the McLean and the Lapointe were expected to be working near Sorel again today along with Canada's largest breaker, the

A fourth icebreaker, the Labrador, suffered slight damage to her engines at Quebec City during the weekend and entered drydock for repairs.

The icebreakers, by keeping their moving, are playing a major role in preventing the river from spilling over its banks and flooding Montreal area communities.

THE WORD

We notice that there seems to be a great evangelical trait amongst those human beings who may claim the advantages of a western democratic civilization for their educational environment. The Christians crusaded against the "heathen" in the Middle Ages; the British brought "civilization" to many natives around the globe; the Americans "westernized" mediaeval Japan; and some odd souls tried to "reform" the living habits of North Americans during the late twenties of this century. It appears to us that only too often these great campaigns against "sin," "heathens," "ignorant countries," and the like by the defenders or propagators of "the true faith," "right," "good," and "civilization" only too often backfire completely or slowly fizzle to nothingness, with nothing left but bitterness on the part of those who were supposed to be "saved" or "slain."

We do not suggest that the desire to correct wrongs and do good be stifled but we suggest that those who participate in action take a very good look inside themselves and carefully examine their feelings and basic attitudes towards the people or the condition which they wish to aid or alleviate. The other day we were talking with a former lieutenant-colonel of a Hussar regiment who was stationed in British India. He came up with a statement which we pass on as being the crux of our general failure in achieving the great ends for which our good intentions have been mustered on so many occasions.

With this word foremost in our minds, our way of life, our attitude towards others, we can achieve nearly everything to which we put our minds and our good intentions. Without this word and the acceptance of all its meaning and implications we shall inevitably fail.

Without it our very civilization is either helpless or futile. Our retired Hussar officer friend attributed the failure of the British to advance the general way of life of the Indians during the past two centuries to the fact that the British had lots of everything except for one word, one attitude.

The word? Understanding.

THE DISENCHANTED

The other day we took a close look at a rather nice, smart looking machine which is affixed to the wall just outside the linotype and composing room of this publication's plant.' It was a very neat and efficient looking grey colored box with an electric clock gracing its face. On closer examination we found this time clock, a most highly efficient and punctual punching mechanism if ever there was one, was made in Trinidad, British West Indies. Somehow the snow and wind outside seemed just a shade less bearable. After all, we could always think of those tropical islands where the balmy breezes blow and the moonlight glistens off the rippling deep blue tropical lagoon and the palms wave gently overhead and the native calypso reaches you whenever winter's angry forces plunge us into the midst of freezing, dreary and uninspired weather.

Now, however, all that is gone. Whenever we think of those tropical isles in the Caribbean we shall think of the manufactury of time clocks. And so we join the ranks of the disenchanted.

MODERN SAMARITAN FACES A PROBLEM

Two men from Gaspe, Quebec, suffered cuts and bruises when their car left the road near Parry Sound and plunged 50 feet into a ravine. They climbed back to the road, but all but one of the four cars on the busiest stretch of highway disregarded their signals. One car did stop. The driver, however, said he could not give the injured men a lift. He did not want the upholstery of his new car stained with blood.

Life was simpler 2,000 years ago. The Good Samaritan had no new car.

It appears only a matter of time before horses vanish completely from the pulpwood operations in northwestern Ontario. Most pulp and paper companies operating in the region have drastically reduced the number of horses, and now comes a report from the Ontario Paper Co.'s woodlands department at Heron Bay that this year, for the first time in its history, there were no horses used in the logging operations. Dobbin, once an integral part in the movement of the pulpwood harvest, is today almost completely replaced by mechanical equipment.—Bush News.

JUST FOLKS

YOURSELF

Over-confidence is bad,
But the lack of it is sad.
There's more danger in yourself than in your foe.
For the work you have to do
First you have to harness
He's the drawback that you've really got to know.
You may dread and be afraid
Of the men in glittering braid;
You may fear the men who've won their fight for peace;
But you're beaten from the start
Unless you'll play the loser's part
If forever you are frightened at yourself.

You should know that you possess
All that's needful for success.
You should feel within yourself that you are strong,
And that God has given you
Power to do as others do;
That you know as well as any right from wrong.
It is well to guard your speech
When the men of wisdom teach;
If you don't you'll quickly be

'New World' Is Very Old

Montreal Gazette

The New World is becoming somewhat older, in scientific circles at least. Two finds, recently announced, prove Eskimo culture to be more than 600 B.C., and the remains of animal population 150 million years ago.

Digging on the island of Sugluk, near one of the most northern points in Quebec province, illustrated an Eskimo culture almost 2,000 years older than any previously known, it is suggested.

The "Dorset culture," primarily Eskimo rather than Indian, is well founded in the discoveries made by Archeologist Bill Taylor of the National Museum. Mrs. Taylor and Miss Gill Student Charles Martijn.

The items brought back to Ottawa included ivory carvings of swan, rock cod and gulls, harpoon heads, flint cutters, chipped stone, pots, bone and ivory. They include one set of 13 tiny ivory face mask predates the Norse, considered 2,300 years old.

William P. Yake, a staff geologist with the Geological Survey of Canada, has reported finding fossils of dinosaurs and phytosaurs dating back to the Triassic Age buried in the Rocky Ridge area of Kings County. The site is being kept secret until the fossils have been dug up and evaluated; they are in a "critical state" and require careful handling.

The Taylor group has no need for such protective secrecy. The average tourist is not likely to disturb them in the Arctic, even though they are they have only unearthed about five percent of the material available at the site.

Both sites will seem to have very little bearing on the problems of everyday—life. But they have already shown how the east and west coasts of this continent were linked in very ancient eruption, how the Great Plains were once a giant inland sea.

They enable man better to understand the world in which he lives, which is the heritage of the world in which he once lived.

CHRISTMAS: 1859 STYLE

The Christmas season has always been a time of celebration in Ye Quinte district.

With the possible exception of 1762 (when the early settlers experienced a famine, and many were reduced to eating buds of trees, grass, and the inner bark of weeds) the coming of Christmas has been eagerly anticipated.

Canuff Haight, author of "Country Life in Canada Fifty Years Ago" describes the preparations for Christmas about 1859. "Weeks before the day boys in the Quinte district"

"Were busy with Christmas there was always one or two beef cattle to be killed, and the fat cattle slaughtered with the turkeys, geese and ducks, which had been getting extra feed for distribution. After home wants were provided for, the rest were sent to market".

Since cook stoves had not yet appeared, the baking of meat and poultry for Christmas were accomplished in reflex, or were suspended before the fire by a cord and wire attached to the ceiling beam.

The Christmas table of the well-to-do family would include of "turkey, beef and ham, bread and the favorite short cake, mince pies in endless variety, pies, preserves, sauces, tea, coffee, cider, and what else."

The giving of Christmas presents does not seem to have been as prevalent as it is today. The home amusements for the Christmas season in the 1830's were very limited. "Music was uncultivated, and indeed almost unknown. There were no musical instruments, unless now and then a wandering fiddler happened to come along to delight both old and young with his crazy instrument."

"Visiting for the older folks and sleighriding for the younger were the principal amusements of the season."

Haight recalled that among the pleasant memories of his youth were some of his fellows "on a moonlight night, when the sleighing was good, and when the sleighs, with robes and rugs, was packed with a merry load of girls and boys (for there were no ladies and gentlemen then), and we would go a distance along over the crisp snow, which cracked and crackled under the runners, and the merry voices rang in sound in harmony with the sleigh-bells. Then the merry laugh floated along in the evening air, as we dashed along the road."

While the younger people enjoyed sleighriding, the older folks went visiting. Neighbors were too scarce to be costly or habitually present. It was a universal custom "to set a dish of apple sauce or pumpkin or cider before everyone who came to the house."

The days of visitity at Christmas remain, although the sleigh is going the much enjoyed by Haight and his contemporaries) has given way to other forms of transportation and recreation.

"I agree I said brighten the place up for our New Year's Eve party, but this is ridiculous!"

Dear Sir . . . Your Cur'?

By Harlan Trull
In the Christian Science Monitor

Any time you hear of a business going on the rocks, the chances are it's because the boss can't write a letter. And a letter, that is — not necessarily a best-selling novel.

What Dr. William C. Himstreet of the University of Southern California wants is that if the modern businessman thinks the way he writes, he probably will be successful.

For example, says the USC's School of Business professor, the boss might say in a letter: "Your letter of June tenth has been received and is hereby gratefully acknowledged. In reply, I wish to state . . ."

Well, Dr. Himstreet thinks the chances are pretty slim that the recipient of that June tenth missive is going to hold still for that kind of communication verbally.

He thinks the way to sprinkle salt on a customer's tail is to tell him gratefully acknowledgement up in a light wind and put it in the wastebasket and then start out in the middle of the twentieth century. Say, with something like this:

"The material you requested in your letter of June 10 is on the way to you."

And as for signing off, why old around bills a simple "In reply "at your earliest possible convenience!" observes Dr. Himstreet, "everybody knows you really mean right now. If it doesn't get there right now, it's because you're a nincompoop."

While current business writing has philosophical overtones, Dr. Himstreet says, it emphasizes dullness and directness, the educational goal of a member of the profession's top scholars here that "it does not stress these virtues as much as it should in business."

Suspending the rule of fact for the moment, Dr. Himstreet really kicked the cliche out of business.

"If it bears good tidings or should be most-anxiously to hear. If the message is negative, the good old letter first reads some agreement from the reader on a sound business principle, in terms of mechanics, the good modern business writer gets right to the point. He confines paragraphs to four to six lines for ease of reading," says Dr. Himstreet.

He either reports his conclusion first and then substantiates it with facts or else he uses a "direct order" style, combining nine parts molasses — presumably to help the medicine go down — with flies — in which the facts are presented in logical order, the paragraphing along like the tail on Mary's little lamb. And, of course, the "indirect order," the use of tabulations and numbers, and "if it were not for the stockholders' threats," as well as "all the graphic devices" available.

Why? Because "a picture is worth a thousand words," explained the professor, "and anything boosting his speech on the writing profession's oldest cliche.

To Your Good Health

By Joseph G. Molner, M.D.

EVERY NORMAL CHILD CAN GET GOOD GRADES IN SCHOOL

"Dear Dr. Molner: If possible will you write something of the harm a person can do by imitating that his child make straight A's and telling him everyone can do so if he tries? I realize this is not in line with your work but I hope you can comment on it.—J. F."

Well, I wouldn't say it doesn't come within my line of work. I'm not a psychiatrist but I don't think you have to be one to understand something about human reactions to various problems.

It's my opinion, certainly based in part on my own life, that a bit of pushing is good for one. You don't know what you can do until you have to. Or vigorously want to.

A little coaxing, a little encouragement, a little judicious pushing makes us all go better.

A touch of the whip makes a good race horse move faster. But a flogging ruins the horse.

Most people are as smart as horses.

Do I make myself clear? A child in various ways. One type will do it but become a grind who respects grades more than ever — and he'll thereby lose his perspective on life. Another will rebel, and get poor marks as a result of rebellion. This is the worst for it frustrates a child will crack up under the strain.

A TEST FOR PARENTS

Percentage-wise, I suppose, the number of people who can make A's on records is about the same as the number of fathers who claim $10,000 a year and the number of mothers who rave with beautiful children.

I'm thoroughly in accord with the idea that every normal child, if he will apply himself, can get good marks in school. But all-A records are something else.

It seems to me that the child you are worrying about has a perfectly good right to claim that his father first show the way by earning $100,000 a year. Or being elected mayor next year. Or writing a best-selling novel.

Of course the child can't really see away with putting this proposition to his father. But maybe you could explain it and maybe, if papa thinks it over, he might decide that it's mighty nice to have a happy, healthy, interested son, even if he won't get all A's.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Will you kindly explain a fissure recto disease? What causes it? What is the best treatment?—Mr. M."

It's a bit complicated to try to explain briefly. You'll find a thorough explanation in my booklet, "The Real Cure for Hemorrhoids," which devotes ample space to fissures, fistulas and related troubles. (To receive it send a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope and 25 cents in coin to Dr. J. G. Molner, care of this paper, Sun-Times Syndicate, P.O. box 158, Dundee, Illinois.)

"Dear Dr. Molner: My question is: Can a person be allergic to bananas. What causes them? Is there a diet to clear them up?—E.B."

Germs on the skin, forming little pockets of inflammation at the roots of the hair, are the cause — usually the staphylococcus germ. A carbuncle is a cluster of such boils. The diet should be one containing a well balanced. Often fats are restricted. If the individual is too heavy, fluid, starches should be reduced and weight lost.

Want to lose weight? It can be done if you follow the advice given in my booklet, "The Last Secret of Reducing." For your copy send to the care of The Quinsam Sun-Times Syndicate P.O. Box 158, Dundee, Illinois, enclosing a large, self-addressed envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover handling.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

DOING THE DAY'S WORK WELL

There is no dully thrill quite so grand that job will take you for, satisfying as ending the day with the thought that you have done a good job and are in good shape for yourself. We are each measured by our capacity. We can do only so much. But it is surprising how we give to us peace of mind, silent contentment for us to have done our best and the multitude of days ahead.

If we feel we have done our best it is well as we have done. There is nothing to be worried about. Contentment has been the medicine used. And what medicine it can be! The mind reacts to quickly to the good feeling. Secure one feel sad that suffering of the mind passes right to your doctor!

After we have done our best, proved our worthiness and lived up to that part of ours with enthusiasm, we shall have learned some of the functions of the mind and torment, exercise of spirit, body work as one. Love that job and personal triumph!

THE DIVINE PLAN

Where has everybody gone?
Some of us have come to the Bible-class and we have many friends left. They have passed on. I have a vivid recollection in my heart. I was a young soldier who had taken part in the Civil War march to the centennial Exposition. There are only not one person in 50,000 today living when the War between the States was in progress.

And yet this was only a few decades ago. Go back one thousand years, five thousand — back beyond the days of history. Where are all the people? Well this, of course, is life's greatest mystery. What becomes of the different forms of life when they have passed through their cycle of existence? Without the Bible we would indeed stand aghast before this glimpse. And even the Bible seems to say very little about life after death. But the interesting thing is that it assures us that there is life after death. People go somewhere. God does not create life and then destroy it. There runs through it all the thread of immortality.

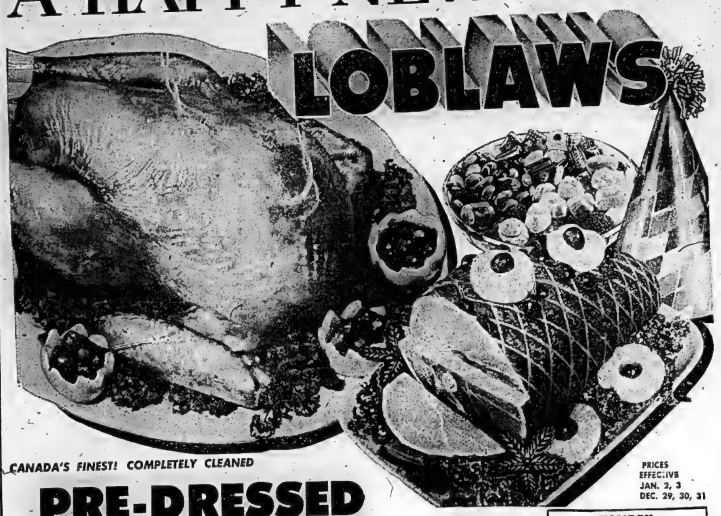
We cannot answer the question as to what happens to the soul after it leaves the body. But we can go to something better than answer the question — we can leave it in the hands of a God who is perfect power, perfect wisdom, perfect goodness, and best of all, perfect love.

Where have all the people gone? Every time we look at the death we are more than ever as-

THE PACKSACK
By GREGORY CLARK

The queer thing about Westerners is that they've all been born one day. We'd be that you never see a dog around those drab little cow towns. Just horses, mebbe, and a few women. No children. Not even dogs.

The absence of children is understandable. In the days of the gunfighters, ladies were not the family type. But there is no excuse whatever for leaving dogs out of Westerns. By historical count, there were more dogs than men and horses combined, in those days. True, cowpokes do not wash dogs around the cattle. A herd of dogies is skittish enough without dogs adding to the confusion. An old cowhand will not feed and bed dogs on the range under the pretence that they were what he called keyodies.



But ranch dogs knew their place, which was around the bunk house; and their job was to chase gophers, bark at strangers, and offer their company to every man who like a welcome home at the door.

And the way you slept sound, lying under the bed to give fair warning of anybody at the latch. So, I there is something peculiarly spooky about those little cow towns on TV. It isn't only the shooting of gunfighters with their stiff hands held wide of their hips. It is the dog-

ST. ANDREW'S P.G.

The December meeting of the Guiest St. Andrew's Friendship Guild was held at the home of Mrs. and Mrs. Earle Treverton with a good attendance.

The president, Mr. Carman Hoffman presided over the business part, which included a report on the dinner served at the Sales Barns showing a profit of $256.00.

The next meeting of the Guild will be the annual meeting and is to be in the form of a pot-luck supper that is the home of Mrs. Embury and Irma.

Two Christmas contests were conducted by Carman and enjoyed by all present.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Raynes, and Mr. and Mrs. John Hoffman were in charge of the following program: The call to worship was given by Barbara; the Scripture lesson was read by John Hoffman; the meditation was given by Carl and Barbara Raynes; Barbara led in prayer; Mrs. Balcanquel read a poem, "Timothy," and Barbara conducted a game.

Refreshments were served and a social time spent.

Christmas Concerts

EGGLETON UNITED S.S.

MADOC JUNCTION — The annual Christmas entertainment was held on Friday evening at Eggleton United Church, with a good number of interested parents and friends of the pupils present.

At the front of the church was a beautifully trimmed Christmas tree, with its gleaming star at the top, shining ornaments, and the many twinkling lights flashing on and off.

Mr. Bruce Stapley acted as chairman for a splendid program presented by the pupils of Eggleston School, S. S. No. 24, Sidney under the training of their teacher, Mrs. Bert Reide.

Mrs. Bruce Stapley was pianist for the songs, choruses, carols and musical numbers.

The opening chorus by the school was followed by gracious words of welcome by Vicky Crowder and Wayne McGuire.

An interesting number, "I'd Rather Be Me", was given by grades 1 and 2 pupils. Each child held a sheet of drawing paper with a cut out of a bear, a dog or a giraffe on it, and recited a verse.

Lloyd Clancy gave a recitation, "Presents"; an amusing play, "Hats And Martin", was well presented; eight pupils took part in Christmas Night Prayers; solos for pupils sang two songs, "The Oak Tree's Guests" and "Indian Dance"; with Lila Stapley as pianist in Indian costume and carrying a bow and arrow.

Following this another play, "The Lost Puppy and Mama Doll", was much enjoyed.

Little Carol Dunford delighted all by her recitation.

The reading, "The Night Before Christmas", was given with Sammy Hamilton Stapley the reader, and Grant Reid and Glenn Stapley holding a large card-board, with the picture of Santa and his reindeers on the house top. The pupils of the school had drawn and colored this picture.

Another song, "Santa Claus Express", was contributed by the senior pupils, and following this a play, "Christmas Dreams", a recitation, "Christmas Song", was given by Gerald Stapley.

At this time Santa in his traditional costume arrived greeting a number of small children as he went up the aisle. With a few helpers Santa soon distributed the gaily wrapped gifts by the Christmas tree. Bags of treats of homemade candy, creams, gum drops, nuts and popcorn balls were given to or sent to every child in the community.

CHRISTMAS CANTATA

FRANKFORD — The Frankford Full Gospel choir presented their Christmas cantata, "While Shepherds Watched," on Sunday evening in a candle light service.

Soloists were: Miss Gail Weaver, and Mr. Gary Walker. Duets were rendered by Mrs. Carl Andrews and Mrs. Mary Pasrick; Mrs. Reg. Elliott and Miss Sandra Purvis.

FREE METHODIST S.S.

FRANKFORD — The annual Christmas Sunday School concert of Frankford Free Methodist Church was held on Monday evening.

The Sunday School superintendent, Gerald Haggarty, welcomed each and all.

Christmas carols were sung.

The program follows: "Welcome" recitation, by Joan Potter; class song, "Away In Manger"; musical trio — Rev. F. Burnham, violin, George McCumber, Spanish guitar, and Mr. Sweetman, Hawaiian guitar; vocal duet, Myrna and Margaret Kline, "Wonderful Birth"; class 2 and 3 had a play — "The Shepherds Live Again"; recitation, Miss Glover, "What Is That In Thine Hand?"; piano solo, Annabelle Twiddy; vocal solo, Myrna Sine, "I Heard The Bells on Christmas Day"; reading, Miss Ridout, "Christmas 1958"; play, Young People's Class, "The Coming' of Christmas"; musical trio rendered "Near The Cross."

The Rev. and Mrs. Burnham were called upon and the S. S. superintendent, Gerald Haggarty, on behalf of the congregation, presented them with Christmas gifts.

Presents and bags of candy were also distributed.

Mr. Walter Twiddy closed the service with prayer

Mr. and Mrs. Robert John Hunt are shown signing the register following their marriage in the Church of St. Michael the Archangel, Belleville. The bride is the former Miss Marion Alice Gauthier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Gauthier, of Belleville, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Hunt of Plainfield.

HUNT — GAUTHIER

The Church of St. Michael the Archangel, Belleville, was the setting for a recent pretty wedding when Marion Alice Gauthier, of Belleville, daughter of and Mrs. Leo Gauthier, was united in marriage by the Rev. Peter Murphy to Robert John Hurt, of Plainfield, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Hunt. Tall standards of large, white chrysanthemums graced the chancel, and white satin bows the guest pews.

Miss Dorothy Grant provided the wedding music, and accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Helen Gaffney, who rendered "Ave Maria" and "Because This God Is Beautiful Mother."

Given in marriage by her father, Mr. Leo Gauthier, the bride was radiant in her full length bridal gown of Chantilly lace over satin, featuring a fitted bodice with scalloped neckline, and long, lily-pointed sleeves. The full skirt fell in graceful folds. She wore a white crown of lace and rhinestones with finger-tip, sequin-trimmed scalloped veil of nylon net, and carried a mother-of-pearl prayer book, crested with a single purple orchid and white satin streamers.

The maid of honor, her sister, Miss Phyllis Gauthier, and Miss Donna Hunt, bridesmaid, sister of the bridegroom, were gowned similarly in peacock blue sheaths of velvet with overskirts of crystalette scalloped on the sides. They carried white velvet muffs accented with blue and pink flowers, pleated matching blue headbands of velvet was signed on behalf of their family and friends.

They were presented with a sapphire-type pin for Mr. Jubyand a T.V. chair for Mrs. Juby from the families. Mr. and Mrs. Juby thanked their families and friends for the lovely gifts and all for remembering them at this time.

There were many features taken of the bride and bridegroom of 50 years ago.

Mr. Juby is the son of Mr. James Juby and (Laura Bone) Mrs. Mrs. Juby, Mr. Juby's late daughter of Mr. Robert Paul and (Sarah Wright) Mrs. Paul. They were married December 23, 1908, at Deseronto, by the late Rev. W. Cooper. The groom was not present, but only the bridesmaid, Mrs. Paul (Pearl) Royal at the reception.

After they were married they left for Toronto where they spent a few days with relatives. They are the parents of eight children, five of whom are still living: James and Elmer and Ilsa of Point Anne, Mrs. Harvey (Laura) Scott and Mrs. Euretta (Ruth) Brown, Belleville, nine grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Mr. Juby has one brother, Kenneth Juby, in Belleville and four sisters: Mrs. Lenon (Effie) Hattan, Saskatchewan; Mrs. William (Clara) Byron, Alberta; Mrs. John (Pearl) Royal, Belleville; Mrs. Arthur (Lillian) Paul, Toronto.

Mrs. Juby is the last of her family.

For several years they lived in Toronto, on a farm, and in Deseronto. After leaving there they moved to Point Anne where Mr. Juby was employed at the Canada Cement plant. They still live at Point Anne where they built a home.

The evening, closed with refreshments and a social period of renewing friendships all declared wishing Eric and Bill many more years of health and wedded life together, also for a merry Christmas and a happy New Year to all.

Mr. Juby's sister and brother-in-law, Mrs. and Mrs. Lenon (Effie) Hattan, also celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on December 22nd at Saskatchewan.

Honor Couple On 50th Anniversary

POINT ANNE — Last Friday evening in the Point Anne Orange Hall, about 100 relatives and friends gathered to honor Mr. and Mrs. William Juby, on the occasion of their 50th wedding anniversary.

The event was pleasant and entertaining; euchre was played with the favors going to ladies: Mrs. Mary Swan, Mrs. Carol Storey; men: Mrs. Vivian Langford; men: Earl Keene, Frank High low — Carl Hynes.

After euchre dancing was enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. Juby were escorted to seats of honor to a small table which had a three-tier cake donated by Mrs. James Caldwell, and decorated by Mrs. Bud Donator for the occasion.

Mr. Percy Arey read the address to Mr. and Mrs. Juby while was signed on behalf of

The Experts Say
Household Science Degree Likely to Get Girls Hubbies

By EDNA USHER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—Looking for a husband? If so, says Barbara McLaren, grey-haired doctor of biochemistry, you can't do better than take a degree in household science at the University of Toronto.

Miss McLaren is director of the faculty of household science and is seeking recruits for her department.

"About 95 per cent of women university students here marry," she said. "And the girls who have the best chance of meeting eligible men are those in my department."

VARIED COURSES

Why? Household science as taught in Toronto includes courses in physics, chemistry, sociology, bacteriology, psychology and botany, physiology, microbiology, biochemistry, psychology and sociology, and in most of these classes there is a preponderance of males.

"Girls intending to follow any of these sciences professionally are mostly working on competition with men; but household science students are co-operating with them—and there's a world of difference in that," said Miss McLaren.

She says some of her students marry during student years, and graduate from university to housewifely duties.

"That does not mean their university training is wasted. It's really true that life begins at 40. Once these girls have raised their families, there are hundreds of good jobs open to them."

MANY OPENINGS

"Some of our graduates work as dietitians in hospitals, in laboratories, or they can work in under-developed countries through the World Health Organization and Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations."

Nearly 200 girls are studying household science, but the department could take 150 a year.

The number studying household science intending to follow it professionally has dropped all over North America since the 1940's," said Miss McLaren. "But the importance of including home economics studies in general education is increasingly recognized."

USEFUL TRAINING

About 265 persons, including 10 men, are taking certain parts of the course as pre-medical qualifications for an arts degree. The male students include would-be lawyers, ministers and advertising executives who study family relations, budgeting, and consumer aspects of clothing, textiles and foods.

"A knowledge of these aspects

Princess Anne Wants to Go Away to School

LONDON (Reuters) — Eight-year-old Princess Anne is reported to have "started a campaign" to persuade the Queen to let her go to a boarding school.

The Sunday Dispatch says she wants to go away just like her 10-year - old brother, Prince Charles, who attends Cheam School in Berkshire.

The paper adds: "Up to now the Queen has had firm views on Princess Anne's upbringing.

"Prince Philip wanted Prince Charles to go to school. But the Queen feels that a governess' education is best for her daughter —and until now she has resisted all blandishments.

"But Anne's pleading . . . is ringing on it under Mrs. Irene McAlpaign—so that people in the palace believe the Queen may soon give way."

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Laura P. — He is violent — but I fear divorce.

Ava S. — The children would be better off without him.

Laura P. — I have been married for eight years and have three children. I have been very unhappy in this marriage because my husband has a violent temper. Several times he has struck me in front of the children and often uses abusive language.

I would have left him long ago except for the fact that I am myself the product of a broken home. My parents were divorced when I was eight years old and I know how much I missed my father in spite of his faults. As a result of my upbringing I shied away from marriage and didn't marry until I was 30.

I am beginning to feel that I can't stand my husband's wild outbreaks any longer. I have begged him to try to control himself in front of the children, at least. But he seems unable to control himself. The best that can be said for him is that he's a good provider and underneath he sincerely loves me and the children.

Ava S. — I feel as strongly about divorce as my sister does. We both went through the same thing and I certainly don't view divorce as something to be undertaken lightly.

However, I have discussed this question with many people who say that children suffer more from a miserable unbroken home than in a more placid broken one. I have thought about it a great deal and I feel my nieces and nephew would be better off if they were not exposed to these terrible tantrums. They fear their father and I don't think they can possibly love him. If he didn't see them every day perhaps he would behave better when he did see them.

As for my brother-in-law's being a good provider, after all he would have to continue providing for them any way, as that does not have to be too much of a consideration. And as for the "underneath" love — well, I happen to think that love without works is a very easy thing to come by.

The Council: We feel that Ava is taking the question of divorce more lightly than she cares to admit. She must recognize that in most cases divorce comes as a result of some more or less legitimate grievances. Even when a third party is involved, the mate seeking divorce can usually reel off a number of offenses committed by the partner.

Behind the principles of marriage "for keeps" is the idea that there is no such thing as a perfect human being. There would be permanent marriages at all if marriages were dissolved because of the faults in each partner. On the other hand, if the partners have brought as permanent, each mature partner tends to make the maximum effort to right his own faults and to be tolerant of those of his partner.

Of course there is a big step between a person with faults and the kind of person who makes almost unendurable. Definitely, exposure to a father's vile temper is doing no good to the children in this case. Yet Laura believes he sincerely loves her and the children. She must have reason for this. At times he must show the tenderness they would miss if they didn't have him.

Neither can we toss off "love without words" quite as easily as Ava does. If the love is sincere, the works are potentially there. This man will response to an appeal to change for the sake of his family. He may need psychiatric help to do it. Certainly it would be foolish to leave any stone unturned.

On Your New Year's Eve Buffet Feature Shrimp Guiche

by Mary Moore

An Elegant Savory Pie

My imagination was working overtime. I was so pleased with a pie I had made that I almost could not calm myself down enough to sit still through dinner. I wanted to leave the table and come to my typewriter to tell you about it. Our guests have left but even though it is late Saturday night I'm working at the typewriter and enjoying it.

Dinner Menus

by Mary Moore

MONDAY
(Quick and Simple)

Plain Omelette with Tomato Sauce; Mashed Potatoes; Green Peas; Grapefruit Halves; Crackers and Cheese; Coffee.

Where I think this pie would shine is on your buffet table on New Year's Eve. You will have time to mull it over in your mind. Maybe you would like to make it a special item for New Year's Sunday High Tea.

To serve six I bought twelve huge "green" shrimp that weighed 1 1-4 pounds and cost $1.35; also 1-2 pound old Cheddar cheese cost about 75c. And the 3 eggs were about 17c. Those were the major items. Each cost of this pie cost a little over 30c. Compared to my average recipes this is expensive and if you want to substitute other fish you may use but I hope you do not — unless they be crustaceans equally costly like lobster or crabmeat.

The pie is similar to Guiche Lorraine (ham-cheese-custard pie) and is called

SHRIMP GUICHE:

Line a 9-inch pie plate with your best pastry, making a high fluted edge. Chill while you prepare filling. Boil 1 or 1 1-2 lbs. "green" shrimp in salted water until shells turn pink. Drain and shuck off shells and clean out the black vein with pointed knife. Cut in halves if desired or leave whole and arrange in bottom of chilled pastry shell. Beat 3 eggs and add 1 cup whole milk or thin cream and 1-2 lb. shredded or grated old Cheddar cheese (or you may use 1-4 lb. each old Cheddar and Swiss cheese or any other desired combination of cheeses). Add 1-4 teaspoon each salt, onion salt and paprika and good shakes of pepper and cayenne pepper. Mix well and pour over the shrimp in pastry shell. Sprinkle top with a little additional cheese if desired. Bake in oven of 425 deg. F. for about 10 minute, then reduce heat to 325 deg. F. for another 40 minutes or until set and deep gold on top. The pie is better if it is allowed to stand in warming oven for 10 minutes before serving, but it should be served hot. We served warm chili sauce with it, to which I added 2 tablespoons lemon juice (to 1 cup). A generous bowl of every kind of salad plant you can buy in it, tossed with Italian dressing would give your buffet an elegant and continental air.

GOOD MANNERS

By Mrs. Beeckman

"THANK YOU FOR YOUR CHRISTMAS CARD"

"Thank you for your Christmas card!" These shining, heart-warming words of appreciation are being said all over the world these days. Think what a roundrobin of good thought this is, from friend to friend, from heart to heart. A mighty chorus of gratitude for those endearing Christmas messages, that "great accumulation of friendly recollections."

"Thank you for your Christmas card!" Add your voice to the "Thank you" chorus. Keep these good words of appreciation on the tip of your tongue to say to your friends and acquaintances, as you meet them these days after Christmas. Remember?

And it's a fine idea to add an attractive word-bow and the friend's name . . . "How very kind you were to remember me, Catherine. I loved your thought, and I loved your card." Or "Thank you for your thought of me at Christmas-time, Bob. Your card was a beauty, and I cherish it, too." Then for the thought . . . then for the card. That's the right idea.

Naturally, people are delighted to be thanked for their Christmas cards. And, just as naturally, they are disappointed and hurt when you meet them and callously forget even to mention their card, let alone thank for it.

So please, this very minute, promise yourself that you will remember to say every thank you that should say . . . and that you will say your "thank you" with a go-forth charm of manner and phrase and meet happily, the radiance of your words will shine on and on.

Current Jobless Situation Does Not Warrant Relaxation Of Restrictions Imposed in '57

By JOHN E. BIRD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — Immigration to Canada in 1958 likely will be 25,000 to 35,000 greater than 1957's below-average movement of some 125,000 if the Canadian economy continues its current upswing.

But any downward revision of economic forecasts in the next few months could mean arrivals will be about the same as this year, or perhaps less.

Immigration authorities expect that on the basis of present economic trends immigration in the new year will total between 150,000 and 160,000, slightly higher than the annual average of 153,000 for the 10-year period from 1948 to 1957.

JOBS KEY FACTOR

"It is not fair or sensible to bring people to Canada with no jobs to come to," Immigration Minister Ellen Fairclough said in an interview. "We must bring people to Canada when jobs are available or about to become available."

Canada's current unemployment situation did not warrant any immediate relaxation of immigration restrictions imposed in July, 1957, in the face of anticipated heavy unemployment in the 1957-58 winter.

These restrictions mainly were responsible for arrivals in 1958 dropping to about 125,000 from the 1957 total of 282,164, the highest number since 1913 when 400,870 arrived.

"They will not be lifted until the government is satisfied the 1958 economy will be healthy enough to absorb an increased flow of immigrants. In periods of high employment, tentative immigration targets usually are set by the end of December for the following year.

If the restrictions are not relaxed during the first three months of 1958 the chances are that immigration next year will not be any larger than this year. It takes the immigration department about three months to set machinery in operation for arrival of newcomers.

AIM OF CONTROLS

Present immigration restrictions are aimed at preventing persons without jobs and sponsors from entering the country and adding to the unemployment problem. Most immigrants now arriving are persons joining families in Canada and those with special skills or trades to offer.

In the first nine months of 1958, arrivals totalled 100,131, one-third less than in the corresponding period of the previous year. Yearly figures for 1958 may not be available until February or March.

The nine-month drop of 144,135 from 1957 was caused mainly by a sharp decline in arrivals of British immigrants. They totalled only 22,620 in the first nine months of 1958, compared with 99,081 the previous year.

Current restrictions do not affect citizens of Britain, Ireland, France and the United States. However, prospective immigrants from these countries are being warned of employment conditions in Canada and advised to wait until the economy improves.

During 1958 the government agreed to admit as immigrants an addition 1,100 Hungarian refugees from Austria and Italy. This brought to more than 38,000 the number of Hungarians admitted to Canada since the 1956 Hungarian revolt.

HANNA CASE

The Hungarians began arriving in Canada in December of 1956. In that month Canada also admitted 24 year - old Christine Georgs Hanna.

The slight, swarthy laborer arrived at Port Alberni, B.C., as a stowaway aboard the Norwegian freighter Gudvida. He stowed away on the ship 15 months before at Beirut, Lebanon.

The stateless Hanna applied for permission to land in Canada but was refused on grounds that he had no passport, no identification and no nationality or known place of birth. He said he was born at sea of a French Somali mother, who died when he was six, and a Liberian father whom he had never seen.

After a public outcry he was granted permission to stay in Canada and given an opportunity to show he wanted to work and live in this country. But he went from one job to another and had several brushes with the law.

Last October Mrs. Fairclough announced that Hanna had failed to demonstrate he wanted to become a good Canadian. He was deported to Lebanon after spending 18½ months in Canada.

WELLINGTON

Family Marks Parents' 60th Anniversary

WELLINGTON — Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Webster of Wellington, celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary on Sunday, December 21st.

Married in Picton by the Rev. W. J. Jolliffe, they made their home in the village of Wellington.

Mr. Webster, who is 86, worked for the Ontario Fruit Branch for over 40 years, and still works part time for the Co-Operative Cold Storage in Newcastle.

Mrs. Webster is active in the missionary meetings of the Society of Friends and a member of the Bible Class.

Their children and grandchildren entertained them to 3 o'clock dinner on Sunday at Maple Inn, Bloomfield.

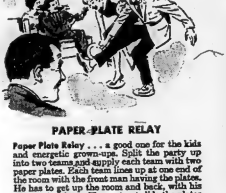
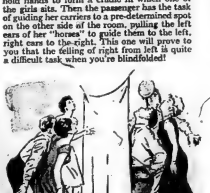
Labatt's Party Programme

Games and puzzles for the Holidays...



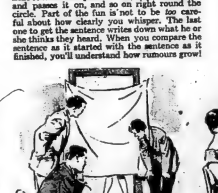
BLIND RIDE

Blind Ride . . . this one can be played just for the fun or with two teams in competition. Two men are blindfolded and spun around until they have lost all sense of direction. The men then hold hands to form a cradle in which one of the girls sits. Then the partner has the task of guiding her carriers to a pre-determined spot on the other side of the room, pulling the left ears of her "horses" to guide them to the left, right ears to the right. This one will prove to you that the feeling of right from left is quite a difficult task when you're blindfolded!



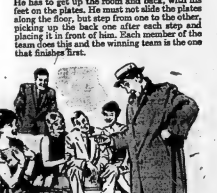
WHISPERING

Whispering . . . a game that always creates a surprise. The gang sits in a circle and one person writes down a sentence which he whispers into the ear of the person sitting next to him. This person turns to his neighbour and passes it on, and so on right round the circle. Part of the fun is not to be too careful about how clearly you whisper. The last one to get the sentence writes down what he or she thinks they heard. When you compare the sentence as it started with the sentence as it finished, you'll understand how rumours grow!



PAPER-PLATE RELAY

Paper Plate Relay . . . a good one for the kids and energetic grown-ups. Split the party up into two teams and supply each team with two paper plates. Each team lines up at one end of the room with the front man having the plates. He has to get up the room and back, with his feet on the plates. He must not slide the plates along the floor, but step from one to the other, picking up the back one after each step and placing it in front of him. Each member of the team does this and the winning team is the one that finishes first.



BALLOON BALL

Balloon Ball . . . here's an active indoor game that can't do much damage and is fun for grown-ups and kids alike. Hang a rope or net across the room, room about four or five feet up from the floor. Divide the party into two teams, one on the side of the net, one on the other. The object of the game is to hit the floor on the opponent's side of the net with a balloon. They, of course, attempt to return it to your side. First team to score three touchdowns wins a game. Balloon may be struck with the hand or head and must be struck on your own side of the net.

LEGS

Legs . . . good fun for mixed gatherings. The girls go out of the room and remove their shoes. A blanket is hung across a doorway and hangs just low enough to allow the men to see the legs of the others as they parade past. Each girl must nominate which pair of legs belongs to his wife or girl friend. Sounds easy? Try it and see. And then the men, in reverse the procedure, with the men rolling up their pants above the knee and parading past the blanket. Male legs may not look so appealing, but they're sure harder to identify.

DRAGNET

Dragnet . . . for from four to forty people. Requirements are a "Murderer" and "Detective", selected by drawing cards. The receiver of the Jack of Spades becomes the potential Murderer, Jack of Diamonds the Detective. The Detective reveals who he she is and stays out. The rest, including the Murderer, separate through the house. All the lights are turned out. The Murderer selects his victim and indicates in some manner that he or she has been "done in". Immediately the victim screams and sits on the floor. This is the signal for the Detective to start counting to ten, out loud. During this period, only the Murderer may move. At the count of ten, everyone turns on the lights nearest them and stays where they are until the Detective has seen their positions. Then the whole party gathers in one room and in a given time, say twenty minutes, the Detective tries to discover the identity of the Murderer by questioning all concerned. Only the Murderer may lie, the others must tell the truth.

SOLUTION TO LABATT'S CHARADE

Just in case you haven't already guessed the answer to the charade in the Labatt's advertisement currently appearing in street cars and buses, here it is. He's portraying "well"—you can see how well he looks.

She's saying "come". That makes the word "Welcome". You can have lots of fun with charades at your party. Just divide the guests into teams, and let each team act a word that the others have to guess.

Crofton

CROFTON — Mrs. W. J. Gray spent the weekend with her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Lefort, at Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Crook entertained at a turkey dinner on Saturday; Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Salisbury and guest; Mrs. Charles Haight, of Belleville; Mr. Stanley Fritz of Ameliasburg, Mr. Arthur Salisbury and Mrs. E. Crook.

The school Christmas concert at the church on Friday evening was well attended and much credit goes to the teacher and pupils for a program so well presented.

Santa arrived at the end of the program and distributed gifts to all the children.

Seeking Contestants for Show Ticklish Job for Janet Spencer

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — Some of these days a tall, brown-eyed blonde named Janet Spencer may get punched in the nose. Or then again she might be arrested by a suspicious policeman.

She runs these hazards almost daily in her job of seeking contestants for County Fair (NBC-TV, week-days, 4:30 p.m., EST).

When appropriate contestants can't be found in the studio audiences of network programs, Miss Spencer must go searching for them. And that happens on almost every working day.

Usually women are more suspicious of her motives than men, she says. Men ordinarily are willing to go along with what they suspect is a gag.

The other day, however, when she sought candidates in the crowd swarming from the Radio City Music Hall, even the men were suspicious. She couldn't find a single contestant. With impatience turning approaching, she plunged through the underground concourse of Rockefeller Center and finally cornered one couple who grudgingly agreed to appear.

The man said he had an errand before the show. Miss Spencer was so fearful the couple wouldn't appear that she talked the wife into having lunch with her, figuring that her husband would return eventually.

After the two had appeared on the show, the husband admitted to Miss Spencer that he had viewed her with great suspicion. When he went on his errand he said he was plagued by the thought, "I've left my wife with a perfectly strange woman. How do I know she's from NBC?"

POLICE SUSPICIOUS

This same question occurred to a policeman who saw her accosting strangers in midtown Manhattan not long ago. He let her go only after she's showed him her NBC employee identification card.

Occasionally Miss Spencer must find a bald-headed man. But how do you determine if a man is bald under the hat he's wearing? You'll kill your prospect simply by asking, "by the way, are you bald?"

Her technique is to approach an obviously married couple and say to the man, "Now your wife is blonde. What color is your hair?" She follows this method until a man smiles, lifts his hat and reveals the gleaming pate she is hunting.

Sport Slices

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

It was more or less a case of extremes in sport for this city during the year that is almost gone.

The glory that the Allan Cup brought to the Old Lady of the Moira reteamed other sports feats to the shadowy background. In fact they would have been in the shadows anyway since nothing outstanding other than hockey was accomplished.

Golf had one of its best seasons on the Bay of Quinte Country Club links, while soccer marked an upsurgence that augurs well for the future success of the game.

Softball enjoyed a fine year although the Belleville District League entries failed to bring anything of a provincial nature to its championship mantel.

The Point Anne Cementmen, boasting a powerful squad, won the city championship but fell by the wayside in the OASA intermediate "A" playdowns. The Belleville Bobcats, Cobourg Merchants, Frankford Merchants and Trenton Juniors, while coming up with outstanding league play failed to cop any Ontario baubles.

Senior baseball failed to rise from its annual casket with the city's banner being again carried by the junior club. The team was a good one and due to unfortunate circumstances was forced to default to Leamington in the OBA finals.

Minor baseball and softball had another fine season but the youngsters like their elder brothers, were eliminated in provincial playdowns. Upwards of 1,400 youngsters enjoyed minor hockey under the auspices of the Belleville Minor Hockey Association.

Tennis, which holds its own year in and year out, was again enjoyed by many city and district players with the Quinte Tennis League chalking up another successful scarge.

Hockey-wise 1958 will go down in the city's sports archives as the best in its long and honorable lee history.

The glory that came to its senior "A" hockey representatives in the second year of operation is ended a triumphal march to the coveted Allan Cup, will not dim in the hearts of thousands of sturdy, loyal fans for many years.

It was Belleville's year of triumph. Her name was emblazoned on the sports headlines from coast to coast when the story of the now famous series and seventh-game comeback to victory broke in Kelowna, B.C., as the sat-last Packers of the Okanagan Valley went down to honorable defeat.

Cracker-barrel enthusiasts will recall time and again the story of the McFarlands' fabulous march to the national amateur championship.

They will re-live the thrilling league playoff games with Kingston and Pembroke. They will thrill again to the story of the triumphant series with the gallant South Porcupine squad, and the brilliant play of the McFarlands in eliminating the Kitchener Dutchmen, the team picked for the title.

Then came the gallant but hopelessly outclassed team from Levis, Quebec, and the hockey-mad city getting ready to send its champions westward for the climax of a triumphant season.

Then the nerve-wracking games in the Okanagan Valley. Down three games to one the Macs faced one of the toughest assignments of the season. They dug in and by sheer determination pulled on even terms with the western champions. Came the deciding fur cup-winning game when again they came from behind to register a glorious 3-3 victory to wrest the Allan Cup and national championship from the hungry hands of the Kelowna Packers.

There is one more step to go — one more championship to win and the sports cup of the Old Lady of the Moira will be brimming over.

That is the world title—in Prague next March.

R.I.P.

The heartfelt sympathy of all sportsmen of the city and district goes out to the families of the late Art Culloden and Bill Foster, two promising young athletes who were cut down in their prime. Both Art and Bill were junior players with all who knew them and their sudden passing was a distinct shock to sport as well as other circles in which they moved.

Aussies, Yankees Split Wins In Opening Singles Round

By Will Grimsley

BRISBANE, Australia (AP)—Alex Olmedo crushed Mal Anderson but Barry MacKay fell before the smooth strokes of Ashley Cooper today to give the United States and Australia one victory apiece in the opening singles of the Davis Cup challenge round.

The results also made Perry Jones, controversial 70-year-old U.S. captain, appear alternately as a slick guesser and a not-so-smart old-timer.

It was Jones who convinced U.S. brass that Olmedo, a Peruvian, should be put on the team. It also was Jones who bypassed Ham Richardson, the No. 1 player in the U.S., for MacKay over the former's violent protest.

UPHILL FIGHT

Olmedo whipped Anderson 8-6, 2-6, 8-7, 6-8 in a magnificent uphill battle, while Cooper, after writhing under MacKay's bullet services for one set, came out on top 4-6, 6-3, 6-2, 6-4.

The doubles are scheduled for Tuesday. Olmedo will team with Richardson and Cooper with left-handed Neal Fraser. It was in the doubles that the Americans

Rangers Snap Habs Win String With 5-3 Victory

Blues Clip Champs at Home While Wings Defeat Bruins; Black Hawks Edge Leafs 4-3

By Marven Nosh
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The fired-up New York Rangers downed the high-stepping Montreal Canadiens 5-3 Sunday night before a hometown crowd, snapping Montreal's unbeaten streak at 12 games.

Ranger coach Phil Watson, who once played for Canadiens, takes great delight in beating the Montrealers, and this year his club is the only one in the National Hockey League to boast a margin over the Habs.

But the victory left the Rangers 14 points behind Canadiens, in third place.

New York has four wins, three losses and one tie in the eight clashes to date this season. Until Sunday night the Canadiens had run off a string of 11 wins and two ties—starting after a 3-3 setback at the hands of the same Rangers Nov. 26.

The NHL record for an unbeaten streak is 35 set in the 1940-41 season by Boston Bruins.

RUINS LOSE TWICE

In other action Sunday night, Detroit Red Wings, led by Alex Delvecchio, ruined the hopes of a 5-3 victory over the Bruins while Chicago Black Hawks edged the hapless Toronto Maple Leafs 4-3 at Chicago.

Saturday night in Montreal the Canadiens trounced the Bruins 6-1 and at Toronto the Leafs and Black Hawks fought to a 2-2 deadlock.

Montreal, with 47 points, has a 12-point margin over the second-place Red Wings in the standings. Boston shares third spot with the Rangers, five points behind Detroit. Chicago has 32 points and Toronto 26.

Camille Henry, Larry Popein, Les Colwil ll,George (Red) Sullivan and defenceman Doug Harvey ato counted for the Rangers Sunday night. For Montreal the scorers were Jean Beliveau, Phil Goyette and Dickie Moore. It was Moore's 30th goal of the season and gave him a tie with Andy Bathgate for the lead in the scoring department.

DELVECCHIO SHINES

In Detroit Delvecchio, a centre converted to left wing, scored the first goal for the Red Wings and then set up the next three. They were counted by Nick Mickoski, Gordie Howe, Marcel Pronovost, Claude Laforge rounded out the Detroit offensive.

Vic Stasiuk, Fleming Mackell and Leo Labine were the marksmen for the Bruins.

Eddie Litzenberger was the big gun for the Hawks Sunday, firing two goals including a third-period tally that proved the winner. Reinforcements (Moose) Vasko and Eric Nesterenko rounded out the Chicago scoring while Frank Mahovlich, Brian Cullen and player - coach Bert Olmstead counted for Toronto.

TWO FOR BACKSTROM

Saturday night in Montreal rookie Ralph Backstrom paced the Canadiens with two goals. Dickie Moore, Henri Provost, Maurice (Rocket) Richard and Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion got Montreal's others.

In the Saturday night game at Toronto, Ron Ingram's Hawks bounced back from a two-goal deficit to gain the tie. All the fireworks got up in the second period.

Toronto opened the two-goal margin on markers by Ron Stewart and Malcolm Bolton Rod Murphy counted for the Hawks. Bobby Hull scored the tying goal.

It was an exciting meeting of the clubs this season and the third draw. Chicago won the other three games.

Marlies, Irish Win Sunday; Bilts Beaten

By The Canadian Press

Hope springs eternal, even in the hearts of hockey coaches.

Coach Gerry Brown of the Hamilton Tiger-Cubs of the OHA Junior A league, in a move to spark his last-place team, has dropped winger Ed Cooke, defenceman Ray Preston and goalie Carl Wetzel in favor of four Junior B players.

Dennis Jordan of Burlington will take over goaltending duties for the Cubs, and joining him on the Hamilton roster are defenceman Pat Quinn and forwards Willie Labanich and Bert Templeton.

The Cubs have won only three games and tied five in 24 starts.

The shakeup came as Toronto Marlboros and St. Michaels Majors climbed their respective second-weekend doubleheader S u n d a y s. St. Catharines TeePees defeated Guelph Biltmores 9-5, Saturday night.

MAJORS MOVE UP

In Toronto, St. Mikes dumped Barrie Flyers 10-3 in the first game and moved to within nine points of the league-leading TeePees. Their record reads seven. Keon tallied for the Majors.

In the second game Marlboros defeated the fourth - place Biltmores 2-1, with Toronto goals being scored by Jim Morrison and Jim Pappin. Gene Ratelle scored for Guelph.

At St. Catharines, Don Grosso and Ted Wright scored two goals each for the TeePees. Ron Lishchynsky, Chico Maki, Duke Harris, Fred Hillis, and Pat Stapleton first scored apiece.

Leon Rochefort topped the Guelph scorers with three goals, Sandy McGregor counted two and Rod Gilbert one.

Bisons Win Two But Player Loses Eye

By The Associated Press

A double sweep over the weekend has moved Buffalo five points in front in the American Hockey League but the Bisons were in no mood for celebrating today.

They were more concerned over the condition of defenceman Bill Dodgen, who lost his left eye in a collision during the 3-0 victory over the Beag in Hershey Saturday.

Dobbyn was reported in "exceptionally satisfactory" condition in hospital. He was hurt late in the third period when he was pitched into the upturned stick of Hershey's Obie O'Brien. Doctors said there is a chance to save the eye.

The Bisons picked up a 5-1 victory over Springfield Indians Sunday night. Two days earlier Buffalo spanked Providence Reds overpowered the Bears 8-3 and Rochester Americans trounced Cleveland Barons 6-1.

The Indians beat the Reds 5-4 Saturday, Rochester, 1a llying three times in the last eight minutes, defeated the Barons 6-4.

Hockey's Big Seven

By The Canadian Press

Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion of Montreal pulled further in front of the National Hockey League's list of scoring leaders in weekend action while Dave McKenzey of Boston and Chicago's Eddie Litzenberger climbed into the top-seven bracket.

McKenzey got a goal and collected three assists to boost his top-rung margin to seven points. The leaders:

BELL DENIES RUMOR

NEW YORK (AP) — Bert Bell emphatically denies reports that he is resigning as commissioner of the National Football League. "Those reports come up regularly, especially at this time of year," said Bell. "I feel fine and have given no thought to resigning." He said he has not planned to step down after Sunday's championship game.

Baltimore Colts Champions After Sensational Overtime Victory Over N.Y. Giants

By Jac Khand

NEW YORK (AP)—The Baltimore Colts are champions today after a game so hard fought that the New York Giants refused to gamble for a few inches and then gave up the ball on downs with less than a minute remaining in sudden death overtime Sunday.

The Giants, coddled a 17-14 lead with 2½ minutes to play after an electrifying second half comeback. It was fourth down and inches to go on New York's 42. A first down probably would have permitted the Giants to run out the clock on four ground plays. But coach Jim Lee Howell elected to play it safe. The Giants punted, Baltimore struck back to within field goal range and tied the score on Steve Myhra's 20-yard field goal.

In the unprecedented sudden death overtime, Johnny Unitas' bullseye passing and Alan Ameche's inspired running produced the winning touchdown in 13 plays in 8:15.

The Baltimore hand gally pass added up and down the field in the December darkness, tooting the Colts' victory home to the tune of 15,000 fans who had journeyed from Baltimore for this moment of delirious joy attacked the goal posts. The rest of the Yankee Stadium crowd of 44,185 trudged toward the exits.

QUESTION STRATEGY

Through the long winter nights many will question Howell's strategy at this vital moment in the fourth period. If he had gambled and not made the yardage, a Baltimore field goal would be just a sure thing. So he played it safe and lost anyway.

Perhaps the most gripping moment in the heart throb sporting scene when Myhra, who had done double duty as a linebacker after Les Sanford's first period injury, kicked his hurried field goal. The clock was running and only 10 seconds were left when he booted the ball high against the glare of the stadium lights.

The Giants thought they got a break when they won the toss of the coin and chose to receive in the first ever played in a regular championship game.

After a game that came to a 14 and 1 situation but this time they came out on the New York 29. A few themselves tied and finally ended the season 23-17 in overtime Sunday. passes gotten the Colts a sure game-ending field goal. The game was the obvious strategy and Chandler seemed a hero one that Tuffy Leemans scored a touchdown for the Giants' first pro championship in 12 years. Baltimore's fine offensive guard, put a touchdown with Alleene crashing over right guard from the 1 through a gap they made.

Time after time he hit Ray Berry, who caught 12, on beautiful pass patterns that split the Giants defence. It is without question the Lenny Moore of the fleet halfback, Jim Mutscheller, L. G. Sherman Plunkett and Jim Parker, who are 20-year-olds, Unitas kept and ran with the ball himself.

CONERLY RUSHED

Gino Marchetti, who suffered a broken ankle and was carried off the field on a stretcher late in the game, rushed Giants' quarterback Charley Conerly all afternoon. The Colts' defensive line was superb, giving Conerly little time to go long, the line backers covered in excellent style and the front four deep men did their job.

Frank Gifford, who set up a first period 36-yard field goal by Pat Summerall with a 19-yard run, was the goat of the second period. His fumble after catching a pass gave Baltimore the ball on the Giants' 26—but the Colts drive quickly stalled in the Ameche-charging cover from the 2.

Another Gifford fumble, on the first play after the Giants had recovered a Baltimore fumble by Jackie Simpson on Baltimore's 10, was disastrous to the Giants. This time the Colts went all the way, 86 yards in 14 plays, with Dallas hitting Berry for a 15-yard scoring pass, for a 14-3 halftime lead.

After a Giant goal line stand early in the third period stopped Unitas three times and took the ball on the 5, New York struck quickly. An 86-yard gain resulted when Conerly passed to Kyle Rote, who fumbled when hit from behind by Andy Nelson and Alex Webster picked up the ball and raced to the 1. Mel Triplett bulled over for the touchdown.

Conerly connected with Bob Schnelker for a 46-yard pass on the first play of the fourth period and, three to Gifford for the touchdown that put the Giants ahead with only 53 seconds gone in the period. Summerall's second conversion made it 17-14.

Two Baltimore thrusts were blunted by the Giants' pass rush. Bert Rechichar's 46-yard field goal attempt failed. With time running out, the Giants racked up one first down and reached the Colts' 42 with 2:40 left and, actually inched when they punted and the Colts came back with their tying field goal.

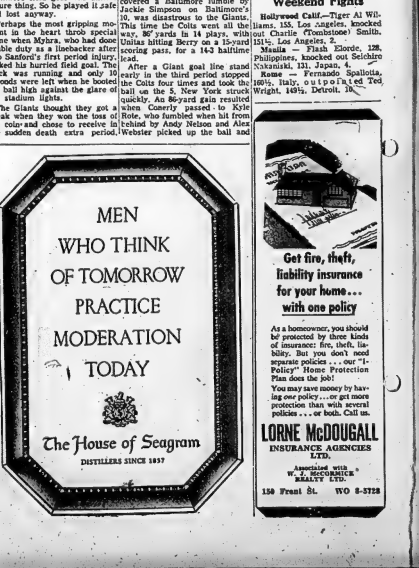
All the statistics ran heavily in favor of the Colts. They were inclined to dispute coach Weeb Ewbank's decision to let Unitas had to win because this was the better place to put them.

The record gross receipts of $598,646 including the $200,000 television fee, left a net gate receipt ever. Each full Colt share will be $4,118.77. Each Giant gets $3,111.33.

Tribe Signs Four Players

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland Indians said Saturday they have received and contracts from four more players including pitcher Jim Piersall and outfielder Jim Mudcat Grant. It brings to 14 the number of Indians signed for the 1959 season.

Piersall, recently acquired in a trade with Boston Red Sox, expressed satisfaction with the contract. He said it was the best he had ever received.



The other two players signed are rookie infielder Don Ott and Charles Kolakowski, a right-handed pitcher who had a 10-3 mark with Reno of the Southern Association in 1958.

Two Weekend Jolts Snap Macs' Unbeaten Skein At 7

Soundly Thumped by Whitby, Beaten 4-2 by Hull-Ottawa; Half Defence Corps Injured

A double-barrelled jolt by two "hot" teams and the injury jinx clipped the McFarlands' unbeaten string at seven over the weekend.

After defeating the Kingston Merchants Friday night, the Bremen went down by their worst defeat of the year 11-2 at the hands of the Whitby Dunlops, who on the night's form, "could have beaten the Canadiens."

Minus three of their defencemen for the better part of the game the Macs fell 4-2 before the speedy, determined onslaught of the Hull-Ottawa Canadiens on Sunday, although they deserved a better fate.

Al Dewsbury and Moe Benoit, both sidelined with leg injuries did not play in either weekend game, while Flori Gozgan who wrenched a knee Saturday night, suffered a painful charley-horse in the second period Sunday, and was unable to return to the ice.

WHITBY (Staff) — The Dunlops dug deeply into their scoring potential in an all-out three period offensive. It was their best effort of the season and they spared no effort to "rub it in" the McFarlanes.

They flashed a driving team effort sparked by the Attersley-Eicher-Samolenko line to which four unanswered first-period goals. They ripped back in high gear in the second frame to answer the Macs best effort with five markers, then tapered off two to one in the final chapter.

It was the Dunlops best point-getting binge of the season. They racked up 32 with Attersley, Eicher and Samolenko dividing 15. Attersley had a 3-3 mark, and his linemates 1-4 each. Sid Smith had two goals and an assist with Youngberg and Ale settling for 1-1. Tom O'Connor and McBeth scored the other two. Jack Kane had four assists.

Johnny McLellan and Ike Hildebrand were the McFarlanes triggermen, each drawing a goal and assist, while Goegan had a helper. Nine minor penalties were assessed, five to the McFarlands.

The Dunnies took the bit in their teeth from the opening whistle and from there to game's end could not do a thing wrong even as the Macs could not do very much right. They plainly felt the absence of Dewsbury and Benoit back of the blueline but the Dunnies cared little about that.

They surged to the attack, Attersley scoring after six minutes with Samolenko and Smith following with two in 13 seconds at the 10-minute mark. Attersley ended the first-period rout with seconds to go.

Johnny McLellan broke the Belleville ice after a minute in the second frame but the bloodhungry Dunnies were not to be denied. They swept in with perfect passing plays and time with Smith and Youngberg scoring within 3 minutes. Eicher, Ale and Tom O'Connor completed the five-goal splurge in the last three minutes.

Maintaining their lightning offensive the Dunnies added another by McBeth early in the third frame before Hildebrand drew the pesky puck behind goal for the Macs second counter, with McLellan assisting.

Bobby Attersley's third goal of the night ended the scoring spree midway through the period with linemates Eicher and Samolenko in on the kill.

HULL-OTTAWA 4
BELLEVILLE 2

HULL, que. (Staff) — The Canadiens' three-period high-gear speed, their two-way checking and the Macs inability to cash in on several goalmouth chances wrote the story of the 4-2 defeat of the Allan Cup champions here Sunday.

Penalties played an important part as far as the McFarlands were concerned; three Canadien goals being scored when they had a man advantage. As that the homesters drew six of the eleven sentences assessed.

On all six occasions the Macs swarmed around goalie Claude Cyr on power plays but they failed to hit paydirt once. Both of their goals were scored with the Bredenbury-coached crew at full strength. Cyr played one of his best games of the season, kicking out short-distance drives that would have counted on any other occasion.

It was a rugged hard-hitting game with both teams slinging the body around willy-nilly. Flori Goegan was forced to leave the game in the second period when a heavy body-check resulted in a severe charley-horse. That left the defense duties to Lamirande, Bailey and Crawford.

Bradley was chilled after three minutes of play in the opening period and twenty seconds later Eiller smashed a Canadiens' power play to open scoring with Boucher and LaGrace.

The Macs swarmed around Cyr after Tremblay was heaved, but they couldn't find paydirt with Cyr doing a noble job.

Lou Smrke finally found the Canadiens rigging at 14.07 when he climaxed a passing play with Hildebrand and Goegan to eventually beat Cyr. The Macs were using three complete forward lines, Eddie Marineau failing to make the trip.

Bailey was chased early in the second period and the Ottawans staged a terrific powerplay, Boucher eventually scoring after Gordie Bell kicked out not a few close-in drives. Fine defensive work and penalty-killing kept the Macs scoreless after Black was beaved.

Jean Paul Lamirande again squared matters after blasting home Davy Jones' rebound and later Davy went in all alone only to have Cyr smother him.

Botley drew his second penalty and again the Canadiens' power-play paid off with Broden doing the honors to score the winner. Annable scored the clincher with seconds to go in the period.

The third chapter was scoreless with the Macs again failing to take advantage of two Hull penalties.

CAN YOU BELIEVE YOUR EYES?

At first glance a car may appear to be in outstanding condition, but it always pays to look a little closer.

A walk around the car should disclose any dents, rust or excessive body damage—a small amount is of little consequence so also check the operation of doors and windows.

If a door doesn't close properly it doesn't always mean that the frame is sprung . . . a simple adjustment may be all that is required.

You can believe everything you see at KEN PINDER LTD., 169 Front St.! Our cars aren't "doctored" or "touched up" just to give a good first impression. Phone WO 2-3468 and tell us what YOU want in a car suited to YOUR needs.

On the Tracks

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP)—Hillsdale pulled away with a rush at the stretch and won the $50,350 Malibu Stakes at Santa Anita park Saturday.

The highly regarded Jewel's Reward was second by 4½ lengths, and Swaps Kin third.

The Malibu lost much of its value and virtually all of its glamor when Silky Sullivan was declared from the field earlier in the day.

Silky, who would have been the sentimental if not the money favorite with the crowd of 41,800, wasn't deemed in top shape by his trainer, Reggie Cornell.

Quebec Hockey

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Chicoutimi Sagueneens and Trois-Rivieres Lions, battling for third place in the four-team Quebec Hockey League, both staged stunning upsets in Sunday action to remain deadlocked but advance to within two points of the second-place Quebec Aces.

The Lions blanked the league-leading Montreal Royals 6-0 while the Sagueneens crushed Aces 12-5.

At Trois-Rivieres, Bob Sabourin and Ed Hoekstra scored two goals each for the Lions.

The Chicoutimi game saw Jacques Gagnon score three times for the Saguenens.

East, South Win Annual Grid Classics

The East beat the West 26-14 and the South crushed the North 40-30 Saturday as the annual rash of post-season U.S. college football games got under way.

The East-West and North-South Shrine games were the major attractions of the day, but there also were two bowl games and the North and South clashed again in the classic Blue-Gray game.

The Blues partly made up for the North's drubbing in the Shrine game by whitewashing the Grays 16-0. Mississippi beat Florida 7-3 in the Gator Bowl and East Texas State upset Missouri Valley 26-7 in the Tangerine Bowl.

The post-season games reach its climax Thursday, with Iowa vs. California in the Rose Bowl, the Air Force vs. Texas Christian in the Cotton Bowl, Clemson vs. Louisiana State in the Sugar Bowl and Syracuse vs. Oklahoma in the Orange Bowl.

SET RECORD

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (CP)—Bill Yorzyk of the University of Toronto and Mike Troy of Indiana battled to a world record dead-heat decision Sunday in the 110-yard butterfly event of the east-west collegiate swims. They chopped eight-tenths of a second off the listed world mark with a clocking of 1:03 flat.

Weekend NHL Stars

Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion, who paced the Canadiens to a 6-3 triumph over Boston Bruins in Montreal Saturday night with a goal and three assists.

Chicago's Bobby Hull, whose second period goal gave the Black Hawks a 2-2 tie with the Maple Leafs in Toronto Saturday night.

George (Red) Sullivan of New York, with a goal and two assists Sunday night as the Rangers downed Montreal 5-3 in New York.

Alex Delvecchio, who scored Detroit's first goal and assisted on the next three as the Red Wings whipped Boston Bruins 5-2 before a hometown crowd Saturday night.

Eddie Litzenberger, who scored two goals including the winner as the Black Hawks dumped Toronto Maple Leafs 4-3 in Chicago Sunday night.

Kingston Whips Chevs Twice Roof Caves in on Maroons

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The roof appears to have fallen in on the slumping Chatham Maroons in the OHA-NOHA Senior A series.

The Maroons lost their grip on first place as they went down to their fifth straight defeat with two setbacks during the weekend. Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen took over the lead by a single point Saturday by whipping the Chatham club 6-1 and then, with a chance to regain it, Maroons were walloped 12-3 Sunday by Windsor Bulldogs.

It was Bulldogs' third consecutive win and moved them within two points of the fourth-place Soo Greyhounds who were beaten 5-3 Saturday night by Sudbury Wolves.

BELLEVILLE BEATEN

In the weekend action in the OHA Eastern senior, the Allan Cup champion Belleville McFarlands and last - place Cornwall Chevies suffered double losses. Whitby Dunlops trounced Belleville 11-2 Saturday night at Whitby and Hull-Ottawa Canadiens defeated the McFarlands 4-3 Sunday in Hull. Kingston Merchants blanked Cornwall 7-0 Saturday night in Kingston and in a return engagement Sunday wall came up with a 5-2 win.

A Kitchener crowd of 2,500 saw the Dutchmen on a four-goal outburst in the final seven minutes after leading 2-1. Buster Martin paced the Kitchener attack with two goals and two assists. Wayne Wylie, Don Rope, Ken Laufman and Larry Musselman scored once. The lone Chatham goal was counted by Copper Leyte midway through the second period.

EIGHT IN SECOND

Windsor came up with eight goals without a reply in the second period before 2,426 fans to defeat the Maroons. Murray Costello and Gord Haidy tied three goals each. Lou Bendo got a goal-and four assists and the other Windsor goals were scored by Wally Pawlyshyn, Bob Bruce, Johnny Hitesman, Joe Klukay and Fred Hildebrand.

Chatham Jerry Toppazzini's five goals in the third period. Gary Sharp and George Aitken scored a pair apiece with the other going to Danny Blair.

At the Soo, Sudbury scored four goals in the final period. Sudbury scorers were Joe Zorzin, with two, and John Logan, Gord Heale and Joe Malo.

Whitby's top line of Bobby Attersley, George Samolenko and Fred Etcher picked up 15 points in the Dunlops' rout of Belleville. Attersley scored three goals and two assists while his linemates each got a goal and four assists.

Red Sullivan tallied twice and each was scored by Whitney Youngberg, Sandy Orr, Don McLeland and Tom O'Connor. Belleville goals went to playing coach Ike Hildebrand and Johnny Desjardins.

Canadiens scored twice with a man advantage in their victory over Belleville. Canadiens' goals were divided four each between Bob Boucher, Connie Broden, Nobby Clarke and Frank Chaisson, and goals by Ken Lieseman, Roy Partridge and Gerry Toppazzini.

Moe Savard scored twice and the Kingston Frontenac goals were picked up by Rags Raglan, Bert Guidolin and Ray Partridge. Cornwall markamen were Cherry Costello and Gord Haidy ter Meiski and Bryan McLary.

Lucile Wheeler

Quebec's Blue-Eyed Redhead Named Top 1958 Gal Athlete

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — Lucile Wheeler, a blue - eyed redhead from the Laurentian village of St. Jovite, Que., and the fastest girl alive on skis, was acclaimed Friday as Canada's outstanding female athlete of 1958.

It marked the first time in the 24-year span of the Canadian Press year-end sports poll that a skier had won the honor. And she captured it in a sweep that recalled the days of Ottawa's Barbara Ann Scott who won the vote after skating to the 1948 Olympic and world championships.

The country's sports editors and broadcasters, asked by CP to name the best three individual Canadian athletes among women, in order, shot the now-retired 22-year-old world champion skier to the top by a tremendous margin over Mrs. Marlene Stewart Streit of Toronto, the "Little Bet" of the Canadian gold world and 1957 winner. Third was Ernestine Russell, pert gymnast from Windsor, Ont.

FAR IN LEAD

Based on three points for a first-place choice, two for second and one for third, Miss Wheeler picked up 218 points against 127 for Mrs. Streit and only 26 for Miss Russell. Twenty-one other athletes were named, mainly for third place, and the combined point-total was only 128.

The selection of the dedicated and dynamic skier had been practically a cinch for months—see! form charts of the hitherto European - dominated sport by winning the titles at the world Alpine skiing championships at Bad Gastein, Austria.

That was the only time a Canadian had won a world skiing title. Hurtling down at a speed that touched 60 miles an hour, she won the downhill race over a 27-gate Alpine course in 2:12.1, shattering the existing record by five seconds, a fantastic mark when it is considered that skiing records are broken usually by tenths of a second.

Two days later, on Feb. 8, she added the world giant slalom title.

PROMISE FULFILLED

She had fulfilled a promise she had made to herself 12 years ago —that she would break the European monopoly on world skiing titles. After her triumphs, she told her innkeeper father at St. Jovite: "Now I can relax," and her Austrian coach "I've done what I set out to do."

A few months later she announced her retirement from competitive skiing. Years of spartan living were behind her, ahead were public appearances and acclaim fit for a world champion. She received a series of congratulations from the Queen and was awarded the Perry Medal as the outstanding Commonwealth skier of the year.

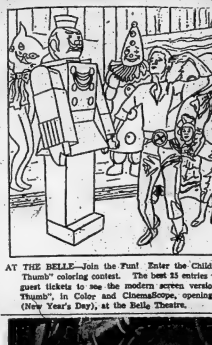
Juniors Seek Fourth Win Here Tonight

Belleville Lambert - Rollins will be seeking their fourth win in their last five starts here tonight when they play host to Peterborough Lions in an OHA Central Ontario Junior "B" fixture at 8:30 p.m.

The Lambert – Rollins, currently in third place in the five-team grouping, have picked up greatly after a slow start in which they won only one game in six. Since December 15th they have defeated Trenton 9-5, Prince Edward 11-4 and Kingston 9-2 while dropping a 9-5 decision to the first-place Kingston crew.



Belleville has a great opportunity to close the gap on Peterborough this week as they meet the Liftlock City club no less than three times. Following the game here tonight they play back in Peterborough Tuesday night and again Friday evening. Prince Edward will likewise visit play here on Monday, January 5th., this being their first start of the season in Belleville.

Port Hope Ontarios, who refer to defunct Trenton Lafferys, will make their initial start in Hilton tonight against the Combines. The Ontarios are in last place despite the fact they have not yet played a game having taken over Trenton's record of one win and nine loses. Following is the standing including all games played to date:

	W.	L.	Pts.
Kingston	10	2	20
Peterborough	9	3	18
Belleville	4	6	8
Prince Edward	3	7	6
Port Hope	1	9	2

WEST INDIES WINS

JAMSHEDPUR, India (Reuters)—An unbroken third wicket stand of 223 runs between Bob Smith of Jamaica and Rohan Kanhai of British Guiana sparked the West Indies to victory over the Bihar Governor's XI by 160 runs in a three-day cricket match which ended here Sunday. Smith scored 104 and Kanhai hit 100 before West Indies declared at 255 for two in their second innings, giving them a lead of 341 runs. They dismissed the Governor's XI for 181 in score a comfortable win with 50 minutes to spare. The final scores were: West Indies 276 and 255 for two declared: Bihar Governor's XI—180 and 181.

AT THE BELLE—Join the Fun! Enter the Children's "Tom Thumb" coloring contest. The best 25 entries will receive guest tickets to see the modern screen version of "Tom Thumb", in Color and CinemaScope, opening Thursday, (New Year's Day), at the Belle Theatre.

Movie Column

Hoot Gibson of Western Fame Back Again in Saddle

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Hoot Gibson is back before the movie cameras, and that news should evoke a flock of memories from veteran movie goers.

TV viewers, too. The Hoot Gibson westerns have been a staple in the television market since the early days of the medium.

How does he look? Older, of course. Hoot marked his 68th birthday last August. And he's not as spry as he used to be. He broke a hip three years ago and it hasn't really healed.

"I broke it the first time when I crashed in the air races in Los Angeles in 1923," he recalled. "Three years ago, I was climbing up a ridge on a horse. The horse slipped, and I couldn't get out from under. I smashed all the cartilage in the joint."

BACK WITH THUD

Hoot now has to gimp along, and that's exasperating to a man who has always devoted his life to speed. But he's still agile enough to be making his 215th film, his first in six years. He's making The Action, in Iver.

Born in dreared in Tekamah, Neb., Hoot got his nickname as a kid because he could do stunt the hoot owls in cavés. At 16, he left home to drive bikers from Nebraska to California.

"Then I got started riding in rodeos," he said. "I'd do that in the summer, then come to Hollywood in the winter and work in pictures. Started down here in 1910. It was pretty good money—$5 a day, and $6.50 if you had to fall off the horse.

"I had one stunt of diving a horse off a cliff and falling 45 feet into a lake. I got $25 for that one stunt men would charge $500 today. I tried to get the writers to put the stunt into every script I worked on."

Hoot also went in for racing autos and then airplanes, but it was the movies that made him world famous. Since 1945 he has devoted most of his time to real estate and oil interests.

It was in Las Vegas that Hoot saw his old friend Ford. The director suggested that Hoot play the blacksmith in his new civil war film starring John Wayne and William Holden.

So now Hoot's back in the saddle right where he belongs.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER

Tuesday, December 30, 1958

Aries (March 21 to April 19). A fine day to put your surroundings, desk, garden, affairs in splendid order. See that your automobile runs properly, too. Good that it is clean. Look into matters of health. Install machinery and gadget that increase efficiency.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20). Visit your beautician or tonsorial parlor for the haircut, massages, etc., you need to make you the more handsome. Then attend to most important duties, and spend evening with intelligent and inspiring individuals.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21). Be practical today. Is your property in good repair? Do what you can about increasing abundance too. Keep family happy and hopeful by industrious toil and constructive thinking. P.M. take it easy at home and invite a few friends in for coffee.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 21). Long conversations with friends and regular associates bring forth the information you seek and you are able to advance much more quickly now. P.M. very fine for any civil or educational interests you may have in the neighborhood.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21). An ideal day in which to get your budgeting on a more-firm and sound basis by eliminating those items which are absolutely unnecessary or expensive luxuries. Also, get your holdings on a more practical basis. Be factual.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22). A day for intimate talks and also for putting abode and surroundings in immaculate condition. Put into operation whatever brings you self-satisfaction. P.M. fine for cultivating those persons whom you admire and appreciate, and vice versa.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22). It pleases you to do little things cleanly and unobtrusively that swear you to others. Indulge in this today to heart's content. Perform as many charitable deeds as you can comfortably.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21). Friends with a perfectionist nature like yours today give fine ideas which you should follow; or else combine your joint efforts toward some very worthwhile goal. P.M. have an excellent time socially.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21). A day for thinking in terms of raising public prestige. You enjoy civic and patriotic expressions so get into them wholeheartedly now. Dine or meet with some powerful individual, if possible, preferably in P.M.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 19). Get into a higher consciousness today and expand by taking advantage of the many opportunities that are within easy reach. A fine day for an upswing in your affairs. Get away from the petty and small. Be broadminded.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19). As the year 1958 fades away into the nothingness, take stock of your true position with others and present financial condition. Clear away old bills, collect what is owed you, and be ready to open a new page on the ledger of life soon.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20). Fine day to know truly what you mean to others, if they are loyal to you, neutral, or your warm friends, whether in business or personal life. Decide to use a more effective psychology with them. Sign agreements if worth it.

If your child is born today: The lucky child born today will ever be precise and painstaking. Splendid chart for professions in all that concerns him or her, such as dentist, nurse, doctor, etc. First, too, for the beautician who will attract the finest clientele. Encourage your progeny.

PERSONAL WOES

They ran into the kitchen where they found Mrs. McQuinn's body sprawled across her husband's. Both were dead.

Police said afterward McQuinn had been shot three times. Grisch, a third slug ricocheted off a St. Christopher's medal he had worn around his neck. Mrs. McQuinn was killed by a single bullet.

Police said Reynolds had sold a tourist camp at Sturgeon Falls three years ago and invested the money in a lumber business in British Columbia. When the business failed more than a year ago, he went to Dundas to stay with Mrs. Grisch in a house which she later sold. He had been unemployed since his return to Ontario.

Const. Burkett told Reynolds he had quarrelled with Mrs. McQuinn and Mrs. Grisch because he felt some of the proceeds of the house sale should be his.

Reynolds had been adopted at the age of nine months and had grown up with Mrs. Grisch.

Inquest dates were set for inquests.

BY PIONEER FAMILY

Reynolds said Reynolds had been adopted at the age of nine months by an old Wentworth County pioneer family which lived in what now is the town of Dundas. He was raised by the Crown in the early 1890's.

His adopted sisters married. Both their husbands died about 10 years ago. One sister moved to Sarnia, Ontario when he was a youth and worked in lumber camps and sawmills around.

He married Susan, formerly of Sault Ste. Marie and they had two children, Mary and David.

David was killed in 1953 in a British Columbia logging camp accident. Mary died two years ago in a car crash in Ontario. Her husband remarried and kept the older two of his three girls. Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds took Dawn, then one-year-old.

NEAR THE SCENE

They lived alternatively in Northern Ontario—chiefly at Sault Ste. Marie, and at the old family home in Dundas, a two-storey house where Mrs. Grisch lived.

Mrs. Wintemute built the $35,000 Greensville bungalow, where the first shooting took place in 1954 after the death of her husband. Mrs. McQuinn was her daughter.

Between the time Reynolds left for Northern Ontario last spring and when he returned in September, Mrs. Grisch had had the Dundas house repainted by Mr. McQuinn and sold it. The Reynolds moved into the house in front of the Wintemute house in September.

Clarie Gills Weds Secretary

GLACE BAY, N. S. (CP)—Clarie Gills, CCF member of Parliament for Cape Breton South, his defeat in 1957, was married here Saturday in a quiet ceremony.

The second wife of the 63-year-old former coal miner is the former Teresa Sargent of Glace Bay, a former credit union secretary.

The marriage was performed in St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church by the parish priest. Mr.-Gills' first wife died about three years ago. He is the father of four children.

Attendants were Joseph Shiebel, Glace Bay school principal, and Miss Edith Aulcorist, a friend of the bride.

lents of the 10 countries. Restrictions which prevent them from getting unlimited foreign exchange at the official rates still prevail.

But most can purchase foreign currencies from private traders at a rate slightly above the official. And they should find foreign firms readier to sell to them since the sellers can convert the[ir] paymehts.

Dutch economists warned that wider trade would result only if Dutch firms do not throw up new tariff barriers and import quotas to keep foreign products out.

Limited convertibility is a step toward the distant goal of complete convertibility, the day when anybody in any country can exchange any currency for any other at a uniform, official rate. A British treasury spokesman commented that that "seems still to be a long way off."

Beginning today, the foreign ten will let British visitors take in pounds and cur ency them at the official rate. Previously, if a man wants to buy in West Germany, dollars if he wants to go into the U.S., he must get the money he needs or wants.

SIZE AUSTRALIA MOVE

Vienna newspapers predicted that the Austrian government soon would go all the way, making the schilling freely convertible both for foreigners and for Austrian nationals.

The switch to limited convertibility in Britain and Europe at present continued large increases in the foreign exchange holdings of the U.S. and Canada, despite the lessening of demand for the U.S. dollar as a means of payment. Canadian nations had expanded, and a desire by Britain to meet the competition of the six - nation European Common Market, formed in 1957, is behind the move.

The key to the convertibility switch was Britain's decision. British pound, as the currency of the vast sterling bloc, buys more than any of the goods in the world. Britain tried limited convertibility in 1947 but her stock of dollars wasn't sufficient to stand the run. Convertibility was suspended after a few months.

SOCIALISTS DOUBTFUL

London's Socialist Reynolds News doubted that the British pound will "have not a sufficient reserve of gold and dollars to make its convertibility a safe gamble." But sources in Britain's conservative government expressed no repetition of the 1947 run. They expected that most in trade to increase the demand for the pound itself.

Britain's gold and dollar reserves at the end of October were just over $3,000,000,000, the highest in more than seven years.

For France, though, it was a real gamble. Her gold and dollar reserves have been running at about $500,000,000.

The easing of exchange restrictions was brought on not by the European Payments Union, which had acted as a clearing house for the trade of the 17 countries in the Organization for European Co-operation and Development since the European straits to defer payment of 25 per cent of the foreign exchange they earn to other countries.

EPU is being replaced by the European Monetary Agreement, which will require full payments at the period balancing-up. Meanwhile, EPU set up a $600,000,000 fund to give short-term credits to countries whose foreign exchange stocks are dangerously low.

national organization to thwart an otherwise inevitable rebel victory.")

Rebel reports from Oriente indicated that the 10,000 Batista troops there were in desperate straits.

CLAIM 296 PRISONERS

The insurgents claimed they had taken the city of Palma Soriano, an important point on the highway between Santiago and Santiago, and inflicted 600 casualties on a government force. Including 296 prisoners-taken. Rebel casualties were put at 27 dead and 60 wounded.

The rebel broadcasts said a rebel column had begun holding out-at Maffo, near the highway town of Contramaestre, but that Batista's government had left the town virtually destroyed. Rebel broadcasts indicated the four rebel columns driving toward Santiago would make a junction at Maffo to form a large garrison which has been dug in there for months. Capture of Contramaestre-Maffo would be a major victory and give them a capital for their government.

The rebels have promised to create a government soon with Manuel Urrutia as the Castro-approved president. A former magistrate, Urrutia was banished by Batista 18 months ago for refusing to free 26 July-captured rebels. He has returned to Oriente after exile in the United States.

CURRENCY MOVES

but Mr. Fleming maintained it eliminates Britain's persistent plea that she could not withdraw all her curbs on goods from Canada, the U.S. and other dollar areas for fear of a short run on dollars.

This forward step means that there is no longer financial reason for any distinction in payments for imports between dollar sources and other sources of supply," he said.

"This is what is meant by the unification of official sterling and non-official sterling. As a result of this action, the financial basis for restricting imports from dollar countries more severely than from other outside sources has disappeared."

Britain's move does not mean complete convertibility between pounds and dollars. Britain still maintains a lot of import curbs on dollar - area manufactured goods. But she eliminated these quota curbs on salmon, office machinery and newsprint at the Montreal Commonwealth conference last September and promised to start working on elimination ad-curbs on consumer goods and food-stuffs early in 1959.

IMPORTANT MARKETS

□ Next to the U.S., Britain is Canada's top market. It is taking about $700,000,000 worth of Canadian goods a year. The Canadian market in Europe as a whole averages about $1,000,000,000 a year while the total overseas sterling area market may take as much as $1,100,000,000 worth of Canadian goods.

West Germany, France, Denmark, Holland and other West European countries immediately announced their own moves towards full convertibility. France went beyond all others, slashing import curbs on 90 per cent of her imports, devaluing the franc by 17.55 per cent and lifting subsidies and increasing taxes at home to cut a huge budget deficit.

The French move, announced by Premier de Gaulle Sunday, will boost exports of Canadian and other imports in France but will tend to reduce sales of French goods in Canada and other world markets. In France, Frenchmen will have to work harder to earn dollars.

SALES TO FRANCE SMALL

France is a relatively small market for Canadian goods, taking about 2.5 per cent of the country's essentials such as synthetic rubber, base metals and forest products.

Her import curbs were tough. Canadian sales to that market dropped this year. Federal officials pleaded for easing of these curbs on some products but their appeals were rejected. The feeling here is that Canadian exports to France will climb, despite the prospect that importers will have to pay higher prices. The increased exports would be mostly in raw materials.

Mr. Fleming said that on the over-all situation, it is not clear that Canada's exports will rise in a precise way, but Britain's move, he concluded, is a reasonable one which will contribute significantly to the opportunities available to our exporters in many parts of the world."

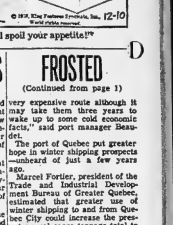
very expensive route although it may take them three years to wake up to some cold economic facts," said port manager Beaudet.



The port of Quebec put greater hope in winter shipping prospects —inbroad of July a few years ago.

Marcel Fortier, president of the Trade and Industrial Development Bureau of Greater Quebec, estimated that greater use of winter shipping to and from Quebec City could increase the present annual cargo tonnage total to 5,200,000 from 3,400,000.

Churchill, in northern Manitoba, which always has a short season because of ice, handled 513,2 tons of shipping during the nine-month period to September. Forty-six foreign ships arrived and 47 departed; 11 coastal vessels arrived and 10 departed. Major cargo from Churchill was 453,914 tons of wheat.

John Foster Dulles Gives Impression of Man Who Takes Health, Long Life for Granted

By WARREN ROGERS Jr.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Crises come and crises go—Korea, Formosa, Indochina, Hungary, Suez, Lebanon and Iran, Berlin — but John Foster Dulles goes on and on.

Shrugging away illnesses, the 70-year-old U.S. secretary of state gives the impression of a man who takes good health and long life for granted.

"Don't worry and keep busy" is his motto.

When a cancer operation laid him low Nov. 3, 1956, he hardly lost stride. In a few days he was firing off cables and telephoning orders from bedside.

When discomfort, if not down right pain, hit him in Mexico City last Nov. 30, he swore his aides to secrecy and carried on with his usual aplomb. He attended the inauguration of President Alfonso Lopez Mateos, made a speech in San Francisco and then five days later—checked into Walter Reed Medical Centre here.

His ailment was diagnosed as diverticulitis of the colon. This means a weak section of the lower intestine swells into a pouch, much as a bump forms on a balloon or auto tire.

Inflammation and pain results and, if medication and rest do not clear it up, an operation is necessary to strengthen the weak spot with stitches.

Dulles settled down to a regimen of strict bed rest, bland diet, antiseptic washes and detective stories. When the time came he flew away for the Dec. 16-18 Atlantic pact ministerial meeting.

RAISES QUESTION

The natural question is, how does he do it?

"I like the work," he said in an interview. "I find it challenging, always stimulating. But the big thing that keeps me going is the confidence of the President. As long as my health permits and as long as President Eisenhower wants me, I will stay on as secretary of state."

Dulles said he never worries about selective criticism, and he acknowledged there has been a lot.

"As a matter of fact I don't read all that stuff about me very much," he said. "What good would it do? It would only make me mad and that would interfere with my work."

Dulles spends about 11 hours a day taking care of what he calls "technical details." That is, when he is not flying off to some foreign capital. He has logged about 350,000 miles of travel since he took office Jan. 20, 1953.

RELAXES IN CHAIR

When he is through, he gets to his desk about 8:20 a.m. He lunches in his back office, usually relaxing for about an hour in one of those chairs that tilts back and supports the whole body. He goes home about 7:15 p.m., generally still reading something by the dome light in the rear of his limousine.

He tries to avoid taking work home with him. If he has no formal dinner to go to, he and Mrs. Dulles might play a little backgammon before retiring. He usually reads himself to sleep with detective stories.

When he feels the need of a few days away from it all, he flies to Duck Island in Lake Ontario. There, he and Mrs. Dulles set up shop in a log cabin. They fish, watch birds, cook and wash dishes.

"I get all this business out of my mind," Dulles said.

PICTURE OF HEALTH

Dulles always has presented a picture of robust health.

A shade under six feet tall, he walks with a slight stoop, head thrust forward, hands thrust in pocket, coat tails flapping. Rather red chested, although thin in the shanks, he weighs about 180 pounds.

Dulles comes naturally by the moralistic principles he injects into foreign policy utterances. His grandfather was a missionary and his father was a Presbyterian pastor.

"Just a Second"

"I told you not to wear that damp underwear."

Canadian Legion Elects 1959 Officers

MARMORA — The annual meeting and election of officers for Marmora Branch No. 227 Canadian Legion, was held in the Legion Hall on Sunday and the following will be the executive and committee chairmen for 1959: president — W. A. Halliwell; 1st vice-pres. — J. N. Cram; 2nd vice-pres. T. Shannon; treas. — Vaughan Glover; sec. — Robert Gray; sgt.-at-arms — H. Williams; chairman of committees: canteen — P. Gray; park and cemetery — W. E. Kerr; sick committee — Albert Bartlett; entertainment — Cyril Taddy, poppy fund — P. Gray; public relations — W. E. Kerr; sports officer — J. Herman; membership — J. Herman; service bureau officer — S. Kerr; trustees — N. Mumby, H. Naylor, P. Gray, William Regan and J. W. Hickey.

H-S Assoc. Presents Fine Yuletide Program

MARMORA — A lovely Christmas program was put on by the school children at the Christmas meeting of Marmora Public Home and School Association.

The meeting was held in the lower school on Wednesday evening with the president, Mrs. G. Meiklejohn presiding.

Carol singing was enjoyed by all with Mrs. Mawer at the piano, and vocal numbers were given by pupils of each room as also recitations and piano solo, by Alan Grant.

A devotional period was held with the Rev. F. O. Miller and the Rev. J. M. McLeod giving the Christmas stories.

The banner went to Mr Watson's room.

The Rev. J. Glover closed with prayer.

Residents Mark Silver Anniversary

WELLINGTON — Mr. and Mrs. Allan E. Marvin, Picton, entertained at a turkey dinner at Smith's Inn, Bloomfield on, Tuesday evening. Their guests were their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Roxborough, Demorestville; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Marvin; Misses Carol and Mary Marvin, Wellington. The occasion was in celebration of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Marvin's 25th wedding anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin (nee Violet Sherwin) were married in the United Church parsonage, Consecon on December 23, 1933 by the late Rev. E. F. Swayne. Their attendants were: Miss Marie Cleave, now Mrs. Albert Reed, North Bay; and the late Mr. Carl Morden.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin have resided in Wellington for the past 21 years. Mr. Marvin has been chief constable, assessor and tax collector of the village of Wellington for 20 years. He has been clerk of the First Division Court of the County for 11 years.

They have three children, one son, Allen of Picton and two daughters, Carol and Mary, both attending P.E.C.I.

WELLINGTON

Mr., Mrs. Thomas Smith Celebrate Diamond Wedding Anniversary

WELLINGTON — Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Smith, Main St., Wellington, were "at home," on Sunday afternoon on the occasion of the celebration of their 60th wedding anniversary.

Welcoming the many friends and relatives who came to call were two granddaughters, Misses Freda Hudson, and Judy Smith, Toronto.

Mrs. Laura Wight sister-in-law assisted Mrs. Hudson and Mrs. Malcprize in serving the dainty refreshments including a piece of the anniversary cake.

There were two bouquets on the dining table, a dozen roses interspersed from a brother, Walter Wight, in Winnipeg and "mums and snapdragons from their four children, while in the living room was a pot of yellow mums, from grandson, Garbet Malmprize, Hamilton, and a pink azalea from the Wellington Women's Institute.

They received the following message from Buckingham Palace, "The Queen sends you warm congratulations and good wishes on your diamond wedding day" signed by the private secretary. There were also congratulations and best wishes from the Prime Minister and from the Province of Ontario, signed by the provincial secretary.

The telephone was busy all day as they received calls from Clifford, in Rochester, N.Y.; from Mr. and Mrs. J. Wight, also born in Hastings, but has spent most of her life in Prince Edward County.

They have four living children, Mrs. Henry (Helen) Mainprize, Warings Corners; Mr. and Mrs. George Smith, Toronto; Mrs. Clifford Smith, Rochester, N.Y.; Mrs. Arthur Hudson, Wellington.

They are proud of their ten grandchildren and 16 great grandchildren.

Mr. Smith has been retired for the past 12 years due to a neck injury in a car accident. He is around the house but cannot walk down street. Mrs. Smith is active and busy helping with the housework, and canning. She is enjoying good health. They both enjoy T.V.

TRENTON MAN HELD FOR WIFE'S MURDER

Cuban Rebels Carry Sabotage To Havana Area

House-to-House Fights Persist in Santa Clara

Apologetic Lady Bandit Strikes Again

HAVANA (AP)—Rebels carried their war of sabotage to the Havana area today as an explosive accompaniment to the battle of Santa Clara in central Cuba.

A heavy blast rocked the town of Guanabacoa, across Havana Bay, just before dawn and awakened thousands in this capital, 10 miles away.

This was reported to have resulted from firing of a Cuban army arms company warehouse, exploding stores of dynamite. There were rumors that seven soldiers on guard duty there died in the explosion. Windows were broken over a wide area.

Two smaller blasts were reported in the southern part of Havana.

Rebel sympathizers here say they have 5,000 armed partisans within the city. They declared there would be startling developments soon in Havana regardless of the outcome of rebel leader Fidel Castro's battle to seize Santa Clara and cut Cuba in two.

HOUSE BATTLES

Fierce house-to-house fighting apparently persisted today in that capital of central Las Villas Province.

Informed sources said casualties were heavy on both sides. One private informant estimated nearly 1,000 men had been killed or wounded.

The government used bombers, tanks, armored cars and artillery to support troops fighting from house to house against the outnumbered infantrymen of rebel leader Fidel Castro. Informed sources claimed rebels were being dislodged from one position after another.

Thousands of civilians fled Santa Clara, capital of the rich central farming province of Las Villas. The city of 150,000 persons is 180 miles east of Havana.

REBELS CLAIM TOWNS

The rebels claimed control of two other provincial towns in the north of Las Villas Province and much

Govt. to Pay Higher Grants For Indigents

TORONTO (CP) — Municipal Affairs Minister Warrender today announced an increased unconditional grants to municipalities which will "more than offset" their costs for indigent hospital patients.

He said grants worth 40 per cent of the average costs for 1955, 1956 and 1957 will be paid, with a guarantee they cover at least 70 per cent of the cost for 1958.

The introduction of hospital insurance will mean "drastically reduced" costs for hospital indigency in 1959, he said, because more people will have coverage and the province will be insuring all known social assistance cases and municipalities will be able to insure their own unemployment relief cases.

"In consequence, the province's contribution of 40 per cent of the average aggregate cost of hospital indigents in the three years from 1955 to 1957 should more than meet the municipal costs on this account."

The grant is to be paid to cities, separated towns, counties and local municipalities in territorial districts. In the case of county municipalities the grant will be paid to the county and municipalities no longer will have to pay the county 50 per cent of their hospital indigency costs.

SCHOOL DAMAGED

RENFREW (CP)—The Queen Elizabeth Public School was heavily damaged by fire Monday night. The interior of three classrooms and a gym - auditorium were destroyed and eight other classrooms suffered smoke and water damage. About 440 pupils attend the school.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) Synopsis:

Colder air covered all of Southern Ontario early today and temperatures dropped slowly.

Skies were clear in Northern Ontario, where early morning temperatures ranged from five below to 19 below zero. It should be milder air over Manitoba will gradually edge eastward giving some relief over the week end Wednesday).

In Southern Ontario skies were expected to clear this afternoon, with tonight's temperatures expected to drop to 5 to 10 above. A diffused storm centre over the Gulf of Mexico is expected to spread some cloudiness over Southern Ontario Wednesday afternoon, as it progresses northeastward across the Gulf states.

Holiday Toll Is 58 Lives

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Accidents in Canada during the four-day Christmas holiday took a total of 58 lives, more than a third of them in Ontario.

Forty persons, died in traffic mishaps. The second number predicted before the start of the holiday period by the Canadian Highway Safety Conference.

Three more died by drowning; five died in fires and 10 of unclassified causes.

The Canadian Press survey covered the period from noon Thursday to midnight Sunday.

Of Ontario's 22 deaths, 11 resulted from road accidents.

Moscow Hot Spots Booked Solid For New Year's Eve, Vodka Scarce

MOSCOW (AP) — Muscovites jamming the night spots on New Year's Eve will probably have to depend on champagne or other spirits, as the government has cut down on vodka, to make them merry.

The Soviet capital's downtown hotel dining rooms, restaurants and cafes are booked solid for the gayest night of the Russian year. Everything is expected to restrict vodka drinkers to 180 grams —about one shot—for the evening, in accordance with Premier Nikita Khrushchev's campaign to discourage drunkenness.

But the proprietors assured inquirers that ordinary, moderate drinkers of lighter intoxicants will be available in quantities.

Khrushchev in a speech Oct. 17 said a new law was being written under which a customer could get only one shot of strong drink in a restaurant. "Those who want five glasses will have to go to five restaurants," said the premier. "They'll sober up while making the rounds."

Most officials believed the new directive would not become fully effective until New Year's Day. But many restaurants began restricting their customers last Saturday, and were encouraging them to 30 below zero discouraged many Soviet citizens making the rounds. On New Year's Eve they probably won't get into restaurants unless they have reserved servations.

For the celebration most restaurants are offering a special dinner with wine, champagne, music, dancing and 100 grams of vodka a customer. The cost's 150 rubles, $37.50 at the official rate. Anything else will be extra.

The government boosted the price of vodka 20 per cent a year ago and sales of Russia's most popular intoxicant went down.

The new Soviet law rationing the hard stuff - virtually duplicates a law Sweden tried for 40 years. The Swedes abandoned it in 1955, having increased their consumption of hard liquor steadily to the highest in the world, a little over five quarters a year.

MISTY WEATHER CAUSES MANY ONTARIO MISHAPS

400-Mile Fog Belt Grounds Air Flights

By THE CANADIAN PRESS.

A wide belt of vision-obscuring fog that led to the death of one motorist, injury to 30 persons, a spectacular 29-car collision and the grounding of airliners began to lift from Ontario late Monday night.

The 400-mile fog belt extended from Chicago to Montreal and from Toledo, Ohio, to Exriton, 30 miles south of Kirkland Lake.

The first Trans - Canada Airlines flight in 24 hours from Toronto's Malton Airport left at 10 p.m. Monday. Before the fog lifted some incoming planes stranded at London, Ont., and Buffalo, N.Y., and Toronto passengers continued their journey by bus and taxi. Flights from Western Canada were held at Winnipeg and others were cancelled.

The weather office forecast colder weather and a slight drizzle for today with visibility improved.

MAN KILLED

George Bath, 31, of Orangeville, was killed Monday when the car he was driving was in head-on collision with a pickup truck just north of Malton.

His passengers: Alfred T. Sunley, 42, Clinton J. Toms, 34, both of Orangeville, and Dorothy Winbolt, 31, of Mono Mills, were all severely injured.

Mrs. Toms was seriously injured and damage in the thousands of dollars was caused in a 29-vehicle collision on the Metrovitville highway 10 miles north of Windsor. Pieter Pouts, 23, of Fenwick, suffered a broken pelvis, collarbone and ankles when his brakes jammed and his vehicle slid out of the path of a truck driven by William Medland of St. Catharines. The truck hit a school bus driven by Alice Catterall of St. Catharines, which slid into the ditch. Other vehicles piled into the wreckage which was hidden from view by fog.

One police officer described the scene as "just bang, bang, bang, bang."

Police said CNR engineer Kenneth Dawe of Sudbury saved his train from serious injury by slowing his diesel to a crawl and

She fell on a crowded downtown sidewalk, crumpling Victor Ramirez, 43, a clerk in a flower seller beneath her. He died in hospital.

MD's Oppose Medical Care Inclusion in Hospital Plan

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Hospital Services Commission looks to bring hospital out-patients into the hospital insurance plan, the commission chairman said Monday.

Dr. R. W. Urquhart said at a press conference it has not been decided yet when this will be accomplished or what out-patients will be covered. But they definitely would be brought into the plan.

The press conference was held to discuss various aspects of the scheme which comes into effect January 1. Cost during it will cost about $210,000,000 a year.

Dr. Urquhart said doctors don't want any medical care included in the program.

Dr. Urquhart said hospital insurance isn't a deliberate forerunner for health insurance including medical care.

"Some of that will come in my time," he said. "Can the economy of this country afford a full-blown health insurance plan?

"We've got to creep before we can walk."

He told the newspaper men that about 3,300,000 persons now are enrolled in the hospital insurance program. Of these, 4,100,000 are in groups, the majority mandatory groups but some in voluntary collectant groups. The remaining 1,200,000 are pay-direct subscribers.

Dr. Urquhart said retarded children and the senile will be eligible for benefits if they need constant care. Alcoholics and dangerous addicts would be eligible only if they were suffering physiologically.

The commission chairman also emphasized that hospitals will retain their autonomy.

He said: "there is no question, too, that the private resources of the community will still be necessary to provide a large part of the capital cost of hospital construction. Private philanthropy is still to be encouraged. The commission's budgets will be supervised by the commission.

Dr. Urquhart said the Ontario mission sees its own role as one of advice and guidance rather than of control.

Dr. Urquhart said hospitals will be built only after the first time but this will not mean an end to financial problems. All

Suspected U.S. Bank Robber Arrested by Toronto Police

TORONTO (CP)—An American $23,000 South Carolina bank robbery was arrested along with seven others in local police early today after a Toronto cabbie whispered for police help into his car radio.

The police stopped the cab of Harvey Russell, 22, and a car full, towing it and questioned the occupants. They took them all into custody and a .45-calibre automatic was found in one of the cars.

The men were identified as Harry B. Davis, 34, of the Bronx, New York, and Russell in connection with the bank holdup at Latta, S.C., early Monday, and Golden, 34, and Otis Mitchell, 40, who were charged with the theft of a .45-calibre revolver.

An old suit box with two bullets in it was later discovered in one of the cars. It contained more than $11,000 in United States currency.

Police said there was no trouble arresting the men as the cars in Toronto's west end but earlier the holdup suspect and the Bronx man had been in an argument over money and a shot was fired, the police said.

They said the shot was fired into the trunk of Golden's car as Davis tried to take the cars in his suitcase while the car was stopped for a traffic light.

FBI agent Leo Kennedy said a nephew of Davis was arrested in Toronto Monday after the bank holdup. He said the remainder of the money was recovered there.

Police said Davis apparently made his way to Detroit where he asked Golden to drive him to Toronto. Golden brought Mitchell along for the ride.

Helicopters Rescuing Crew Of Stranded Ship

OCEAN CITY, Md. (AP)—Helicopters started lifting crew members to shore today from an oil tanker aground on a sandbar off the Maryland Atlantic Ocean summer resort.

The Coast Guard sent out by the Coast Guard, navy and marines began lifting the shipwrecked sailors in two - and three at a time.

All 47 crew aboard the Liberian tanker African Queen were reported safe and awaiting rescue.

The African Queen was on its way to Paulsboro, N.J., from Puerto La Cruz, Venezuela, with a cargo of crude oil. She radioed for help early Sunday after running in two. At 8 a.m. she sent the S O S till dozen call.

The first planes to reach the scene described the sea as moderate, with 10 - foot waves and waves and a 20-knot north-northwest wind.

along for company. The men arrived in Tongass early today.

FIRE KILLS TURKEYS

THAMESFORD, Ont. (CP)—About 2,000 one-day-old turkeys were destroyed Monday when an insulated feed shed caught fire of undetermined origin broke out in the Cold Springs Farm hatchery here.

Russia Getting Tough on Plans For West Berlin

LONDON (AP)—Moscow radio told English - language listeners today Russia will not retreat from its plans to make West Berlin a free city.

An earlier broadcast, beamed to Germany, said the Soviet Union was ready to talk over the future status of Berlin.

The tough line of the English broadcast sounded much like the statement beamed at Germany, which said the Soviet Union was not in smooth out Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko's recent warning that the Berlin issue is a ticklish world war.

It is a question of who should retreat on the problem of Berlin. It obviously is not the West. The Soviet position on the matter has been humane and consistent," the English broadcast said.

It called the Western recognition of Communist East Germany, a concession the West so far has been unwilling to make.

It scoffed at Western suggestions that Russia was looking for a face-saving compromise. It said the West had "lost face long ago" both in the German question in general and the Berlin question in particular."

Channel Cleared By Icebreakers Again Filled

MONTREAL (CP)—Four federal icebreakers today resumed operations on the frozen St. Lawrence River in a drive to reach 13 jammed freighters trapped in Montreal harbor for the last three weeks by an ice blockade.

The operation could last a week probably be a week before the four reach Montreal. The icebreakers—D'Iberville, N.B. Mc-Lean, Simcoe and Wolfe—are slow and calm—were forced to stop when Monday night because of a heavy fog.

They were reported in the Sorel, Que., area near Lake St. Ours, about 40 miles from Montreal.

The harbor spokesman said a channel cleared last week almost to the Sorel area has since filled with ice after the icebreakers had been called to Sorel to break jams there.

Meanwhile the water level in Montreal harbor was 51 feet Monday, some four feet below the flood danger level. At 25 feet the river spills its bank on the south shore opposite the city. The normal summer depth is 35 feet.

CENTURIES-OLD TRADE BARRIERS WILL FALL AWAY

Six Nations Form Common Market Pact

PARIS (AP) — Six continental nations turn over a new leaf Thursday, bringing closer to reality the dream of a united Europe.

In the new year dawns, centuries-old trade barriers will begin to fall away. The European Economic Community, or common market, will gradually come into being.

Framers of the common market treaty look ahead to higher living standards for their 168,000,000 people. Equally important, they feel that Western Europe will no longer be a cauldron of war.

The common market pact was signed nearly two years ago in Rome by France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg. It has been in force since its info effect New Year's Day.

MANY PROVISIONS

The treaty's 248 articles are enough to make an accountant's head whirl. But basically this is what will happen:

Each of the six nations will cut its tariffs against the other by 10 per cent. Thus French iron ore will lose its levy in West Germany.

Each of the six will open its frontiers to an over-all 20 per cent more goods from the other five. This is technically known as increasing import quotas. As a result, France will be able to sell more French and West German cars speeding along the autobahnen.

The new import quotas must amount to at least three per cent of the national output of each product.

FREE TRADE OBJECTIVE

This is just a small start on the road to free and unrestricted trade. The final goal is to be achieved over a transition period of 12 to 15 years.

These drastic liberalization measures will be applied only within "little Europe." There still will be tariffs against the rest of the nation area and the outside world.

The outside wall will gradually rise. Each of the six will apply sky high tariffs of France and Italy will drop. Belgium, Netherlands, Luxembourg and West Germany will raise their outside barriers significantly. So six will have uniform protection against outside competition — foot notions.

The common market treaty provides that the visitor will also need to the vast overseas areas belonging to the six. The Dutch Duke of Netherlands of France and Belgium will be given preferential association.

The six and the eleven will confront each other Jan. 15 in Paris in a new effort to make peace.

Estranged Wife Of H.C. Scarlett Tragedy Victim Stabbed in Bathroom, 4 Children Sleep Nearby

COBOURG (CP) — Harold Curtiss Scarlett, 32, of nearby Trenton was charged with murder today in the knife-slaying of his 24-year-old estranged wife, Julia.

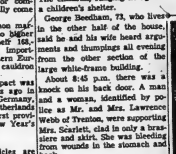
Police said Mrs. Scarlett was stabbed in the bathroom of the house while four children slept in an adjoining bedroom. The children, ranging in age from three to eight, were taken to a children's shelter.

George Brown, 72, who lives in the other half of the house, said he and his wife heard arguments and thumpings all evening from the other section of the large white-frame building.

About 8:45 p.m. there was a knock on his back door. A man and a woman, identified by police as Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Webb of Trenton, were supporting Mrs. Scarlett, who had a gash in her throat. She was bleeding from wounds in the stomach and back.

The Webbs had carried the dying woman out her front door, down the side of the house to the Scarlett's back door.

CALLS POLICE



Mr. Beecham laid Mrs. Scarlett on the kitchen floor and covered her with a blanket. Then he called police. Mrs. Scarlett died in Cobourg General Hospital at 8:17 p.m.

Scarlett, a CPR yard supervisor in Trenton, was charged with murder at 2:30 a.m. He is to appear in magistrate's court here next Monday.

It was the first murder charge laid in Cobourg for 99 years.

Mrs. Scarlett and her children moved to Cobourg Nov. 1, leaving her husband in Trenton. Mr. Scarlett visited them just before Christmas, bringing gifts and a Christmas tree.

Also living with Mrs. Scarlett were a sister, Mrs. Marjorie Dobbie, an employee of a Cobourg hotel, and her father, William Loveless, about 60.

Man Ate Cow Charged With Concealing It

BANGOR, Me. (AP)—Livestock dealer Robert Pepper complained in court in a civil court that he sold a cow to a farmer and didn't get his money.

"So you sold the cow to her?" asked Judge James A Mooney.

"Yes, lahe," Pepper replied. "He's eaten it."

Mooney issued a warrant charging the farmer with concealing mortgaged property.

Ministers Ask Lockhart Stay

WINNIPEG (CP) — The Free Press says a group of United Church ministers has asked Dr. W. C. Lockhart, principal of Manitoba College, to withdraw his decision to resign.

Dr. Lockhart thendered his resignation, to take effect next Aug. 31, as a result of a controversy over the faculty of Professor Harry S. Crowe. Prof. Crowe has since been reinstated.

JOIN ROYAL YACHT

HALIFAX (CP)—Six Canadian sportsmen left Halifax by plane today to join the Royal Yacht Britannia, the navy announced. They will be served on the Britania on a world trip by Prince Philip, Duke of Edinburgh and will be aboard the vessel when it brings Queen Elizabeth to Canada next summer. Seven other Canadian sportsmen and two officers will be joined to the ship later.

Traffic Death Toll Over U.S. Holiday 594

CHICAGO(AP)—The final traffic toll in the U.S. during the four-day Christmas holiday was 594.

The toll was under a prepholiday estimate of 620 made by the National Safety Council. It compared with 341 deaths counted during the same Christmas non-holiday period and to the record 609 for the 1957 four-day Christmas holiday weekend in 1956.

In addition to the auto fatalities, 83 persons died in fires and 28 others were killed in accidents in an over-all total of 784. The record over-all total for the period was in the Christmas period of 1955.

ACQUIT LAWYER

TORONTO (CP) — A Toronto lawyer was acquitted Monday on a charge of assault thereby against a fellow apartment house dweller. Remington White was charged after Charles Godfrey said the lawyer told him: "I'll kill you soon." White testified—the trouble began when he found a car parked in his parking area, and "Godfrey told the car's owner when I let the air out of three of the tires."

TV Producers' Pickets Ignored By CBC Newsmen and Technicians

MONTREAL (CP)—Picket lines set up by television producers' union were broken today by news technicians and newsmen at the CBC-in Montreal.

The walkout of 75 television producers seeking recognition for their new union got a promise of support earlier today from seven other unions of CBC employees, but the threatened walkout by CBC's two radio and two television stations here has not yet materialized.

The English-language CBM and French-language CBF radios went on the air and first news broadcasts went out as usual at 8 a.m.

Montreal members of the Canadian Wire Service Guild — a branch of the American Newspaper Guild (CLC)—voted Monday night to support the producers' walkout but were overruled this morning by their national headquarters in Toronto.

Marcel Dubue, a radio news editor for CBF, said the guild members had been advised by President Joe Gibson of Toronto to cross the picket line and not unfairly to enter the buildings if they wished.

Mr. Gibson in a statement advised members to work, and told them the executive committee had been under no obligation to respect the picket lines but that the guild would try to protect members who respected the lines as a matter of conscience.

They were not, however, to do producers' work, or anything but their normal duties.

It was reported that office workers, members of the Association of Radio and Television Employees of Canada, also were advised to work by their national office in Ottawa.

Many worked this morning. The local was to meet later to

Blizzard Kills Four Persons In New Mexico

DUMBAS, Tex. (AP)—A raging blizzard in New Mexico is across eastern New Mexico, in Panhandle of Texas and part of western Oklahoma.

Four stranded motorists—most of them lowans bound for Pasadena, Calif., and New Year's Day Rose Bowl football game between Iowa and California—were stranded at a restaurant in eastern New Mexico when snow blocked all roads in the area. They were housed in the National Guard armory and private homes after all hotels and motels were filled. Twenty inches of snow fell at Conchas Dam, 35 miles north of Tucumari.

460 IN CANADA

Another 400 motorists remained stranded today in this Texas Panhandle town after the howling blizzard drove a six-inch snow into drifts as high as 15 feet.

The New Mexico state police said approximately 1,000 automobiles were marooned on a 18-mile stretch of U.S. Highway 66 about 60 miles east of Albuquerque.

Hundreds of other motorists found shelter in scores of Texas and New Mexico towns as the new blizzard drove a six-inch snow into drifts as high as 15 feet.

The 11-inch snowfall that crippled parts of Portland Saturday was the heaviest in the recorded history of the city, the largest in New England. Thousands of residents were without electricity or transportation.

In the prep division team three came first let by Doug Hallam. Boys given first place ribbons were: Ron Dickens, Dale Martin, Doug. Olsen, Ricky Loynes. The second place team led by Bob McMartin were Brian Fullerton, Bob Dunn, Paul Peoples, John Scott. In third place was team led by Ted Deogan and consisting of Bob Lowanberry, Brian Smith, Roger Scriven, Dave Hallam.

In the juvenile division, the team led by Ron Hodgkinson came first consisting of J. Morton, D. Holton, R. Gay. Second place team was led by Ron McBride and consisted of R. Eves, S. Farrow, J. Sagnon, and Ted Pindall. In third place was the team led by Terry Smith and consisting of B. Cherry, M. Tenhoope, H. Taylor, T. Hutchinson and D. Ross.

There were nine teams competing in all at this competition which is one of the many special events held for the boys and girls at the Y.M.C.A. during the Christmas holiday season.

Rawdon Council Is Acclaimed

The Rawdon township council was returned to office without an election after nomination had been held in the community hall in Springbrook on Monday afternoon. Those who will serve for the coming year are: Reeve, James Sgro; Deputy Reeve, Kenneth Mumby, and council, Frederick Beckett, Ronald Stevens and Burton Morton. Others who were nominated were Kenneth Mumby for Reeve, Frederick Beckett for Deputy Reeve and John Morgan for a council seat. Mr. Morgan pulled out and Mr. Mumby and Mr. Beckett decided to stay in their respective seats for another year.

Canadian Tire Plant Burned

STRATFORD (CP)—Fire Monday night destroyed a $60,000 building for Bon Homme Limited, plant and service department of Canadian Tire Corporation and a foam rubber manufacturing plant operated by Hobbs Industries Limited.

The blaze was caused by a spark from a welding torch being operated in the rubber plant by Percy Taylor, who suffered minor burns to his hands. Seven night employees fled the building as flames spread.

People in a nearby theatre were evacuated when the lighting failed due to a burned out transformer. Residents of the YWCA at the rear of the plant here also evacuated.

Rotary Welcomes 6 New Members And Former One

Distortion of new members and the plans for a new campaign were the highlights of the last meeting of Belleville Rotary club in 1958. Big new members and one former member were officially inducted into the club during a ceremony conducted by president Ross Gregory and Harold Mott. The new members: John McFarlane, Gay Meeks, Roscoe Robson, Bob Hamilton, John Gowdy and Ed. Hutchinson were formally introduced to the club by various club members. The former member returning, John Deeon, needed little introduction inasmuch as he had been a member for many years previously, and is a past president.

Harold Mott gave a brief address to the new members informing them about the purposes of Rotary international, Rotary in Belleville being the promotion of international goodwill and understanding. Club president Ross Gregory then presented Rotary lapel pins to the new members and extended a formal hand of welcome. Secretary Lou Mason presented the inductees with two books, outlining Rotary's history and ideals and a scroll containing the Rotary "Four way test."

There was a brief discussion on Belleville Rotary's part in the province-wide campaign to raise funds for the proposed Crippled Children's Hospital in Toronto. The purpose of the baseball is to provide accommodation for patients in the areas system from hospitals with adequate facilities for treating crippled children. Belleville Rotarians have been asked to campaign for $8,000 and this is a million dollar project. It was decided that a canvass of local members would be made first and then a public appeal would be made. Jack Vansyckle, chairman, was chairman of the meeting.

Working Model Of Solar System 2000 Years Old

WASHINGTON (AP)—A 2,000-year-old working model of the solar system has been identified in a Greek museum.

Derek J. Price of Cambridge, England, and the Institute of Advanced Studies at Princeton, N.J.

It seems to exhibit a stage of technological development perhaps more advanced than that of Europe in the 18th century, he told a science meeting.

The curious old relic was brought up from the depths of the Mediterranean by sponge fishermen in 1900, but it remained in a state of corrosion until it was identified this year by Dr. Price.

It is a highly precise mechanical model of the earth, sun, moon and planets, fashioned about 65 B.C.

SHIPPING DOWN

HAMILTON (CP) — Hamilton Harbor's shipping tonnage this year will fall short of the record set in 1957, C. W. Morgan of the Hamilton Harbor Commission said Monday. Mr. Morgan said figures will be released next week.

It was bound to happen and finally did in Jacksonville Beach, Fla., where two small cars shared a single parking meter space. Bob Bliss, owner of the car on the right, argued that there was no violation of the law since his car was placed in the meter by the driver of the other auto. Officer Bud Reed, Jr., listened, and then had an inspiration worthy of Solomon. He told Bliss to move his car or be fined for "double parking."

City Manager Orders Two Damaged Buildings Razed

Under direction from City Manager Harry Mayes, wrecking crews commenced razing the fire gutted James Texis building this morning. The James Grill will also be razed.

The buildings in their fire damaged state were declared a menace to passersby when it was feared they be injured by falling brick or other debris if the buildings were allowed to stand until preparations were made for rebuilding. As one of the buildings Mr. Denyes advised insurance agencies that the damaged buildings were to be razed and those whom were sold without police records.

In accordance with the order a wrecking crane was on the job early today and workmen were demolishing the front walls of the James Texis building.

The fire which caused approximately $400,000 damage to three buildings Friday morning is still alive in the ruins of the James Texis building and firemen were called back last night when fire was discovered in the debris. Firemen again turned hose into the ruins and remained on the job for the balance of the night.

Former Champ Called Liar In Police Court

VANCOUVER (CP) — Former world champion weightlifter Doug Hepburn was declared a hostile witness and called a liar in police court Monday.

Hepburn, proprietor of a health studio here, was giving evidence in the trial of a man charged with indecent assault on a woman.

"This man is not only a liar, but a downright liar," Crown Prosecutor Assistant Magistrate N. J. Bartman.

Hepburn, who won the world heavyweight title in 1953, lost it and the British Empire Games heavyweight title, was in a west-end room when Ken Lorimer, 25, and Michael Bousquet, 25, are charged, have assaulted the woman.

The woman testified that the two men attacked her during a drinking party and ripped her dress.

The case was adjourned until today.

Hepburn, called as a Crown witness said later defence counsel admitted giving a statement to police in which he said he saw one of the men pull the woman's legs and take off some of her clothing.

In court, he said he was "overwrought and disturbed" when he gave the statement and believed he had "misconstrued the whole affair."

He said today he believed the men were just trying to put the woman out of the apartment.

At one point, when Hepburn said he ran a health studio, Magistrate Bartman asked: "Did you ever hear of muscles on brains or brains of the mind?" Hepburn replied: "Yes, a sound body and a sound mind."

Atlas Will Be Seen Wednesday

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—The 440-foot Atlas satellite is expected to be visible Wednesday for the third day in a row in the United States.

Scientists at the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory said today the satellite may stay aloft a bit longer than the three weeks predicted when it was launched Dec. 18.

A passage at 6:47 a.m. Wednesday, they said, would be visible in an area from southwest Texas to the Great Lakes and western New York state in western Florida.

Dymond Opposes Fluoridation of Municipal Water

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario's new health minister thinks fluoridation of water is dangerous.

But he opposes fluoridation on legal rather than medical grounds.

Dr. Matthew B. Dymond, appointed last week to succeed Dr. Matthew Dymond, said in an interview there is evidence fluoride can assist the normal tooth structure in children.

"Although I believe that fluorides are beneficial on the basis of what I have read, I respect the doctors who say they are not. The doctors who oppose fluoridation are not crackpots."

"When I prescribe treatment for my patients I prescribe a fluoride treatment. It is not possible to prescribe a stated amount of fluoride by introducing it into the water supply," he said.

TABLETS CHEAPER

Tablets would be cheaper because only a small percentage of water supplied by municipalities is consumed and because the evidence tended to show fluorides are beneficial only to children under 12.

"There would be great waste if fluoride was contained in water used for washing cars, washing clothes and water people, not to mention the water used in industry.

"If you put fluorides in the water supply, you'd not only be raising soft drink companies but putting it in but you'd be forcing them to remove it at their own expense."

Employment Agency Fights Regulation

TORONTO (CP) — A private employment agency has embarked on a legal fight for survival against federal regulation outlawing as of Jan. 4 agencies that charge applicants a fee for finding them jobs.

Lawyer Stanley H. Harris, acting for the Nancy Lee Placement Service, was granted a writ at Osgoode Hall Monday seeking to have the regulation and the part of the Unemployment Insurance Act governing private employment agencies declared outside federal jurisdiction.

"This regulation interferes with provincial rights and my clients have decided to act rather than close up," he said for illegal operation of a private employment agency", Mr. Harris said.

The writ is against the attorney-general of Canada. It will be sent to Ottawa today to be served.

The matter likely will be argued before the Ontario Supreme Court in February. The agency said it will keep operating in the meantime.

An agency spokesman said the regulation is "kidding the employee" by permitting agencies to bill the employer instead.

The agency says that employees will be paid less by the employer to cover the charge by the agency for locating him a job."

CHAPLIN TAXES SETTLED

WASHINGTON (AP)—The international revenue service said Monday a $700,000 claim against comedian Charlie Chaplin for back United States income taxes has been settled for $425,000. Officials said the British actor had owed $700,000 in taxes and interest. The settlement is for $330,000. With the original interest, the total due now is $425,000. Chaplin moved to Switzerland in 1952.

Bogus Cheque Artist Pleads Guilty to Thirty-Six Charges

Pleading guilty to 36 charges of passing bogus cheques and of theft, Thomas Kelly, 21, of Barrie, was remanded for sentence when he appeared before Magistrate T. Y. Wills in city magistrate's court this morning.

Bogus cheques passed by Kelly totalled just over $2,000. He was arraigned on 11 charges from Toronto, four from Port Hope, three from Bowmanville, North Bay and Dundas, three each from Peterborough and Trenton, two each from Sudbury, Barrie and Hamilton and one from Brighton.

The accused was arrested in the city Friday week ago by Detective Harold Reid after he attempted to pass a cheque at a local jewellery store. He had previously passed cheques at two other jewellery places of business totalling $150.

Two local youths, George Gill and George Bruce McFarland were remanded until January 6th for sentence on charges of stealing a trianglor radio valued at $49.50 from the Bell Radio and TV store. Both pleaded guilty.

Inspector Clair Hayes told the court that the pair had entered the store, removed the radio in conversation at the back of the store, while the other removed the rear display window. George Gill was apprehended shortly after leaving Front Street, while McFarland was further over to police by his father.

GIVEN FOUR MONTHS

Two other local youths, Richard N. Fitzgerald and Marshall Hogan, Belleville, were sentenced to four months in jail on a charge of breaking and entering Cranston's Sports Shop on Front Street.

Defence counsel Louis Marsales pleaded for suspended sentence for Fitzgerald, both of whom were said without police records.

Crown Attorney John Pringle argued however that the unsuccessful robbery of the store had been well planned and asked for sentence in addition to goals.

In passing sentence Magistrate Wills said that under the circumstances he "reluctantly" he completely shocked" it the two youths were received suspended sentence.

He noted their idec had been to steal a gun and a couple of ill money to someone who would possibly use it.

Police Seize 68 Counterfeit U.S. $100 Bills

TORONTO (CP) — Hamilton city police and the RCMP seized 68 counterfeit U.S. $100 bills during the weekend, raising to more than $25,000 the amount of bogus Canadian and U.S. currency seized that has turned up in Southern Ontario in 24 hours.

The local and federal police who made the weekend seizure arrested Lloyd Vernon, 30, and Ronald James Zaiuss, 22, both of Hamilton. The pair appeared in court at Hamilton Monday and were remanded for a week on charges of possessing counterfeit money.

The police bills have been showing up in increasing numbers in metropolitan Toronto and neighboring cities but police said they are not alarmed at the upsurge because counterfeiting is a racket that never will be completely eradicated.

"There always are criminals who think the easiest way to make money is to print it themselves," said one police officer.

IN APPRECIATION

We wish to thank the members of the Belleville Fire Department, the Belleville Police Department, and employees of the Department of Public Works for their assistance during and after the fire.

Russians Find Quick Ulcer Cure

LONDON (Reuters)—The Russian Academy of Sciences has developed a new chemical substance that can cure ulcers and duodenal ulcers in from two to three weeks, the Soviet news agency Tass said today.

Known as the Shostakovsky balm, the preparation is produced from vynil-butyl ether, the agency added.

Tass also claimed the balm helped to clarigize tasks around new operating rooms and prosthilk and can be used to disinfect the air in operating theatres.

Research showed it was harmless and free from secondary actions, it added.

Still No Word About Balloon

LONDON (AP) — Expedition organizers said today they still have no word about the crew of two venturers missing over the Atlantic in a balloon Small World.

Although 12 days have passed since any message was received Fitzhugh and the crew have not given up hope. Ships between the Canary Islands and South America still are on the lookout for any sign of the British expedition.

The Small World left the Canary Islands Dec. 18 and vanished.

They hoped to cross the Atlantic, blown along by the trade winds, in about 17 days.

COULTER, — In loving memory of our dear father, Frederick Coulter, who passed away December 30th, 1957.
He is gone but not forgotten,
And as days pass by
In my lonely hours at midnight,
Memories bring him back to me.
Deep sadness and a sigh or tear,
Friends may think the wound is healed,
But they little know the sorrow
That lies within concealed.
—Sadly missed by wife Florence.

COULTER, — In loving memory of a dear brother, Joseph Frederick Coulter, who passed away Dec. 31st, 1957.
Resting in the Lord.
Sadly missed but always remembered by brothers, sisters and families.

Babson Makes—

Business and Financial Forecast for Next Year

By ROGER W. BABSON

1. Not too good and not too bad. Both the boom and the re- cent recession will be waiting ad- justments following the recent November elections.

2. 1959 will be a "do nothing" year for Congress. Both parties will hold their cards close to their chests until 1960 — when the Republicans will want good business. Most Democrats will vote for most of the inflationary legislation; but only a few of these Congressmen will vote for such legislation over the Presi- dent's veto. The Democrats will be in a dilemma. In their hearts they will not want good business in 1960; but they must be very careful not to do anything which could be held against them in 1960.

Every act of Rockefeller's and of other leading Presidential can- didates of both parties will be carefully scrutinized to analyze their vote-getting possibilities for 1960. We will comment on these possibilities in our Forecast for 1960 a year from now.

3. So long as Russia is fearful of China's loyalty, she will not intentionally start a shooting war. I hope that Chiang Kai-shek will come to his senses so that China will become an ally of the United States. Marshall surely bet on the "wrong horse" when he made his report to Truman.

4. The U.S. national budget will show a heavy deficit in 1959. This and other factors should cause a continued gradual, al- though not dangerous, inflation.

5. Serious competition will con- tinue at all levels in 1959. Manu- facturers, merchants, and others who reduce advertising and hard selling expenses will surely suffer.

6. Despite competition, the pro- fits squeeze will be eased for many concerns by strenuous cost- cutting programs and improving business.

HOME FOREIGN COMPETITION

7. More foreign goods will en- ter the United States during 1959. This especially applies to Japa- nese, Italian, Japanese and Rus- sian goods.

8. New cargo ships, built in Japan, England, Germany, Italy, Sweden, and Russia daily, will be launched in 1959. This should re- sult in more American-flag and American-registered ships opera- ting at a loss. More subsidies will be demanded.

9. Failures may not increase during 1959. However, the failure now listed in the Dow-Jones Av- erages may get its financial dif- culties.

10. Federal cost-of-living fig- ures will be disputed in 1959. La- bor rates and wages which have risen with the Federal figures will be disputed by both labor and management.

11. On the basis of the above statements, I forecast, on the average, a change in 1959 for commodity prices. The recent recession is not over. Russia is still fighting us with an economic war.

12. There will be more strikes and labor troubles in 1959 than in 1958. Labor will be more reli- able labor legislation and poor business conditions; labor leaders will exert good behavior in 1959.

13. It is now difficult to fore- cast the unemployment situation for 1959. It will increase; but not as much as the news media will continue to be out. Looking ahead to the autumn of 1960, manufac- turers, who are mostly Republi- cans, will do all they can to stop unemployment to occur.

14. Many plans for expansion will be postponed during 1959 for fear of a real depression. Some of these plans will be insti- tuted in 1959, although on a more moderate scale.

There will be a need for con- tinued economic readjustments in 1959. Political playing of politics by both parties may temporarily postpone it.

15. 1959 will not see any mark- et change in money rates. How- ever, borrowers who have a well- tablished good credit will con- tinue to find it difficult to get new funds in 1959.

16. This means that it should be more difficult, on average, to sell long-term bonds in 1959 than in 1958. Buy only non-callable serial bonds or bonds of reason- ably short maturities.

17. Issues of non-taxable state, municipal, and revenue bonds will increase during 1959. This will be due both to less rea- dily available credit and to rising costs of municipalities.

18. The "fly-to-the-obstruents" will be the uncertainty of the U.S. federal policy regarding the new $90,000,000,000 roadbuilding program. Will it compete with or protect toll roads recently built? Metropolitan program will not harm outstanding Turnpike issues.

SMART WILL SWITCH TO BONDS

19. Many investors will switch from stocks into bonds in 1959, thus obtaining both higher in- come and better security.

20. As inflation becomes more serious, only short-term bond is- sues or other high-coupon bonds — should be held to ma- turity. Bonds should no longer be considered good "permanent" in- vestments unless they are non- taxable or have other very desi- rable basis.

21. The best investment policy during 1959 will continue to be a well-diversified portfolio of stocks, short-term bonds, and cash. Every conservative inves- tor will keep enough of a port- folio liquid to have funds available if there is a sudden severe drop in the stock market. This will come some day.

22. The Democratic Congress has not accomplished more in correct- ing legislation in the Eisenhower Ad- ministration, the 1959 Congress will do little to improve the labor and tax legislation. Both of com- panies which will not be subject to strikes; Banks and utilities pay- ments are the most nearly im- mune.

23. The Taft-Hartley Act will not be amended, nor will labor's exemption in the Teamsters Un- ion, the 1959 Congress will do little to improve the labor and tax legislation. Labor leaders will get more and more power until— with Russia's help — they bring on a real depression.

24. Due to unemployment and the difficulties of negotiating for installing automation (auto- matic factories), there will be no great wage increases in 1959. More likely!

25. I never see no probability that either wages or retail prices will be "frozen" during 1959 by Russia threatens World War III.

26. Most wage workers will be- come "capitalists" in 1959, which should enable some managements to increase their productivity and profits.

27. Executives will attend more strictly to business during 1959, reducing time spent on luncheon clubs, golf, etc.

28. Good building land on the upper side of growing cities will continue to increase in price not- withstanding a decline in subur- ban housing. Some owners hold- ing such land should not now sell.

29. Small towns and cities in suburban possibilities may well consider selling to existing fac- tories at a fair price in 1959.

30. Large commercial farms with latest machinery should prosper during 1959, but small farms may not do so well.

31. Pending a serious war, there will be no shortage of oil in the U.S. Government's farm policy should change.

32. With less fear of serious war the real estate situation should be- gin to improve; but municipal taxes will increase.

33. Many corporations now owned by well-paid executives will come under the control of "big- ness" to loss of positions or moves to other sections of the country.

34. Rent control will be ended in many places by repeal or modi- fication, it will be worth less when due.

35. The demand for motels is largely satisfied; but there will be an increasing demand for more modern apartment houses — es- pecially of the cooperative type. Old homes of all kinds will de- preciate during 1959.

36. Woodland will continue to be in demand during 1959. This specially applies to pines, which is used for best lumber and to spruce, which is used for pulp and paper products.

37. More Russian imports of lumber, pulp, and paper during 1959; but this should largely be offset by the increased exports of these forest products.

38. Both timber and oil reserves in Canada will probably increase in value, I am bullish on many Canadian and African investments.

39. The greatest factor in deter- mining the price of city land and businesses is, general is the auto- mobile and availability of park- ing space. This is responsible for both the boom in suburban real estate and the decline of city property. Buying city real estate without adequate parking facilities is a great mistake.

40. I have wrong in my forecast a year ago as to the Dow-Jones Averages. Although many stocks sold lower today than a year ago, the Dow-Jones Averages — es- pecially the Industrials — sold higher. However, I will again run the risk and forecast that they will sell lower sometime in 1959 than they do today.

41. My forecast of the bond

Oil Tanker Will Be Scrapped

TRENTON — News that the tanker Imperial Kingston is to be reduced to scrap will be re- ceived with regret by many Trenton residents.

For many years the tanker was a familiar sight along the Bay of Quinte waterfront.

Originally named the Leaside, it was launched from the Col- lingwood shipyards in 1916. During World War II, the boat was based at Halifax for a per- iod of three years plying be- tween there and New York with petroleum products for Con- Bay and other defence bases along the east coast of the coun- try.

Her last runs were to Co- bourg, Belleville, Deseronto and Kingston.

LEGION TO MEET

Members of the 1058 and 1959 executive of the Canadian Le- gion, Trenton Branch will meet on Monday evening to elect the Branch Chaplain and the Ser- geant-at-arms for the coming year.

In addition, chairmen of the various branch committees will be named. Every committee has an organization setup for the year.

At this meeting, outgoing president John C. Farrell will open the meeting and hand over the presidential gavel to his successor, William T. Lawson.

WILL INSTALL OFFICERS

J. W. D. "Scotty" Broughton of Belleville will be the officer to attend, heeded by their president, Ger- ald Brand, at the annual meeting elected to his third consec- utive term in the office. Other of- ficers making district and some officials are expected to attend.

market for 1958 was correct. I declined now to reverse that forecast in the case of long- term non-callable corporate bonds — that is, they should sell for less sometime in 1959 than they are selling for today.

42. I continue to forecast that non-callable first preferred stocks will be a better buy during 1959 than they do today.

43. I repeat what I said last year, namely, "Buy only 'callables.' The large fortunes made in the stock market have come from buying non - dividend - paying common stocks at $3.50 a share and holding them for years in order to reach a 'buying level.'" If you buy $3.50 stocks or non-dividend common stocks, you should seek companies without too much water (book value) and pre- ferred stock outstanding. They will be available in many low- capital gains."

44. Convertible bonds should hold fairly well during 1959.

45. The best investment policy in 1959 is to have a cash fund, a good bank account so funds will be available to buy bar- gains when a sufficient break comes in stocks, bonds, real estate, or "discounted" com- panies.

46. There will be many fail- ures in 1959 of over-optimistic new financial, nuclear, and similar companies during 1959.

47. With two or three excep- tions, railroad stocks should be avoided during 1959 and until a definite long-range program of government aid is assured.

48. For steady income and safe marketability, well-established utility stocks should be the choice for conservative investors not looking for profit. This especial- ly applies to first preferred and preferred non-callable utility stocks.

49. The three handicaps to American business are the fear of labor leaders, and the fear of the President Eisenhower Recession collapse.

50. The three hopes for America are our churches, our schools, and a desire to "pay as you go." For these to function properly we must depend upon the parents of our nation.

Quaint Christmas Card Survives 31-Year Shuttle Service Between Old Friends

By G. H. CARVER

It might smack of pinch-penny economy, but actually there is mostly novelty to this quaint two-decade deal.

Thirty-one years ago Mr. Newton Thompson, retired CNR official of this city, sent his friend, Juvenile Court Judge/Paul Wil- Alexander of Toledo, O., a Christmas card.

Oddly enough the card pictures a stilted Scotsman wishing the recipient Yuletide greetings. A blank line on the face of the card is reserved for the sender's signature.

After 31 years the card is still giving faithful and economical service as it passes in alternate years from Mr. Thompson to Judge Alexander.

It took a six-year-lapse, how- ever, when the mails missed the Thompsons were moving. It came to light again, and resum- ed its annual greeting — carry- ing safaris from Belleville to Toledo and back again.

The method is simple. The sender merely writes his name on the dotted line in pencil. The next year the recipient erases the name and inscribes his own, us- ually with a four-letter word message.

The card is not showing any wear or tear, but space for the messages is a problem. Practi- cally every bit of space on the front and back has been utilized. Mr. and Mrs. Thompson and Alex- ander quickly overcame this handicap by writing their mes- sages on a piece of paper and attaching it to the card. It can be unfolded. The Christmas Card would frown at the thought of such shiftlessness becoming wide- spread.

Museum Problem Has Slipped Under Cover

OTTAWA (CP) — The govern- ment has slipped its national museum problem under cover.

The problem involves friction, unsafe administrative personnel of the museum's human history branch.

How it is solved may never be learned publicly, unless indicated by staff changes.

Resources Minister Alvin Ham- ilton said Sunday he hopes to have a solution within a matter of weeks.

"That should end bickering and the museum can go back to work."

REVEALS NO DETAILS

He would not say whether per- sonnel changes are in prospect or whether he expects amicable relations can be restored in the branch simply by conciliation.

The dispute came to light on the weekend when the govern- ment confirmed an inquiry has been under way three months and what has been described as a clash of personalities in the branch administration.

Two key figures in the dispute are J. J. Rousseau, 53, branch director, and Dr. Marius Barbeau, 75-year-old ethnologist who has been working part- time at the museum since his re- tirement 10 years ago.

Both said Monday they have been told the investigation staff also have been told not to comment.

PERSECUTION COMPLEX

The Citizen quoted Dr. Barbeau as praising Dr. Rousseau's scien- tific ability but describing him as one who had a "sense of persecu- tion" and a tendency to "put plots against himself "so that even his friends became hostile and left him alone."

The Journal quoted Dr. Rous- seau as complaining of a series "trying to run the museum."

Dr. Rousseau appointed branch director two years ago, previ- ously was director of Montreal's Botanical Garden.

The Journal reported Dr. Rous- seau's complaining of a series of problems at the museum, in- cluding deficiency of air inlets in stations, use of museum stenograph- ers to type election campaign letters for Liberal candidates in the 1957 and use of stenographers for other outside work.

Outgoing Council Completes All Unfinished Business

TRENTON — Members of the outgoing council held their final meeting of the year in the Mu- nicipal Building on Monday morning.

A by-law was unanimously approved which provided for the payment of the cost of installing sanitary sewers on Dufferin and streets in the town.

Other motions which were approved unanimously were, providing a petty cash fund for the year 1959 in the amount of $25, the award of $100 to town solicitor, Gordon Dunbar, in re- spect of overtime, provision of a fluorescent light at the corner of King and Division Streets, and payment of the sum of $116.40 to Town engineer Eric Aldersey in lieu of one week's salary.

The tender submitted by Gal- lowey Brothers for the installa- tion of a heater at the public works department building was accepted which was the lowest tender.

WORLD'S SCHOOL POPULATION

The world does improve. Sometime during the early part of this decade the nations passed the halfway mark in their effort to get school-age youngsters, those between five and fourteen, into classrooms. To accomplish this, educators outraced an expanding population. Between 1930 and 1954 the number of school-age children in the world increased by 22 per cent, but the primary school enrolment went up 33 per cent.

These, and other interesting facts, are disclosed by figures collected by UNESCO over a three-year period. Progress has been made, but there is still a long road ahead if the world is to reach the goal of providing at least some education for every child. Right now 250,-000,000 of the world's 550,000,000 children from five to fourteen have no chance to go to school. In some countries, of course, schooling is provided for every child. It is thus evident that there are lands where the children who receive any type of formal education are in the minority. Most of these countries are in Asia and Africa. But even on these continents there has been spectacular improvement. In the Belgian Congo the number of primary school students rose from 145,000 in 1930 to 1,060,000 in 1955. Ghana had only 55,000 in school in 1932, but by 1954 this number had increased almost tenfold, to 508,000.

There are some interesting sidelights mentioned by UNESCO on the methods used in different lands to improve school conditions and to train teachers. Non-academic school work is vanishing. Only married couples are assigned to small rural schools. Teachers are less overworked as a result and this, we are told, leads to more girls attending schools. It appears from this that where school facilities in Ceylon are inadequate to accommodate all the children, preference is given to girls. In one district in Africa, on the other hand, girls attending school outnumber boys two to one. The boys are traditionally herdsmen.

In Sarawak, in the East Indies, the authorities have turned a Dyak custom into a weapon against truancy. The Dyaks, once headhunters, are accustomed to the giving of gifts. Now the school attendance laws require parents to deposit a pledge which is only returned once their child has completed a four-year course. This turns the parents into truant officers and a head-hunter, even a reformed head-hunter, should be rather effective in this role.

TWO TYPES OF COMPETITORS

An unidentified sports writer for The Canadian Press recently commented that "there's a growing feeling the National Hockey League should be divided into two sections - - Montreal Canadiens in one and everybody else in the other."

He meant that Canadiens were too good for the opposition, for the good of the league and perhaps even for themselves, for a couple of sentences later he added that "It's apparent they (the Canadiens) find it difficult to maintain much interest in the task" of beating the other teams in the league.

These observations may exaggerate the edge which Canadiens hold over the other teams. Nevertheless, they serve to illustrate an interesting point - - the existence of two greatly differing attitudes by competitors in every sport or pastime.

There are some players who are eager to join a winning club. Some may argue that this is just the trademark of the good competitor, the desire to win. That, though, is an over-simplification. There are two ways to be a winner - - by joining a winning club or by turning a losing club into a winner. There are no better competitors than those men, and women, who refuse to quit a losing team. The higher the odds, the better they seem to like the game. They scorn all profit-seeking players, preferring to go down to defeat after defeat rather than to accept an advantage not accorded to the opposing outfit or player. They are the breed that make "upsets" which provide the highlights of any history of a sport or pastime.

The reality of the matter is, of course, that most of the players of this type who are fortunate enough to find themselves associated with other players possessing equal skill and fire. Yet, in this good fortune may lurk the seeds of boredom - - they may become so good that the opposition does not offer an adequate challenge. The fruits of victory are only sweet to such men if they spring from the mud of defeat.

JUST FOLKS

A BACHELOR TALKS
BY EDGAR A. GUEST

We quarrelled; 'twas a trivial thing,
Some oversight of mine, perhaps.
A breach of etiquette I'd made,
Or let some social duty lapse.
At any rate, she jumped on me
And said I was the worst of men,
And then she burst into tears and sobbed:
"Don't ever speak to me again."

When lost for other thought, I guess,
That is her only one resource:
It is her view of punishment
That carries with it wondrous force.
All women are the same, I find,
In all their quarrels with the sex;
Their bitterest of words are these:
"Don't ever speak to me again."

History of Car Licences

Aramec World

The year was 1900. One fine sunny morning in old New York a strange contraption that seemed to be part buggy and part firecracker came clattering and bucking over the cobblestones of busy Canal Street. Grey horses reared and bolted, literally scattering the crowded street with carrots and flower pots and sides of beef. Mothers shrieked and bundled children into safety, a teamster shook his fist at the laughing driver of the newfangled "devil wagon" and a red-faced policeman took up hot pursuit, losing his domed hard helmet to clatter among the horses' hoofs. Two blocks away the contraption somehow careened was blocked by a moving van, and the policeman, puffing heavily, reached the dare-devil at the tiller.

The precise language the cop used has not been turned over to the century-hot-rodder is not recorded in the city archives, but it is known that he didn't give the driver a ticket, for the ticket hadn't been invented. The policeman did tell the driver to report to headquarters next day on a charge of disturbing the peace, and demanded his name. Barney Marks said the driver cheerfully, and then he volunteered his address. But the culprit didn't show up in court the next day, and police discovered that the address he gave, had it existed, would have been in the middle of the Hudson River.

The case of "Egert Main" was typical in the early history of motoring. Many years before this incident, Charles E. Duryea built the first gas-driven mobile; and as the twentieth century opened there were only a few thousand in operation in the entire United States, but pioneers were already like "Egbert Main." After scaring the daylights out of people, they would give fictitious names and addresses, and there was no way to trace them. With horses and wagons, this had never been a problem. But now motorists realized that something had to be done; and so, in 1901, the New York State Legislature passed the first law requiring automobile owners to register their cars.

The first license tag was a small aluminum disk, about the size of a half dollar, stamped with a serial number and the words: "1901 Motor Vehicle Law." A car owner paid only $1 for his licence number and, surprisingly, had his choice of ways to display it. Some motorists mounted it on the front end of the car; others on the big brass headlights.

Many motorists bought bronze house numbers, nailed them in horizontal rows, and soon suspended this "plate" from the rear axle with leather straps. Others had a license number fever brass numbers onto a leather strap and hung it around the neck. And a few of the automakers, notably Pierce-Arrow and Winton sold their cars complete with brass-and-leather tag holders already fastened in the state colors.

New York's method of keeping track of the new motor cars was soon copied. Connecticut, Massachusetts, the District of Columbia, and the City of Philadelphia followed suit. In fact, Philadelphia originated the practice of having motorists buy a new tag each year. Massachusetts, first state to require both front and rear plates, made them of sheet iron covered with baked porcelain enamel.

By 1903, Connecticut, Maine, Maryland, New Hampshire, New Jersey and Rhode Island also had begun to license cars, and the practice was spreading rapidly especially in Canada, Germany, France and Britain.

Today, as many tourist knows the license plate is commonplace in every country of the world, from Tasmania to Tehran to Timbuktu.

Even in the U.S., however, that the license plate has attained its present high level of shape, in hues of royal purple, bright gold, pale blue and deep blue, cherry red, brilliant orange and yellow. Each state picks the colors it uses, and most charge them yearly. Vision experts recommend dark numerals on a light background, and New Jersey took orange and black on the recommendation of the American Optometric Association. But state pride is also a factor in the selection of color. To promote one of the state's most important products, Arizona used a bright copper plate years ago; and Colorado once considered a plan to make its plates of silver. The steel shortage in World War II produced some oddities. Illinois brought out a tag of pressed fibre containing, among other things, soy beans. The tags looked fine, but didn't always last long. Dogs and cows ate them.

Until a few years ago the U.S. had state-shaped tags. (Tennessee and Pennsylvania), tags that were long rectangles (West Virginia's was 4¾ by 12 inches), tags that seemed almost square (Vermont), diamonds, and tags rounded at the corners (Arizona and California). A state might have one size for private cars, another for commercial vehicles. And a long-haul truck or bus, which is usually required to register in every state through which it regularly operates, might be loaded down with ten tags — none of them the same size. In fact, as recently as 1950, the U.S. could boast of exactly 97 different shapes and sizes of licence plates. Nonstandardization made it difficult for automakers to provide a good all-illumination or even the proper tail-light lens, so in 1956 the states finally got together and adopted a standard size — 6 by 12 inches.

But the states flatly refused to give up the mottoes, slogans and emblems that have been traditional for decades. In 1956 California was used at least four state symbols. They were a bear, a bell, a poppy, and a star. Florida once advertised its tags with a sunburst, but took it off after people said it looked more like a bomb than a grapefruit. Now, all the find show a states character. Ridin' Wonderland you find that Wisconsin is "America's Dairyland", Michigan is "Water Wonderland", Idaho is "The Wheat State", Georgia is "Peach Land", Illinois the "Land of Lincoln", Louisiana is the "Sportsman's Paradise", Kentucky is the "Blue Grass State", and Nebraska is "The Beef State."

With room for two letters and four numbers on a plate, a state's tag stampers can turn out exactly 676,000 of the two alike; and it would seem that this is enough to satisfy everybody. It doesn't. In America", the French novelist Duhamel has said, "cars are made

Formal Opening of Seaway By Queen May Come Couple Of Months After Ceremonies

— By ROBERT RICE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP)—Where will the Queen formally open the new St. Lawrence Seaway next June?

The answer, focal point of planning for next year's gala, historic opening ceremonies on the 135-mile waterway, hasn't been given yet.

But the best bet at the moment is:

The Queen will do "something" at Montreal, thus acknowledging the city's role as gateway to the deep - water navigation system. Then she will join President Eisenhower on a new high - level bridge near Cornwall, Ont., for a symbolic "hands - across - the - border" ceremony, a two-nation gesture marking Canada's partnership with the United States in creating the $475,000,000 seaway.

The formal opening, coming perhaps two months after the seaway actually starts working, will be dramatized by a voyage through the seaway's seven locks and four canals by the royal yacht Britannia already modified to ease under bridges crossing the seaway.

It may steal the spotlight from ordinary ships—18,000-ton ocean freighters and huge lake carriers with 23,000-ton capacity — expected to begin using the seaway system as soon as the navigation season is launched — possibly in the first week of April. It is for this reason, rather than the formal opening date, that seaway officials are hurriedly preparing for the 1959 year of work drawn to a close.

All seven locks—two of them in United States waters of the St. Lawrence River near Cornwall—have been completed and tested. Four of the locks are within 30 miles of Montreal.

Seaway authorities report that the only major construction work left is the removal of dredging in some sections of the channel. They say that a 27-foot deep channel from Montreal to Lake Ontario already exists, but must be widened at some points. This work will continue after the seaway opens.

TOLL SCHEDULE

A final toll schedule also remains to be announced. Indications are that it will be substantially the same as the proposed schedule released last summer, calling for six cents a ton on the gross registered tonnage of ships, 45 cents a ton for bulk cargoes, 95 cents a ton on general cargo. This toll would be for full transit through the new seaway and the all-Canadian Welland Canal bypassing Niagara Falls. There are partial tolls for partial transit.

Negotiations for rates of ships using the seaway are expected to be completed early in the new year, and Canada and the United States are also considering a biennial arrangement for pilotage requirements.

The seaway, a dream for more than half a century, replaces a series of shallow, narrow locks in the old Montreal-Lake Ontario canals, which ended the present season with forty ocean ships that threatened to trap about 30 ocean-going ships for the winter.

Mrs. Clarence Fitchett read the selected story, "If I Were Not Come".

The Scripture Lesson, taken from St. Luke 2:1-30 was read by Mr. Murray Martin.

A short play was presented by Audrey Stapley, Allen Reide, Isabelle Prest, Marilyn Stapley and Murray Martin, followed by Miss Joanne Reide's class of juniors singing "Away in a Manger".

All joined in singing, "Happy Birthday" for little Sandra Stapley as she dropped her pennies into the birthday cake.

Misses Annagmae Clark, Sharon Reide and Shirley Prest presented "As with Gladness Men of Old", while each person present came forward and laid a gift parcel, wrapped in white on a table at the front of the church. These were dedicated with a prayer by Mrs. Bruce Stapley.

The gifts will later be packed and sent to Miss Aileen M. Ratz, United Church Deaconess at Halifax.

Mrs. Sandra Stapley, on behalf of the Sunday school presented the birthday box proceeds to the little Stapley lass.

Scripture verse book — marks from the Sunday School were handed out by Mrs. Maurice Clancy to each member, to be used in their study.

Several prettily wrapped gift parcels from the Sunday school were sent to "shut-ins" and to older people in the community.

Madames Forde Stapley, Maurice Clancy and Bruce Stapley and Messrs. Murray Martin, Harold Prest and Allen Reide sang "Silent Night".

Mrs. Harlow's talks have been sung during the service.

This lovely service was based on the theme "Keeping Christmas" was closed with prayer by Mrs. Harlow.

Bridge St. W.M.S. Elects 1959 Officers

The W.M.S. of Bridge Street United Church held a joint meeting recently with a good attendance present.

Mrs. Dallas, president of the W.A., opened with prayer and conducted the W.A. business portion.

The next meeting of the W.A. will be the usual annual potluck luncheon to be held on January 30, 1959.

Under the leadership of Mrs. F. C. Adsett, president of the WMS, the business of the WMS was despatched quickly. An announcement followed that the next meeting would be on January 9, with the usual potluck luncheon at 1.15, followed by the installation of officers, as follows:

Past president, Mrs. F. C. Adsett; president, Mrs. J. E. McArthur; first vice-president, Mrs. C. Howie; secretary, Mrs. George Wishart; treasurer, Mrs. W. R. Pinkie; asst. secretary, Mrs. T. K. Franklin; Christian stewardship, Mrs. H. M. Davis; citizenship secretary, Mrs. W. Broad; community friendship secretary, Mrs. C. Massey; supply secretary, Mrs. C. MacDonald; associate membership secretary, Mrs. B. Denzey; literature secretary, Mrs. F. C. Adsett; candidate secretary, Mrs. C. Hyde; "Missionary Monthly," Mrs. W. Ormond; press reporter, Mrs. S. G. Gilmour; Mission Band, Mrs. J. Loynes, Mrs. D. Scott, GCIT, Miss M. Hicks; Mrs. F. C. Burrows, Mrs. R. Sherwin, Miss Penny Grills; pianist, Mrs. Bird; assistant pianist, Mrs. T. K. Franklin.

Group Leaders — 1, Mrs. C. Howie and Mrs. B. Warren; 2, Mrs. T. K. Franklin and Mrs. Scoffie; 3, Mrs. G. Anderson and Mrs. S. Gilmour; 4, Mrs. F. Ruggle and Mrs. F. C. Adsett; 5, Mrs. W. Dallas and Mrs. H. Parker; 6, Mrs. J. C. Anderson and Mrs. W. Morton; 7, Mrs. C. Clapp and Mrs. H. M. Davis; 8, Miss M. Young and Mrs. C. Massey.

The offering was received and dedicated by Mrs. Davis.

Mrs. Ruggle took the chair, her WMS group being in charge of the Christmas meeting.

All the music, decorations and program featured the Christmas theme.

Mrs. Ralph Morden, as speaker, gave a beautiful reading entitled "Ben Davidi".

A beautiful candle-lighting service was conducted by seven of the ladies.

Mrs. Denzey, whose WA group was assisting, gave the devotional.

For a musical number, Mrs. K. Bird and Mrs. N. C. Cathers rendered the "Magnificat."

Delicious refreshments were served in the ladies' parlor, which was beautifully decorated for the occasion by several of the ladies.

Women's Institutes

FOXBORO W.I.

Mrs. F. W. Kinsella was the hostess when the Foxboro Women's Institute met for their December meeting. Mrs. C. Hubbersty presided.

Correspondence was read including a letter of thanks from the C.N.I.B. and a letter from the Children's Aid Society.

After some discussion it was decided to have the annual January family supper.

Mrs. J. R. Arnis was in charge of the program and called on Miss Kay Hamilton, who showed of her trip to the British Isles as a 4-H club delegate in the early summer this year. These slides were most colorful, interesting and educational.

Mrs. M. J. Waller gave the motto — "Be Christmas Story", with interesting thoughts and comments on this subject.

Twenty-two members were present. The usual exchange of Christmas gifts took place.

A social hour was enjoyed during the serving of delicious refreshments.

Hon. Ellen Fairclough Canadian Woman of Year For 2nd Successive Time

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Ellen Fairclough, minister of citizenship and immigration is Canada's Woman of The Year for the second successive year.

She was voted the nation's leading woman by women's editors of daily newspapers in a poll conducted by The Canadian Press.

Mrs. Fairclough, 53, Progressive Conservative member for Hamilton West, was also selected the woman most active in public affairs during the year.

HAD BUSY YEAR

Here's what she did: When the year opened she was already secretary of state and a privy councillor; in February she acted as prime minister for a few days when Prime Minister Diefenbaker was away from Ottawa; in March she was re-elected to Parliament; in May she represented Canada when a new president was installed in the Argentine; a few days later she became minister of citizenship and immigration; in September she guided a government bill on citizenship through the House.

Winners in other poll categories:

Sport—Lucile Wheeler, St. Jovite, Que.

Literature and Art—Gabrielle Roy, Montreal.

Music—Lois Marshall, Toronto soprano.

Stage, screen, radio and television—Toby Robins, Toronto.

WON WORLD TITLE

Miss Wheeler, red-haired, blue-eyed skier, in February became the first Canadian to win a world skiing title. At Bad Gastein, Austria, she won the downhill race over a 2½-mile course in 2:12.1, beating the existing record by five seconds. Two days later the 23-year-old girl won the world giant slalom title.

Recently she was named Canada's outstanding female athlete of 1958 by the country's sports editors and broadcasters.

HON. ELLEN FAIRCLOUGH

Gabrielle Roy, prominent writer, won the 1958 Governor-General's Award for fiction for the second time. The award was announced in April and was given for her book, Street of Riches, published in French as Rue Deschambault.

Lois Marshall, 33-year-old soprano, added to her laurels this year. She made international headlines when she sang to packed theatres in Moscow and other Russian cities during a concert tour.

Fert Toby Robins, knowledgeable veteran of the television show Front-Page Challenge, covered a lot of ground during the year. In January, her son Peter was born but she did not miss a Challenge. Later in the year she appeared in Visit to a Small Planet a stage play which ran for several weeks in Toronto and she has just finished working in a series of television films featuring the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

Deloro Stellite Sponsors Yuletide Party

On December 21, in a fabulously decorated lunch room, Santa Claus took a few of his busy Christmas moments to visit the children of the employees of Deloro Stellite.

Red, green, white, blue and all the other colors of the Christmas spectrum seemed to jell hand with the toys, games, candies, hats and pop to make the setting one that over 220 fathers, mothers and children will not forget for a long time. Although 1958 in many cases seemed an unusual year, Santa's charm as usual heightened the lost few days.

Carols were sung better than ever before under the leadership of Geoff. Page; and as usual the antics of—Dr. Clowns, Frank VanRompaey and James Spencer, kept the children's screams of joy to a pitch where a painting 10 ft. x 20 ft. of Santa and his Reindeer seemed to quiver and almost come down to join the fun.

A few of the children bubbling with the Yuletide spirit sang solos. These "impromptus" were rendered by Jane MacKenzie, Susan Sloane, Paula London, Marlene Cleveland, Lois Williams, and a piano solo by Mahari Page with other whole warm and hearty greetings were extended to all by Mr. R. G. Walsh and Mr. J. C. Houston on behalf of the management of Deloro Stellite.

The two hours where ecstasy reigned supreme were the result of many, many hours of planning, decorating and plain hard work, contributed by Mrs. Theriault, Fran Moon, Muriel Giguere, Dorothy Bennett, Marg. Gollinger under the leadership of Charles "Duke" Doran, president of the Deloro Stellite Social and Athletic Association.

It was one that every one leaving the building that day felt the warmth and blessing that only the Christmas spirit and Santa can help celebrate the birth of the Child that means so much to 'Peace on Earth Goodwill to Men'.

To add to the already seemingly fulfilled Christmas given by Deloro Stellite Social and Athletic Association, the management of the company presented every employee with a huge, everluvin Christmas turkey and two huge baskets of groceries donated by the Deloro Stellite Bowling League were won by Tom Collins and Lois Lavesa.

It was indeed a very merry Christmas at Deloro Stellite.

Club Activities

C. A.'s

FRANKFORD — Frankford Full Gospel Tabernacle C.A.'s met on Friday evening with Doug Flood in charge of the meeting.

Mrs. Carl Andrews and Mrs. Mary Patrick rendered a vocal duet "Why Do I Sing About Jesus?" Mrs. Mac Wilson of Elmira led in testimonies and choruses.

Following the singing of "Joy In My Heart"; pastor Mac Wilson of Elmira brought a stirring message from 2nd Kings 3:1-25, speaking on "The Christian Life and Prayer".

Black Sheers Catching on In Britain

LONDON (CP) — Black stockings, thick and warm or fine and airy, are catching on in Britain.

The rage in Paris last year, black stockings are planned at first by British women as "schoolgirls." But the Queen and Hampstead Bohemia set want wild ones them, and teenagers took to them readily.

One Oxford Street store, which reported long years ago that it was "selling only to arty types and teen-agers," now says they're being bought by all types, adding girls and debutantes as well as grandmas. And since they're caught on for party types, the "sold out of black stockings" sign is appearing on hosiery counters.

A Regent Street store presented each of its sales girls with a pair early one morning. By lunch time, every girl was wearing her new black sheers. "I never could see many shapely legs we had," the manager told a reporter.

Although black woollens are selling better than the sheers, colored ones are in vogue, too. While London authuses over thick black fishnet, girls go for red and yellow.

The Scotsman, reflecting on "this strange phenomenon," wonders why Scottish lassies should prefer such colors to black. But, "let us just leave it at that," says the paper. "Some things are better taken as red."

Roses In The Rain

By ALICE ALDEN

Theatre break time, it's raining and there's not much chance of snagging a taxi! Not too bad If one isn't dressed up, but who wants to go glamorous places in old togs? The solution to the dilemma is a really ornamental fluff into either coat, such as the beauty depicted here. Of black velveteen, it has a dramatic all-over print of red roses. Its full, flowing silhouette will easily top the widest bouffant skirt. The yoke and sleeves are high-rising collar buttons for the throat. When rain comes the roses get a nice watering, but that's all that will happen to this coat.

GOOD MANNERS

By Mrs. Beekman

YOUR CHRISTMAS THANK-YOU NOTES

You'll really have a good time writing your Christmas thank-you notes if you write them promptly. For then they are fresh and bright in your thoughts are the giver's kindness to you, your delight in being remembered, your appreciation of the gift. So get your pen pleasantly on its way. Let's go!

Here's a simple pattern for your thank-you notes . . . in three easy steps.

First: Thank for the thought. Give your note a charming send-off by saying your appreciation for the thought that prompted the sending of the present. It's a dull note indeed that begins, "Thank you for the lovely handkerchief you sent me for Christmas." On the other hand, such a natural beginning as "What a dear friend you were to make me so happy at Christmas-time!" gives a high-powered upbeat to your note. And now you are on your way, beginning to chat with your friend as personally and informally as you would chat face-to-face.

Second: Thank for the present itself. With enthusiasm, certainly. With gusto, if you'd like. Naturally, the more you're enthusiastic, the more your friends will welcome them. Be sure to name the present by name . . . don't vaguely write about "the gift" and thus give the maddening impression that perhaps you don't even remember what it was.

Actually the very best way is to have the present in front of you while you write . . . then give with your words. Surely you can do more than just to write how "pretty" or "lovely" the present is. Be specifically enthusiastic about special features of the gift. Charming note it is, too, when about the color you always longed to own just that kind of perfume? . . . Or how your friend will be thrilled to be told this happy fact. Will she have a special usefulness in your life? . . . that's indeed a comforting fact to tell your friend. Is she probably pondered deeply about this before deciding to give it to you.

Or you might say something about the smart and or interesting design, or the handsome material, or perhaps the dramatic marking or monogramming. Just a few suggestions, these, but enough to make your friend happy, proud that she or he had the good thought and the good taste to choose just that gift.

Third: Your closing bow. Some words of devoted greeting to your friend, and good wishes for the New Year. For example: "Dearest love to you, Anne dear, and deepest thanks for your wonderful Christmas goodness to me. Every good wish to you for your happiness and well-being and welfare in the New Year. And let's start the New Year right . . . by having a date very soon, to talk over old days and new days."

THIS BRIDE ACKNOWLEDGES GIFTS. . .DOESN'T THANK THEM

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Over a month ago I was the maid of honor in the wedding of my best friend, whom I have known since childhood. For a wedding present, her, my parents and I bought her a lovely and quite expensive gift, since I knew she could afford to buy it alone. Today a printed thank you card was delivered in the mail and I was very hurt when I saw it. It was addressed to "Mr. and Mrs. J. Smith and Daughter."

1. Shouldn't she have sent separate notes?

2. And wasn't it rather rude of her to address me as "J. Daughter"? After all I was her maid of honor! — Reader

Here's a mighty graceless way to express thanks for a wedding present sent with such thoughtfulness and generosity. I can well understand how hurt and disappointed you were by your friend's completely incorrect and ungracious procedure. She was lacking the quietest way to acknowledge a wedding present, not to thank for it.

Perhaps the kindest thing to think about her rude procedure is that she casually asked some one to take over the sending of these notorious cards.

1. Of course she should have written notes of appreciation.

2. She should have scanned to send printed thank-you cards.

3. She should have written you a thank-you note to your mother and father, and a separate one to you as their long-time friend and maid of honor.

"J. Daughter" rude? is putting it mildly. She should not have used this. If she insisted on including your name with your parents' names she should at least have spelled your name "Miss Elizabeth Smith."

WISE FOR HER TO RETURN ENGAGEMENT PRESENTS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I very much need your help. A few months ago I became engaged, and my parents gave a very large party to announce my engagement. Now, because of what I have come to realize about him, I decided to break the engagement. I have not spoken to, or received any word from my fiancé since, since you and John have decided to break the engagement. I have written him a letter saying that I am sorry, but I should, of course, return the engagement presents as soon as possible. With each present comes a gracious thank-you but that was

RACE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

In a little over four weeks the Allan Cup champion McFarlands leave Canada for Europe,—where they will defend the world's amateur championship won last year by the Whitby Dunlops at Oslo.

Meanwhile, if the Macs are to leave with no other worries than winning the world tournament, much work has to be done and much money is to be raised.

$50,000 is needed to finance the Macs overseas affair. Of this amount, some $13,500 is already in the coffers of the Macs' Overseas Fund, according to fund chairman Alderman Jack Ireland.

The McFarlands' Soccer Club earlier in the season pledged to raise $10,000 of the required amount. By sheer hard work, perseverance and determination, the members have attained their objective. The remaining $3,500 has been donated by individuals and organizations in and out of the city.

The remaining $36,500 has to be raised within the next four weeks.

Chairman Ireland's fund committee held a special meeting in the city hall yesterday to discuss ways and means of raising the required amount. And one of the most enthusiastic and active members of the committee is His Worship Mayor Gerald Hyde,who was active in raising the $3,500 mentioned before.

Out-of-town business firms and other organizations will be contacted with regard to donations for the fund. Some have already sent in a contribution. A publicity campaign, through the media of local and town newspapers and radio stations is already under way and it is hoped many firms and individuals will be reached in this manner.

The important thing is, the money has to be raised, and raised quickly, within the next four weeks.

The hockey-minded public in the city and district will be asked for donations, as well as every organization that a "money-maker" be erected in the city, possibly on the armouries lawn, which will indicate the progress of the campaign.

All donations should be addressed to the "Macs' Overseas Fund, City Hall, Belleville."

Raising of the required amount in the abbreviated time, means a lot of work done by a lot of people in cooperation with one another. Volunteer workers should get in touch with Alderman Jack Ireland, Macs' manager Drury Denyes or Mayor Gerald Hyde.

The committee is open to suggestions for a slogan for the campaign. One already submitted is "Money Makes the Macs Go—To Europe, That Is." Anyone with ideas for slogans is requested to forward them to this department as quickly as possible.

The sending of the McFarlands to Europe in defence of Canada's world hockey championship will bring to this city more global publicity than any event since the one were brought down to the dance in the British Empire Dairy and Cheese Show held in the city hall several years ago.

That event evoked comment, quip and cartoon in many newspapers and magazines in a great many countries of the world, especially those specializing in the dairy industry.

The McFarlands by virtue of their representing Canada at the world tournament in Prague, Czechoslovakia, next March, and in many exhibition games played in other countries prior to the tournament, will splash the name of "Belleville" across the sports pages of at least some 27 nations.

If they win the world title—and we think they will—the little Old Lady of the Moira will add more lustre to the glory that was hers when the Loyalists Canadians came home with the coveted Allan Cup last spring.

But the co-operation and dollars of everyone is needed if the ultimate in hockey supremacy is to be attained.

Every loyal hockey fan in the city and district in particular and the country in general will be rooting for the Macs to bring home a world title honor.

They can go a little further than merely "routin' 'em home." A donation to the Macs Overseas Fund, City Hall, Belleville, no matter how large or small, from corporation or laborer will help pave the way to this aim.

Do it now, eh?

Film Reveals Gifford Short Of First Down

NEW YORK (AP)—Movies of the New York Giants-Baltimore Colts pro football championship game show officials were correct in ruling ew York's Frank Gifford did not make a first down in a key fourth-quarter play.

Gifford slashed for three yards plus a few inches just past the New York 43 when he had to make the 44. That was on third down with the Giants leading by 17-14 with 2¼ minutes left to play. If he had made the first down, the Giants would have kept the ball/and could have run out the time left on the clock.

Since he didn't make it, New York coach...Jim Lee Howell ordered a punt. Baltimore marched from its own 14 for a tying field goal and they won in overtime 23-17.

Gifford said he was certain he had made the 44.

Howell, in running the movies Monday, stopped the action and re-ran it a couple of times, also in the hope that Gifford might get that needed distance. But each time the play ended, Frank was in the same place.

The coach shook his head, saying:

"We thought he made it all right but it doesn't show there. And it happened right in front of our bench."

Defeat Favored Australians In Near-Impossible Rally; Need Win to Recapture Mug

By WILL GRIMSLEY

BRISBANE, Australia (AP)—Ham Richardson and Alex Olmedo of the United States made a dramatic—almost impossible—comeback today to win the doubles over Mal Anderson and Neale Fraser and move within one step of recapturing the Davis Cup from Australia.

Behind two aces, Richardson, No. 1 player in the U.S., and Olmedo, the borrowed Peruvian, won an exhausting four - hour marathon 10-12, 3-6, 16-14, 6-3, 7-5, match that put them two points up secret until New Year's Day, Coach Tve Elliott of California planned a one-hour session today. The Bears had a rough session of almost two hours Monday.

Forehand shots by the Big Ten champions had similar plans for the Hawkeyes. A spirited workout Tuesday featured the pin-point passing of all-American quarterback Dave Dunlap. ...Cal's star quarterback, Joe Kapp, was healthy after a bad cold, and both teams figure to be in excellent shape for the game.

Most observers look for a high scoring game. One expert predicted a 35-point total for each team.

EXPERTS SURPRISES

Elliott said he anticipates a few surprises from Evashevski's vaunted "T" attack. Replied Forest to another question, the Cal mentor inferred he might have a few surprises up his split T offence.

"Coaches usually have a few new things for a game. They have time to prepare for such things," Evashevski said.

Neither the Hawks nor the Golden Bears are noted for defense.

Iowa in nine games yielded 134 points, while scoring 254. California's 10 opponents proved the Bears can be hurt. 182 points be-total, while scoring 194. Golden-lected 195.

So somebody should certainly score/New Year's Day.

Rose Bowl Teams' Strategy Top Secret

PASADENA, Calif. Air Force Not Worried Over Texas

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—The coaches in that you don't have to too sorry for little Air Force Academy in the Cotton Bowl Christian in the Cotton Bowl Thursday.

The Falcons may not have anything to do with it. If it does, air force certainly has enough to take care of the situation.

Coach Ben Martin is using the same approach to the game he continue it in the Cotton Bowl. Even against Texas, the coaches planned the air force played during the season, Martin was able to sub-stitute freely in the clinic. The two-day air force fought the mighty Longhorns to a 13-13 tie.

Texas Christian has good reason to be confident. It plays its season and third teams almost as much as the first.

Coach Abe Martin of Texas Christmas will not say he thinks his team is the better squad. He merely declares that "I think the second team will have a lot to do with this game."

On the Tracks

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Racing Association has announced it has dropped auto racing on the famed widener straight course at Belmont Park after 22 years.

It has long been a controversial issue because many fans complained it was difficult to watch races on the dirt-furlong chute which starts at the end of the grandstand and cuts diagonally across the infield to the infield. Many horsemen liked the chute, because it afforded a good run for young horses beginning to race.

Many of the great two-year-old horses of the past made their first starts on the chute. Some of the most famous race contested down the straightaway was the Futurity, instituted at $105,750 course. It stands as the race record.

VALDES ISSUES CHALLENGE

GOTEBORG, Sweden (AP)—Ingemar Johansson, Olympic and heavyweight boxing champion, has been offered $200,000 to box Dubed Hans Valdes but will make no decision until negotiations for a title match with Floyd Patterson are finished, Edwin Ahlquist, former manager and now "co-manager" of Johansson, said the offer for the Valdes match came from George Raft, movie actor, who would stage the fight in Havana.

'Silver Fox' Of Hockey Is 75 Today

VICTORIA (CP) — Lester Patrick, the Silver Fox of hockey whose exploits span more than 50 years, celebrated his 75th birthday today.

Nothing fancy is planned, Lester said in an interview Monday night. "Just me and my wife, Grace," and my sister.

My son Lynn and Murray are busy back there in the east squashing over third place in the National Hockey League.

Lynn is general manager of the Boston Bruins and Muzz holds a similar job with New York Rangers.

Lester played in his first Stanley Cup series at 20, with Brandon against the famed Ottawa Silver Seven. After that he played in seven Cup finals in the same series.

STARTED VICTORIA TEAM

Patrick, a native of Drummondville, Que., came to Victoria in 1911 with his father, Joe, and his brother, Frank. They built the first artificial ice rink in the west. Soon they had organized Victoria Senators of the old Pacific Coast League.

In 1926 he coached New York and even played when Rangers were short. Cup in 1928 and 1933. He was 42 at the time.

Patrick managed the club and took over as vice-president of Madison Square Garden. As an executive he was mainly responsible for the playoff system of 1934, a round-robin between clubs and numerous rule changes. He retired in 1946.

Patrick, a member of hockey's hall of fame, disagrees with old-time players who say today's hockey is not as good as it was in their days.

TODAY'S HOCKEY BETTER

"You've got to live with the times," he says. "Sure, sometimes the seven-man game was slow-paced compared with the modern game.

"I think today's players are more accurate and the game is more competitive.

"I think the prowess of the old-timers has been overexaggerated in the telling; that perhaps they have been given a glamor that was often undeserved in their day and to their generation."

Trappers Name DeMarco Coach

NORTH BAY (CP)—North Bay Trappers have signed a two-year NOHA Senior hockey series, named former New York Ranger Ray Dr. DeMarco permanent coach Monday in a bid to get back into competition.

Trappers have won only five games in 22 starts so far this season. DeMarco has played for Rangers of the National Hockey League and Buffalo of the Eastern. has been acting-coach since the dispirited resignation of Chuck Rayner before Christmas.

"Maybe somebody else can get more out of the team than I've been able to," Scherza said when he quit.

DeMarco so far hasn't produced a victory. But the Trappers performed well last night when they held Sudbury to Sudbury Wolves.

Ab's appointment by North Bay manager Pete Palangio is for the balance of the season at least. Scherza remains as player, although he lost an eye last season —is a playing coach.

Boom-Boom Widens Lead Bathgate Trails by Seven

MONTREAL (CP)—If Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion of the Montreal Canadiens' hardly right-winger, can keep up his present scoring pace and stay free of injuries he will be bidding for a couple of National Hockey League records at the end of the season.

The league's official statistics, released today, show the Habitant comfortably on top of the scoring parade with 36 points. Montreal has scored 19 goals and collected 29 assists.

Geoffrion needs 96 points to set one record and 57 assists to set another. The record for points is 95, made by Gordie Howe of Detroit Red Wings with 49 goals and 46 assists in the 1952-53 season. The assists record for a season is 56, by Alex Delvecchio of Detroit, now with Toronto Maple Leafs. Geoffrion scored 52 in the 1955-56 season.

Geoffrion at present—with one game in hand to go for the exact midway mark of the season—isn't measuring up to the record. It stands at 50, made by Montreal's Maurice (Rocket) Richard in the 1944-45 season. The season then was 50 games, compared with the present 70.

Geoffrion began full - season play in the 1951-52 season but only once has he been able to play in all games. Injuries have sidelined him. He missed 19 games two seasons ago and 18 last season. In 1954-55 he only time he played in all 70 games, he won the scoring championship with 75 points. He had 38 goals and 37 assists.

The Geoffrion last week scored one goal and helped on five others in Montreal's record - breaking Bathgate of New York Rangers. Bathgate scored one goal and one assist. Jean Beliveau of Montreal for 41 points, seven behind.

Third place is shared by the two Montrealers, Dickie Moore and Rocket Richard. Each has 36 points. Moore missed one game last week, the first player after Bathgate on the individual bracket, but had no assists. The Rocket scored one of each.

Jean Beliveau of Montreal counted one goal and three assists to move into fourth place with 33 points he is tied for fifth place with Andy Bathgate, who counted only a single goal.

Eddie Litzenberger of Chicago Black Hawks, with four goals and one assist last week, follows with 32 points. Behind him at 31 are Don McKenney of Boston Bruins and Ron Murphy of Chicago. McKenney's production of one goals and four assists boosted him by five points since the end of a week ago to his eighth-place deadlock with Murphy, who picked up one goal and two assists.

Henri (Pocket Rocket) Richard of Montreal Canadiens is one of his team's three games, failed to get a point. Richard collected two sixth spot to a tie for 30th with Norm Ullman of Detroit Red Wings. Ullman, tied for seventh a week ago, got only one assist.

Champ Cleared Of Charges

LOS ANGELES (AP) — World welterweight champion Don Jordan was cleared Monday in a narcotics possession case.

The district attorney's office declined to issue a complaint against the newly-crowned 147-pound champ, arrested Sunday in a car with four others.

Police said they found a smouldering marijuana cigaret on the car's back seat.

Jordan denied any knowledge of the narcotics.

"If I had known there was anything marijuana in that car I wouldn't have been riding in it," he said.

The district attorney's office also declined to issue complaints against three of the others in the narcotics possession case.

Also cleared with Jordan were boxer Javier Sanches, 24, of Mexico; Pete Padilla, 19, driver of the car; and George Chaver, 24.

Vejar Loses To Stitch

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Rudell Stitch scored a unanimous decision over veteran Chico Vejar Monday night in a rough and tumble fight that left both men bleeding heavily.

Vejar, in a relative newcomer from Louisville, battered Vejar, 138, of Stamford, Conn., viciously in the third round and also gave him a good going over in the seventh.

Vejar rallied in the 8th and 10th rounds but couldn't make up for ground he lost in the others.

Stitch's right eye under his left eye which bled profusely and said after the fight he had badly injured his right hand. It was Stitch's twenty-first fight, and his seventeenth victory. Vejar is now 85-17-2.

Cubs Defeat Marlies 6-4

HAMILTON (CP)—Last - place Hamilton Tiger-Cubs with new additions in their lineup, came up with their largest goal output since their first home game of the season as they blanked the fifth-place Toronto Marlboros 6-4 in an OHA Junior A game here Monday night.

Coach Gerry Brown dropped three of his regular players from the day, and substituted four junior B players. Though they didn't figure in the scoring, their presence seems to have made a difference.

Three fast goals put the Cubs ahead in the third period. Larry Jeffrey scored two goals to lead the Hamilton scorers. Stu Nelson, Bob Dillabough, Pat Baker and Don Wilcox got one each.

The Toronto scorers were Jim Murchie, Jiji Addis, Jim Wilcox and Don Curry.

Women's Golf Has 128 Limit

NEW YORK (AP)—The United States Golf Association has established a limit of 128 contestants for the women's amateur championship.

The 128-player limit will go into effect in the 1959 championship at the Congressional Country Club, Washington, D.C., in August. This will make it possible to confine the all - match - play tournament to seven rounds. Eight were required in 1958.

Starting in 1959, the field will consist of the 128 entrants who have the lowest USGA handicaps up to the limit of six strokes. If there are not enough places for all applicants in the highest handicap class, the acceptances will be determined by a blind draw.

Petes Grab Victory From Juniors With Four Quick 3rd-Period Goals

BY GARRY ALEXANDER

Peterborough Petes scored four goals in two minutes and fifty seconds midway through the third period here last night to win a 4-4 deadlock and went on from there to shade Belleville Lambert - Rollins 8-6 in an OHA Central Ontario Junior "B" thriller.

Playing before 250 hometown fans, their biggest crowd of the season, the Lambert - Rollins took a 3-1 lead in the opening twenty minutes. Peterborough knotted the score at 4-4 with a 3-1 margin in the middle frame, scored four quickies and cut short a return rally by Belleville for the 8-6 win and a half share of first place with Kingston.

Belleville has two games in Peterborough this week, tonight and Friday.

Last night's contest was an even one with the lucre boys having at least their share of the play. They missed chance after chance to take the lead during the first half of the third period as they stormed around Gary Curtis in the Peterborough net and did everything but put the puck behind him. But, they had their best chance of all when he went in alone seven minutes - seven minutes mark only to have Curtis kick out his drive.

The fellow Paul Wakely won the game for his club in the third. He netted the lead goal from Daly at 10.03 during a scramble, added another, also from Daly, at 10.30 and then Coombes had made it 7-4 at 11.53, making the third goal in period at 12.53. Belleville fought back with a pair. Gary Gower netting a brace after a scramble-ling through three players at 13.29 and Dennis Kerruish scoring from a scramble at 13.20. Both Curtis and Moxam in the Belleville nets came up with some sparkling saves.

Good Fuller and Kerruish built the hometeers a 2-0 lead on passouts from Gower and Drake at 11.00 and 11.20 of the initial heat. Only put the visitors back in the game was Belleville was a man short. Gower poked in a rebound on a 3-1 period score.

Fitzgerald cut the lead to 3-2 at 1.00 of the second but Bucky Ethier and Jim Ellis hooked up in a pretty passing play to restore the margin at 13.06. Wakely scored on a breakaway at 14.05 and Daly rapped home a loose puck on the 5-3 at 19.10. Then came the hard-fought third heat with Peterborough having the finish around the net but Belleville backed.

Wakely with four goals and one assist, Frank Daly with two goals and three helpers and Fitzgerald with one and two, were the big guns for Peterborough. Coombes had one and one while Nichols and Watson had single assists.

Gower potted two goals and assisted on a third while Dennis Kerruish also scored twice for Belleville. Bucky Ethier and Gord Fuller were the other marksmen assists going to Ralph Plane with two, Roger Drake, Jim Ellis, Barry Fitzgerson and Gary Rowbotham with one each.

Peterborough had five minors, a misconduct and a major in the penalty department with Belleville getting four and one major. The five-minute sentences were to Jerry Mann and Meagher for fighting at 9.21 of the third. Joe English for misconduct early in the third.

New faces in the local lineup were forwards Jim Ellis and Roger Drake and defencemen

Bobby Hull Will Donate Memorial Cup

Bobbie Hull, star sophomore at the Chicago Black Hawks has announced that he will donate a trophy in the memory of two minor hockey alumni who died in a car accident Christmas Eve.

Bobby made a special trip from Chicago to pay tribute to the late Art Culleden and Bill Foster Jnr. "Hockey stars who met death almost instantly when their car crashed into a tree.

Hull played peewee and bantam hockey with the two dead athletes.

He will donate the trophy "in memory of the most valuable player" on the Belleville Junior "B" hockey club. It will be known as the Culleden-Foster Memorial Trophy.

It is fine gesture on the part of the Point Anne athlete star, and will be greatly appreciated by sportsmen in general and the hockey and soccer associates of Culleden and Foster in particular.

Jim Jones, late of the defunct Trenton Lafferty's. Jack Elliott was missing from the lineup because of a leg injury.

ATTWELL, GOES WEST

MONTREAL (CP) — Centre Ron Attwell, released by Montreal Saguenoens of the Quebec Hockey League, has been sent to Spokane of the Western-Hockey League. On his release he was returned to the Montreal Canadiens organization, which owns him. In 25 games with Chicoutimi Attwell scored five goals and 18 assists.

Giants' Jim Patton, right, No. 20, leaps atop Baltimore fullback Alan Amechie, but not before the latter had bucked over the goal line from the one-yard line in the second period of the championship game at Yankee stadium. Amechie also scored the game-winning touchdown in sudden-death overtime of one of the most thrilling finals in NFL history. The jubilant Colts won, 23-17, to win their first pro grid title.

Many 1958 Sports Oddities Recalled by Editors, Casters

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

A baseball game in which no batter was supposed on account of elephants. In British Columbia hockey fans swiped the goalposts during a fog-clouded football game.

In Saskatchewan, a hockey coach on a year's suspension for socking an official, tried to name his wife as his successor. Also in British Columbia, a hockey team came up with its own masked marvel in a move to lure television-watching wrestling fans to the rink.

These were a few 1958 Canadian sports oddities recalled by sports editors and broadcasters in the 24th annual Canadian Press year - end poll released today. There were others touching on an assorted list of subjects, from poem - writing quarterbacks to fishing.

ELEPHANTS TAKE OVER

The elephants provided the oddity at Peterborough. Players of the semi-pro South End Jets and South End Maple Leafs arrived at the park for a scheduled game but found the diamond inhabited by circus elephants, relaxing between shows. After half-hearted attempts to shoo them away, officials decided to postpone the game.

The case of the disappearing goalposts happened at Victoria. They were in place at the start of the Oak Bay Drakes-Navy intermediate game but, sometime between the opening kickoff and the end of the third quarter, some blithe souls spirited them away. The match was suspended and the teams played the fourth quarter at a later date.

A Calgary player said later that he "kept waiting and listening for the play to come around to me," but once," he added, "I heard footsteps coming towards me. Out of the fog comes a guy and he says: 'Hey, you got the ball?' I told him 'nope,' so we both went looking for the game."

Scotty Munro, coach and president of the Sirven Bruins of the Saskatchewan Junior Hockey League, got his knuckles rapped by the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association after he skinned them up punching an official during a game. He promptly named his wife, Rose, to the gate-opening job but it didn't work and he later hired Howie Milford.

GIMMICK FAILED

The masked marvel gimmick was used by Vernon Canadians of the Okanagan Senior Hockey League after the executive quit in the face of mounting bills and dipping box-office figures. Frank King, a forward, and Coach George Agars took the club over on a share-the-profits basis and plunked a hood over one of their players.

He would be unmasked only after scoring a goal or ending a game. In his first game, with the "marvel" two turns on the ice. In the second, he suffered a groin injury and sat on the bench. He didn't attract enough additional fans to make it noteworthy and was unmasked.

The question CP asked was: "What was the Canadian sports oddity of 1958?"

A couple of voters said simply that British Columbia Lions of the Western Interprovincial Football Union filled the bill. The Lions haven't made the playoffs since they joined the league in 1954 and this year finished last in the five-team circuit.

Jim Trimble, coach of the Hamilton Tiger-Cats in the Big Four who makes life interesting for fans and football writers with his pungent comments, drew more than casual attention from the voters.

The oddity tag was pinned on him by two voters who felt that to name him was enough explanation. "Trimble with his foot in his mouth," said Johnny Esaw of Radio-Station CKRC in Winnipeg. "So many people believe Jim Trimble," said Jack Matheson of the Winnipeg Tribune.

POOR PROPHET

Among other things, the big likable Trimble said before the Grey Cup final against Winnipeg Blue Bombers that his Tiger-Cats would win. They lost 35-28.

Toronto Argonauts, last-place finishers in the Big Four, drew votes. "The collective poems of the Argonauts' quarterback Rosie Knox and the attendant publicity" was the oddity for Jim Vipond of the Toronto Globe and Mail.

Ed Finn, Jr. of the Corner Brook Western Star in Newfoundland gave his ballot to the tuna who refused to bite in the 15th Annual Big Game Tuna tournament at Wedgeport, N.S. Four angling teams from Mexico, the British Commonwealth and the United States fished three days for the giant bluefin and all drew blanks.

Jack Koffman of the Ottawa Citizen gave his oddity vote to Winnipeg fans who asked 2-to-1 odds on the Grey Cup. Other oddities included the blocked kick and touchdown scored by Norm Rauhaus of Winnipeg in the Cup final, the exclusion of Vancouver's Stan Leonard from the Canada Cup golf team in favor of Edmonton's Henny Martell; the sudden fade-out of attempts to swim Lake Ontario.

'Poppa Bear' Wants Knox Back in Lair

TORONTO (CP)—Ronnie Knox, the wandering quarterback and leading Hollywood actor, may find out at a meeting in February whether he'll be back with Toronto Argonauts for the 1959 Big Four football season.

He is in Los Angeles' hometown where in the United States with Commissioner George Halas of the National Football League Chicago Bears, owned by Papa Poo of the pro, and possibly Lew Hayman, managing director of the Toronto club.

The poem-writing quarterback is under contract to Toronto but was paid last season by Argos who got him midway through the 1958 campaign on loan from Chicago.

He promptly solved their desperate quarterback situation and Hayman said he would like to have the former UCLA ace back. However, they haven't been able to get Halas to go along with the idea.

If the Bears' owner balks they'll have to start searching for a new quarterback to provide a drawing card. Knox played a couple years ago with Hamilton Tiger-Cats and Ralph Sampedrino would be happy to return. He became quite a hero in Toronto before and just missed guiding Argos into a playoff spot.

Soccer Opens In Gardens

TORONTO (CP)—Teams of six men each played soccer indoors for the first time in Toronto Monday night while about 2,000 curious sport fans looked on.

It was the official opening in Maple Leaf Gardens of the Toronto Indoor Soccer League, organized by Toronto Metropolitans and Toronto Inter-Cosmopolitans.

Four of the league's six teams saw action in the opening doubleheader. Thralltans defeated Uhlenhorst Unitas 8-4, while White Eagles downed Olympia 6-4.

The games maintained a fast pace with few stops and teams managed intricate passing displays despite the smaller playing surface.

A second league, with four more teams, is another group and will play its games in the Coliseum in the Canadian National Exhibition grounds.

The first game each week will be played at 9.30 a.m. with the others following at 10.30, 10.50, 11.30 and 12.10.

BUILD NEW BOAT

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Construction of a new senior-class hydroplane to challenge for the Harmsworth Trophy will start here in January. Gordon Hayward and owned by Jim Thompson, London sportsman who put Canada to the forefront of speedboating with his world record-holder Miss Supertest II, is expected to be completed early in April.

Pot O'Gold Swells for Baltimore Colts

BALTIMORE (AP) — The $4,718.97 received by each member of Baltimore Colts for winning the National Football League title is only the beginning.

Two gifts totalling $50,000, to be split up among players and coaches, were reported today. A substantial "merit award" also is likely from Colt owner Carroll Rosenbloom, who had ordered post-season gifts as high as $1,000 in the past to also-can teams.

Another windfall is due next fall when the Colts play the college all-stars in Chicago. And finally, six or so Baltimore players will collect again Jan. 11 when they participate in the all-pro game at Los Angeles.

One gift of $25,000 was announced today by a brewing company which sponsors Colt games on radio and television.

Sports editor Jesse A. Linthicum of The Sun also reported a $15,000 gift. He said the money was contributed by a fan "for all the pleasure the Colts and OHA have given me this year." The donor was not identified.

Another money received from Sunday's title game against New York Giants was divided into 42½ shares by the Colts. On the basis, the $5,000 would about to almost $1,200 a full share.

Midgets Edge Stirling 4-3

Belleville Midgets scored two unanswered goals in the third period to edge Stirling Midgets 4-3 in a close exhibition fixture played here last night over the Junior "B" game.

Gary Duval's two goals gave Belleville the victory. He tied the game on a pass from Lewis and plotted the winner on a feed with Pete Weston and Stu Muirhead.

Stirling had taken a 2-1 lead in the first session on goals by R. Scott and R. Smith. Stu Muirhead had the tempest goal with D. Sinclair and Weston assisting.

The Stirling Midgets had the middle twenty minutes, H. Pointer registering for Belleville and Bruce Rowland for Stirling.

Lineups — Stirling: D. Townsend, end, R. Scott, R. Smith, K. Scott, E. Mayhew, F. Palmer, F. Jeffs, B. Noble, G. Wright, M. Young, E. Key, A. Morrison, D. Neale, D. Potts, G. Rose.

Belleville: Donald, Lake, Lewis, Muirhead, Sinclair, Weston, Duval, Reid, Jones, Dahl, Duggan, Pointer, Scott.

CHARGE BATTLING FAN

VANCOUVER (CP) — Hockey fan Renee Brindamour, 46, was ordered Monday to post a $200 bond to keep the peace. Brindamour was charged Saturday following a skirmish with Guyle Fielder, Seattle Totems hockey player during a Western Hockey League game here Dec. 28. He pleaded guilty. Police said Brindamour struck out at Fielder as the player skated past his seat. Brindamour and Fielder struck him on the elbow with his stick.

Name Swede Fighter of Year

'I'm Insulted' Says Archie

LOS ANGELES (AP) — World-light heavyweight champion Archie Moore says he is keenly disappointed that Ring magazine did not name him fighter of the year.

Moore said he could not believe it when he read that Nat Fleischer, editor of Ring magazine, had named Ingemar Johansson of Sweden fighter of the year.

The champ telephoned his views from Chicago to Sid Ziff, Mirror News sports editor.

"Fleischer also deliberately insulted all fighters by ranking me behind Sugar Ray Robinson," Moore declared.

Fleischer made his ratings after Moore's dramatic title-round knockout of Yvon Durelle of Baie Ste. Anne, N.B. Moore gamely came back from three knockdowns in the first round and one in the fifth. That bout was cited by Fleischer as "fight of the year."

"If the contest that I made against Durelle didn't earn me the fighter of the year award, nothing I can ever hope to do will win it for me," Moore said. "My age will put it beyond my reach in the future. Time is running out on me as an athlete."

Moore's age is variously reported all the way from 42 to 46.

He told Ziff it saddens him that Fleischer would have him "take a backward seat to a novice, a young man as yet untested."

Inkspots Edge Public Works

The Ontario Intelligencer Inkspots edged the Public Works 11-10 last night in a City League Hockey game to stretch their perfect record to three wins in as many starts.

Ron "Red" High bagged the deciding goal late in the game with the score tied 10-10.

Fred Soule was the top cop to the Intell attack, clicking for four goals while Wood Hall Jr. and Ron High two each. Merv Thompson and Paul Prince potted the other pair. Bob McCann was his usual self in goal.

Don Rushlow scored five of the Public Works' goals while Frank Rushlow netted three. Garnet Malmes and Rocky Davis added singletons.

LINEUPS

Public Works: Wayne Thompson, A. Williams, Garnet Malmes, R. Davis, Don Rushlow, Frank Rushlow, Art Bourette.

Int. Intell.: Bob McCann, Merv Thompson, Paul Prince, Ron High, Don Wood, Fred Soule, Harvey Bridger, Ralph Harris.

Eastern Senior A League Will Use Local Referees

Cornwall and Hull - Ottawa Canadiens, the only clubs in the senior "A" hockey league decided to use local referees at all home games.

Heretofore clubs had used out-of-town referees with two local linesmen.

Use of local referees, it was estimated would cut the league operational costs by 1 1/2 per cent. The move eliminates the payment of mileage, a big item, to out-of-town officials.

"None of the league referees are much good, but one can be had at home as he can away, in fact he might be better in front of a home town crowd," quipped Hull — Ottawa Canadiens' manager Sam Pollock.

The use of an out-of-town referee and two local linesmen has been in vogue since the circuit upped its rating to senior "A" two years ago.

Cobalt Cobras named their officials to OHA president Lorne Cook who chaired the meeting. Appointments, however, will be made by the Cobalt executive, Bill Hanley of Toronto. The new system will go into effect at the end of next week.

Belleville named Vern Goyer and Jim Archer referees. Hilltop will referee Kingston while Toronto referees. Kingston named Casterton, Bill Hanley, "Red" Hilton; Cornwall, Wally Gerard and Micky Flanagan, and Hull - Ottawa, Art Francke and Louis LeCompte.

In a re-draft of the league, decided to split the pool as of now, with another split to be made in January. Under it, now each club had paid ten per cent of gate to the league. This was changed to eight per cent.

Rain Would Help Clemson Against 'Loo'

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Clemson isn't hankering to be any help from the weatherman against Louisiana State in the Sugar Bowl ew Year's Day. But it is no secret a wet field will impede Louisiana and the forecast is for rain during the next day or two.

Clemson said they don't expect any rain on the $2,000 fans Thursday, but many observers were on tap for today and Wednesday to feed a report on the probably will greet the teams.

Coach Frank Howard had Clemson working out in the springlike weather at Biloxi, Miss., Monday. The worries of the seasons at Clemson said—perhaps with tongue in cheek—be hoped the weather will last.

Coach Paul Dietzel of undefeated LSU said he was unconcerned on future weather conditions. But one of his toughest opponents was a 7-6 muddy victory over Mississippi State, a team his Bengals were favored to beat by a prohibitive margin.

Sport Snapshots

BY JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — Five years ago New York Rangers sold Andy Bathgate to Cleveland Barons of the National Hockey League. He was ready to quit hockey, but his mother talked him out of it.

Now, money can't buy the winning-born player who has been the New Rangers five years. He's a leading contender to bust the 1958 scoring records of Gordie Howe and Jean Beliveau and monopoly as the league's all-star right-winger.

Howe was 1958 that position has been the exclusive property of the Montreal Canadiens' flying frenchmen. Howe has won the last six and Beliveau the last four.

Howe won the right-wing berth and also the Hart Trophy as most valuable player in the league. In second place in the scoring race was Bathgate who carries around two bad knees—one that aches on damp and rainy days and shows the marks of studs which hold a silver plate, and the other protected by a brace.

Unless Richard and Howe put on a late-season spurt they are likely to finish as also-rans in the voting. Top contenders now are Bathgate and Boom Boom Geoffrion of the Canadiens.

Not including Christmas Eve games, Boom Boom was the league's leading scorer with 34 points on 18 goals and 34 assists. Bathgate was a close second with 29 points on 19 goals and 30 assists.

In the 1953-54 season Bathgate was sold by Rangers to Cleveland.

"I wanted to quit hockey," the 26 - year - old winger told Jack (Hamilton Spectator) Lauiens the other day. "Rangers had promised to send me to Vancouver if I didn't make it but they shipped me to Cleveland instead.

"I called my mother and told her and she said that maybe it was a turning point in my career and that I should stick it out. I did. . . . I scored some goals and Rangers bought me back."

FARK HORIZON

Scotty (Regina Leader - Post) Bowman, one of the keenest observers of hockey in Canada, has plenty to say about the future. Scotty writes:

"What is left of senior hockey isn't on dangerous ice. . . . In the Western pro league places like Saskatoon, Edmonton and New Westminster are about at the end of the trail. Calgary, with a brand new rink, should cover $50,000 last year. . . . The Vancouver Canucks are the only real money guys. His crowds are poor, too. . . . Eventually senior hockey's power is dead. Sunday games save it in Toronto; the Lakehead teams have a chance; so do the teams in Winnipeg which are using Sunday to get a jump on dimes, assorted buttons and safety pins. The Saskatchewan Senior League. . . . The senior hockey has to come from the National Leagues.

"The NHL control reaches deep into the amateur game, disrupts junior hockey. Junior and grass roots hockey is still healthy and the senior game is nowhere near beyond that the blight has made the future precarious."

Shirley Maclaine Is Touted As Sure Oscar Award Winner

By BOB THOMAS

AT THE PARK — It's "The Pajama Game." The fun and frolic of the stage musical is brought to the screen starring Doris Day, John Raitt, Carol Haney, Eddie Foy, Jr., and the members of the Broadway show. Produced and directed by George Abbott and Stanley Donen, "The Pajama Game" is a Warner Bros. presentation filmed in WarnerColor and now showing at the Park Theatre. On the same program, the seas most amazing adventure, "The Enemy Below," color by DeLuxe, and in CinemaScope, starring Robert Mitchum and Curt Jergens. Daily Matinees all this week starting at 2.00 p.m.

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Now begins Hollywood's dog days. The first two months of the year are traditionally a worst for production here. The reason: There's a big tax in March on exposed film in the state.

That means that the studios avoid filming in January and February and try to have all their films finished and shipped out of California before the tax is due.

Samuel Goldwyn offers an example of how it can hurt. He won't be able to have Porgy and Bess finished in time for the deadline. He figures the tax will add more than $100,000 to the movie's cost.

John Wayne says his boy Pat still is undecided about whether he wants to pursue the acting life. The lad is a junior in pre-med at Loyola University here, and will be available only for films in the summer, his dad declares.

Bill Holden is taking off for a safari to central Africa, one of the few regions of the world he hasn't visited. Then he goes to Europe, returns briefly and takes off for the Orient.

All these travels aren't merely wanderlust on Bill's part. He is convinced of the value of world-wide salesmanship for the movies he's in.

"I thought it was a lot of bother to visit so many German towns for Bridge on the River Kwai," he said. "But now I can see the results. We're going to take $2,000,000 out of Germany, more than any German picture ever made and double what a foreign film has a chance."

Some Came Running is getting a good reaction from the Hollywood crowd. There are many who are prepared to hand Shirley Maclaine the Oscar right now. It's hard to see how she can miss; her role as the floozy has Academy Award written all over it.

Deer Kill Same as 1957

QUEBEC (CP) — The Quebec game and fisheries department said Monday the 1958 deer kill totalled an estimated 8,752 animals—the same as last year.

Hunters are required to report each kill to a district warden. The department's estimate is based on reports from the wardens.

The 1958 season was 23 days in southern areas of the province and 26 days through most northern areas.

June Lockhart Enjoys Role Of Mother in Lassie Series

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—After June Lockhart was offered the role of hostess and narrator for the Playhouse 90 production of The Nutcracker on CBS-TV last Thursday a New York agent telephoned her in Hollywood and said:

"You can't play the mother of Lassie all of your life."

"Why not?" asked Miss Lockhart.

The point is, she explained when she reached New York to appear in The Nutcracker, she enjoys the role of Ruth Martin, the mother in the CBS-TV Lassie series. Besides, she likes to work.

What might seem a dog's life to many actors is the cat's whiskers to Miss Lockhart in the endless series about the life and fortunes of a good collie.

Filming the series, she said, involves five solid days of work a week from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.—and then a breather of a couple of months which gives her an opportunity to appear in live television dramas.

"I'm not worried about becoming typed," she said, "because I've already done such a variety of roles. I played just about everything in the theatre, movies and television. I've been a refugee, a mother, an old maid, a prostitute, a nymphomaniac and an ever desperate I'm pretty sure I can get another prostitute's role on a western."

The daughter of the late Gene Lockhart and actress Kathleen Lockhart, she never has had a dramatic lesson.

The birth of a baby girl to Pete Porter's wife Gladys on the Jan. 15 December Bride show (CBS-TV) will climax the longest pregnancy in television history. Gladys, who never has been seen on the show but is frequently referred to by her husband, has been expecting the baby for well over a year.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER

Wednesday, December 31, 1958

Aries (March 21 to April 19) — Fine aspects for all financial affairs. You can handle all matters with real acumen and execution. Don't fail to avail yourself of today's potential, though you may be highly elated over celebrating the incoming year. Be smart.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) — A day for thinking of yourself and having a wonderful time as you like best. Get dressed at the crack of dawn in nicest bib and tucker, then off to the races, as it were. Be gay and fascinating, jolly and inspiring to others. Have fun.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) — You enjoy your closest friends best of all, so be sure to be with them this fine day. Opportunity will be present to plan the New Year wisely and to join forces with these intimates for onward and wonderful new enterprise. Be philanthropic, too.

Moon Children (June 21 to July 21) — A rare day to find out just what your comrades are thinking and how you can join together toward a more lucrative and happy future. But you must be just as confiding in them for best results and greatest benefits to yourself.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) — Be most specific when talking with financiers and advisors concerning your desires and needs for the future. Find new ways to increase your abundance. P.M. indulge in the sports that have pleased so much in the past days and years. Be gay.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 23) — Fine day to pursue your goals in most determined and enthusiastic fashion. Don't neglect to express yourself clearly with those who can help you attain what you need and desire. Once they understand, you will get backing.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) — Fine day for planning the coming year. Do research work, get data you must have to get your ideas in operation. Consult with authorities. P.M. take it easy at home. Watch fine TV programs.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — Loyal comrades are in a mood to be very helpful today, and since small favors are what make possible later big benefits, be grateful and show interest in their affairs also. Let there be a fine spirit of commaraderie.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Many matters come to the fore today to test your ability to handle them correctly. Do so, then take stock of your relative position with everyone who counts within your sphere. Be with as many people as possible and get results.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — Step out early and meet influential or vital people, for they will have a fine influence on your affairs in the new year. Later, read your paper and do other prime matter for the latest ideas and systems. Be well posted, prepared.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — Close the old year by getting rid of accumulated odds and ends. Get your credit in order, and in P.M. you must meet with those individuals with whom you can work out a fine program for the New Year. Make this a memorable one.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) — A day to know exactly what your relative position is with those vital persons in your life. Let others know your true aims and ideas, gain prestige and respect that is well merited. Also let generosity become one of your failings.

If your child is born today—The delightful child born today will be full of vim and vigor, and it will be no problem for your progeny to have influential persons become interested in his or her affairs. Soon your youngster becomes someone's protege and will be farther ahead on the road of life at a tender age. Give the finest artistical training for ideal existence. A wonderful chart for the opera singer.

Happy New Year!

INDIAN SCHOOL BURNED

THE PAS, Man. (CP) — Fire which swept a three-room school 50 miles east of here has left 138 Indian children without classrooms. The fire struck Sunday at the Moose Lake school operated by Anglican missionaries. No estimate of loss was available.

CUBAN REBELS

of the countryside. Government sources denied loss of the towns.

If the rebels win a war of attrition, they will have to overcome the capital of easternmost Oriente Province and one of the most powerful armies left in Oriente. Camaguey Province, between Oriente and Las Villas, has been the scene of scattered rebel raids.

CASTRO'S CAPITAL

The rebels said their forces were in position to attack Camaguey itself after taking its town in Oriente. The port city, Cuba's second largest, is defended by 10,000 to 12,000 troops. Castro is believed trying to make it his capital and set up a provisional government headed by Dr. Manuel Urrutia, who left for exile once freed the rebel leader.

Reports from Santa Clara were conflicting. Regular rail, road, telephone and telegraph lines to the Rebel-controlled area and communications centre — have been cut for almost a week.

Three rebel columns, possibly totalling 3,000 or more men, pushed into the city after encircling it and were trying to link up. The bearded rebels were armed with hand weapons ranging from machine-guns to knives.

BATTLE FOR PLANT

Government planes bombed a soft drink bottling plant where rebels had set up. One report claimed capture of the University of Las Villas, three miles outside of Santa Clara.

Government officials remained silent on the bottling Castro in any showdown battle. Army leaders long have said they will fight for a pitched battle in which they can bring their superior equipment and numbers to bear. Up to now Castro has conducted a guerrilla campaign in his 25-month rebellion.

In New Orleans, Delta Air Lines said armed Cuban police dragged two protesting American citizens from a plane that was to fly Havana Monday on a flight from Jamaica.

The airline identified the two as Louis F. Brantley and James Wilson. Both were released and not immediately available. An airline official in Atlanta said he believed the men made uncomplimentary remarks about Fidel Castro in the plane, while waiting in the Havana airport lobby.

After the passengers reboarded the plane, four armed men entered it, handcuffed them to their three stewardesses, threatened to shoot several of the passengers, and took the men off at gunpoint, the airline said.

then stopping when he saw that cars were going to hit the train at level crossing on Highway 400 near Barrie.

Driver said he kept his freight train's whistle blowing because he knew motorists would be unable to see a wig-wag signal in the fog.

A panel truck carrying five Toronto men stopped at the crossing but was struck by a station wagon containing four Barrie-area residents. The truck was driven into the train and struck driver into by a third northbound vehicle, a car, when it swerved to avoid the station wagon.

Two minutes later a Barrie car skidded into the stationary train, then was struck by a panel truck.

Because vehicles were moving slowly and the train was stationary, injuries were not serious, police said.

Garfield Lee of Caledonia, Ont., or his wife Patricia, 44, and their daughters, Geraldine of Caledonia and Mrs. Jeanette Gray, 19, of Hamilton, were injured in this accident.

FIVE HURT

Five of eight passengers were injured severely in a two-car collision on Highway 7, 14 miles south of Lindsay.

They were Jethro Staples, 19, of Hamilton; Ralph Staples, 17, Oakwood, Elaine Patterson, 19, Lindsay, Mr. and Mrs. R. McCurdy of Verdun, Que.

Marilie Klosterman, 18, of Hamilton was in fair condition after a car-gas truck collision at the intersection of Highways 33 and 20 near Hamilton.

MD'S OPPOSE

plan has had its critics but he said he was not aware of such scope was bound to be criticized. "In my view this is a healthy situation—if the critics base their criticisms on facts and—not on fears."

He said he didn't think the demands on hospitals would grow greatly because 72 per cent of Ontario's population had been covered under private pre-payment plans.

ONTARIO COST $3,000,000

Although the Ontario plan will cost $120,000,000 annually, the provincial government will have to contribute only $9,000,000 to make up the difference.

David Gollvie, the commission insurance director, said the $9,000,000 is broken down into $70,000,000 contributions each year by the federal government and member premiums.

The remaining 25 per cent of Ontario's share will be for operating mental hospitals and for rehabilitation centres, already a provincial responsibility. Another $11,000,000 will be available from discontinued maintenance grants to hospitals.

At the outset, premiums under the plan will be $2.10 a month for single persons and $4.20 for families. The hospital services commission said it expects hospital costs to rise by less than one per cent per month, indicating no increase in the premiums next year.

WHITE'S DISTRICT

White's Church Choir Visits County Home

WHITE'S DISTRICT — Tuesday afternoon the ladies of White's District visited the Bayside Rest Home to entertain the patients in music and song prior to Christmas. The pianist, Mrs. A. Skazrup played a number of carols and a musical prelude, and the ladies sang "His Birthday," "Cradled in a Manger," "King of Kings," "The Greeting We Love the Best" and many other familiar carols.

Mrs. G. Bilham and Mrs. Giles sang "No Room in the Inn" as a duet, with the ladies joining in the chorus.

The choir included: Mrs. G. Bilham, leader, Mrs. Ward Jones, Mrs. Casey Ketchenson, Mrs. Leonard Young, Mrs. W. Deffery, Mrs. Everett Nicolson and Mrs. Giles.

Mr. L. Larsen thanked the ladies for their kindness and Mrs. Larsen and Mrs. Reeves served a tasty cup of tea and dainty cookies.

Miss Church, a patient of 94 years, was prepared for such an occasion and presented several of the visitors with gifts while the visitors presented candy to all.

The patients love to have visitors and this bit of music and song was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

THOMASBURG

Crescent Rebekah Lodge Marks Forty-Fifth Anniversary

THOMASBURG — On Dec. 17, 1913, Quinte Rebekah Lodge of Belleville, visited Thomasburg and assisted in inaugurating Crescent Rebekah Lodge with 17 charter members.

The same evening, at the first session of the new order, 57 members were initiated on that memorable day.

To celebrate this 45th anniversary of that day, 100 Brothers and Sisters were present in the I.O.O.F. Hall, Thomasburg, on Dec. 8, 1958.

The side walls of the hall were tastefully adorned with evergreens, while Christmas decorations festooned from the ceiling. "Happy Birthday, 1913-1958," in bright green lettering on a pink and green background, was featured across the entire front of the hall.

P.N.G. Sis. Doris Laurenson introduced D.D.P. Sis. Bessie Heyworth of Madoc, who was also celebrating her birthday.

After the singing of "Happy Birthday" she was presented with a corsage by Sis. Mary Geen on behalf of Crescent Lodge.

An impressive service for the Brothers and Sisters who have passed away was then held. The names of the deceased members are: Brothers Murney Holbert, William Hall, Murney Carpenter, Murney Geen, A. C. Porter, H. E. Morton, John Smith, Jesse Ranson, T. Orr, S. Webb and Sisters Nellie Thrasher, Kay Wheeler, Kate Coulter, Carrie Morton, Janet Downey, Edith Carleton, Phoebe Brown, Carrie Sayers, Margaret Fennell, Rebecca Robinson, Ivy Blakely, Lotie Harrison, Jennie Mouck, Mary Way.

Sister Marie Geen read the minutes of the first lodge session and the names of the charter members, only one, Bro. Harry Kennedy, being present.

He was ushered to the centre of the floor and presented with a boutonniere and a gift. Four other members for 48 years were present, Sis. Emma Kennedy, Sis. Irene Coulter, Sis. Margaret Geen and Sis. Stella Orr, who were each presented with a corsage and a gift from the lodge.

Sis. Doris Laurenson, P.N.G. then favored with a solo, "When the World Forgets."

The Past Noble Grands were called forward and also presented with corsages: Sisters Flora Kennedy 1927, Agnes Webb 1928 and D.D.P. of district No. 4 in 1930; Pearl Porter 1936-1937, Isabel Martin 1940-1943, Edna Bateman 1946, Eva Farrell 1947, Eileen Coulter 1948, Dora Morton 1949, Emma Crookright 1951, Marjorie Jeffrey 1952, Irene Coulter 1933, 1935, 1941, 1942, and 1945; Leona Brough 1954, Marie Geen 1955, Bernice Booth 1956, Doris Laurenson 1957, Margaret Geen 1932, 1939, 1944 and D.D.P. of district No. 4 in 1952.

Bro. Harry Coulter was presented with a gift and a boutonniere as a slight token of appreciation for his faithful services to the lodge and degree captain for 12 years.

PAGEANT PRESENTED

A pageant was presented by several members with the 23rd prayer being given by Sis. Lillian Phelps.

Sis. Joyce Latchford, N.G. of Crescent Lodge, was presented with appropriate gifts by Sis. Whitehead of Stirling and Sis. Adams of Belleville.

A short program, consisting of the following numbers, was enjoyed at this stage of the festivities: a reading by Sister Vera Hill; a solo by Sister Walters; a reading by Sister Sorry, and a humorous skit, "Hill-billyy" by members of Coulters Lodge, Belleville.

A delicious buffet luncheon was served, highlighted by the three-layer birthday cake decorated in pink and green and suitably inscribed with "Happy Birthday 1913-1958," which was placed on the head table where the following guests of honor were seated: D.D.P. Sis. Bessie Heyworth; Bro. Harry Coulter, Sis. Irene Coulter, Bro. Harry Kennedy, Sis. Emma Kennedy, Sis. Margaret Geen, Sis. Stella Orr, Sis. Agnes Webb, Sis. Joyce Fisher, V.G., and Sis. Joyce Latchford, N.G.

Guests were present from sister circles in Belleville, Kingston, Tweed, Stirling and Madoc.

Some interesting notes are that Mrs. D. Morton, a charter member, who, due to illness was unable to attend, is the grandmother of the present N.G. and Sis. Dora Morton, who is a past Noble Grand, is Sis. Latchford's mother; also that the grandfather of this correspondent, Mrs. H. E. Thompson, the late Bro. John S. Ranson, was also a charter member of the order.

White's District

WHITE'S DISTRICT — Mrs. Harold Woodley and Mrs. Thomas Green, of Belleville, were Christmas day guests of the former's daughter, Mrs. Janet Pearmer, Mr. Palmer and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Shoreboury and the Misses Vivian and Darlene, of Bancroft, spent a few days at Christmas with their daughter, Mrs. Garnet Jones and Mr. Jones.

Mr. and Mrs. Jermyn Palmer spent Christmas day with their daughter, Mrs. Neil Pennycook, and Mr. Pennycook, of Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bartlett and family, of Queen Sound, spent boxing day with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jermyn Palmer.

Mrs. W. A. Jeffery spent Christmas day with her sister, Mrs. Cecil Jeffery, Mrs. Jeffery and Sharon.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jones, Mr. and Mrs. George Jillson, Sylvia and Larry were Christmas eve guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Hunter and boys of Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bowers spent Christmas day with her brother, Mr. Harry Thompson, and Mrs. Thompson, of Thurlow.

Unique Chance Seen for UN Body in Africa

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (Reuters) — United Nations Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold said Monday the concept of international organization appeared to be "uniquely fitted to the problems of economic development in Africa."

In a speech to the opening session of the newly-established United Nations Economic Commission for Africa, Hammarskjold said the commission would be a focal point for the expression of the needs of the African people and a "well-organized clearing house for an exchange of information and experience."

Among the items to be discussed at the commission meeting are the economic status of Africa and the role of the commission in playing in furthering economic development.

Hammarskjold said the world right now day regard the formation of the commission as the moment when Africa began to become its full role in the world economy.

"It is already apparent that in the parts of Africa the colonial days will prove to be of much shorter duration than in other continents," he said.

"In other parts colonialism is coming so markedly altered in its original form that it is hardly the same phenomenon which used to be identified under that word."

HUSBAND, WIFE DIE

CLINTON, Ont. (CP) — Dr. John S. Evans, 85, retired Clinton veterinary, died in his sleep Saturday night within 24 hours of his wife, Sandie, 80. Dr. and Mrs. Evans were Clinton residents for more than 57 years until moving to Stratford four years ago to be with their family. Dr. Evans was a native of Bruce County and early graduate of the Ontario Veterinary College.

Free Jurists' Worker Held As Red Spy

BERLIN (AP)—An official of a private West Berlin intelligence agency has been arrested on suspicion of being a Communist spy.

West Berlin police said the man is Kurt Werner, 39, head of an economic section of the League of Free Jurists.

The Free Jurists—an organization which has received moral and financial support from prominent lawyers in the Western world—gathers evidence of legal injustice in Communist East Germany. It has widespread underground contacts in the East.

Werner knew the names of some of these underground contacts, and police suspect him of having given the East German secret police information on them. A spokesman for the Free Jurists said three of their contacts have been arrested as a result of Werner. Five others were able to flee to West Berlin.

WEST ASKS REDS TO DISCUSS GERMANY

Army Forces Stop Rebel Attempt To Take Santa Clara

Thousands Killed, Hurt In Big Battle Near City

HAVANA, Cuba. (AP) — Army forces today smashed a rebel attempt to capture Santa Clara in central Cuba and are driving the insurgents eastward, the government said.

Rebel broadcasts conceded that the savage fighting now has moved north and east of that city controlling highways from Havana to eastern Cuba.

Fighters, bombers, artillery, tanks, armored cars and infantry were reported attacking rebels everywhere in Las Villas province, of which Santa Clara is the capital.

TANKS EFFECTIVE

A rebel broadcast said forces in the town of Cruces just west of Santa Clara "are no longer able to resist in the face of attacks by tanks."

"There are numerous dead and wounded," the broadcast added.

Government sources put rebel casualties in the fighting in Santa Clara at 2,000 killed or wounded.

Government sources asserted aerial attacks alone had inflicted 2,000 casualties on the rebels. Government losses were not indicated but one informant said the army was killing three rebels for every soldier lost.

Prime Minister Gonzalo Guell told reporters after a conference with President Fulgencio Batista that the rebels have been smashed at Santa Clara.

ALL GOING WELL

He said "all is going well and our troops are pushing toward Camaguey province," which lies between Las Villas and Oriente, the rebel stronghold at the eastern end of the island.

The rebels appeared to be in a bad way. One rebel commander was heard radioing urgently for reinforcements. No government is known to outnumber the rebels in Las Villas, possibly by a margin of 10 to 1.

Planes machine-gunned rebels holding out in Trinidad, in southern Las Villas, and in other sectors of eastern and northwestern Las Villas.

Rebel broadcasts, which had been saying the overthrow of Batista was imminent, stopped talking about the fighting in Las Villas.

The rebels claimed new successes in Oriente. They said they captured the city of Guantanamo, 50 miles north of the U.S. naval base of the same name.

Government air raids on at least five smaller towns in Las Villas confirmed that the rebels were strongly entrenched in the southern part of the province and that rural areas they claimed to dominate. Rebel control of Las Villas would cut the island republic in two.

The rebel radio also said insur-

Feast on Meat 16 Years Old In Antarctica

LITTLE AMERICA, Antarctica (AP)—Everyone here will be eating real meat for the next few weeks. The meat will be rare no matter how it's cooked. It's 16 years old.

The steaks and chops have been kept fresh and juicy in an abandoned deep-freeze.

A few days ago scientist Lieut. Glen R. Anderson decided to explore Little America III, a station set up some 40 miles from here in 1939 by the late Rear-Admiral Richard Byrd.

Poking around in dark chambers buried under 20 feet of snow, Anderson found a generous stock of frozen meats, including chicken, whole turkeys, ham, veal and steaks.

Anderson flew to the old station Tuesday with six others. They managed to haul out 600 pounds of choice beef tenderloins and 150 pounds of chopped beef.

They also found other curious leftovers:

"There were some pinups," Anderson said. "There were views of Betty Grable and a shot of Claudette Colbert."

Foreign Sailors To Have Party On Own Ships

MONTREAL (CP)—The 500 foreign sailors aboard the 13 ships trapped in Montreal harbor by St. Lawrence River ice plan to throw history-making parties tonight, New Year's Eve.

Never before have fully-manned foreign ships been in Montreal harbor as late as New Year's.

The discomfort of transport figures 1959 will be well established before they arrive.

The four icebreakers working to free the ships were kept busy Tuesday battling ice jams between Sorel, about 40 miles downstream, and Lake St. Peter.

The level of water in Montreal harbor has receded to about 10 feet, five feet below the point where flooding threatens communities on the south bank of the river opposite the city.

THE WEATHER

With milder air feeding northward ahead of this system the snow might well be mixed with some rain or drizzle over the lower lakes by Thursday afternoon.

TRANSPORT BD. UPHOLDS SLASHES IN FREIGHT RATES

Truckers Rebuffed In Their Appeal

OTTAWA (CP)—Truckers have been rebuffed in their attempt to have the railways hoist some freight rates in the West.

The board of transport commissioners, in a decision made public today, ruled that heavy loading in carload rates in the four Western provinces are legal and that it will not order them changed.

Canadian Trucking Associations, representing about 7,000 highway transport com panies, had claimed before the board that the rail rate cuts were illegitimate and should be knocked out.

The board said no, after hearing representations from truckers for the first time in its history last fall. Normally, it does not regard road operators as a "party" in railway matters, but this time it allowed them to be heard.

KILLING COMPETITION

Main claims of the truckers were that the sharply-cut 1957 rates of the two transcontinental railways in the West were aimed at killing off some competitive trucking companies and were illegal because they were not "compensatory" to the railways.

In rail lingo, compensatory is generally meant to be the return of out-of-pocket expenses for a particular haul plus a little profit. Some of the western rate slashes —on a variety of commodities— ran to more than 50 per cent.

"Our investigation of the costs of transportation in relation to the rates published by the railways shows that the individual rates of both railways are fully compensatory," the board said in its decision.

"The board has concluded that the rates are no lower than necessary to meet the competition," the judgment stated.

Boys Flag Train Trying to Thumb Ride Back Home

BRATFORD, Conn. (AP)—Two boys flagged a 100-car freight train Tuesday night.

The train stopped. The crew asked the boys what their problem was.

No trouble. The boys, who had been visiting a pal's friend in Bratford, wanted a ride back to New York City.

Railway police turned the boys, aged 15 and 15, over to juvenile authorities.

SUSPEND BAN

ROME (AP) — Italy today granted riot machines another two months of legal life as an act of new year's clemency. A ban had been scheduled to take effect today. But government officials didn't want the men who install, service and operate the machines to be thrown out of work during the severe winter months.

SPEED 30 MILES BELLEVILLE POPULATION 20,700 (6638)

Current highway sign at city outskirts understates present figure, but Rosemary Slack, Sidney Street, indicates jump in Belleville's population as result of annexation, effective January 1. Assessment will increase rates of both railways are fully 6,838, bringing total to just over 28,000. Present city figure is given as 21,394. With the extra population 3,500 acres from Sidney and Thurlow will be added to the city area.

Navy's Polaris, Air Force Thor Blown up by Safety Officer

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A busy and fruitful 1958 ended with a double bang at this space age shooting gallery.

Navy's Polaris test rocket and an air force Thor were launched Tuesday before the New Year's Day shutdown of the test center and both exploded in the sky in a day of spectacular fireworks.

A year ago, with the Russkis orbiting ominously overhead and Russia holding a massive lead in the space race, two failures so close together would have plunged the U.S. into gloom.

But since then successes have come out of such failures.

In one year this base has launched several satellites, one a 41½-ton Atlas—it has broken the intercontinental barrier with an Atlas which flew 6,325 miles. It has developed a host of other new and important missiles and it has sent proses hurtling

Mobile Land-Air Vehicle Being Developed in Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—For the first time in three years a little light has been shed on a secret project to build in Canada a highly mobile land-air vehicle.

Sir Roy Dobson, chairman of A. V. Roe Limited, disclosed in London the other day that his company has under development in Canada an "aerocar" or flying jeep.

The program, so secret that Avro Aircraft Limited at Malton, Ont., will say only that it is "a unique concept in aerial transportation," has been variously called "project Y" or the "flying saucer" project.

It may involve an attempt at application of "anti-gravity," a problem in physics on which several countries have been secretly engaged for some years. The overcoming of [illegible] would make an object weightless. It turns on a dime at supersonic speeds.

Prominent Canadians Make Resolutions for Coming Year

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

New Year's resolutions? "I never make any," says Citizenship Minister Ellen Fairclough, Canada's woman of the year for 1958. "When you feel there are things you should do, you should do them—whether it's January or June."

But you can take your pick of these resolutions by prominent Canadians, gathered in a survey by The Canadian Press:

"I've decided to be just as troublesome and as much as a busybody as ever," said Mme. Therese Casgrain of Montreal, vice - president of the national council of the CCF.

From Louis Fleau, Ontario's minister of conciliation officer who sweated through three-month walkouts at International Nickel Company and the Steel Company of Canada in his 34th year of settling strife for the provincial government:

"I hope management and labor will be able to settle their problems without bothering me."

CANADA MARKS NEW CHAPTER IN WELFARE HISTORY

Hospital Plan May Raise Taxes

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada marks a new chapter in welfare history on New Year's Day, but there now is a question of whether higher taxes will later accompany increased benefits.

Extension of national hospital insurance to another two provinces—Ontario and Nova Scotia—gives total coverage to 16,700,000 Canadians at a cost of $320,000,000 a year.

Of that amount, the federal government has pledged to pay one-half and the provincial federal circles is: Where is the money to come from?

The recession has reduced federal revenues and expenditures have increased, partly because of measures to fight unemployment.

HIGHER TAXES SEEN

The signs point to higher taxes in the near budget, perhaps levied against individual incomes as well as corporation incomes and commercial turnover. The alternative would be another stiff deficit which might hurt the government's credit standing.

As the hospital scheme is expanded, the heavier will be the federal burden.

Of the seven provinces still outside, New Brunswick plans to come in July 1. Prince Edward Island may enter before the end of 1959. Quebec's position is uncertain.

The scheme is estimated to cost about $430,000,000 a year if all provinces participate. Of that amount, the federal government would provide grants to each province varying with regional hospital costs.

COSTS WILL RISE

Costs are estimated to rise with the rise in population, now about

Lands in Jail For Choice of Christmas Gift

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (AP) Police say Theresa Bryan gave her imprisoned boy friend something really useful for Christmas—a hacksaw blades.

She was arrested today and charged with aiding and abetting an attempted jail break.

Her boy friend 19-year-old James McCormack had succeeded in sawing through a cell block bars before he was discovered Tuesday.

Miss Ryan, 20, slipped him the blades when she visited McCormack on Christmas morning.

Hoffa Vetoes Plan by Teamsters To Cut off Supplies for Police

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Times says that teamsters President James R. Hoffa has vetoed plans for a move by the union to cut off deliveries of vital supplies to police installations in the city.

The Times says Hoffa notified his local aides Tuesday that he would tolerate no interference with regular police operations in the picketline. The paper adds that Hoffa declared the picket lines would be "for advertising purposes only."

Plans of the much-investigated union to picket the police department stirred up a hornet's nest of criticism Tuesday.

Police Commissioner Stephen P. Kennedy said unionization of his force would make Hoffa police commissioner.

Kennedy said at a press conference:

"I say again, if the police are unionized, I advise the people not to waste their money paying the police commissioner a salary. Hoffa would be the police com-

Similar Notes Reject Russia's Berlin Proposal

But Big Three Willing To Talk About Problem

LONDON (AP)—Britain today sharply rejected Russia's proposal for changing the occupation status of Berlin but offered to discuss the 'divided city's future within the framework of the German problem as a whole.

In one of the most comprehensive notes it has ever delivered on the German problem, Britain said it was not prepared to relinquish its right to remain in West Berlin.

The British note was delivered to Moscow today along with the U.S. and French replies to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's note of 27. The British said they do not in any way accept the Soviet one-sided denunciation of the agreement under which the four powers occupy Berlin.

The note, similar to those by the United States and France, leaves the door open for further negotiations, provided the discussions do not take place under menacing conditions.

DEMANDED WITHDRAWAL

Khrushchev demanded a withdrawal of the three Western powers' garrisons from West Berlin within six months. This has been widely interpreted as an ultimatum although Russia denies it.

The British note made it clear that Britain will not accept the substitution of East Germany as the agent for the Soviet Union in West Berlin.

The Russians threaten to turn controls of allied supply lines over to the East German Communists, whose regime the West refuses to recognize.

In rejecting the Soviet proposal

Churchill Takes Optimistic Look At New Year

LONDON (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill Tuesday took an optimistic look at the new year.

The wartime prime minister sent this New Year message to the Conservative League, a Conservative party society of which he is the grand master:

"Our island remains strong and our gold and dollar reserves have increased. The prosperity of the country continues in spite of temporary setbacks abroad.

"We must continue to work for these favorable developments. We must also strengthen our alliances and not allow our traditional friendships to be estranged from us by passing differences in Europe or elsewhere."

MANITOBA CAR OVERTURNED ON CITY LAWN

Occupants of a Manitoba car received a shaking up late yesterday afternoon after the vehicle was in collision with another car at the corner of Bridge St. and McDonald Ave. and overturned on a lawn.

The Manitoba car, driven by Franklin W. Bird of Portage La Prairie, was said eastbound on Bridge when it was in collision with a car driven by Peter J. Adams, 41 Millard Ave., southbound on McDonald. The Bird car was spun around and overturned on the lawn on the southeast corner of the intersection.

ARMY FORCES

gents had extended their holdings in Oriente province, at the eastern end of Cuba. Castro launched his guerrilla war against Batista from the Oriente mountains 25 months ago.

The government rushed thousands of fresh troops to Santa Clara, about 180 miles east of Havana. Tanks, artillery and warplanes are backing up the troops fighting an estimated 3,000 to 4,000 rebels.

Normal communications with Santa Clara were disrupted and reports from there conflicted. Rebels claimed they estimated the casualties at 3,000 and said they fought go higher. A government source claimed aerial attacks alone had inflicted 2,000 rebel casualties.

MANY FLEE CITY

Some government sources said the army now was cleaning up in the city, hunting rebels from house to house and warning civilians that they would be executed as rebels. Many civilians had fled the city of 200,000 persons since street fighting began Monday.

Castro's commander in Santa Clara, Ernesto Guevara, was reported to have ordered his men to remove casualties from the streets but not to remove the dead. He said that an army group of unspecified size had deserted to the rebels, and that it had surrendered, the rebel radio said.

The rebels said they had captured Trinidad, a south coast hill town of 15,000 persons. It is just southeast of the Sierra de Trinidad, a mountainous stronghold known as Castro's second front.

In Oriente, the rebels claimed capture of Sagua de Tanamo, the main city in that province, and several towns in its southwestern tip.

BATISTA'S SONS IN U.S.

All commercial airline flights from Havana to the United States were reported booked solid until Jan. 10. Among those flying to Miami New York Tuesday were two sons of Batista, Carlos Manuel, about 30, and Roberto, a boy of perhaps 12. They were in a party with Batista's brother-in-law who met at the airport by a force of New York detectives who warded off those bedeviling U.S. fans.

Cuban officials said the two boys are going to New York for the New Year celebration and would return immediately after. Batista's other son children and his wife remained in Havana.

Tourist Promotion Produced Good Results in Past Season

Excellent results were indicated from a survey taken by Lake Ontario Development Association of persons inquiring at the association's booth at the Cleveland Sportsmen's Show in 1958. The results of this promotion, which was conducted by the LODA headquarters.

It was found that from 100 persons answering the questionnaire, approximately 84% (41) of them came to the Lake Ontario Region during 1958; 75% (31) visited Ontario (including LODA) and 18 of those who did not visit Ontario during 1958 plan to do so in 1959.

The average number in each inquiry or 10 each group was 3.1 which corresponds closely with the survey recently taken by the Ontario Department of Travel and Publicity and each group spent $100 per person (average) in the region.

The main interests of these groups to be checked on the questionnaire were as follows: fishing (31); hunting (31); hotels and cities 11; camping 8; visiting friends and relatives 4, and boating 2.

It was quite apparent that 60% (61) of the persons checked their accommodation. Some offered suggestions and improvements, but generally the remarks were good.

Detailed these findings on a survey of the Department of Travel and Publicity, 1957, indicating that at least 50% of the inquiries that is, only the persons who had written the association for information and reservations at the hotels, motels and cabins in the Ontario Region, the results of the area's promotions would sum up as follows:

6,000 (over) inquiries at four Sportsmen's Shows in Ontario (could have toured if the area in each of these shows was interested in 12,000 persons, visited the region represented by LODA.

$500,000.00, or more than one-half million dollars in all, was spent in the area.

Using the Department of Travel and Publicity's breakdown of expenditures made by tourists, the amounts below give some idea of where these tourist dollars are distributed:

Food restaurants and stores	$ 90,000. - 18%
Accommodation hotels and like-some	95,000. - 19%
Accommodation cottages, motels, camps	124,000. - 24.8%
Entertainment, etc. (gasoline)	62,500. - 12.5%
Miscellaneous (including gasoline, boat rentals, guides, etc)	57,500. - 11.5%
	$450,000. 100%

LOW ESTIMATE

Promotion and advertising are most often very hard to determine in dollar value. While not totally accurate, (as it cannot be determined exactly how many other persons who did not fill out enquiry cards at the Sportsmen's Shows in the region) this survey then can be used as a basis estimate for the amount of dollars brought in from the association's efforts to the Lake Ontario area and similarly it on the Cleveland Show returns.

Tourist dollars are "Found Money." They buy from the region's stores, building materials, supplies and equipment and labour. Shore gas wages to farmers, carpenters, guides, service station operators, electricians and even to build factories. Tourist dollars buy gas, oil, food, lodging and liquor. It is one of the largest industries in L.O.D.A.

Lake Ontario Development Association promotion at three Sportsmen Shows was in 1959 should bring in an additional $500,000.00 of "Found Money" to this region.

New Year to Receive Noisy, Merry Welcome in City

At the stroke of midnight tonight a new baby will be born. His name? Baby New Year, Nineteen Hundred and Fifty-Nine.

The new arrival will receive a noisy and merry reception as millions of celebrants all over the world join in the annual celebration of the year.

As tired Old Year 1958 is given a fond farewell by world-wide celebrants, the new Monarch of Time will be ushered in and throned in a blaze of festive glory as he commences his 365 reign.

During the hours preceding and succeeding the arrival of the new cherub, who in this atomic age of missiles and satellites is an uncertain future, the cares of the world will be temporarily forgotten by the populace literally "let loose" for one big, all-out celebration night.

On the local scene celebrants will indulge in an evening of dining and dancing and partying at one of the many New Year's Eve parties and dances being held. Private parties and midnight movies are also on the agenda.

One of the most colorful social events of the night will be the formal New Year's Eve ball by the officers of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment at the officers' mess in the Bridge St. Armouries. Lieutenant-Colonel Angus R. Duffy, Mrs. Duffy, officers and their wives will host a large number of guests. A buffet dinner will be served at 1 a.m. with dancing commencing at 10 p.m.

Warrant officers and sergeants of the regiment will also hold their New Year's sergeants' mess. A number of active and associate members and their wives have been invited. Dancing and a buffet dinner will highlight the evening.

In Picton, the regimental "A" Company will mark the occasion at the armouries with a dinner dance.

DANCE AT CLUB

Members of the Belleville Club will observe the departure of 1958 at midnight with a dance and a midnight buffet supper.

The popular Club Commodore will hold its traditional New Year's Eve party with dancing from 10 p.m. til ?, to music supplied by the Commodore Club Orchestra. Hats, horns, balloons, novelties, and noisemakers will be provided for the guests.

The Masonic Temple will echo to the strains of Guy Lombardo's band as the Royal Arch Masons host a New Year's Eve party, dinner and turkey dinner.

Another popular local dance will be held at the Quinte Tennis Club. This club has purchased a gala New Year's Eve party for the benefit of its members. Five from 9 p.m. until 2 a.m. A cold plate turkey dinner will be served at midnight.

The various messrs of the Canadian Legion, Air Force Station Trenton and C Repair Depot will feature formal parties.

The Kinmen Club of Belleville will be holding its twelfth New Year's Dance at Tobe's County Clubhouse, Thurlow Road 3:30 on and a turkey dinner will highlight the festivities at midnight.

KNIGHTS TO CELEBRATE

The Isham Caravan of the Alhambra in the New Year's Eve dance at the Knights of Columbus Hall for their members and their guests "ring out the old, ring in the new."

The C.N.R.A. is holding a New Year's Eve party at the Belleville Curling Club. Officials report tickets are sold out for the gala event.

Many other small organizations have also planned parties and celebrations for members and their friends.

Private parties will also be held in all parts of the city, many starting with a New Year's dinner. Many houses and apartments will echo to the revelry and noise of merry-makers when "zero hour" arrives.

Parties and dances are also being held in the outlying centres as residents celebrate the arrival of the New Year.

For those who prefer screen entertainment as part of the New Year's Eve fun manager George Forhan of the Belle Theatre, is providing outstanding film fare for his patrons. The attraction picture, "The Sheriff of Fractured Jaw," will receive its world premiere at the local theatre tonight. The last showing will get underway at 11.30 p.m. There will be no midnight shows at either the McCarthy or Park theatres.

SIMILAR NOTES

for changing the occupations status of Berlin, the British note said:

"It now demands that the Western Allies should relinquish their rights in Berlin. But agreement on the four powers' status cannot be considered obsolete because one of them, having obtained the full advantage therefrom, now considers that the time has come to cancel them. These agreements are binding upon all of the signatories so long as they have not been replaced by other agreements following free negotiations."

The note said the agreements between the Allies providing for occupation of Berlin can only be terminated by mutual consent.

IN MEMORIAM

LORIMER — In loving memory of James W. Lorimer who passed away January 1st, 1958.
We little know what we awoke that day
The angels only knew.
They came to take the world brave, the world was sadden, the shadow severe.
To part with one I loved so dear.
Sometimes it's hard to understand,
Why we miss you more and more.
But in His wisdom God has planned
That we should learn to trust,
And give no murmur nor a fight it,
And Goodbye to bear the sheep;
But what I can't do is forget you,
No one will ever know,
The heartache endured by his wife Gwen.

RICHARDSON — In loving memory of a dear mother and grandmother, Hannah Bell Richardson, who passed away December 31st, 1957.
Memories are sweet as treasures kept,
Our memory we will always keep.
Lovingly remembered by her daughter Jack and children and Fred, Bill and Gail.

NAVY'S POLARIS,

thousands of miles out into space toward the moon.

FOR 5TH FIRING

The Polaris, a solid-fuel forerunner of an intermediate-range ballistic missile which may be ready by 1960 for firing from underwater launching platforms roaming the seas, went up in mid-day. For 90 seconds it scooled along at 5,000 miles per hour.

Then the range safety officer on the firing range was drifting off course and pressed a button that took it to pieces.

About 10 hours later a fiery Thor blasted off the Cape. It looked like the first, improved.

Again, 90 seconds after firing, the range officer stabbed the button. The Thor exploded and a blinding flash of reddish flame marked its plunge into the Atlantic.

ALL HAVE FAILED

The Polaris was the third of its type to be fired, and the third to blow up. The navy, however, was pleased with its performance. Most of the test objectives of the first two were accomplished.

When fully developed, the 28-foot-long Polaris will be fired from submarines at targets 1,700 miles distant. Five launching ships are being built and four more have been authorized.

CAR PRODUCTION

WOLFSBURG, West Germany (Reuters) — The Volkswagen works produced the record number of 556,717 cars, buses and delivery trucks during 1958, the firm said. This figure exceeded last year's production of 472,541 units and this year's production target of 550,000 units.

Two Elected To Separate School Board

TRENTON — The following members have been elected to the Separate School Board for the town of Trenton. They are Ken Donahoe and Robert Parsell. In the election they topped the poll against Harry Ladner and William O'Malley.

Continuing as members of the Board are Dr. J. V. Byrne, current chairman, William O'Neill and James Goodwin.

At its first meeting the Board will elect its chairman for 1959 coming year.

St. Peter's School faces a similar problem to that of other schools in providing adequate accommodation and teaching facilities. This involves major financial expenditures and will be one problem the incoming Board will have to contend with.

Minor Hockey League Clubs Have Busy Week

TRENTON — The Trenton Minor Hockey League Pee Wees continued their activities over the holidays and on Dec. 22 the Comets downed the Canucks 5-3. Goalscorers for Black & Gold Comets each tossed in a hat-trick. Bonderove scored three goals. Team-mates DeDuke and Furby added single remarkers. Bright spot with De Duke scoring two and Furby one. Two Canuck goals were scored by Gene Lessy assisted by Gregg.

Penalties were Bonderove and Black of the, Comets; Barrett and Bont of the Canucks.

On Dec. 26 the North Stars shellacked the Argus 9-1. North Star goals were racked up by four players, Tom Glover scoring three, Mike Lemieux three, Frank Lemieux two and brother Dev Laruah the odd one.

Goalie Gerry Bell's boy out on the ice eager to work off some of the nervous energy stored up over Christmas day and Boxing day.

The North Stars continued their winning streak, overwhelming the Tee Birds, 8-3 and the Packets 4-2 in a double header. Mike Lemieux was the hero of this encounter, chalking up five of the North Stars' counters, with Dave Laruah popping in two and Barry Turner one.

In their game with the Packets, North Star players Tom Glover and Mike Lemieux each scored a pair.

Also on Saturday, the Argus shut out the Packets 4-0. Murray Gaetz was goals assisted by Leavy and Craig on the first and Hegge on the second. Leavy scored, assisted by Craig. Hegge scored once assisted by Murray. Candy of the Packets drew the only penalty, two minutes for boarding. Wayne Banter of the Argus played an outstanding game in the net which was pounded up by his shut-out of the opposition.

Technician Badly Injured By Radiation

LOS ALAMOS, N.M. (AP) Cecil W. Kelley, a veteran atomic laboratory technician, was injured critically in a radiation accident Wednesday that exposed him to a large dose of radiation during a plutonium metal recovery operation.

There have been two fatal radiation injuries here at Los Alamos.

One victim was Dr. Louis B. Slotin, 35-year-old Canadian-born scientist, who was fatally injured May 21, 1956.

In September, 1945, Harry K. Daglian, 24-year-old New London, Conn., worker died from radiation burns received in an accident almost identical with that which killed Slotin, Daglian lived 26 days.

CBC Program Protested by Cuban Govt.

OTTAWA (CP)—Norman Robertson, undersecretary of state for external affairs, has "taken note" of a protest by Cuban ambassador Ernesto Dihigo against CBC radio program about the revolt in Cuba.

Earlier, the ambassador told a reporter he wrote to the department saying the broadcast was highly offensive" to the Cuban government and people.

At Toronto E. S. Halman, CBC director of Latin American network, conceded that the Dec. 1 broadcast gave more prominence to the aspirations of Cuba's rebels than to the government position. He said a scheduled rebroadcast has been cancelled.

He said the program Project 30, was not commissioned as a result of the protest but that after considerable time could it would cannot be justified."

"We have carefully look at it and found it is in no sense meant to be an over-all appraisal of the whole situation but a profile of a revolution."

FEUD SETTLED

JERUSALEM (AP)—Members of parliament have arranged to get into the papers again by placating reporters who have been boycotting their proceedings. The reporters had been banned from the parliamentary cafeteria at meal time. The reporters agreed to lift their boycott today after the parliamentary presidium said it would discuss new arrangements for press facilities.

Marie Torre, radio and television critic of the New York Herald Tribune, resigns as federal court for the district of Columbia chose to serve 10 days in jail rather than divulge the source of a news item in her column concerning singer Judy Garland. The item, in which Miss Torre quoted a CBS executive as saying Miss Garland "is known for a highly developed interstity complex," resulted in a libel suit against CBS by Miss Garland. Miss Torre's case was a test of a newsman's right.

Len Gaudette Has Certificate For Recreation

Len Gaudette, manager of the Trenton Community Gardens, has now been awarded all the certificates he is entitled to attain but are applicable to his job in directing the affairs of the cultural and recreational activities of the community.

Before coming to Trenton to assume direction of the Community Gardens here, Mr. Gaudette had five years experience in similar capacities elsewhere. During the summer period for the past four years he has attended weekly seminars appertaining to his work and duties at the University of Western Ontario.

This educational institution is the recognized leader in this particular field in Canada.

Between January 1955 and December 1958, Gaudette has at last successfully completed the various phases of the course.

His certificate of qualification is signed by Dr. G. Edward Hall, president of the University of Western Ontario.

The comprehensive course covers all phases and aspects of recreation, including public relations, administration, office routine, government, understanding groups, program scheduling, organizing and associated phases.

In addition Mr. Gaudette has his qualifications in refrigeration and arena managership in which category he hold a type "A" certificate.

Education Bd. Fully Justified In Action

TRENTON — As a result of a hearing in Trenton on December 18 before His Honor Judge W. J. M. Donley of Toronto, the Trenton Board of Education has been declared fully justified in its action.

The hearing came as a result of a charge by caretaker Kenneth Nokes that he was fired from his job due to his union activities.

The Board of Education contended that Mr. Nokes was discharged only after repeated warnings about his unsatisfactory work.

On Tuesday, the Trenton Board of Education received the following letter from Judge Donley:

"Upon hearing the evidence as given by the witnesses for the prosecutor and the Board, I was impressed with the conduct, unqualified evidence as given by the chairman of the board, (the Rev. G. A. Puttenham) and Mr. Connie, and I am satisfied that the grievor, Mr. Kenneth Nokes,

CNR Had Deficit During November

MONTREAL—Operating revenues of the Canadian National System for the month of November, 1958, amounted to $56,-000,000. Expenses, taxes and rents totalled $58,068,000, resulting in a net operating income deficiency for the month of $2,270,000.

In November, 1957, operating revenues were $53,714,000; expenses, taxes and rents were $50,459,000 and the net operating income deficiency was $285,000.

Expenses for the month of November, 1958, include an estimated provision of $0.3 million for wage increases not yet paid.

The railway was not performing its duties for which he had been hired in a satisfactory manner, and the termination of his employment by the Trenton Board of Education was within the full authority of the Board."

Mr. Nokes, of Catherine St., Trenton, was discharged from his employment as a Board of Education caretaker on October 17, which time he claimed he was discharged owing to his activities on behalf of the National Union of Public Service Employees.

Fox, Possibly Rabid, Shot By Resident

TRENTON — A fox, possibly rabid, and which had been the object of a search by Trenton Police, was shot recently on the front doorstep of the home of Willis Jackson of Trenton.

The fox was discovered by Mr. Jackson, when, hearing a commotion outside his front door, he went to investigate the cause.

Mr. Jackson observed that the fox was being worried by his two dogs, and they had apparently cornered it in the spot where it was attempting to seek shelter.

In a precautionary measure the fox was shot and the Trenton Police notified.

TULIPS BLOOMING

"As proof that nature knows no bounds, Mrs. B. McLaughlin, 64 Dixon Drive, Trenton, reports that tulips are blooming on the south side of her home.

Although the ground has been frozen for quite some time, several sprouts made their appearance just before Christmas.

Capt. K. Knudsen Dies in Hospital, El Short Time

Former deep sea sailor and master of the Canada Cement "Cement Kärrier" for many years, Captain Karl Klaus Knudsen, 65, veteran sailor, died early today in Belleville General Hospital. Captain Knudsen was in his 76th year.

Born in Frogner, Norway, he was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Knut Knudsen and had lived in the city for the past 38 years.

He came to Belleville from Sydney, Nova Scotia.

Almost his entire active life was spent aboard ship, having been a sailor for 55 years. He retired as captain of the "Cement Karrier" in 1952. He died suddenly of a stroke.

He was a member of Christ Church and was also a member of Moira Lodge, A.F. & A.M., No. 111.

Surviving are his wife, the former Agnes Bell, Belleville; two daughters, Mrs. Barney J. (Eva) Smith of Sault Ste. Marie; Mrs. Charles (Vicky) Quinn of Blind River, and five grandchildren at Toronto; a brother, William and Eric of Belleville, and Rolf of Galt, Ont.

A sister, Miss Karoljne Knudsen, of Norway, also survives. There are 19 grandchildren.

Four Belleville Youths Arrested In Cobourg

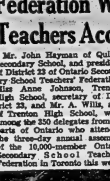
Four young Belleville men have been apprehended in Cobourg on charges of attempted breaking and entering at a shoe store in the shopping centre there on Dec. 29.

In custody are Morris Archer, 26, of 60½ Front Street; Raymond Turcotte, 21, R. R. 3, Belleville; Rodney Sharpe, 19, of 48 Murray Street, Belleville, and Thomas Deline, 19, of 48 Murray Street.

Details of the attempted entry were not known. This is the second shoe breaking tools were found in possession of the men.

Sergeant A. Daly Hayes of Belleville said that Morris Archer was presently on bail after being charged with breaking and entering Garage Supply in this city.

Hold Push Ball Tourney at Y



There were four teams entered in the Push Ball Tournament held at the Trenton Memorial Y.M.C.A.

The Tigers won. The teams each played 3 games in a round robin series. The Tigers defeated the Olympics 1-0 with Scott getting the goal. It was Fullerton and Fullerton the assist. In the second game the Wildcats downed the Tigers 2-0 with Goals going to Armstrong and Morton (2). Irish Assists John Armstrong. The third game saw the Olympics bounce back to defeat the Wildcats 1-0 with Goals going to Eves (3) and Hutton (1) and an assist to Fullerton. Olymonic Goals for the Satellites went to Tenhoopen (1) and Freeston (3), assist to Tenhoopen.

The playoff saw the first and second teams pitted against each other, the Tigers consisting of Armstrong, Nichols, M. Morton, Lorrain, Haynes, Dennis and Hutchinon and the Tigers consisting of Heppard, Scott, Fullerton, Eves, Hutton, Dennis. This was a close game with both sides out to win. The first team to put them ahead. The Tigers won 1-0 over the league winning Wildcats. First and second place ribbons were presented to the teams.

Coaching the teams were members of boys' intermediate leaders. They were: Tigers, Rod Turner; Olympics, Bob Degrow; Satellites, Dick Stephens, and Wildcats, John Peoples.

Federation Will Classify Teachers According to Levels

Dr. Harry O. Barrett, North Toronto Collegiate, new President of Teachers' Federation.

Dr. Harry O. Barrett, head of guidance at North Toronto Collegiate, was elected president of the Federation, Dec. 29, and also first vice-president of the Ontario Teachers' Federation.

Perhaps the most important steps taken by the assembly were decision to rate "the teaching situation" in the various school areas across the province and a decision to classify teachers by the Federation itself according to qualifications levels.

Every secondary teacher in Ontario will be sent a confidential questionnaire asking how he rates the desirability of the teaching situation in the area in which he works. Questions will cover "attractiveness of the board-staff relations," "educational leadership in the community" and "the general teaching climate" in each area.

WILL BE CATEGORIZED

On these findings, teaching areas in Ontario will be categorized by the Federation, to provide guidance in any member seeking information.

Following three years of study by a special committee, the Federation adopted a plan for classifying teachers according to their qualifications. Thus, a teacher's qualifications may be listed as Level 1; Level 2, Level 3 or Level 4, in such categories as "academic," "guidance," "vocational," "physical education," etc.

This new plan is intended to provide a fair and realistic guide to teachers and school boards in matters of employment.

While the average salaries of Ontario secondary school teachers increased during 1958 (up by nearly $1,000 in the past 5 years) teachers' pay is still not keeping pace with that of university graduates in business and industry and other professionals, the Federation's Secretary, C. G. M. Robb said in his annual report.

"Until high school teaching is more attractive financially," he said, "only poor salaries will remain in short supply."

CHANGE IN METHODS

Changes in the methods of examination for grade 13 were announced to the assembly by Education Minister Dunlop, who told the teachers that a 1960 "objective" questions for those answerable by Yes or No, True or False, will be introduced. Up to 30 per cent of each paper would consist of objective questions. Because of traditional essay type, he said, the examination had proved to be an accurate measuring device for scholastic ability, Dr. Dunlop declared.

After more than a year of study, a ten-man committee of the Federation could come to no firm conclusions on the advisability of expanding the junior high schools system.

Junior high schools (Grades 7, 8, 9) in Ontario are at present concentrated in the Toronto area but other centres have been considering them.

The special committee did, however, recommend that their direction be removed from the elementary schools divisions and that they be recognized by Queen's Park as "secondary schools for supervision and staff qualifications."

The retiring president of the Federation, James W. Singleton, principal of Northview Heights Collegiate, North York, opened the conference with a call for: a "good controversial" type of education philosophy," to be led by the teachers themselves.

CRITICIZES TENDENCY

He criticized the tendency of his fellow-teachers to avoid speaking out in public seemingly in a desire to avoid controversy. Teachers, he maintained, were better qualified than any others to discuss education — and they must speak up or abdicate their traditional position of leadership.

Twenty-one secondary teachers will use a different basis for negotiation with local school boards throughout Ontario, following the adoption of a new salary schedule for the Federation.

The figure for starting salaries will be based on the medium salary earned in the first year of employment by university graduates in business and industry in Ontario.

In addition the salary schedule above this base figure will be expressed in "units" percentages, rather than dollar amounts. Details of the procedure, depending upon experience, qualifications and responsibility.

Farm Surpluses Can Be Relieved By Population

GUELPH (CP) Canada's problem of surplus farm products could be largely relieved by a rising population, says Dr. H. L. Patterson of the federal agriculture department.

In 1957 butter and skim milk powder was less than Canadian consumption. Dr. Patterson told 100 directors of farm groups in a marketing and co-operation conference Tuesday at the Ontario Agricultural College.

Yet in 1958, a year of high consumption, production exceeded consumption by only three per cent, he said.

Prof. D. E. Marshall of the OAC economic department said the answer to the surplus of foods which could be taken regarding vertical integration.

Marketing boards could direct the product and oppose integration, or it could collectively or standardization of contracts; bargain collectively with feed companies and processors; or bargain on contracts and re-issue them to farmers.

PROMISE COMPENSATION

LONDON (Reuters)—The U.S. Air Force today promised prompt compensation for damage caused by a jet fighter crash Monday which killed an English woman and wrecked a section of the town of Kesgrave. Claims from property owners are expected to top £20,000.

CURRENCY SHAKE-UP

Hon. George Drew has described the weekend's currency moves in Europe as the most important thing that has happened since the end of the Second World War.

It is humiliating to admit that one does not understand the implications of the most important event in fifteen years, but the admission had better be made right now.

Scant help will be found by perusing official pronouncements and reading the editorials by better-informed journalists. For instance, Prime Minister Diefenbaker declared that "freer trade steps now taken will mean an expanding world trade," but the Toronto Globe and Mail asserts that "there is nothing particularly novel or startling about the introduction of 'external convertibility' by Western European countries," adding that "this condition has in fact existed unofficially for quite some time."

All that has happened, says the Globe and Mail, is that the convertibility of pounds, marks, francs and other currencies outside the countries of origin has received official recognition. How can the official recognition of an existing fact be described as "the most important thing that has happened since the end of the Second World War?"

The French, besides making their currency convertible by foreigners, took a second step -- they devalued the franc. The effects of this are somewhat easier to understand. It will result in a reduction in the amount the French will have to pay for imports, and a decrease in the amounts which other countries will have to pay to buy French exports. On the face of it this hardly seems like something which should cause the French much joy. The truth is, though, that France must increase its exports and that the devaluation of the franc is a device which employs a time-honored sales stimulant, price-cutting. This price-cutting, though, involves other effects besides lower returns from the same amount of exports. It also increases the domestic price of goods which the French import, because they have to pay more francs to acquire a given volume of these foreign-made goods. The government has also announced that it will cut subsidies and increase taxes. When it says at the same time that its efforts to cure France's economic ills it will take every step except those which will encourage inflation, it sounds like double-talk to the devaluation of the currency and inflation. If not one and the same thing, are so alike that it would require an economist's degree to explain the difference. That is not to dispute the possibility that the French move may have been unavoidable. But in itself it is certainly no quick cure for France's economic woes.

A DIFFICULT MORAL PROBLEM

A Yale pathologist has discovered a simple drug which reverses pregnancy in dogs, without abortion.

He says "it should be born in mind that production of unwanted puppies" but adds "beyond that, based on the present state of our knowledge, I should not want to go."

The significance of his discovery, though, is not hard to grasp. If the drug works on dogs, why should it not work on other mammals? And man is a mammal. If the drug is ever offered for use by human beings, a difficult moral question will arise.

There is no doubt about what answer will be given by Roman Catholics and others who believe birth control is immoral. If it is immoral to prevent conception, it is obviously at least as immoral to destroy an embryo after it has formed.

There is no doubt, either, about what the answer will be in some countries, such as Japan, where abortion is legal. The drug will offer an easier way of accomplishing what is already permitted.

But in those lands where birth control is regarded as legal but abortion as illegal, a difficult decision would have to be made. At what point does it cease to be permissible to interfere with the normal processes of nature?

THE OLD YEAR

By EDGAR A. GUEST

I could paint you black as the blackest night,
Old Year, if I thought in black;
And words of hate I could freely write
If I thought in hate; but I catch a sight
Of roses along your track,
And I catch a glimpse of a level mile
And here and there I can see a smile.

I could make you as mean as a miser's heart,
As sad as a baby's death;
A giant who lets all our plans apart
And laughs at the ache and the pain and smart;
As cold as the north wind's breath;
But my thoughts go back to the summer day
When the roses bloomed and the world was gay.

And I think of you as I would a friend
And I meet with him at his journey's end,
Off there by the grim dark river's bend.

As his soul was taking flight
I'd think of the friend he had been to me,
And the faults he had I'd cease to see.

So I write you fair as you pass away,
For my thoughts of you are fair.
You brought me tears, but they didn't stay;
And here and there was a gloomy day,
But the soul of you was rare.
And I think of the good, not the wrong you brought;
And your record's white in my book of thought.

Why U.S. Now Backs Chiang

By Geraldine Fitch in the Saturday Evening Post

In all the discussion of American policy in Asia one question is seldom asked: Who is responsible for making the United States an opponent of Red China?

In 1946 when Nationalist China was being defeated on the mainland, United States official policy was one of "watchful waiting". Although the government of the Republic of China retreated to Formosa, a United States Consulate-General remained in Peking and fourteen American consulates remained open on the mainland.

Former Ambassador J. Leighton Stuart, in his book Fifty Years in China (Random House), thus sums up the situation at that time: "The United States Government was apparently in no hurry . . . to cease to have been unfavorably disposed toward the National Government and to show friendliness toward the Communist regime. But while by the Communists of American officials and seizure by the Communists of property of the United States in Peking produced in the U. S. such waves of popular excitement that official action affirmatively favorable to the Communists was precluded. The consulates remained, however, take negative action unfavorable to Communists."

It did indeed. In January, 1950, the United States wrote off "further military aid" to the Nationalists. The only economic aid was a modest amount still in the pipeline.

However, by that time Americans were being kicked out of China. The Chinese Communists seized American consular property in Peking, imprisoned Consular officials illegally. By pressure on those still there, by demands for ransom for the imprisoned, by confiscatory taxes on American property, the new masters in China goaded us hard. Then in June 25, 1950, came the invasion of South Korea by Kos-

Gils Glis Eat Trouser Cuffs

Cleveland Plain Dealer

Those whose childhood was made gay with Lewis Carroll's "Through the Looking Glass" will recall the pretty tough characters, as follows:

"Beware the Jabberwock, my son!
The jaws that bite, the claws that catch
Beware the Jubjub bird and shun
The frumious Bandersnatch!"

But that Jubjub was a pussycat compared with the dreaded "gils glis" the Jubjub was a love bird, when compared with the curse of Hemel Hempstead, England.

So you never heard of the gils glis? Neither had we, until we read in the Reuters dispatch which described the awful things an 11-tile creature from Central Asia with bushy tails.

You'd never guess what the gils glis have been doing. They've been eating the trouser cuffs of some of the town's leading citizens, and there's a thing that makes a citizen madder — especially a dignified citizen — than to have the cuffs eaten off his trousers. He might be scheduled to make a speech that very day — and — well you see the point.

The gils glis are not indigenous to Hemel Hempstead; it seems that two of the male and female — escaped from a private menagerie years ago, and have multiplied in the way of gils glis, rabbits, et cetera. While one has an inclination to curse alive in Hemel Hempstead it is believed that they live in trees during summer and move into the houses in the winter.

Outside of the official report on the gils glis, nothing has been done to curb their activities. May we respectfully suggest that trousers be carefully folded in future, and kept in a big cookie jar with a heavy top. This ought to hold the little monsters!

Canada Plans 'Moon Colony'

Montreal Gazette

During the past few years, suggestions have been made about setting up human "colonies" on the moon. It is generally accepted theory is that no lifeless satellite humans could live comfortably in and exercise their own atmosphere, living in domes specially covered by huge plastic domes.

The world may not have to wait for moon colonization for the theory become reality. Canada is planning a community built under the same engineering principles for Frobisher Bay in Baffin Island. Reasons for the innovation are similar to the moon problem.

There's lots of earth-all available at Frobisher but it's very cold all year. There are also large problems of ice and snow. The plan for Frobisher, destined to become a centre for local terminal and administrative centre, includes a huge dome, under which the town's public area — shops, schools, parks and government facilities.

A ring of thirty-six 12-storey apartment-house towers would provide living quarters for several thousand people. The towers would bring the residential area close to the centre where they would enter the dome area under covered walkways. The transparent roof of the dome would be 60 degrees higher than the towers.

The principles involved are not new. On a smaller scale, they have all been used before during the building of the railroads and other engineering feats affected by wind than a full-sided one). This will be the first "moon colony", that these principles have been applied to the establishment of a whole community.

Canada's development of her far North may provide the models for Arctic and Antarctic communities later, that these first moon "colonies" as well.

To Your Good Health

By Joseph G. Molner, M.D.

SLIGHT "DROPPING" OF ABDOMINAL STRUCTURES NO CAUSE FOR ALARM

"Dear Sir: Could you write something about (1) what causes the bowel to drop and is it dangerous? (2) Could it cause ulcers? — T. V."

This condition is seen, usually, in tall lean individuals who as a rule also have a poor fibrous, or muscular, development in general.

As a matter of fact, all of the abdominal structures — stomach, colon, kidneys, etc. — "drop" a slight amount when we stand.

If one or more than one of these organs drops more than a normal degree, it may result in symptoms on the order of indigestion and constipation. But no this condition is not a cause for ulcers, although it is true — for older reasons which are not entirely clear — that people of this same build and musculature are rather frequently the victims of ulcers as well.

This "dropping" is known as ptosis — pronounced "TO-SIS" in case you happen to hear it referred to by that term.

As a general rule, it is necessary to resort to X-ray study before you can determine whether or not the bowel, or kidneys have dropped beyond normal bounds.

Don't mistreat yourself by feeling that such a condition causes ulcers. The two are unrelated. And I might add that as a rule too much is made of the situation. Pain following a full bowel, or kidney has "dropped" is a dreadful and dangerous condition. It is not. If there are no annoying symptoms, your condition may as well be forgotten for all the harm it can do you.

"Dear Dr. Molner: How long must a baby be breast-fed? Is feeding be continued for our baby who is now four months old? He doesn't seem to want the feeding. — F. E."

Assuming that baby is growing properly, he already has reached the point where he no longer requires a night feeding. The only thing youngsters outgrow this feeding earlier two of three months.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I had a hysterectomy and when I came home from the hospital my husband moved my bed into the spare room and refuses to live with me any more.

This has me very depressed and I am embarrassed to tell anyone. Please help me. Is my husband's attitude normal? My husband doesn't talk of divorce. He just refuses to live as man and wife.

Your husband must be laboring under some very wrong ideas. However, I think you should see a surgeon about it — or to your husband's physician — would be the shortest way to get him straightened out. I presume your husband could get rid of his false notion by talking to either doctor for about five minutes.

"Dear Dr. Molner: My husband and I have been married 28 years, and have two daughters and three grandchildren. It was only this fall at the time of my husband's mother's death that I learned that she and her husband were first cousins. How will this affect the grandchildren? My daughters are terribly worried about this. — Mrs. G. D."

Your daughters are going out of their way to find things to worry about. When cousins marry, they naturally have similar traits, and in their children these similar traits become reinforced. For example, if the cousins both inherited recessive weakness, this is extremely likely to be passed on, only more severely, to their children.

Good traits also can be reinforced. The musical ear of the child of cousins — and obviously he has not happened to suffer from the inheritance of any weak characteristics, in his marriage, and in the marriages of your daughters, you no longer have any "overlapping" of family traits. The danger was that what might have happened to your mother's side of the family, you can safely forget all about in that the grandparents were first cousins. It is the tale for any harm to have come from that.

Can Now Buy Fish Bread

Ottawa Journal

Those with the girit to experiment with new food will be pleased to hear that Ottawa has a new delicacy — bread enriched with fish meal.

Production is not on a large scale but a research institute has developed the process for producing a tasteless and odorless fish flour from marshlander (horsemackerel) fish on a commercial scale basis. The improvement in nutrition value is said to be remarkable.

Horsemackerel is found in profusion in the South Atlantic and, to a lesser degree, in many other waters. What a pity it will be when the baker is not asked for a loaf of brown but for herring, salmon or whale as a change from horsemackerel.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

STIMULATING PEOPLE

People who stimulate us are "the salt of this earth." They help keep us on our toes, as the saying goes. They do more — they give us if lift. They moisten our mind and warm up our heart. They get ideas into our blood stream. They invite us to leave future with them in their world of wonder and mystery. Jesus of Don Herold once said of a certain writer, like a "Football coach to be developing a building that made the author feel proud."

Stimulating people take us out of the world of selfishness and petty interests into the world of spirit and universal love and beauty. They help organize us so that they may understand us and we them. They are the salvation of those who are trying to build a better world, because they listen and learn, and are outstanding examples of genuine greatness, the kind of greatness that is not boastful.

I have many friends who are stimulating force in my life, and my library is filled with book friends who are, as it were, thoughts and ideals. People who love nature always stimulate me. They keep close to the heart. God who finally takes us into her bosom. They invite us to leave future with them in their world of wonder and mystery. Jesus of Nazareth and a host of those who remain in stimulate us to greater understanding for the development of a finer and higher ground. I never have a meeting with Edgar Guest but I am returning to his story of birds and flowers without taking a bit of him with me as we part.

I have noted that people with varied interests are particularly stimulating and inspiring. I would like to have known Thoreau and sat in the cozy cabin that he built, said nothing — just listened. Men of varied activities have ever stimulated others as they have me did in life, and who stimulates more as we read his books.

Strength for the Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

THE MOUSE AND THE LION

Do you recall what the Bible tells us about Mark, the man who wrote the Gospel which bears his name? He started out with Paul and Barnabas on their first missionary journey. He was evidently supposed to be a sort of helper and errand boy, but when they all got into an area which was infested with bandits, Mark left them and went "home" — "ducked out," as it were, and headed back for Jerusalem. That so incensed over the matter that, when he and Barnabas consulted about a second missionary journey, Paul told Barnabas in the straightest possible terms that Mark could not go along.

Yet what about this boy who turned tail and ran? He later became one of Paul's most trusted companions. There is a tradition that Mark on his travels through the Roman world was stranded on the then uninhabited Rhaidian Island. Here he envisaged and wrote his Gospel. TERTULLIAN the city of Venice which was later to become famous for its great cathedral is named for Mark. The Venetians proudly claim that his body was stolen and an autographed copy of his Gospel is there to the most amazing circumstance of all — the symbol which Venice presents Mark's character is the lion. Mark, timid as a mouse, later became Mark the lion hearted.

Why? Because he grew in Christian faith and grace. He got something "inside him" which made him a man Christian grace is not something we win, but something that lays hold on

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

It is hard to convey, here half way through the century, what is a decorous occasion New Year's was in Canadian cities and towns one normal lifetime ago. Only the rich and the poor whooped it up on New Year's Eve. The rich yelled, said majority, the good, virtuous, merely self-respectful middle class, neither rich nor poor, owning neither horse and carriage nor horse and wagon, what we might call the pedestrian Canadians of 1900, might struggle to keep awake until midnight, so as to go to their front doors and listen to the far-off factory whistles hooting, and the bells of a few of the more fragrant churches that went in for bell-ringing frivolity.

But for the most part, they went to bed around 10, as usual. For it was New Year's Day that was the big event.

We dressed on New Year's Day as if for Sunday. In the 9 a.m. the streets were as busy as if it were actually the Sabbath. The same families turned out on the day best walking purposefully, as on New Year's Day was the day for visiting. The well-to-do, in their personal carriages or cutters, and the comfortables, in their hired livery cabs, trotted briskly. And as the Methodist Moses scene, we pedestrian families made our calls, on selected neighbors, on relations, on the parson, on the employer.

It went on from ten a.m. until five in the New Year afternoon.

And already half stuffed with Christmas cake and ginger snaps, we all went home to the sumptuous New Year's dinner which the maid had prepared. The New Year was becomingly launched.

Jean in Minority Over Cocktails At Civic Dinners

TORONTO (CP)—Acting Mayor Jean Newman says she will not City Clerk Edgar Norris to consider reducing the number of cocktails provided at civic luncheons and receptions.

Mrs. Newman told a youth conference on delinquency Monday she had seen more social drinking during her last four years in public office than in all her previous experience.

Mrs. Newman said Tuesday she understood that whether or not liquor was provided at civic occasions was at the discretion of the city clerk. She suggested in an interview that there might be some occasions on which liquor could be cut out without causing disappointment or offence.

"I recognize that I am in a minority around city hall," said Controller Newman, an abstainer, "and I do not wish to force my views on other people. I also recognize that a city like Toronto is expected to entertain and provide alcohol sometimes. I certainly do not think the city is wasteful in its entertaining."

The rebel radio claimed that the port of Caibarien on the north coast of Las Villas had been captured and that the south coast naval base at Cienfuegos was "besieged." The latest claims indicated an all-out insurgent effort to split the 750-mile island with Fidel Castro's rebels occupying the eastern end and Batista's government holding the west.

Police in Rome Try for Quiet New Year's Eve

ROME (AP)—Rome police Tuesday night arrested 75 vendors in a drive against illegal sale of fireworks and seized 200,000 firecrackers, Roman candles, sparklers and noise bombs.

But Rome's New Year's Eve will still be noisy.

Residents traditionally create a considerable clatter without fireworks by hurling old bottles and dishes out of their windows at midnight.

That's illegal, too, but arrests for it are rare.

Small Children Should Not Have Pet Dog

TORONTO (CP) — No child under six years of age should have a pet dog or cat, says Mrs. H. Harry Cranbrook, chairman of the women's division of the Toronto Humane Society.

"Pets should be barred for children until they are old enough to take proper care of them," she said. "Small children will just grab kittens or puppies and injure them, because youngsters do not understand how fragile animals are."

Mrs. Saunders, chief of the women's division since 1923 and a member of the Humane Society for more than 20 years, said that even when pets are cared for by parents there is always danger that a child will unknowingly cause an animal to suffer.

"It is better to put children in charge of a garden feeding spot or bath for birds," she said.

Mrs. Saunders pointed out animals to suffer by not providing proper care. People living in apartments should not keep large dogs, even if the apartments allow it. Best pets for apartment dwellers are tropical fish, she said, or perhaps a canary or budgerigar.

The women's division raises funds for the Humane Society, and Mrs. Saunders, who grew up on a farm near Galt, Ont., says their main object is to reduce cruelty to animals.

"We want to make people as careful about misusing animals as they are about human beings."

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harris, Wallbridge, Wed 50 Yrs.

A wedding trip to Madoc with a team of horses and cutter was the "honeymoon" for Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harris, Wallbridge, who on Tuesday celebrated the 50th anniversary of their marriage.

"It wasn't very far, but we couldn't afford anything more", Mrs. Harris said on their anniversary.

The anniversary celebration was held at the Sidney community hall at Wallbridge, just two doors from the Harris home. The couple were "at home" during the afternoon and evening receiving many friends and best wishes from a wide circle of personal friends.

A message of congratulations was received from Prime Minister John Diefenbaker, from Leo Grills, M.P. for South Hastings, and from many other friends unable to attend in person. The couple were also the recipients of many lovely gifts.

"Many more than we received when we were married 50 years ago."

The couple were married at the bride's home on the 4th concession of Sidney township by Methodist minister the Rev. Mr. Wilson. Mrs. Harris is the former Mabel Langabeer and the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Lanabeer. Mr. Harris was born in the Madoc district and was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Harris.

Following their marriage they took up farming in the 3rd concession of Sidney where they remained for the next 30 years. For the past 20 years they have lived in the village of Wallbridge.

LOVER OF MUSIC

"We've been happy, I guess that is what has kept us young," Mrs. Harris says.

One of the high points in their married life was — six weeks ago — when Western Canada which they took last summe.. "We certainly enjoyed it," choosed the happy couple.

A great lover of music, Mrs. Harris has sung in the choir at the Stone Church and also at Wallbridge United Church for quite a century. She is a member of the W.A., the W.M.S and the W.I., and is a charter member of the Wallbridge LOBA No. 1168. Mr. Harris has belonged to the Grey Wallbridge L.O.L. for over 40 years.

A surprise visitor at the Harris home yesterday morning were Mr. and Mrs. George Collier of Sutton, Mr. Collier many years ago worked as farm laborer for Mr. Harris and decided to come back for the reunion. "We really appreciated it!" Mrs. Harris said.

Also attending yesterday's anniversary were Mr. R. W. Treen, with of Eston, Saskatchewan, Mrs. Trenwith is a cousin of Mr. Harris.

The couple have no children but Mr. Harris has two sisters, Mrs. Edith Tucker of Belleville, and Mrs. Rolla Logan of Hamilton. Mrs. Harris has two brothers, Harry and Frank Langabeer of Belleville and a sister, Mrs. Harry Pound of Thurlow township.

"We never had children of our own but we've looked after many others". Mrs. Harris said. "Everybody calls us Uncle Frank and Aunt Minnie."

Mrs. Harris was correspondent for the Ontario Intelligencer for her district for many years

Leather Guild Views Scenes Of Europe

The December meeting of the Leather Guild was held at the home of Mrs. Helen Helms, 8 Bradgate Rd., with the president, Mrs. McCreary in the chair.

The minutes of the last meeting were read but no further business was discussed as the members and their families had come especially to hear Miss Kay Homan speak about her trip to the British Isles and to see her slides. They were not disappointed. Her imaginative pictures enlivened by her breezy, humorous and informative commentary transported them overseas. Everyone enjoyed the scenery and variety of color in her photography and was amazed at the varied information that Kay had assimilated in so brief a time.

After showing her slides, Kay handed to her audience for inspection her beautiful collection of souvenirs explaining where and why she had purchased them.

At the conclusion of her address Mrs. McCreary thanked Miss Homan and presented her with a door knocker fashioned from a horseshoe for one of the Guild members.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. Walker and Mrs. Helms.

This — and That

By HARRIET STEVENS

A foreign correspondent warns that war is a probability over the Berlin crisis.

A union boss of questionable ethics threatens to close the forces of law and order.

Cold and hot wars cease to be trite words.

The cynic "has mockery — will travel."

Man pierces outer space.

A Happy New Year.

T and T wishes to be seriously sincere in its New Year greeting, but we wonder if there are others who are confused. When we find a subject demanding the most profound thought, it seems sensible to seek the hope that eludes, from those who in their wisdom and vast experience refuse to let imminent disaster deter them or the lessons of history become distorted. It is from such as these that we lesser people draw courage and determination. Therefore our New Year's column and wish, T and T turns gratefully to Dr. Albert Schweitzer and a friend whose letter reached us from the east since the last column.

Dr. Schweitzer writes that the atmosphere is overcharged with the rational and the non-rational; the subjective and the objective that come in a new Renaissance "in which man discovers that the ethical is the highest truth and the highest practicality and in which mankind experiences at last that the highest truth and that miserable obsession by facts it calls reality, in which it has hitherto dragged itself along."

Our friend who has lived and shared life with the people of the Congo says: "I am afraid that the Indian Ocean to the north Africa shores of the Mediterranean tells us that the highest truth and the more she travels the more convinced she becomes of the essential goodness of men.

Included in the letter was a quotation from a speech by King George VI, at the beginning of the war. We quote because it is apropos: "I said to the man who stood at the gate of the year: Give me a light that I may tread safely into the unknown: And he put a hand into mine and into the darkness and put your hand into the hand of God. That shall be to you better than light and safer than a known way."

The letter received last year from one who has seen so much suffering goes on: "Still the whole world is in need of faith today. We are all so busy seeking that light which we misguidedly call security and think of in terms of money and possessions, that we overlook the most important things—kindness, friendship, the love of God, peace.

"Last night from my fifth-floor flat I watched the awful effect of a storm on the palms; 100-150 high below and I was impressed by the power of hieratic gale and lashing rains. The sharp fronds of the palms were blown hither and yon but their sturdy slender trunks remained erect like statues impervious to the elements and I thought surely if in what appears to be weakness to be — upright and noble. They (the palms) were not carefully nurtured; were not given the 'security' of ample demand or desire today. They had to dig for their existence out of the sterile sands of the Sahara and in so doing sent down roots down that provide stability and keep them erect when storms shake them."

T and T trusts that the affinity between the words of a world leader and the personal observations of a wonderful Canadian woman gives a message of hope for the New Year columns. May the wisdom of the east and the know-how of the west pierce the darkness hand-in-hand so that mankind may find the better light in the unknown future. And so with a resolution to seek for faith and, others, T and T wishes you, its readers a New Year in which none of the confusing fears will reach fruition and triumph, but whatever the unknown holds in store will bring forth the 1960's sake.

A Happy New Year.

Avondale N.A. Holds Yuletide Meeting

The Avondale Neighbors' Aid Christmas meeting in the form of a tea in the home of Mrs. E. M. Bird with a large number of members and visitors present.

The president welcomed all and turned the program over to Mrs. Don Hall.

After carol singing several contributed to a close.

Mrs. E. Hall read "A Christmas Prayer" and the Scripture, and Mrs. W. Barker gave a demonstration on Christmas decorations.

Santa made a welcome appearance and presented all with a gift. Refreshments were served by the executive bringing a delightful evening to a close.

"Whoo," New Lovis called from the kitchen, "you get that last bonus out of that chair and wash up Dinner'll be ready in two shakes of a lamb's tail."

Pop managed to lift his fat feet off the hassock, stood up, rear end headed for the kitchen sink.

"Don't you go usin' that clean towel, neither," Maw admonished. "That's for company. Use the roller towel. Makes sliver, do believe you'd wipe your feet on the front door mat if I'd leave it out."

"What's a door mat for," Pop flared, "it ain't to wipe feet on!"

Pop gave the roller towel a violent jerk. "Know tonight

"Jed Hafey's openin' a keg" be'n' New Years Maw, you'd ought to step out somewheres. They're having a big shindig over at the Corners store. Jed Hafey's openin' a keg."

"If it's anything like that keg he opened Thanksgiving, you ain't gettin' any nearer to it than you are right now. Pretty howdy-do, you comin' home at 4 o'clock in the mornin' and shootin' off the shotgun through the roof so it looks like a sieve. No, siree, you ain't even gettin' near enough to have a smell of any keg Jed Hafey opens," Maw said.

Suddenly Pop looked up from his plate. "Well, consarn! What you cryin' about, Maw?"

"I ain't cryin," Maw denied. "I'm just thinkin' — thinkin' back fifty-two years. You was payin' attention to me and Mary Jo" jealous like, I couldn't turn 'round but what you was kissin' me. You was jealous of Jed Hafey — jealouser than anything."

Pop snorted disdainfully. "What'd I have to be jealous of Jed Hafey for? Tell me that."

"Plenty," Maw said, "I was going to marry him."

Pop dropped his fork. "You was a-goin' to marry Jed?"

"Sure. Only his folks wanted him to marry Edna Sloat. She owned all the bottom land nearly in Clarke county. He couldn't marry me until he was of age, on account o' his folks wantin' him to marry Edda. In a year he figures he can get all her money and then divorce her and marry me. Meanwhile he said it might as well marry you, then when he got all Edda's money I could divorce you and marry him. Said you was about the most harmless male bein' in all Clarke county and no harm would come to me marryin' you. He said if I married anybody else I might fall in love with him and then he'd lose out."

"So that was the way o' things! I remembered and still divorce Edda a year or so later. How come you never told me this before, Lil? And how come you not to divorce me and marry Jed after he got his divorce?"

"How come" Maw said, "Well Pop, I guess maybe you was kind o' responsible for that. Ain't no telllin' how a woman looks at things until she's bogtied to a man. I just liked o' forgot about Jed. Money didn't matter so much, after all. I found out it was the man that mattered. You kind o' had good ways about you, Pop. Different kind o' ways, only they was the right kind. Made a girl think twice afore jumpin' from the fryin' pan into the fire. You was good enough for me. I found. If there was any better men'n you, I wouldn't have no way o' knowin' o' course. Everything was so nice I didn't think it could be any nicer, so I just decided to hang onto you and let Jed root for himself."

"By gum!" Pop exclaimed after a moment's reflection "Now I am a-goin' to that keg openin' tonight. Bit kills me. And you're a-goin' with me, Lil. I won't have Jed thinkin' he didn't get cheated in the deal, consarn his danged hide! If I go without you he'll think I don't care none about you, and I want to make him feel real good and jeal ous."

"Jed jealous after fifty-two years?" Maw said incredulously.

"Well, if he ain't he ought to be! Happy New Year, Maw!"

"I'll go," Maw said, "but remember, Pop Lovis, if you get drunk tonight I'll break the mop handle over your head when we get home — that is, if I'm still able to tell a mop handle from a crowbar."

New Year's Greetings From Germany

by Mary Moore

"Gut morgen", "wie geht", "danke schon", and wiefer-florken are some of the phrases that Gary surprises me with at Fourteen-month-old Davey would be the smartest one of all in the world, pein'! and a vigorous shake of his head. Frau Mayer has taught them, helped me spell the above too.

Dinner Menu

by Mary Moore

WEDNESDAY
(Late Buffet Supper)

Shrimp Guiche (see Monday); Warm Chili Sauce; Tossed Salad with Avocado-Italian Dressing; Ice Cream with Fresh or Frozen Strawberries; Shortbreads; Fruit Cake; Coffee.

By now I am comfortable enough to weigh myself and the ingredients communally into the pure German town of Spest and get to market where I buy blumenkohl and sauerkraut and liverwurst and bockwurst and things.

I came out with my German marks in another matter, but I'm spending them on things to Canadian standards, the things I have learned so far are low in price.

Because in Marianne's cupboard I found a spring form pan with a scroll design in its bottom, I wanted to make a sponge cake. This turned out to be a four-times effort. Herbie sat up the transformer to plug in Marianne's Canadian electric mixer and beat the yolks and sugar. Marianne used the hand beater for the whites. I measured and Gary helped me sift the flour. Davey stirred hopefully between all of our legs and got some of the flour in his blond hair.

Who said too many cooks spoil the broth? This cake was magnificent. Light, fluffy and tender crust, and would be lovely for any of your New Year's entertaining. Almost any household in Canada will have all of the ingredients on hand.

FEATHER SPONGE CAKE WITH LEMON ICING

Three eggs, separated (4 if the eggs are on the small side); 1 cup cold water, ¾ cup sugar, ½ teaspoon each vanilla, orange and lemon extract, cream of tartar, salt, 1 cup sifted all-purpose flour, 2 cups whites (4 if the eggs are small). Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon-colored, this takes at least 10 minutes — do not underbeat the yolks!, when they are thick and very increased in volume add the cold water and beat until very thick and doubled in volume again. Slowly begin to beat in the sugar, mixing at least 5 minutes to add it. Beating all the time. Add extracts and salt. Fold in the sifted flour, a little at a time. Beat egg whites until foamy, add cream of tartar and beat until they hold shiny peaks. Do not underbeat the whites — they must be stiff. Fold into egg yolk mixture. Turn into ungreased angel cake pan or 9-inch square pan at 325 deg. F.ahr. for about 40 minutes, invert to cool and then coax from pan after loosening all the sides with knife.

If desired frost with Lemon Frosting: One-third cup butter (we used Danish butter and it is delicious), grated rind from 1 lemon, juice from ½ lemon, about ¼ package (½ lb.) icing sugar. Cream the butter and gradually beat in the remaining ingredients until of spreading consistency. Spread on top and sides of cooled sponge cake.

I'll be sending along goodies in German cooking as I work on it.

When I wish you a Happy New Year I am hoping all of yours will be as happy as this first part of my life.

Editor's Note: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Stephen D. — My brother's family is neglecting him.

George D. — Who is he to talk?

Stephen D. — My brother and I have lived apart for the past 15 years. Somehow we have never gotten around to visiting each another.

Recently business took me to his city. I went to visit him — only to learn that he was ill to the hospital and had been there for the last month. My doctors hold out little hope of his getting better.

I found my brother in a big ward filled with very ill patients. It is a sad place and he said the care and food were terrible. He asked me to send him some, but that his wife and children didn't want to care for him any more.

I begged my sister-in-law to take her husband home and told her she is actually murdering him. The children are ungrateful and made threats against me.

George D. — My uncle suddenly appeared out of nowhere and he has decided to lead a campaign to save my father from me. But when my father first got ill several years ago, we wrote to him from Ill and he just sent my father a "get well" card and dropped the whole matter. He has never shown any more interest in all these years.

My mother has had a very hard time caring for my father in the past year or so. She went far beyond her real strength and she didn't want to send him back to the hospital. I have only agreed to do it after we worked on her day and night, trying to make her see there was no sense in killing herself.

After all that; my uncle suddenly comes up with this "nuts-for" business. Where does he come off with that stuff?

The Council: We can understand Stephen's feelings, but he seems to have lost his head in this sad affair.

George hasn't seen his brother in 15 years. He now confronts a considerably older man, worn by the ravages of an apparently incurable disease. He finds himself in the midst of unpleasant surroundings and learns that his brother is not there out of his own desire. He has been sent there by his family.

It all looks very, very bad, but Stephen had no right to run screaming "murder" before he checked his view of the thing with his own eyes and the facts. We suspect that Stephen's own guilt at his long neglect of his brother may have something to do with his too-ready accusations against others.

"If Stephen had given himself some time to think off after the first shock of seeing his brother again, he might have learned a few simple facts — on entering one being that it is unlikely that a senile would keep the man in a ward bed if the doctors felt that it was possible for him to be cared for at home. Another fact is that an invalid is often not the best judge of his own situation. When the sick man complained to his brother about the treatment he was getting at the hospital, he was undoubtedly also speaking about the terrible amount of physical distress that can't be relieved by medicine.

Because he has been out of touch with this family for so long, Stephen knows nothing about them or their trials. The only decent thing for him to have done was to ask what he could do to help.

The next time Stephen feels impelled to make wild accusations, we recommend that he open his Bible to the passage that reads "He that is without sin among you, let him first cast a stone. . .

GOOD MANNERS

By Mrs. Beekman

"EXTEND" YOUR NEW YEAR GREETINGS

Here . . . there . . . everywhere . . . you'll be meeting your friends these days and dashheartedly greeting them with "Happy New Year" this and "Happy there . . . have the grace to remember to extend your friendly greetings to your friend's family. For example: "Happy New Year, Dorothy. And please say "Happy New Year' to your dear mother and father for me." Or: "Happy New Year, Tom. And New Year greetings to Marie, and to Tommy when you write to him at camp." Be alert . . . think quickly as to whom you should include in your "Happy New Year" greeting. It's a good idea to spread the good word!

REPLYING TO "THANK YOU FOR YOUR CHRISTMAS GIFT"

Dear Mrs. Beekman:

I'm always at a loss as to what to reply to a friend when he or she says "Thank you for your Christmas card". To say "You're welcome" may be enough of a reply, but to me it never seems enough. Now that this problem will be upon us again these days, would you please give me some suggestions as to what to say? Thank you, if you will. T. D.

I go along with your feeling that "You're welcome" is really not enough of a reply to "Thank you for your Christmas card." It hasn't much grace, and gives the impression that you just can't think of something nice to add. It's fun to think quickly of a few lively words to add — simple and brief. For example: "I wanted you to know I was thinking of you at Christmas-time, Sallie. And a Happy New Year to you." Or (when the friend says enthusiastic things about your card): "I'm so happy you liked the card, Bob. And what a beauty you sent me. Thank you for your good wishes. And Happy New Year to you."

As we respond to a friend's "Thank you," the important thing is to remember to say the way we say what we say . . . the pleasant smile; the warm friendliness in our manner, the responsive lift in the voice. And always, of course, the appealing charm of adding the person's name. That to-you-from-me grace!

CNR President Says Revenues Down 10 P.C.

MONTREAL (CP)— President Donald Gordon of Canadian National Railways said in a year-end statement Monday that despite adverse business conditions, lingering from a fall-off in industrial activity in 1957, the CNR in 1958 pushed ahead with branch lines into areas rich in minerals and other natural resources.

Mr. Gordon said a major speed-up in freight schedules, new equipment and schedules in passenger service, opening of the Commonwealth's largest hotel—the Queen Elizabeth in Montreal—and new communications facilities were highlights of 1958.

"Like all other railways, the CNR felt the impact of general business conditions on its traffic, in terms of decreased revenue, tonnage and patronage, while costs of wages and materials continued upward," said Mr. Gordon.

Estimates indicate the CNR's tonnage figures for revenue freight handled in 1958 will be down about 10 per cent from 1957. Freight revenues will be down about eight per cent, however, since part of the reduction was in traffic that moves at comparatively low rates.

Following 15 Years of Talk Start Made on South Sask. River Irrigation, Dam Project

By LARRY COLLINS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

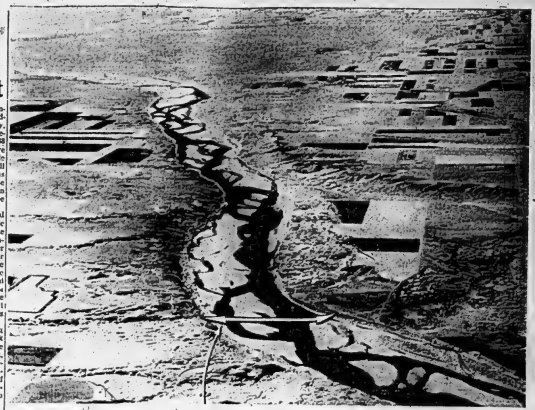
REGINA (CP)—After at least 15 years of talk, 1958 saw a start made on the South Saskatchewan River irrigation and power dam project.

Under an agreement signed last summer, the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Administration undertook to build the huge earth structure, with the Saskatchewan government paying $110,000,000 of the $184,000,000 cost. By year's end the work was well under way with an access road in the site completed and the first big contract on the dam itself ready for approval.

The South Saskatchewan dam, which will probably take six years to build, will be the biggest earth dam in Canada—three miles long and 200 feet high. It will impound 8,000,000 acre-feet of water in a lake that will be 180 feet deep at its deepest point. The water will eventually irrigate 500,000 acres of semi-arid farm land and produce 375,000,000 kilowatt hours of electricity annually.

After the signing of the agreement in Regina July 15, and a subsequent signing by the government at Ottawa, it didn't take long for work to start. Building a 12-mile access road from provincial Highway 19 to the site near Outlook 69 miles southwest of Saskatoon, was the first job tackled and it was finished in November. Subsequent contracts called for building the substructure of a temporary bridge across the river and stripping earth from a gravel deposit at the site.

Builders are fortunate in that the earth and clay needed for the dam are available close by.



Smith Brothers and Wilson Limited, of Regina, now are constructing an engineering and administration building, labor camp, staff house, garage and warehouse, assembly building and 38 houses for the administrative staff. The houses will include plumbing and heating and will be salvaged when the dam is finished, possibly to alleviate the housing shortage in Saskatchewan cities. It is hoped they will be finished by spring.

While early contracts totalled well over $1,500,000, the public got its first clear glimpse of the money involved late in December when the PFRA called for bids on the first big contract for moving earth and gravel into the gaps on the dam site on the west side of the river. Perini Limited, of Toronto, entered a low bid of $2,941,380. Most of the material required in the contract will come from various pits within a mile of the site.

Irrigation will probably bring an upheaval in the life of Outlook farmers. Whoever farmers in the district now raise mostly wheat, with a herd of cattle as a sideline, they will concentrate on cattle under irrigation. Because of irrigation costs, they will probably cut the size of their farms to 100 or 150 acres.

Consequently not all of Outlook's farmers are convinced that the dam is a good thing and a member of an Alberta irrigation study committee has warned that irrigation "will become the most disruptive force to strike the Outlook area since the land first fell under the plow."

Meanwhile, some discontent has arisen over the construction work itself. A teamsters' union organizer, while serving notice that his union intends to recruit truckers at the dam site, says Wyatt, of Regina, said carpenters the Outlook area earn $1.15 in- by the common wages are set

This aerial view looking upriver and to the north, shows the South Saskatchewan River as it flows through the Outlook area, 60 miles southwest of Saskatoon. Two-headed arrow shows site of projected earth dam, three miles long and 200 feet high, which will impound the river's waters enabling irrigation of 600,000 acres of semi-arid Saskatchewan land and the generation of 375,600 kilowatt hours of electricity a year. Work has already started on the project which will take six years to complete. Much of the land in the river valley will be flooded by a reservoir 135 miles long. In this photo, taken in mid-summer when the water was low, sandbars appear in the river-bed as light patches. Light areas in background are stubble fields, mostly wheat. Dark patches are fields in summer fallow. Large dark area in distant background is a Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Administration pasture. Grass-covered land along river bank, which is crown-owned, is mostly leased to farmers for pasture. Farmers of the district, now mostly wheat-growers, are expected to concentrate on cattle-raising under irrigation. (CP Photo.)

TOWNSHIP OF THURLOW

TO RESIDENTS OF THE ANNEXED AREA

Annexation of the suburban section of the Township of Thurlow, which will become effective on January 1st., 1959, will remove more than 5,000 persons from the Township. Most of these people have come to the Township in recent years locating in the areas adjacent to the City of Belleville.

To those who have been annexed we would say that we have appreciated greatly the good relationship that has existed between yourselves and the Township Council and their officials. We would like to point out that good government is the result of each individual taking an interest in the affairs of his municipality, and we feel sure that through cooperation with the Council and Officials of the City of Belleville the problems that arise may be solved to the satisfaction of all concerned.

To City Council and their administrative staff we would bespeak on behalf of those being annexed the patient consideration of the many problems that will arise as a consequence of these new areas being added to your city.

To one and all we wish a very prosperous and successful New Year!

The Reeve and Council of the Township of Thurlow and Officials

This is the 25th year that The House of Seagram has published messages advocating Moderation in all things.

New Year's Blessings Ancient Swiss Legend

According to Swiss legend the Holy Family is abroad during the hour of midnight mass on Christmas Eve.

Therefore a bowl of fresh milk is placed upon the dining table and each member of the household carefully lays his spoon upon the table cloth.

The person who, returning from church, finds his spoon has been moved may anticipate special blessings during the coming year: for surely Mary and Joseph have rested within the shade during their Flight into Egypt and the Virgin used that spoon to feed the Infant Jesus.

Tax Officials Spend 50 Cents To Collect Seven

DETROIT (AP) — Wayne County tax officials say the county loses money every time it bills Boleslav Gawel.

Gawel's house is assessed at $2,010. But Gawel is a veteran and gets a $2,000 soldier's homestead tax exemption. The tax on the remaining $10 is seven cents.

Officials say it cost 50 cents to bill Gawel for his seven cents.

U.S. Will Build Show in Moscow

WASHINGTON (AP) — Russia has agreed to allow the United States to send machinery, materials and workmen into Moscow to build an exhibition in Sokolniki Park next summer.

In return, Russia was given similar privileges in sponsoring a Soviet science, technology and cultural exhibition in New York City.

The agreement marked the first time the two countries have exchanged such exhibitions.

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 31, 1958

Firefighters' Lot Is Not An Easy One

At 4:40 a.m. last Friday a call came into the Belleville Fire Department notifying them that smoke was seeping into the A.N.A.F. building from the offices of the Mid-Ontario Division headquarters of the Salvation Army next door. By 5:00 a.m. the Salvation Army people, under the direction of Major Greenwood and George Ellaroy were at the scene, setting up their disaster kit in No. 5 Emergency Vehicle of the fire department. At 5:07 a.m. Deputy-Chief "Warzy" O'Brien put in a general alarm summoning all available men and equipment to the Diana Grill on Front street to fight one of the worst fires Belleville firefighters experienced in some time.

By the following afternoon nearly every able bodied citizen had been down to Front street to view the proceedings. He might have thought that everything to ked pretty easy for the firemen were pouring too much water over everything. Such was hardly the case. The problems, the solutions, the help, the frustrations, the weariness, the determination experienced by the firefighters present were probably lost to the casual observer. But these experiences were definitely there.

The first indication that the smoke investigation was a fire of major proportion came shortly after the first three trucks arrived at the scene. Entrance had been gained to the basement of the Diana Grill, where the cause of the smoke was quite evident. The first two hose lines, the booster lines, 3-4-inch in diameter supplied with water from the tanks on the pumper trucks, were laid into the basement to start fighting the blaze as quickly as possible. While these were in action the main lines, consisting of 2-inch-diameter hose, were connected up between the pumper trucks and the fire hydrants and from the trucks into the front and rear of the building, adding four lines to the fire. One of the aerial trucks was jockeyed into position in case the fire spread to the upper floors of the building.

FOG NOZZLES USED

The first plan of attack utilized the fog nozzles. These throw a very wide and fine spray of water over a large area. They are especially useful when there is a lot of smoke, which there was on this occasion, since they help to purify the air somewhat, making breathing much easier for the firemen. The use of this method is most effective when the fire has just started or has been burning only a short time. In this instance, however, apparently the fire had been burning long before the alarm was turned in because the fog nozzles had little effect. The areas they were covering was too hot for the spray to quench the flames.

The flood nozzles were then put into action with several men equipped with pure air units to enable them to operate in the heavy smoke. The purpose of the flood nozzles is to drown the fire under heavy pressure rather than via the light spray of the fog nozzles. The large amounts of water are also needed to cool off the areas adjacent to the fire so they will not ignite and spread the flames.

Up to this point the fire seemed under control although a bit awkward to handle. Then the electric wiring on a ventilating fan at the top of the building shorted out causing the fan to start. The draft created drew the flames up through the walls of the old building, spreading the fire to the top of the building in a matter of seconds. This was followed shortly by the explosion of several fuel oil tanks in the basement and the flames reached out into the James Texts Limited building.

At this point the fire was considered to be out of control and an assistance alarm was sent into the Trenton Fire Department at 6:55 a.m. Trenton Fire Chief Ellis with four men and a pumper answered the call. Belleville Fire Chief Gerald Vance used them to stand by, providing protection in case there was a fire call elsewhere in the city, thus allowing full use of the Belleville men and equipment on Front Street. The Trenton firefighters rendered further assistance by running another line into fire and providing some relief to the Belleville firemen in action.

MOST FRUSTRATING

The oldness of the buildings proved frustrating to the firefighters. The lack of firewalls between the buildings, the dryness of the wood, the lack of firestops within the partitions and wall lathing allowed the flames to spread through both the Diana Grill building and the James Texts premises at will and out of sight and reach of the firemen and their hoses until the fire burst into the open. By 7:45 Fire Chief Clark of Point Anne offered the assistance of several of his men and another pumper truck.

The fire, however, was still eventually out of control and by 8:00 a.m. had spread to the top rear floor of the Sprague building. One of the aerial ladder trucks was moved into position to fight this new development. Unfortunately the force of its water stream forced the heavy smoke back into the building and Fireman Jack Funkis was overcome by the choking fumes. (At this time of writing Fireman Funkis was still confined to Belleville General Hospital — three days after his collapse in the line of duty). Fireman Mitts of Trenton was also knocked out by smoke. Fire Chief Vance then sent an assistance alarm to Deseronto and Fire Chief McVicker of that department responded with five more men and a pumper truck.

The fire was prevented from spreading beyond the rear of the top floor of the Sprague building and slowly the firefighters were able to confine the fire and have it under control. This victory, however, was offset by the collapse of the floors and ceilings in the rear of the two principal buildings. The rubble covered up many of the burning timbers and confined large amounts of paper and stationery out of the reach or range of the hoses. The type of fire required close contact but this approach was considered quite hazardous because of the imminent threat of the remaining floors and walls collapsing as well as the possibility of the walls falling inward and striking the firemen. Fireman Archie Hill wrenched a knee due to the partially collapsed floor in the Diana Grill. Despite these difficulties a few men were able to advance their hoses to positions fairly close to the flames to openings in the floors where they could get the water streams directed into the many tons of smouldering paper. Fireman Fred Ellis became a casualty, however, when falling bricks struck his helmet.

ICE FORMS QUICKLY

The cold weather also played havoc with the effort of the firemen. Ice formed over the ladders, the street, and even around the buildings where it prevented water from getting through to some parts of the conflagration. Fireman Fred Smith, atop of No. 3 aerial truck, suffered a wrenched ankle when he slipped on the icy top step while directing the water stream from the big 3-inch hose. Eventually, however after almost one million gallons of water had been pumped into putrid buildings the fire seemed to be pretty well out and at 7:00 p.m. it seemed provident to pull the heavy pumpers off the job. Water had been streaming three to four inches deep out of the doorway of the James Texts building for several hours.

The visiting firemen, who had answered under the Mutual Aid plan, which allows Deseronto, Point Anne, Belleville, and Trenton the assistance of each other's departments in times of need, left for home. Their aid had greatly contributed to the staying of the fire within the period of fifteen hours and had also ensured that there was adequate protection in the event of another fire in the city.

Old "reliable," the twenty-seven year old Bickle pumper stood the all night vigil with two lines connected up to her turret nozzles, a constant stream of water was directed into the shell of the James Texts premises. Two more lines were also shooting water into the basement from the back of the building. But the night did not mean to be a quiet one. Several times flames blazed up within the Diana Grill and the former stationery store. And several times already exhausted firemen answered the call to duty as flames flared up in a different corner. The collapsed metal roofs were proving a formidable problem as the brick walls wouldn't allow the hoses easy access to the best positions for getting under the protective shield formed over the smouldering piles of paper.

WALLS PROVE HAZARD

The same walls proved a hazard for men entering the ruins because the brickwork might collapse at any time and together with the remaining interior superstructure, could easily kill or trap anyone inside. Meanwhile the tons of paper underneath the rubble still smoulders in the basement. The eventual razing of the building will allow the final elimination of the fire's remnants.

During their operations, the sixty-odd firefighters poured well over one million gallons of water onto the fire through fourteen lines of hose. The pumpers pushed through from 500 to 750 gallons of water per minute each at pressures of up to 175 pounds to the square inch. Some of the thirteen pieces of equipment were running for better than fourteen hours steady. An indication of the amount of work the pumpers get in use operating their auxiliary equipment as compared with miles covered in travelling to fires can be readily seen from figures for Belleville's No. 2 pumper. This vehicle has travelled 4,567 road miles, its engine, which also runs the pump, has actually travelled an additional 52,332 miles while in service at fires. Five men were injured during the fire and over $250,000 damage was done. Fortunately no lives were lost.

The foregoing indicates but a few of the problems encounters and overcome by the fellows in the rubber boots and coats that the casual observer saw around the fire last weekend.

In any language, it's the same wish for everyone:
HAPPY NEW YEAR

Roundabout . .

By DOUG PHIPPEN

New Year's Day, like Christmas, has its significance rooted in the history of mankind from ancient times. It was adopted to Christian usage from the Romans, who celebrated it as a time to exchange greetings and gifts, a tradition which proved of great profit to the Roman emperors. Although the Christian church originally discouraged participation in the celebration the custom was so strong amongst the Romans that the church eventually adopted the festival as a time to celebrate the Feast of the Circumcision.

Throughout the world, however, it is a day of universal rejoicing. The holiday receives particular emphasis in Germany, Scotland, Japan and France. It was fashionable in Paris, during the second reign of the Bourbons, to present gifts of bonbons. In 1823 a record high of 1,000 tons of them were sold in the few days before the holiday.

New Year celebrations are held at several times, however. The Persians celebrate New Year's Day on March 21st, the Jewish people hold their Rosh Hashana celebrations in the later part of September. The latter holiday comes from the ancient Jewish calendar which is reckoned from 3761 B.C. New Year celebrations are certainly not something new, although they are supposed to offer new hope and thoughts for those observing them.

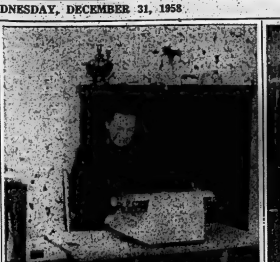
A few people in this community already have their new year's program planned for them. Brigadier Morgan Flanigan and his Salvation Army staff have to establish a new Mid-Ontario headquarters. The resiliency and fortitude of the "Sally Ann" people is, however, a well established fact and we look forward to the results of their efforts.

Virgil James, another "victim of the fire," has stated that soon a "bigger and better" James Texts establishment will be serving the area. We cannot help but feel that no matter what setback a person encounters he is still better off than he was at some previous period in his life. Likewise we anticipate that the above people will probably come up with something "better" than they had before.

A word to the wise . . . If you drink don't drive — if you drive don't.

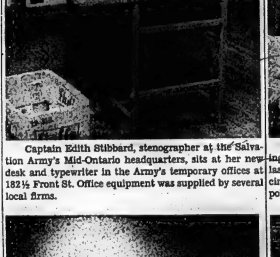
A Happy New Year to all, especially to those who already have their next year's work cut out for them.

What of the Future? "Bigger and Better"



The offices of the James Texts and the Mid-Ontario Salvation Army headquarters are still side by side on Front street but on the opposite side of the street. Little time was lost getting the new offices established as 182-½ Front street on Monday morning with telephones installed and desks and furniture set up.

Brigadier Flanigan visited the former Salvation Army office via a ladder and the front window and managed to collect a number of the files which had survived the fire and water damage. Fortunately the majority of these were at the front of the building and were in the safe, the filing closet, or the steel cabinets which offered good protection from the elements participating in the weekend holocaust. Some stationery supplies and books were also salvaged.

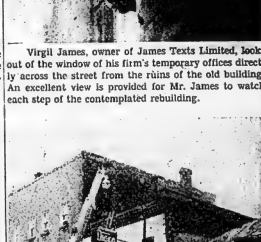


Supplies have been sent in from the national headquarters in Toronto and assistance has been made by several local merchants in providing the space and equipment for the temporary offices. Some of the lost files can be duplicated by the national headquarters and the Mid-Ontario headquarters at once again serving the eighteen Salvation Army centres in this district. Presently they are looking for a permanent location and have several in view at present. Only enough the day of the fire was Brigadier Morgan Flanigan's birthday. It is understood that the Brigadier hopes to receive no more birthday presents like the last one.

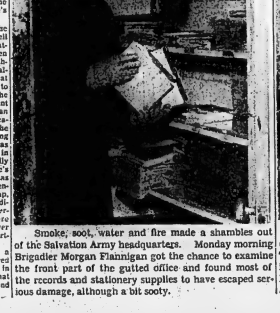
Very little if anything was salvagable from the James Texts premises. The collapse of the floors at the rear of the building and the roof above the storage area which had stopped the fire. Smoke and water damage finished the remainder. Virgil James states that as soon as possible construction of new James Texts premises in this firm will be started. The new facilities will be "bigger and better" than before, stated Mr. James. Construction will start on the new site as soon as the old building is razed.

Peter Wills, owner of the Diana Grill properly expects to allow the remains of the gutted building to remain over the weekend walls of the upper storey have been removed. Although his plans are not certain Mr. Wills stated that he does not expect to rebuild.

Captain Edith Stibbard, stenographer at the Salvation Army's Mid-Ontario headquarters, sits at the new desk and typewriter in the Army's temporary offices at 182½ Front St. Office equipment was supplied by several local firms.



"Old Faithful," the 1938 Bickle's pumper stands the midnight watch over the smouldering remains of the James Texts building. The turret nozzle with two 2½-inch lines can be seen on rear of the vehicle which is capable of pumping 500 gallons a minute.



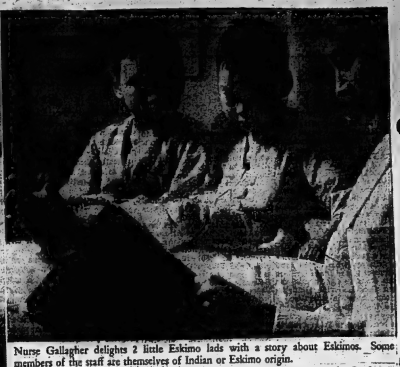
Smoke, soot, water and fire made a shambles out of the Salvation Army headquarters. Monday morning Brigadier Morgan Flannigan got the chance to examine the front part of the gutted office and found most of the records and stationery supplies to have escaped serious damage, although a bit sooty.

Virgil James, owner of James Texts Limited, looks out of the window of his firm's temporary offices directly across the street from the ruins of the old building. An excellent view is provided for Mr. James to watch each step of the contemplated rebuilding.

Demolition of The James Texts building and the upper storey of the Diana Grill premises was started Tuesday morning. The heavy wrecking crane is moving the sign from the face of the building preparatory to knocking down the top of the front wall. The front of James Texts second storey has already been demolished

Ice was a serious handicap to local firefighters during the activity around James Texts and the Diana Grill last weekend. Some of the formations were quite fascinating as was this one which enclosed a ladder, a hydro pole, and a parking meter.

Charles Camsell Indian Hospital

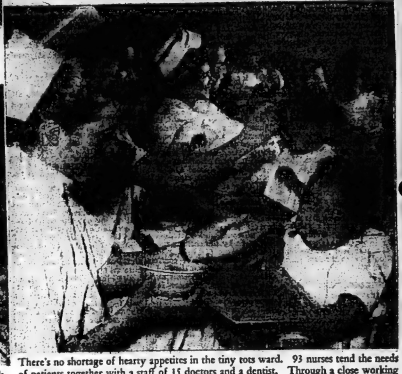


For An Exclusive Clientele

A substantial 3-storey brick building in downtown Edmonton reserves its services strictly for an exclusive clientele. The Charles Camsell Hospital was set up in 1946 with the health needs and problems of Canada's Eskimo and Indian population uppermost in mind. Today it has accommodation for over 500 and their facilities are geared to handle everyone from the newborn to the aged. Above 1-year-old Peter Tingmaniak enjoys a swing under the watchful eye of Nurse Onyshko.

Two-thirds of the hospital's patients suffer from tuberculosis as does the little girl above. In the past decade an intensive health program has succeeded in reducing the T.B. death rate from 579 to fewer than 50 per 100,000.

Nurse Gallagher delights 2 little Eskimo lads with a story about Eskimos. Some members of the staff are themselves of Indian or Eskimo origin.



National Film Board of Canada Photos by Gar Lunney

The hospital maintains a varied rehabilitation program which includes educational services, and handicraft training. Above, a young Indian girl who has completed her treatment is taken on a shopping tour of local department stores, her first introduction to current fashion styles.

Among the hospital's Eskimo patients is Mary Edetoak from Spence Bay. She belongs to one of the few remaining groups who still use tatoo marks; the custom is losing popularity with the younger generations.

There's no shortage of hearty appetites in the tiny tots ward. 93 nurses tend the needs of patients together with a staff of 15 doctors and a dentist. Through a close working arrangement with the Edmonton area the hospital may call on the professional and technical skill of outsiders when necessary to supplement its own highly trained staff and modern facilities.

2nd THURLOW

Neighbors' Aid Holds Fine Yuletide Meet

2ND THURLOW — The Christmas meeting of the Neighbors' Aid was held at the home of Mrs. Everett Jeffery with a large attendance of adults and children. Mrs. J. Chumbley presided with Mrs. M. Mitchell accompanying the singing. A welcome was extended to all. The secretary, Mrs. William Lazarus read the correspondence, and will arrange the program for the January meeting.

Money was donated to help bring a little cheer to a family for Christmas.

Mrs. Norah Howard arranged the following program: Christmas carols were enjoyed accompanied by Mrs. M. Mitchell; reading, "God Bless us Everyone," Mrs. F. Mitchell; Christmas reading by Mrs. C Howard; recitations, "Christmas Time," Cameron Portt; "My Polly," Linda Grills.

Mrs. Arnold Mitchell spoke of the 50th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Elmes Vivian, paying tribute to the high esteem in which they are held and loved by all their friends and neighbors. It was suggested by some neighbors and friends to have a little celebration in honor of the occasion, but was declined by Mr. and Mrs. Vivian as they didn't feel able at this time to entertain for the occasion.

Mrs. Mitchell extended hearty congratulations and best wishes for many more anniversaries and concluded with a poem.

Mrs. Vivian graciously thanked Mrs. Mitchell for the kind remarks on their behalf, and all their many good friends and neighbors who have been so kind to them over the period of years especially for the lovely thought in honoring them.

Recitations, "Santa's Reindeer" by Dian Gray and Gail Dent; and Robert Lazarulk, "The Christmas Tree." Other Christmas recitations were by, Mary Greatrix, "Glamor Girl," and "Three Little Pigs" Larry Greatrix. These little recitations by pre-school children were well given and enjoyed.

Reading by Mrs. M. Dent; Guitar solo, "I Heard the Bells on Christmas Day," Mrs. B. Portt.

Slides were shown by Mrs. W. Gray Jr. of many local places visited; fishing and hunting trips; scenes in Algonquin Park; fish caught; deer at The Algonquin district, and many interesting pictures of happening in general.

A vote of thanks was extended to Mrs. Gray on conclusion of the lovely pictures shown.

The president also voiced her thanks to Mrs. Howard and all who helped with the program.

Santa Claus, (Mrs. Robb Atkina) arrived to the tune of "Jingle Bells". The many gifts exchanged, and distributed to old and young caused lots of fun for all. Refreshments were served by the hostess and Mesdames, R. Grills; William Lazarulk; S. Ray; Fletcher Reid, concluded the afternoon's entertainment.

AT THE McCARTHY — Tony Curtis, Cara Williams and Sidney Poitier sit down to an unrelaxed meal during a brief respite the two men take in their effort to elude a posse. They have escaped from a chain gang. "The Defiant Ones", produced and directed by Stanley Kramer and released through United Artists, will open Thursday (New Year's Day) at the Odeon McCarthy Theatre.

AT THE BELLE — Rose Tamblyn, reclosed by film magic to a height that makes plays the title role in "Tom Thumb", the film version in color of the beloved Brothers Grimm pantomime from MGM. The delightful fantasy continues live on stage, assisted by Tiny Tim, songs and dances. Tiny Tim opens on New Year's Day at 1.00 p.m. at the Belle Theatre.

AT THE PARK — Tony Curtis as Harry Houdini, ventilates and takes the audience in this scene from Paramount's "Houdini", the Technicolor real-life screen story of the world's greatest daredevil which is due to open Thursday (New Year's Day) at the Park Theatre for the show program. Danny Kaye's greatest comedy "Knock On Wood" opens Thursday at 2.00 p.m. Thursday eve one big complete show at 7.30.

Filmed Documentary on Life In Red China to be Shown

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—Next Sunday (at 4:30 p.m. EST) NBC-TV will present "The Great Leap Forward, a filmed documentary on life inside Communist China by John Strohm, an American correspondent.

Strohm, a free-lance journalist and agricultural expert, said the other day that during his three weeks in China he never was certain he'd be permitted to leave with his films — and occasionally wondered if he's get out safely himself.

Finally, however, he was permitted to take out his film unprocessed.

7,500 MILES

In travelling about 7,500 miles in China he was impressed by two things: the intense, widespread interest in Communist ideas; and the fact that he, personally, was treated courteously — except on a couple of occasions.

Preceding The Great Leap Forward NBC-TV will present Southeast Asia: Target for Communism, a film and live commentary by Cecil Brown, who returned recently from a month-long swing around the rim of Red China.

The hour-long Story of Atlas 19-2 on NBC-TV last Sunday was an excellent examination of both the missile now in orbit and the men behind the missiles.

Among the most remarkable segments of the filmed report at Cape Canaveral, Fla., was a scene inside the blockhouse during an actual firing when the camera concentrated on the reactions of Curtis Johnston, the 31-year-old test conductor.

This scene was recorded by an unmanned camera set up in the blockhouse. Camera men are not permitted in the area at the time of firing.

DEALING FOR FLOEN

WINNIPEG (CP)—Bob Moir, sportscaster for the CBC in Winnipeg, said in a radio broadcast Tuesday British Columbia Lions have offered Winnipeg Blue Bombers $2,000 for quarterback and halfback Kenny Ploen.

AT THE PARK — It starts like this. Danny Kaye is a ventriloquist and one day his dummy starts talking back to him. Naturally, he goes to a psychiatrist and who does it turn out to be but beautiful Mai Zetterling. All of this happens in Danny's brand new Technicolor fun-fest, "Knock On Wood" which is due to open New Year's Day, Thursday, at the Park Theatre. On the same program the greatest daredevil in history "Houdini". In Technicolor starring Tony Curtis and Janet Leigh. Westerns Will Continue Strong in '59 Says Writer
By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — What will 1959 bring Hollywood?

The No. 1 rule with forecasters should be: Never look back. But I'm going to defy tradition and see how I did with last year's guesses before embarking on next year's.

On the credit side are these: Elvis Presley will be drafted. Top Oscar winners will be British - born (half - right). Hiver Kwai will be the picture to beat in the academy sweepstakes. Love will find Lana Turner (yipes!). South Pacific will be top money maker. Dramas will be hot in films, westerns on TV. Lots of talk on pay-TV but little action.

Also: Marilyn Monroe will return to Hollywood for a film. Jayne Mansfield will marry Mickey Hargitay. Brigitte Bardot will become the movies' sex queen.

BIGGEST MISS

My main strikeout: That Lauren Bacall would marry Frank Sinatra. Well, it was close.

Okay, then, what about 1959? Let's be a little more fearless this year and try some tougher picks. Such as:

Frank Sinatra will not get married.

One major studio will go out of business.

Ben-Hur will be the top money picture. Diary of Anne Frank the most honored picture.

Brigitte Bardot's vogue will fade.

Liz Taylor and Eddie Fisher will wed, to no one's surprise.

Ingrid Bergman will make a triumphant return to Hollywood.

Bing Crosby will become a papa again.

WESTERNS GO ON

The westerns will continue to ride roughshod over the TV competition.

The TV comedians will go back on the shelf.

Debbie Reynolds' career will boom.

Some of the veteran film heroes who have been getting top prices will find their salaries cut.

There will be fewer pictures made.

More films will be made abroad.

Still no action on pay-TV.

Bob Hope won't be home for Christmas.

Okay, so I cheated on that last one. I've got to be right some of the time.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

HAPPY NEW YEAR!

Tonight is the night the 1959 chrush is ushered into the world to the accompaniment of promiscuous osculation.

Tomorrow comes the cold grey dawn of the morning after, paid eyeballs, and lee pecks.

Everybody will live tonight. Tomorrow a few may die.

Some will breakfast in dinner jackets and evening gowns. Others will "scorch-and-eggs" in lounging pyjamas. Yet more will survive on one or more "hairs of the dog that bit them."

To a lot grown wiser through the years, it will be like any other morning. The nice part of it is, you don't have to go to work.

In any event, Belleville, like her sister cities and communities, will usher in another year in an atmosphere of celebrative whoopdom.

There will be parties and dances going on all over the place, but the accent, it is reported, is on private celebration.

Traditional dinner dances in a military atmosphere are planned for the armouries here and in Picton. Night spots are holding their own shows. Celebration-minded organizations will hold forth in their respective halls and establishments.

But a rough survey reveals that more people this year are "having a few in" to "take a few in" and greet the New Year in front of the family hearth.

Perhaps this is a good sign. A car in the garage is worth two in the wreckers' graveyard.

In any event, Belleville will whoop it up, and if it be hoped, on the same satisfying aftermath of "nothing of a serious nature occurred" as has happened in the past three or four years.

* * *

WHAT THEY HOPE THE NEW YEAR WILL BRING

IKE, THE MACS, DRURY DENYES . . . That world championship.

PEEVER . . . Return of the Bums to Brooklyn—five-cent apples and a working knowledge of French, just for the Hell of it.

MICKEY MOREAU . . . A girdle for Peever.

JACK CAMERON . . . Better baseball league.

LOU SMEKE . . . Better bridge hands.

FLOYD CRAWFORD . . . Worse ones for Lou.

CLAUDE ITCH . . . A new arena.

THOUSANDS OF OTHERS . . . Ditto.

BERT HERRINGTON . . . Five-cent cigars that won't kill at thirty paces.

THE MCFARLANDS . . . Czechs that will bounce.

PUNCH IMLACH . . . Burning of the mortgage on the NHL stellar.

. . . GORDIE HOWE . . . A self-swiping goalie stick for crease-lounging Gormen.

. . . BOB TEMPLE . . . Bobcats with championship claws.

ARCHIE MOORE . . . Another Canadian payday.

TYON DULEBOHN . . . Ditto plus Archie's scalp. (Wanna bet?)

FLOYD PATTERSON . . . A fight before atrophy sets in.

CASEY STENGEL . . . A little more competition.

PAT MARACLE . . . Return of the "rubber" to his star-board flipper.

FRED HANEY . . . Upholding by the Braves of his reputation as the sneer that made Milwaukee famous.

Overnight Hero Alex Olmedo Toast of U.S., Pride of Peru

By Don Tait

BRISBANE, Australia (AP)— He is scheduled for graduation in February, 1960.

Alex Olmedo, key man in the United States team that retained the Davis Cup from under the noses of the Australians in Australia, isn't turning professional—yet.

The 23-year-old Peruvian, second-string behind Ham Richardson and U.S. champion Ken Rosewall, is the first of Forest Hills.

Olmedo said he was interested in Olmedo, but only from a long range viewpoint.

Alex is amazed over reports that he has become a national idol in his country. He is a modest lad of Inca Indian heritage.

"They run me out of Peru," he laughed, "and now they want me back."

He has received scores of cables from all over the U.S. and Peru.

One of them, from President Manuel Prado, said:

"Congratulations. All Peru is happy."

Meanwhile, Captain Jones was holding court in another part of the Australian dressing room.

"I said it once and I will say it again," declared Jones. "Jimmy is the greatest amateur tennis player in the world."

BADAME SUCCEEDS

TORONTO (CP)—Dr. George Badame, racetrack veterinarian and horse owner, was elected Tuesday to succeed the late Vincent J. Sheridan as president of the Ontario division of the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association. James C. Cowan of Toronto was named vice-president. Election of a national president also held by Mr. Sheridan, will be held later.

Yanks Snatch Davis Cup From Under Aussie Noses

Olmedo Whips Ashley Cooper In Fantastic Court Display To Recapture Famous Trophy

By Will Grimsley

BRISBANE, Australia (AP)—Alex Olmedo, a modern, racket-swinging miracle, recaptured the Davis Cup for the United States today and shattered Ashley Cooper's world amateur tennis throne.

In a fantastic exhibition of poise and court craftsmanship, the 22-year-old Peruvian smashed the Australian, Wimbledon and U.S. champion 6-3, 6-4, 6-4, 6-4 to send the cup back to the U.S. for the first time since 1954.

In the final count of the challenge round was 3-2. Barry MacKay of Dayton, Ohio, was beaten by Mal Anderson in the final singles, 7-5, 13-11, 1-6, 6-1. This was an anticlimax for Olmedo, practically an unknown here, had clinched it when he whipped Cooper.

Olmedo had sent U.S. hopes soaring Monday when he gave them the first point with a victory over Anderson. He teamed with Ham Richardson Tuesday to send the Americans ahead again in the doubles with a victory over Anderson and Neale Fraser after Cooper had licked MacKay.

IN 124 FIVE SETS

Olmedo, U.S. collegiate champion who now lives in southern California, qualified for the team because he has lived in the U.S. for the last 12 months. It is the first time a foreigner has represented the U.S. on a Davis Cup team.

After winning the final game at love, Olmedo and Cooper 6-3 arms of 70-year-old Perry Jones, American team captain who has been his mentor and tutor.

The loss was a staggering blow for the Australians and their captain, Harry Hopman. They had been overwhelming favorites to retain the trophy they won seven of the last eight years. This was the greatest upset in Davis Cup competition.

The sheer was all Olmedo's. This youngster was a virtual unknown on the U.S. circuit until he made a favorable impression last summer.

Perhaps the most amazing part of the match was that the seasoned Cooper—who along with Anderson is ready to sign a professional contract with Jack Kramer—became unnerved.

MANY DOUBLE FAULTS

Cooper served 11 double faults. Time and again Olmedo took advantage of the tall Australian's lapses.

In the first three games of the first set Cooper won only four points, while Olmedo held his own service twice and broke the Aussie once. But Cooper regained back hard to even matters before losing the set.

The second set followed service until Cooper broke Alex in the eighth game. But Olmedo came back and broke Cooper and it was deadlock again. Cooper broke through again in the 10th game for the set.

From then on, except for a brief spurt in the final set, it was all Olmedo. He broke Cooper in the first game of the third set when Ashley double - faulted twice.

Olmedo broke him again in the third game and ran up a 4-0 lead. Cooper pulled back to 4-3, but Olmedo ran it out on his next serve.

COOPER FIGHTS HARD

Again in the fourth set, Olmedo wasted no time and broke through in the first game. And Cooper, fighting like a wild man, broke Olmedo in the fourth game to run the count to 2-2. But he was on the defensive.

It went to 3-3, 4-4, 5-5 and 6-6. Cooper was playing with every trick at his command. Trailing 3-4 and down on 0-40 on Olmedo's serve, he bounced back to deuce after the game went to deuce four times.

Finally with the count at 6-6 Olmedo broke Cooper, putting up a beautiful cross shot for the final point. He then held his own service at love for the match.

Jones, who won the cup on his 1939 visit, was highly pleased. He laughed, "and now they want me back."

"I recruited the best brains in tennis in Jack Kramer and Pancho Gonzales," he said. "Jack's work and inspirational leadership was the big factor. I merely take the bow."

BASSEY TO DEFEND

NOTTINGHAM, Eng. (AP)—World featherweight boxing champion Hogan (Kid) Bassey received an offer Tuesday to defend his title in an outdoor bout in Nottingham next summer. His manager, Jack Solomons, "probably accepted." Promoter Reg King has made the biggest offer ever made for a boxer's services in Europe," Biddles said. "I have told him to go ahead with a series of eliminations and if the situation works out satisfactorily Bassey will appear in the Australian featherweight champion Charlie Hill, British Empire champion Percy Lewis, Bobby Neill of Scotland and Sergio Caprari of Italy will take part in the eliminations.

Tandem Trick In Tennis An Old One

BRISBANE (AP)—The tandem trick which the United States doubles team used to upset the Australians in Tuesday Davis Cup doubles victory is an old one and it is credited to the Aussies.

"I think the Australians used back in the 'thirties," said Jack Kramer, advisor to the U.S. team. "It has been used both here and abroad, but just on certain occasions."

Pro Pancho Gonzales suggested it to the United States doubles players, Ham Richardson and Alex Olmedo, when they were trailing Mal Anderson and Neale Fraser at the intermission. The service stopped Fraser's left-handed first serve and the server backhand and the Americans won five sets.

Here is how the plan worked:

When either Olmedo or Richardson was serving to Fraser in the backhand court, the other American would remain on the same side of the court at the start of the game. The server would cross over to protect the open area. Occasionally they would fake the crossover in order to confuse Fraser, who made the same error on service crossovers during the last two sets.

"Fraser has a very special way of hitting his backhand return and it was deadly," Kramer explained. "Neither Ham nor Alex set much on the opposite side of the court. They had to change the entire shot and he couldn't do it."

Bell Against Overtime in Pro Football

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Commissioner Bert Bell of the National Football League says sudden death periods are a great, exciting way to settle championship contests.

The commissioner, although elated by the Yanks' dramatic spectacular Sunday when Baltimore Colts won the National Football League title in sudden death action against New York Giants, has no recommendation as a regular diet for either professional or college football.

Discussing the oro attitude, Bell said league television clients would not want games to end because sudden death, also a form of stalemate, don't have lights.

He said he does not advise sudden death games for colleges or high schools.

"Not enough enough is go out there and play two hours or more football without scoreboard it to perhaps three hours or more football. That's the kind of physical beating."

Maroons Back on Heap Perch Trappers Nipped by Hounds

By The Canadian Press

Chatham Maroons defeated Sarnia 4-3 in OHA-NOHA Senior A division Tuesday night to move back into first place with 5-3.

It was the first win for Chatham in six games and stopped fifth-place Windsor's streak at three straight victories.

At Sault Ste. Marie, the homestanding Greyhounds edged by a point of third with an easy 7-2 romp over North Bay Trappers, who are deep in the cellar.

Chatham now has a one-point edge on Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen with the two clubs slated to meet in Kitchener Wednesday. Saturday the Kitchener Club dumped Chatham 6-2.

Ron Ingram and Lou Lowdy paced and assisted on another to pace the Chatham win. Doug Lowdy, Bobby Mader and Copper Leyte added the rest of the scoring punch.

Len Speck and Joe Klukay paced the Windsor attack to DOMINATE GAME

More than 2,500 Chatham fans turned out but did dominate the game, outshooting the visitors 35-23 and generally giving the fast heads-up performance.

North Bay had little to offer in opposition to the Greyhounds, who appear winning in a recent days has been a financing problem.

A meeting of Greyhound shareholders Monday night decided to carry on team operations for as long as finances hold out but gave no indication of how long that might be. Officials said increased attendance can solve the problem. Tuesday night 2,800 fans turned out.

Don McLean scored three goals for the Soo, John Offidani added two and Ralph Brewster ex-Jim Farelli and Jim McBurney. North Bay scorers were George Gosselin and Ches Konecny.

Baby Canadiens Outslug Teeps In Exhibition

HULL, Que. (CP)—The defending Memorial Cup champion Hull-Ottawa Canadiens Junior A Club skated and outfought St. Catharines' TeePees of the OHA Junior A League to a 6-4 triumph in a penalty studded exhibition hockey game.

Referee Bill Chadwick was kept out of tripping, holding and high-sticking in the game, second win for the visitors, while Terry Sawchuk of Toronto in the NHL.

Chico Maki scored twice for the winners, while Ted Harris and Doug Robinson added singles.

Bob Maki and George Harris of the TeePees both suffered head cuts that required stitches, but only Harris left the game.

Iowa Is 18-Points Favorite To Win Rose Bowl Grid Epic

By The Associated Press

Wyoming, Louisiana State, Oklahoma and Texas Christian are favored to win the major United States bowl games in college football's final big fling today and Thursday.

Wyoming (7-0) is a 3½-point choice over Hardin - Simmons (6-4) in the Sun Bowl, which had the spotlight to itself today. The 26th annual affair was expected to lure about 15,000 fans at El Paso, Texas. Kickoff time was 2 p.m. EST.

The big guns start firing New Year's Day before about 340,000 "live" fans and millions of television viewers.

Louisiana State (10-0), No. 1 team in the UPI poll, is 15-point favorite over Clemson Tigers (8-2) in the Sugar Bowl.

If coach Frank Howard's Tigers knock off LSU it will go down as the most shocking bowl upset since no-chance Columbia stunned Stanford 7-0 in the 1934 Rose Bowl.

A crowd of 82,000 will see this 8.30 p.m. EST game. It will be televised by NBC starting at 2 p.m. EST.

IOWA HEAVILY FAVORED

Iowa's Big Ten champions (7-1-1) are 18-point favorites over Southern California Golden Bears (7-3) in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Calif. A crowd of 100,000 is expected to see a wide-open contest. The Hawkeyes are spearhead by all-America quarterback Randy Duncan and Cal paced by quarterback Joe Kapp.

This is the second half of an NBC TV doubleheader. Game time is 5 p.m. EST.

Oklahoma Sooners (9-1) are rated 7½ points better than Syracuse (8-1) in the Orange Bowl at Miami, Fla. Kickoff time is 2 p.m. EST.

Texas Christian Horned Frog Yorkers are a team-beat on a football field, but they're expected and CBS will televise the game starting at 1 p.m. EST.

Texas Christian has an eight-point favorite over the unbeaten, once-tied Air Force Academy Falcons in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas, Tex. The Falcons will be televised by CBS following the Orange Bowl clash. It will start about 3:30 p.m. EST. About 75,000 fans will be on hand.

SIGN SOUTHERN STAR

OWENSBORO, Ky. (AP)—Kentucky halfback Bobby Cravens has signed a contract with Cincinnati Road Riders of the Big Four football league, His father, R. Y., announced today his son signed the $9,000 contract for next season while at Montgomery, Ala., for the Blue - Gray game. The hard-running, 185-pound star now is at Tampa, Fla., where he played Saturday's Optimist Bowl game. Cravens was named to the all-star National Football League club.

Campy Will Rejoin 'Bums' As Coach

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Roy Campanella will rejoin the Los Angeles Dodgers in spring training as a coach.

The Dodger front office says Campanella, partially paralyzed in an auto accident, will tutor youngsters trying to make the baseball club as catchers at Vero Beach, Fla.

After spring training, Campy will have official status with the club as assistant supervisor of scouting in the East, vice-president Buzzie J. (Buzzie) Bavasi announced.

Although confined to a wheel chair, the great ex-catcher has been active with his radio program. He now is strong enough to take on more active duties that will assist in his recuperative program.

Campanella's 7½ - year major league career ended last Jan. 28 when his car skidded and overturned while he was driving to his New Jersey home from New York City.

"Campy's going to be a big help to us at Vero Beach," Bavasi said. "His vast knowledge of catching technique and his knowledge of batters' weaknesses in the National League will certainly come in handy."

Gene Conley Asks Braves To Trade Him

NEW YORK (AP)—Gene Conley, once the brightest prospect in the Braves' pitching staff, has asked the National League champions to trade him.

The 28-year-old right - hander made this request in a talk with Braves' general manager John Quinn while visiting Milwaukee Tuesday.

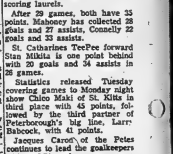
The tallest twirler in the majors, standing six feet, eight inches, Conley gave promise of developing into a star of top magnitude after turning in an impressive 14-9 record in his first season in 1954. He followed it up with an 11-7 showing in 1955.

A shoulder injury, however, received his efficiency in 1956 and he fell below the .500 mark winning only eight games in 1957 as a National Football League club.

Petes' Pair Shares Junior Scoring Lead

TORONTO (CP)—Bill Mahoney of Peterborough Petes has caught up with linemate Wayne Connelly and now is tied for the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A scoring laurels.

After 29 games, both have 35 points. Mahoney has collected 28 goals and 27 assists, Connelly 22 goals and 13 assists.



St. Catharines TeePee forward Gus Mikula is one point behind with 20 goals and 34 assists in 26 games.

Statistics released Tuesday covering games to Monday night show Chico Maki of St. Kitts in third place with 45 points, followed by the third partner of Peterborough's big line, Ralph Babcock, with 41 points.

Jacques Caron of the Petes continues to lead the goalkeepers with a 2.74 goals - per - game average, ruined on 25 goals in 19 games. Dennis Dejordy of St. Catharines is second with 2.92.

Government Should Subsidize Amateur Sports, Say Editors

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—The federal government should subsidize amateur sports in an effort to develop athletes of international calibre and for a healthier nation, the country's sports editors and broadcasters said today.

In the 24th annual Canadian Press year-end poll, 86 of the 106 participating writers said "yes" to the question:

"In view of Canada's disappointing showing at the 1958 British Empire Games, particularly in track and field, do you feel amateur sport should be subsidized by the federal or provincial governments?"

FEW OPPOSED

Only four voters said no, two believed the government should help indirectly and another 12 expressed no opinion. The 106 voters left no doubt of their feelings for government aid and the dissenters were just as strong in their views.

The federal government subsidizes the arts, why not sport?" asked Bob Hood, Hamilton Spectator.

"For a country supposed to be progressive, we are the laughing stock of the world as far as track and field athletics are concerned," said Don Mackean of the Lethbridge Herald who preferred comments with an "absolutely "es" ballot.

The "no" voters included John Funston of CHNS Halifax who said "sport should have no political ties or control," and Alf Cottrell of the Vancouver Province who commented: "In a private enterprise country, subsidized sport is not logical." Wes Mc-Knight of CFRB Toronto said "state-aided sport should be cut to e necessary."

Fred Wheeler of the Sarnia Observer said he doubted "if we would ever get the government to subsidize amateur sport because of the great amount of resentment it would cause." Another suggested a national lottery should be held with proceeds going to amateur sports.

INCREASED SUPPORT

This is the second time in six years that writers in the CP poll have voted for government aid to athletics, particularly those in track and field who have made disappointing showings at Pan-American and British Empire Games since 1946. Substantially the same question was used in the 1953 year-end poll when 49 of 78 participating writers expressed affirmative backlots.

The Dominion and provincial governments have contributed to the cost of sending teams to Olympic and British Empire Games but none has subsidized sports for training. Federal officials have said that the policy of successive governments has been never to support any sports directly on a continuing basis.

But the big majority of sports editors and broadcasters in the CP poll think differently. Here is what some of the "yes" voters had to say:

Jim Tithof, Toronto Globe and Mail: "Support should be given at the grass roots level rather than having regard to the great promotion value of successful athletes in world competition."

Don Cherry, Edmonton: "It's time we stopped taking up a silver collection to send teams overseas."

PRIME NEED

Johnny Esaw, CKRC Winnipeg: "Facilities and coaches are our prime requisite and can't be financed through public subscription; the government must finance this, first through the universities, the armed services, and provincial governments' to the schools."

Pete Handley, CFCH North Bay: "The government should subsidize sports or Canada will continue to look silly in the faces of the world as far as athletics are concerned."

Ken Lefolii, CJOB Winnipeg: "Over and above improving our facilities in interschool competition, such a subsidized program would mean greater participation and result in an overall physical education improvement."

Len Taylor, Kitchener-Waterloo Record: "It is humiliating to have to go cap in hand for funds to send representatives abroad. Most governments subsidize sports as a matter of national pride."

HIGH CHOICE

Gord Hunter, Calgary Herald: "If we compete against other countries internationally, then it seem we must be subsidized ourselves and forget about winning altogether."

"Money is needed to promote our athletes. It has to be on a nationwide effort to be effective."

Hal Fawcett, Edmonton Journal: "With the condition that any government program would only assist in the provision of adequate facilities across the country and financing a long instructional campaign, without government control or interference."

Jack Koffman, Ottawa Citizen: "It's our only hope of getting anywhere."

Dick Carroll, Montreal Gazette: "It's too hard to raise money by private subscription."

Colorful Horde Of Runners In Brazil Race

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP)—Twenty minutes before midnight tonight a swirling siren will signal the start of what is probably the world's biggest and most fantastic sports event.

A horde of runners—some of the world's best but mostly unknown 20,000 dream it great honor just to run in the event the grand streak down Avenida Sao Joao, this city's Fifth Avenue, in the 15-mile, 24-km race for Sao Silvestre international race.

Entries number about 4,500. This year a record number of 32 foreign runners are listed to compete against Brazil's best. Some 50,000 people throng the brilliantly lighted streets to watch the race, an estimated 1,000,000 will see it on television and 1,000,000 more will listen by radio. The race is timed to end with the end of the year.

The race was started in 1925 by the late Casper Libero, editor of a sports newspaper at Gazeta Esportiva to spread sports interest in Brazil. It became an international event in 1945 when attracted its first runners from the New United States and Europe in 1949.

HAMILTON RUNNER

Gordon Dickson of Hamilton is one of the leading foreign entries. The only U.S. runner entered, he is a newcomer. Robert Soth of Los Angeles. Velisa Mu-linacci, 19-year-old runner from New York University and holds the 5,000-metre record, also is entered along with a countryman, Strilot Drago, who placed second in 1956 and 1958.

Portugal's Manuel Faria, who finished fifth last year, will seek to become the first three-time winner since Emilio Gonzales of Cuba won in 1942-43-44, when the race was strictly for Brazilians.

Other leading foreign entries include Mariano Haro of Spain, Michel Bernard of France, Antonil Amores of Spain, Jurgens Schlickenrieder of Germany and Hoekjinpuro of Finland.

The starting race was 30:30:4 by Czechoslovakia's Emil Zatopek in 1953.

Russian Puckists in Gotham 'Expected to Show Up Well'

By JOE MacSWEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK (CP) — Russia's all-star hockey players arrived Tuesday for their first United States tour—late, weary, unwilling to boast and eager for a few friendly games."

It is much the same team that invaded Canada last year, winning five games, losing two, tying one and scoring 41 goals against 20. On past performance, the Russians are expected to show up well in their eight-game American series, but coach Anatoli Tarasov declined to say.

"We'll be ready to answer that question after the five games."

The Russians, two days late, were delayed when American visa officials at Paris refused to process their passports Tuesday for their first United States tour—late, weary, unwilling to boast and eager for a few friendly games."

IN GOOD SHAPE

"We're tired but in good shape," said team captain Nikolai Sologubov, who noted that the Russians experienced a similar delay en route to Canada last winter.

The Russians are scheduled to meet a U.S. national all - star team at Madison Square Garden Thursday night in their first game. They will play the national in the Garden again, and will tangle with University of Michigan, Colorado College, Denver, Harvard and Philadelphia.

The Russians had expected a practice Tuesday, but declined to dress when they learned the ice pad was available for only 45 minutes between workouts of the National Hockey League New York Rangers and Boston Bruins.

Instead, most of the players went to the Rangers' practice and the teeming New York holiday crowds. A few others scheduled went to Madison Square Garden to watch the Bruins work out.

Vsevolod Kukushkin, vice-president of Madison Square Garden, said the Russians will be put up as guest host and the Russians also were squiring by a U.S. state department official and Tass bookkeeper, president of the U.S.-Russian friendship society.

Tonight, the Moscow visitors will be guests of New York Rangers at their NHL game against Boston.

Tarasov they will hold their first practice since Dec. 22, when they defeated Czechoslovakia 5-4 in Moscow. Coach Tarasov said the team's late arrival was unfortunate but "We shall forget our difficulties," he said, "just to have a few friendly games with American hockey players. Sport associations athletes from other competitions and we are happy now to be here and to meet them."

Players range in age from 20 to 34 and all have taken part in competition against Canadians. Canada's Stanley Dunlops won the world hockey championship over Russia in Oslo before last year's Canadian tour.

Besides the veteran Sologubov, the team lineup included Centres Alexis Guryshev, Yuril Yastukhov and Constantin Loktev; defencemen Dmitri Orlov, Ivan Tregubov and Genrich Sidorenkov; and goalies Nicholai Puchkov and Yevgeny Zrikin.

CROSS-BOW GOES MODERN WITH SIGHTS, GUN-STOCK

The size of the cross-bow by sportsmen is becoming more and more popular in Sweden. The Swedish Cross-Bow association recently introduced a new modern type of the ancient weapon into the country. This weapon, which was tried out by some of Stockholm's foremost shots, shoots steel arrows a foot long, which, from a distance of about 30 yards, will pierce a heavy telephone book and may be fired with great precision. In this picture the modern version of the cross-bow is being tried out by Helge Granberg.

On the Tracks

TORONTO (CP) — The Canadian thoroughbred horse racing season will open at the Fort Erie Jockey Club on Saturday, April 25. The Ontario Racing Commission approved the Ontario Jockey Club's application for the 196 days of racing.

The April 4 opening will be the earliest in the history of Canadian racing. The 1959 season opened at Fort Erie April 7. The 1958 season will end Nov. 14 at Toronto's New Woodbine.

Two minor changes in the circuit's opening racing schedule are announced by the racing commission. The opening meeting at Fort Erie will have 25 days, compared with 24 days in 1958. The closing meeting at New Woodbine will have 45 days, compared with 46 days in 1958.

The schedule:

Fort Erie: April 4 to May 2. (24 days); Old Woodbine: May 4 to May 30 (24 days); Woodbine: June 1 to July 11, (36 days); Fort Erie: July 13 to Aug. 29, (43 days); Old Woodbine: Aug. 31 to Sept. 26, (24 days); Woodbine: Sept. 28 to Nov. 17. (45 days).

During the last seven years Ontario's thoroughbred racing season and total purses have grown substantially. The 146-day season in 1952 produced $1,855,800 in purses. The 196 days of racing in 1958 had $3,031,300 in purses.

BUT MALONEY

CHICAGO (AP) — Centre Phil Maloney of Ottawa has been purchased by the Chicago Blackhawks from Vancouver Canucks of the Western Hockey League by Chicago Black Hawks. Maloney recently recovered from a shoulder injury and will report immediately to the Chicago club and may be in the lineup against Leafs tonight.

Leafs' Brewer To Fire 144 Pucks for Month To Develop Effective Shot

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Chief interest in the National Hockey League this season, is the battle for record points. With 36 games scheduled at the halfway mark, no less than five teams are battling closely for second position. Detroit Red Wings hold the spot alone at the moment, but that could change tonight when all six clubs see action.

New York Rangers, Boston Bruins and Chicago Black Hawks are the trio breathing immediately threatening the Red Wings.

Boston has played 36 games so far this season while the other clubs have engaged in 34 each to date.

The leading Canadiens' won-lost record, at 20-9-7, is almost identical to last season—41 victories, eight defeats and five deadlocks for 47 points.

However, the league - leaders had 72 goals for against them in 47 games this season against 71 last season. On the other hand, they counted 122 goals this season against 121 last season.

Some gossip:

The Toronto Maple Leafs' front office had a confidence presentedly, for rookie defenceman Carl Brewer—and with reason. For a month, Brewer will fire each of the 144 pucks in an attempt to develop an effective shot. Leafs general - manager George Gardiner said Brewer, who scored one goal and four assists for the Leafs in 1958, is using what is everything "except a shot to make him a point man."

In New York, fiery Phil Watson used the team's annual Christmas handringing. For the last two years, the Rangers' coach has been involved in a slump right after Christmas.

"We've always had a slump after Christmas," he says, "and I don't want it to happen again." The Montreal on Sunday. If we make it two in a row, then I'll know there's not a jinx on Christmas nosedive."

Two years ago, New York picked up only two points in seven games beginning on Christmas night. Last year the Rangers added only a single point—a tie with the Boston Bruins game after the holiday. Only once since the team's early start in nearly every time out, have the Rangers lost to anyone on New Year's Eve.

Bisons Dumped By Rochester

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—Owning an early 3-1 deficit, Rochester Americans dumped the first-place Buffalo Bisons 7-4 Tuesday in American Hockey League game Tuesday night.

The victory boosted the Americans into fifth place as the result of Hershey's three games in two nights — piling up 21 goals on the trip.

After Dickie Bouchard put Rochester ahead, the Bisons hit back with two goals by Eddie Kachur and one by Billy Dea. Cec Hoekstra and Gary Aldcorn scored for Rochester before the first period ended to tie it 3-3.

Aldcorn and Gus Bousquet made it 5-3 in the second.

Buffalo battled back on a goal by Gerry Foley early in the third, but Rochester's Jerry Gray put the decision out of reach.

Mike Rodden Retires as Sports Editor

KINGSTON (CP) — Appointment of Dennis Morrison as editor of the Kingston Whig-Standard effective Jan. 1, was announced today by Robert Mc-Owen, executive editor, Mr. Southey succeeds Michael J. Rodden, sports editor since May 29, 1944.

Mr. Rodden will continue to write for Canadian Sports Highways, three days a week.

Mr. Morrison left the Whig-Standard since April 1953, has been assistant sports editor since May, 1957.

Before joining the Whig-Standard Mr. Rodden was a noted football coach, hockey referee and sports editor of the old Toronto Globe. He coached 27 championship football teams, including the famed Hamilton Tigers who under his guidance won four straight Big Four championships from 1927 to 1930. An unprecedented feat, and the Grey Cup twice. He was one of the referees at National Hockey League referees' over a 15-year span.

Skate, Ski, Shell Athletes Brought Titles to Canada

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Canadian athletes on skates and skis and in rowing shells brought titles to Canada during international competition in 1958. Otherwise, it was a dull year for many who travelled to far-away places in search of glory and returned with glum faces.

World - winning performances piled up at the top end of the winter months and sports-conscious Canadians had little to cheer about until the summer when the University of British Columbia eight-oared crew rowed to victory in the British Empire Games in Wales.

The year's honors in outside Canada competition belonged to 23-year-old Judith Wheeler. The St. Jovite, Que. redhead hurtled to the slopes of Zell-am-See, Austria, in February to two world skiing championships women's downhill and giant slalom — not only Canadian in the history of the sport to reach such dizzy heights.

Then Barbara Wagner and Bob Paul of Toronto successfully defended their world pairs figure-skating title at Paris. Their victory was recorded just five days after Miss Wheeler's tremendous showing.

A month later at Oslo, Whitby Dunlops retained the world amateur hockey title Canada won by a last-game 4-2 victory over Russia in the round - robin tournament. It was the first Canadian triumph since Penticton Vs beat Russia in 1952 and it's the world title for Canada since the series started in 1920.

Otherwise, it was a summer of sadness for Canadians.

In late summer and early winter a steady flow of athletes returned from an international scale. Some made remarkable showings, others returned with no added prestige.

LEONARD'S BIG YEAR

Stan Leonard of Vancouver, probably the best golfer in Canadian history, won the $40,000 Tournament of Champions at Las Vegas and ended the year with almost $40,000 in winnings. Mrs. Marlene Stewart Streit of Toronto finished the year with an income to win the United States mixed foursome title at Jupiter, Fla.

The Canadian Davis Cup team—Vancouvers Bob Kidd and Doug Blair, Montreal's Dave Sawyer and Eric Hanson of Toronto tied for sixth place in the Davis World amateur golf championship at Los Andrews, Scotland. Al Balding of Toronto and Stanley Leitch of Edmonton, finished in a tie for 13th place in the Canada Cup matches at Mexico City.

Ernestine Russell from Windsor, Ont., World No. 1 American women's senior gymnastic champion was invited to Russia for the world championships after her victory in the U.S. tournament but the trip was cut off when outclassed by the European competition. She finished 60th in a field of 88.

DIVING CHAMPION

Irene MacDonald of Hamilton, now living in Los Angeles, won the U.S. 3-metre diving championship at Dallas, Tex. Although recognized as one of the top divers in the world, she placed second to an English girl in the British Empire Games at paddy-board diving and fourth in the lower diving.

In November, Kelowna Packers made an eight-game excursion to Japan and Russia and returned with a record of four wins, two losses and two draws. The 1958 Allan Cup finalists dropped one of three games to the Russians but the opposition much tougher in Moscow than Tokyo where they tied two and lost one.

In other sports, Emerson Clark, 56-year-old laundry worker from Preston, Ont., won the Grand Championship of Canada Trapshoot at Vandalia, Ohio, and Tom Gayford, 38-year-old Toronto lawyer, the Toronto Stock Exchange, took the individual jumping honors at the National Ski Show at New York.

Tom Thomas Cup badminton competition at Long Beach, Calif., Canada was an easy mark for Malaya which won all nine matches games in the two - day tournament.

Eastern Senior A League Scoring Statistics

Whitby's Bob Attersley picked up five points in his club's long game this past week to increase his lead in the Eastern Ontario Senior A hockey league race to 15 points. Attersley has 89 points, this total compiled of 33 goals and 56 assists, top marks in both departments.

Attersley's linemate coach Sid Smith is second with 44 points, including 21 goals, but Kingston's Moe Savard is just one notch back with 43. Hec Hildebrand, Belleville, is fourth with 42 points followed by Ron Gagnon and Art Maxwell, also of Kingston, with 38 each. Ted Hart of Bayside of Belleville, also has 34 points.

Lou Sarke, Belleville, follows with 33 and newcomer Bob Boucher of Hull, holds the next spot with 32. George Samolenko, Whitby, and John McLellan, Belleville, are tied in the final spot with 31 points apiece.

Loug John Henderson of Whitby has the best goalies' average, 2.33, while Gordie Bell of Belleville, and Kingston's Lynn Davis are tied in shutouts with two.

Cornwall's rugged defenseman, Marcel Goyette, has taken over the lead in penalty minutes with 78. That includes three majors and the rest in minor sentences.

come chairman of the CBC's board of broadcast governors:

"To be grateful for the many privileges we enjoy and to be conscious of others less fortunate, and to express our gratitude by acts to resolve our differences, to be ready on occasions to make a contribution toward peaceful and expanding relations within the Commonwealth of nations."

Something more personal came from Gerlan Golinas of Montreal, founder of Theatre de la Corporation Canadienne, who recently appointed an associate director to assist him:

"I will be seen much less behind my desk as a manager and more behind the footlights as an actor and as a director of what I hope will be a building which will be called a truly national theatre." — Miss Helen Graham Macleau, publisher of the Brockville (Ont.) 17,500,000. But the experts believe the scheme will lead to more detailed provincial inspection of hospital administration and bookkeeping, thereby tending to eliminate any waste.

There also is a trend towards the hospital unit, through expansion of services and higher salaries to hospital staffs. And there may be an increased flow of patients to hospitals.

Health Minister Monteith expressed concern over this when he told the Canadian Medical Association earlier this year doctors "will have to exercise a good deal of restraint in making demands on these vital services which now are overcrowded in many parts of the country."

HOPES TO STAND PAT

The federal cabinet will be a long time before the government attempts to expand the program. Government sources believe that the moment is to perfect the present schemes, not to reach out beyond the reach of every Canadian."

VARIANT AUTO SOURCES

Provincial costs are being raised in various ways. Newfoundland, British Columbia, Alberta and Nova Scotia raise their funds from provincial treasuries, though B.C. and Alberta levy a small charge to patients for each day in hospital. Quebec, Manitoba and Saskatchewan raise their main funds by collecting premiums from participants.

In Ontario the premium is $2.50 a month for a person and $4.20 for a family.

The scheme covers standard hospital care and all normal hospital facilities. Difference in costs between public ward and semi-private and private rooms, as well as doctors' and surgeons' fees, must be borne by the patient.

Predict Higher Steel Output

NEW YORK (AP) — Steel production will probably reach record levels late in the second quarter of 1959, says Iron Age magazine. The metal working publication says:

"Market analysts are predicting the industry will turn out as much as 112,000,000 tons next year, 1959. This would be the third best year in history. It compares with 1956 output of 116,000,000 tons.

"But steel labor is the fly in the ointment. The mere possibility of a strike will make the first half of 1959 look better than it will be in order to hedge buying prior to expiration of labor pacts July 1.

"Production may hit near capacity levels during this period—probably late in the second quarter. But a prolonged strike would wipe out all of the gains in the first half."

Sales were expected to rise 18 per cent and profits 23 per cent during 1958.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER

Thursday, January 1

Aries (March 21 to April 19) — Imperative you take it very easy in earliest part of the day, and give particular care to matters of diet. Remainder of day excellent to size up relative position with all others, particularly in business affairs, but have no agreements at all.

Taurus (April 19 to May 20) — Last night's merriment makes it necessary you spend this morning quietly reading or listening to good programs on the air. Run through your newspaper carefully for wonderful ideas. Don't overexert, but be with kind, charming people.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) — Avoid argument ensuing during A.M. between an associate and a family tie. Think out ways and means of making your daily living more economical and profitable, while being sure that wardrobe is in excellent order, careful additions made to it.

Those Children (June 22 to July 21) — You may think that those outside duties awaiting you are matters of life and death, but you can easily put them aside and conserve your strength and health. Also, don't be sardonic, critical. P. M. give that family problem your full attention and solve it.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) — Don't be extravagant in social or other affairs that have long lost their savor. A good day, also, for putting aside serious matters that require much thought. Be with those persons you truly enjoy, relax and have fun. Tomorrow you will be rarin' to go.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) — A perfect day for getting into a perfect stew over matters at home. Don't be guilty of inciting matters even one least little bit. Then you can forget many worries and make this a fine, happy holiday. Be loving and forgiving.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) — More generously to start the year right will ease morning tension considerably. Spend rest of day putting abode in more charming condition, but get tips from mate, who is good with color especially.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — Guard against being greedy or overly ambitious during A. M. Then it will be possible to get in contact with those persons who can make your just and fine ambitions an actuality in the very near future. Travel not that which pursues.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Avoid that political or other public connection in A.M. or you are bound to commit yourself financially far above your means. Late P. M. a real friend comes along who helps you to add materially to your present abundance.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — Forget that private worry that could today make you lose out on the many prospects that are present for increasing revenue, especially from data and ideas gleaned from your newspaper. P. M. avoid sarcasm or you will regret it sadly.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — Give an ear to the suggestions of true pals instead of following advice of adverser or own intuition. Be very factual in all that you do in late P. M. and steer clear of one who has too much imagination and an overinflated ego.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) — Many strange situations come up concerning other folk, but that is no reason why you should become involved in what does not concern you personally. P. M. wise associate or comrade comes up with just the right idea for you. Follow it.

If your child is born today The fine child born today is the type who must learn to walk by falling down a few times, which is after all the natural and best way to acquire balance and stability. So permit him or her to learn the hard way, and lessons will never be forgotten, life will be lived truly. Give a good education to practical matters, especially with figures and minutiae. A particularly fine chart for the government atchete.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER

Friday, January 2, 1959

Aries (March 21 to April 19) — An ideal day for an interesting trip to some charming spot with handsome associate. Here is chance to discuss what is of vital concern to you both. Handle him or her leisurely, but be sure to reach right conclusions by early evening. Get the contract.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) — Most dynamic partner able to give you right ideas concerning how to become most successful in public enterprises which are close to your heart. Listen very attentively to all that is said, miss no small detail which can be the real key.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) — If living astrologically right you should arise feeling ace and rarin' to go this morning. Dress to excellent taste, visit barber, beautician, and put your best foot forward. Combine business with pleasure, and you increase profits, improve health.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 23) — Ideal time to settle any disagreements both at home and/or with fellow workers or partners in world affairs. Put New Year's resolutions to the test. P.M. likewise at abode. Be loving, kind and sweet as you are with strangers.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) — Fine day to get together with regular cronies and business persons. A smile and genuine affection and admiration will work wonders for you. Be well-informed by first reading your paper intelligently and then your prestige will soar.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) — Exercise that sense of fine touch and finish at residence today, so that you make it a veritable paradise of charm and refinement. Forget that usual dull, hard routine of work now and live forth with artistry. You will be greatly admired.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) — A day for bustling about both and you and impressing everybody with your versatile false, genuinely, good appearance. Meet newcomers, be warm and kind. Have fun while laying groundwork for the future.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — Conversing with authorities in your particular field of endeavor today brings many splendid ideas and data unknown to you heretofore. P.M. spend a quiet and happy evening with relatives who have been longing to see you for some time.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — You are most anxious to get out and accomplish very much in your own line of work or interest. He who hesitates is lost." The aspects are all in your favor. But your cooperation is the key that will open the right doors.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — The New Year finds you bubbling over with enthusiasm and inspiration. Utilize this to best advantage by contacting all those Bitzwigs who can assist you no end. Follow their suggestions immediately and get on the beam.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — Many new acquaintances and lots of fine new data are yours right now, so make the best of the present for a successful future. Read your paper, other printed literature for latest ideas and advance information. Action.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) — Your intuitions are fine today, and it will be possible to ally yourself with some very worthwhile and influential person so that your big financial success becomes an actuality in the near future. Don't angle. Be forthright.

If your child is born today . . . The gifted child born today will have the rare ability to keep silent, at the right moment throughout life, and to the ladder of success can be climbed much more quickly and easily than most. But it is necessary to afford your youngster the opportunity of so short-such and careful an education as possible, both in cultural-spiritual and in business lines.

New Year's Eve Festive Occasion For Native Scots

Christmas never aroused much enthusiasm in Scotland — but on New Year's Eve the Wassail bowl goes around, filled with spicy liquid nostalgically fragrant.

Floating atop the Wassail bowl, apples stir memories of the "apple-bowlths" when boys switched the trunks of fruit trees petitioning "a good howling crop"; somehow, the "lamb's wool" (as the decoction of the Wassail bowl is often called) seems reminiscent of young folks rushing to the nearest spring at the stroke of 12 to drink the "cream of the well" — the first one so doing might expect good luck during the ensuing year.

Handsel Monday — the Monday after New Year's is traditionally the "big Day" for Scotch boys and girls; and, in addition to being the Scotch day of gift-giving, it is a day of feasting and visiting.

Small wonder that families and friends gather on New Year's Eve to "Drink a cup of kindness yet

For auld lang Syne."

Governor-General Massey Feels National Consciousness Of Canada Most Powerful

OTTAWA (CP)—Vincent Massey leaned forward from the big chair near the fireplace, his blue eyes piercing and his craggy, lean face serious and intent.

"I feel deeply that Canada's national consciousness is more powerful than it has ever been. I know how difficult it is to express this through some formula or figures, but we are of a different country than some years ago.

"I feel we have become more self-reliant; that we have greater belief in our country. We shall maintain our identity as long as we remain loyal to our traditions and keep doing things our own way."

LONG PUBLIC CAREER

The slightly - built, 71-year-old governor-general leaned back and for a moment fell into silence. Undoubtedly memories were crowding in on this man of wealth and culture whose career in public service has spanned more than a quarter-century and who now is in his last year of a record seven years as Canada's first native-born governor-general.

Still ahead are some exciting and historical events to be climaxed by the visit of Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip next June.

He likely will retire in September at the age of 72 and plunge into new activity, writing a book of reminiscences and observations of highlights of his career; the years as Canadian minister to Washington in the 1930s; his hectic days as high commissioner to London before and during the Second World War.

Now he was sitting in his panelled study at Government House with his friends, recovered from a minor surgical operation but his right arm still slightly enfeebled by arthritis. He sheltered it in the folds of his jacket, now and then employing it to help weave images in the air as he spoke excitingly of Canada, the crown, the Commonwealth and the future.

"The war was the turning point for Canada," he said. "It gave us the momentum. We have maintained it. We have exploded our wilderness.

"Now we are facing an increasing role in world affairs out of all proportion to our population. The public wants it and the country cannot escape it. We are well suited for our job for we have no traditional enemies."

Mr. Massey himself faced a test in his job, for as the first native-born vice-regal representative he is dto carve a new link between Canada and the crown. The zeal and skill of his performance have earned praise in every quarter.

School children particularly have grown to love him and await his visits eagerly. For his presence means a school holiday which he awards after a slight teasing until he sometimes has the children roaring. Always, the holiday is given in the name of the Queen.

"I have said that Canada's link with the crown is growing closer and more secure. That is actually taking place. The unifying forces with the crown are more secure. This link is intangible but it harks back to the past.

"A person once said to a professor: 'What is the use of history?'

"And the professor replied: 'Well, what would happen to a man who lost his memory?'

"The force of the crown is deeply, deeply imbedded in the minds of Canadians."

TREMENDOUS FORCE

Just as the crown would endure, so would the Commonwealth.

"There is some tremendous force in Commonwealth perception that gives it endurance. I think it is in its parliamentary system, in its chain of responsibility."

Mr. Massey, in his years as governor-general, has carried the Queen's name to many hamlets, to isolated outposts, even to the North Pole. He has travelled more than 115,000 miles, using every means of conveyance from airplane to dogsled. He has attended his patronage to some 244 organizations, prepared and delivered about 350 speeches.

"A governor - general should travel", he said. "He should go every year, particularly to remote places, for he is in his own way weaving a thread that plays a part in unity.

"I make a point of going to small places, places hardly ever visited by anyone at all: St. Anthony, the northernmost tip of Newfoundland; Frobisher Bay on Baffin Island in Canada's north; the Magdalen Islands in the Gulf of St. Lawrence; Barkerville in the Cariboo country of British Columbia.

"It struck me how lonely some of these people are. At one place I heard the remark: 'It is awfully nice not to see people just whizzing by.'"

"If you think you can find a better present than your little boy did, lady, don't let me stop you"

Problems involving virtually every field of science were investigated by Defence Research Board personnel during 1958. Upper left—human engineering scientists at the Defence Research Medical Laboratories, Downsview, Ont., employ Canadian Army test subjects to measure the space needed by service personnel in determining seating requirements in vehicles and other enclosed spaces. Lower left—solar furnace at the Defence Research Chemical Laboratories near Ottawa, duplicates the heat generated in an atomic explosion and is used to test a wide variety of fabrics for their protective characteristics. Centre—designed and constructed at the Canadian Armament Research and Development Establishment, Valcartier, this research rocket nose cone with its instrumentation shown at the right, was launched successfully to an altitude of 90 miles to obtain upper atmospheric infra-red data. Upper right—shock wave measurements were obtained during the west coast Ripple Rock explosion by scientists from Suffield Experimental Station, near Medicine Hat, who launched small smoke rockets to obtain a grid pattern. Lower right—this site, on Gilman Glacier in the highlands near Lake Hazen in Ellesmere Island, was used as a rear base during Canada's IGY northern expedition which was led by a DRB glaciologist.

Superstitions Of New Year's In Many Lands

New Year's Day affords everyone the opportunity to bring himself good luck throughout the year. At least that is supposed to be true according to several old superstitions concerning the beginning of a new year.

The "First Foot" — the first person to enter the house on New Year's morning — plays a significant role in the family's future fortunes. He must be a dark man to bring good luck, but if he also brings a gift and carries it in more than he "takes out," then the house is assured peace and plenty for a whole year. The most auspicious gifts as luck - bringers are a lump of coal and a red herring.

Unmarried persons are advised to look out of the window on New Year's morning. If you see a man, it is a sign that you will be wed before the year is out. Should you see a horse, you can have a wish, and it will be realized within the year. To see a dog is lucky but a cat foretells worry.

A little care will make it possible to bring oneself good luck for the entire year. Wear something new, if possible, on New Year's Day, but the garment must be put on when you first dress in the morning. Receipt of a gift is certain to carry luck. With everyone you meet "A Happy New Year," but remember when the greeting is given to cross your fingers for luck. Be sure to say "rabbits" as the first word when you wake before anyone has had a chance to speak to you.

Love's progress will be aided on New Year's Day if you are careful to put on the left stocking before the right. The potency of this charm is supposed to be increased if you do all things as far as possible left-handedly during the day.

To open a bank account on New Year's Day was considered lucky in Old England, the custom growing probably from the belief of many centuries that whatever you do on the first day of the year will be an indication of what will happen during the months that will follow.

In some parts of England and Scotland it is supposed to be unlucky to leave a house until some outsider has first entered it.

Tell Me an Indian New Year's Story

The ceremonial for the snow has passed, when enemies are forgiven and harsh words forgotten, as a new trail has been blazed for all through the New Year's festivities.

The story-telling grandmother has taught the ancient chants and customs through the beads and strings of historic wampum; but now she again has time to entertain the children.

Gathered around her lodge-fire, they plead for another story with their bright eyes and shrill voices. To satisfy them, she tells an ancient legend about the clouds.

"Long moons ago when the world was first made, the sky at wintertime was cloudless much as it is on clear midsummer days. The ground was covered with white snow and the trees, except the pines, stood bare. The cold wind whistled around the bark cabins; and with a cloudless sky, everything above and below looked dreary.

"The children, too, missed the green leaves and changing colors over the landscape and they gave a wish that the sky might have clouds now and then. It is true, dark-grey, fierce-looking clouds came in great masses and covered all the sky and let down snowflakes to, amuse the children. But the children also wished for bright clouds and the old bear in the sky heard their wish.

"So the old bear blew his moist breath into the heavy clouds and broke them up; he even made homage to some of them and held on to the corners of others, until when they passed over the village, each cloud had a different shape, some like bears, some like wild cats, some like hills and even some like funny people. Ever afterwards, the clouds took these strange shapes to bring smiles and imagination to all children in midwinter." — Dr. E. A. Bates, Cornell.
